THE THREE CENTS VIOLET.
NOVEMBER 2, 1917, TO NOVEMBER 2, 1918.

By LOUIS G. BARRETT.

We have previously published an article with the above title, but since then much new matter and information has been furnished us and we deem it best to print the article again with the new material referred to. We do not need to apologize for doing this in view of the large amount of interest that has been manifested in Mr. Barrett's previous article.—W. O. W.

As evidence of the ever-broadening fields of philately one may well consider the possibilities presented in gathering a representative collection of our humble three cent stamp.

In the following review of a single year's issue of this one stamp, the writer does not presume to present new information, but rather has gathered together from many sources such material as will be of possible assistance to the average busy collector, thus enabling one to make a skeleton collection, as it were, of the essential varieties which have appeared within this period, showing in a comprehensive manner the various phases and processes of manufacture of a most interesting stamp while it is still current.

While stocks in the post-offices of the larger cities and towns are necessarily being frequently renewed, and are thus constantly changing from week to week, the chances of finding some of the earlier plate-numbers should not be overlooked, as requisitions are not always filled from the latest printings. It is in the smaller offices, however, where but a limited number of stamps are used, that there may still be the opportunities of picking up those of the earlier items which are fast becoming things of the past, so rapidly do events follow each other.

Considerable difficulty undoubtedly may be experienced in finding the absolutely first or last plate-number of a given printing, but one should always obtain the lowest and highest number possible, and always be on the lookout to obtain a number still nearer the ultimate than the one at hand.

For some time previous to the actual participation of the United States in the World War on April 7, 1917, philatelists had been made aware of the great struggle thru varieties in our own issues forced upon us by dye shortages and by the pressing needs of increased revenue. The former was the cause of a series of pronounced shades in several of the values, notably the two cents, three cents and twelve cents stamps. Later when the production of American dyes had become more standardized the shades more closely approximated the earlier normal colors.

On November 2, 1917, the new domestic rates of postage became effective, calling for "3 cents an ounce or fraction thereof,- - -" but it is extremely doubtful if collectors could have foreseen the far-reaching effects of this action.

Naturally, an unprecedented demand for the three cent stamp arose, which the Department had attempted to forestall by the printing of an enormous reserve supply of stamps of this denomination during the months preceding the change in rates.

Large numbers of both flat and curved plates were made for the three cents value, but it was shortly found that the lines on the die for this value were not cut sufficiently deep to give best results, and many impressions may be found showing considerable wear, especially noticeable in the lack of the finer details of the head and of the surrounding wreath of laurel leaves. The last plate made from the original Die I was 8256, and while I have as yet been unable to find this, I have a block with plate-number 8253 in my collection.

There are also imperforates obtainable of Die I on the no watermark paper, as well as coil stamps and booklet pages, but these last, I believe, will be found rather scarce.

It is a well-known fact that in the case of stamps printed from engraved plates, double impressions are exceedingly rare, and usually when so discovered, are found to be the result of either a shifted or a re-entered transfer, peculiar only to a certain subject in the plate. Hence, all impressions taken from that plate will show the double

Plate Number Strips Wanted

We are buyers of plate number strips for a very special collection we are working on. The list embraces nearly all numbers from 1 to 8000 so if you have any to sell we will send you the list and see what you can supply. Prices must be reasonable as we have to figure on securing some 32,000 pieces.

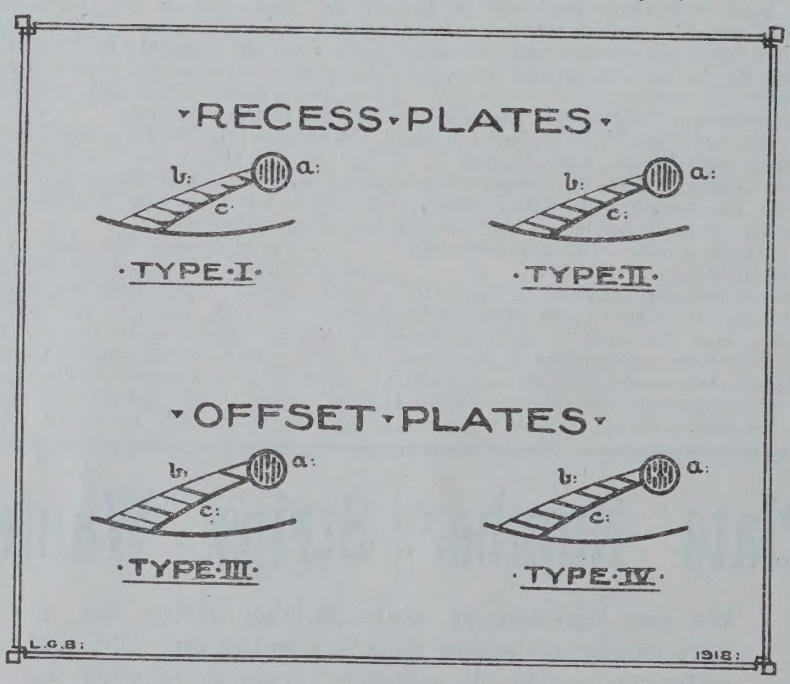
print, or "shifted transfer" as it is commonly called, in the same place, on every sheet. In the case of a true, double impression, the entire sheet passes through the press twice, receiving two impressions one after the other, which do not exactly coincide.

While such errors in production may occur with more or less frequency during the process of manufacture, the sheets have usually been subjected to such a rigid and systematic inspection that none have ever before reached the public through ordinary channels. Occasional "shifted transfers" of an individual subject in a sheet have been reported from time to time in the philatelic press, in many of our former issues as well as in the present one, but in most instances the "shift" is confined to merely a portion of the design, and often cannot readily be seen without the aid of a glass, and allowances must be made for those individuals who would always blame a doubled vision upon a too free use of a "glass."

However, for the first time, I believe, in the history of U. S. postage stamps, we must record a true double impression from an engraved plate. It is the three cents Die I from Plate 8209, in which the entire S. E. pane is known in a double condition, one impression as sharp as the other; the difference in register being nearly ½mm. horizontally; the plate numbers and the guidelines all showing the same doubling.

If one-quarter of the entire sheet of 400 is known double, the other three-quarters of the same sheet, i. e., the N. W., N.E. and S.W. panes must have existed also, and so are well worth hunting for.

If these panes have been used up in the regular course of business without their peculiarity being noticed, which seems incredible on account of their distinctive appearance, they may turn up at any time amongst used specimens.



DIE II: RECESS PLATES.

(To be referred to hereafter as Type II.)

On December 8, 1917, a new Die II was approved, on which the lines had been deepened, and in some cases redrawn. The principal differences between it and Die I are as follows,—

a. On the drapery from front of neck to the button, the diagonal lines were continued across the fold of the drapery, of a uniform thickness, the whole effect being that of a strand of rope. On the old Die I, only the under edge of this fold was shaded. On the "button" itself, on both dies, there are five unbroken vertical lines. (See illustration of Types I and II.)

b. At the right lower side of oval between the first inner berry and the inner leaf of the first cluster, the vertical lines of the shaded background were extended downward into the angle between the berry and leaf, so this area was uniformly shaded; whereas in the former Die I only horizontal lines are found in this angle.

The above two features are the most conspicuous and useful in determining the identity of printings from this die, but in addition the following details should not be overlooked,—

c. Some lines were added in the hair above the ear,—

d. The shading of the eye, nostril and mouth was altered slightly.

All of this recutting was very cleverly done, the workmanship leaving nothing to be desired, and the resulting impressions were sharp and well balanced as to light and shade.

The first plates, made from transfers from this new Die II, went to press on January 10, 1918, the first plate made being 8262, and it was stated at the time that all later plates for this value would be laid down from the new Die II.

In reality, however, this die had an exceedingly short life, for owing to the poor quality of barytes, a basic ingredient of the ink used, containing a larger amount of grit than formerly, the plates wore out rapidly; the average life of a plate having been stated to be but about ten days, a shorter period than the time required to make them.

PHILA. STAMP CO.

As examples of the printings from worn plates I have in my collection plate-number double vertical strips of twenty stamps from plates 8266 and 8285, showing great variation in the impressions, good, bad and indifferent, in the same sheet.

It has been repeatedly asserted that the last recess plate from Die II was numbered 8367, but it now appears that there were eight more plates of this die bearing higher numbers scattered at random amongst the succeeding plates made for the first "offset" process. These were all 400 subject plates and bear the numbers,—8371, 8386, 8456, 8462, 8466, 8473, 8476 and 8481; and a letter from Mr. J. L.Wilmeth, Director of the Bureau, Engraving and Printing, under date of Nov. 30, 1918, confirms this classification, without, however, going into any explanation as to how it happened that these "recess" plates were so mixed up with those for the "offset" process. It is to be presumed that these were "recess" plates in various stages of completion at the time the latter were being made, and that as fast as they were completed and approved, were assigned numbers in regular sequence with the "offset" plates, in the same manner as though they had been plates for other values.

It will be noted that the first of these "orphans", plate 8371, is the next following the first of the "offset" process plates, No. 8370. So far, I have been unable to obtain any of these eight plate numbers. Here, again, is a further incentive for a little quiet research work, for it is always the case that whatever is the most desired is the most elusive. It is my opinion that these eight plate numbers will be much sought after and absolutely essential for a representative collection.

In addition to the above it may be of interest and of value in hunting them down, to know just what plates were made of this die. They are as follows,—8262 to 8268 inclusive; 8271 to 8274 inclusive; 8277 to 8280 inclusive; 8283 to 8300 inclusive; 8305 to 8325 inclusive; 8330; 8338; 8351 to 8359 inclusive; and 8362 to 8367 inclusive,—a total of only 79 plates.

Of the numbers missing from above list 8269, 8270, 8275, 8276, 8281 and 8282 were three cent 170 subject curved plates for the rotary presses, which, of course, it is well known are of a different die, anyway, which has never been given a separate die name, as it was distinctive of that process.

Numbers 8331 to 8334 inclusive were for 180 subject booklet plates from Die II, and are well worth looking for. The remaining numbers unaccounted for were for stamps of other values and so of no especial interest in this connection.

The earliest Die II plate number represented in my collection is 8263 in a deep violet shade, while the latest I have is 8362, printed in a reddish violet. This recess Die II. is also found on imperforate sheets, of which plate 8357 is represented in my collection. It also is found on coils, both horizontally and vertically.

DIE I. OFFSET PRINTED.

(To be referred to hereafter as Type III.)

On account of the rapid deterioration of the recess plates, as stated above, it was necessary, in order to keep pace with the demands for the three cent value, to resort to some other method of production, and the photographic rubber-offset process was selected as being the most suitable under the existing conditions.

As a matter of review, I am quoting from Mr. J. B. Leavy's article in The Philatelic Gazette for June, 1918,—

"The offset plates were manufactured in the following manner,—a photograph was made of a proof taken from the original die (I), and a proof from the first die of the 3c denomination was intentionally selected for the enlarged negative, as it was considered that the lighter, finer lines of that die lent themselves more readily to surface printing reproduction than the thicker, heavier lines of the second die of the 3c; very much enlarged, the enlarged negative was cut, cleaned and touched up, so that every line was clear and sharp; the design was then reduced, by photography, to the normal size; the normal size negative placed in what is termed a "step and repeat" photographic machine containing a sensitized glass negative plate as large as the printing plate; this machine permits the photographing of a subject as many times as desired, in any position on the plate, one subject at a time, so that the single normal size negative was placed for number one position on the plate, flashed, moved to number two position, flashed, moved to number three position, flashed, and so on for the entire plate of four hundred subjects. The four hundred subject photo plate thus obtained had the guidelines and arrows etched upon it and was then used to manufacture the printing plates in the usual manner, by direct contact photography on sensitized zinc plates, the plate number being etched on each zinc plate thus manufactured."

The first plates made by the new process were 8370, 8375 and 8379; and it is interesting to note that they all three show plate number variations as follows,—

Plate 8370 has the plate numbers exactly in the center of each pane, at the bottom, top or sides, appearing thus in the margins opposite the interval between the fifth and sixth stamps, so that the perforations cut thru the plate numbers.

One of the plate numbers at the right side of this plate, but whether from upper or lower pane I do not know, has the zero etched in over what appears to have been a partially erased 8.

Plate 8375 is like 8370 in the disposition of the numbers, but differs from it, in that on the left panes the tops of the numerals are towards the stamps; in other words, reads from the outside.

Plate 8379 has all of its numbers in normal positions; i. e., directly over or alongside the fifth stamp in a pane, as on former recess plates.

These offset-printed stamps from Die I are easily distinguished from the recess plate printings from Die I by the following details,—

a. The shading of the jaw has been so changed that a most pronounced double-chin is produced.

b. The middle vertical line in the "button" is broken.

c. The upper line of the drapery fold at front of neck is much heavier than before.
On the fold, counting up, the fifth cross line is missing, while the first and third lines are much weaker than the others.
(See illustration of Type III.)

d. Numerous lines have been added to the top of head and hair, especially over the ear.

e. The shadows of the eye, nostril and jaw have been deepened.

As printing by the offset process is a continuous one, a given plate remains at press until too worn to be of further use, usually not more than 50,000 im-

OUR VICTORY SPECIAL.

It is fitting that the WEEKLY should celebrate the coming of peace and while the conference is on in Paris we propose to recognize in a proper manner this welcome event. We shall issue on Jan. 25 a special number of the WEEKLY that will demonstrate the splendid stability of stamp collecting and we expect the trade to be well represented. We have an excellent number in the making and believe that it will uphold the high ideals for which this publication has always stood.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Air—There is a good bit of interest shown in airplane covers, particularly those carried on first trips and in consequence, the train of disappointments following the hap-hazard manner in which the airplane mail is sometimes handled is a long one. To dispense with distinctive markings on the mail carried on air routes seems indefensible from the view-point of the philatelist who, withal, is nothing if not tolerant in his expectations. The uncertainty that prevails in the overseership of the air service is indicated in the attitude of the postal officers in some of the cities on the New York-Chicago route. A correspondent in Cleveland says that the air mail folks there while on the alert to catch sight of a flyer had no knowledge officially that a flight had been attempted. Here is a reflection from Cleveland on the jumbled state of flying affairs: "The first day of the regular mail air service was marked by failures and disappointments, the New York to Cleveland and Chicago mail having to be forwarded from Bellefonte, Pa., by rail after the flyer was forced to descend on account of engine trouble. A machine scheduled to leave Chicago Wednesday morning did not get away until late in the evening and that flew only to the outskirts of the city where it descended for the night."

Authentic—First trip markings are not so easy to get, it seems, and first stamps are out of the question. Admittedly, it is something to have "the second stamp issued" and now we recall a clipping that we received from the Kansas City Star last October that "the second stamp issued for the air postal service was sent to Mr. Gentry for the I. O. O. F. home by Third Assistant Postmaster A. M. Dockery. The stamp is affixed to a letter from President Wilson vouching for the authenticity of the stamp and the whole thing has been framed by Mr. Gentry."

Atlanta—We shall go a bit further into the past and mention an airplane cover that was received by Mr. A. E. Fritz in his business correspondence in 1911. In the light of to-day, the cover in common with all the other pioneer airplane mail markings has a decided attraction. The two cent stamp is canceled "Aeroplane Mail Service," with the postmark: "Speedway Aerial Sub-Station, Nov. 18, 1911, Atlanta, Ga." In the upper left hand corner of the envelope is a picture in red of an aeroplane.

Agitation—The new maps of Europe are so interesting to collectors in their maze of philatelic possibilities that they refrain from speculating over them. The subject is too vast for discussion as yet, but soon the stupendous postal panorama will begin to unfold. As for the truthful presentation of historic progression, the postage stamp may be depended upon. Political changes are marked for posterity by postage stamps. History may be read from the pages of the stamp album and the greatest upheaval in the history of civilization will be recorded in due time by rows of stamps from the nations affected. The boast that philately begets a knowledge of history in the minds of its followers will become better founded than before.

Ago—While on the topic of War and its philatelic effect, let us hark back forty years when John K. Tiffany, perhaps our greatest philatelist, contributed an article under that heading to one of the stamp journals, but how puny are his conclusions in comparison with the actualities of to-day. He began: "In these days of wars and rumors of wars the stamp collector almost involuntarily turns over the pages of his album and examines anew the issues of the contending powers, meditating upon the possible effects of the contest as they may manifest themselves in his album and catalogue." In conclusion: "And so, meditating on the changes that war has wrought in the contents of his album and the possible results of the present disturbed state of Europe, the collector is again surprised to find how much of history may be read from the pages of his album."

Arise—It is no secret that the local philatelic societies have been experiencing a dull period that has been due to reasons that are apparent. Now that strenuous days of the past are being succeeded by times that must soon become normal, there is no doubt but that the stamp societies will flourish as they have at different times in years gone by. As the restrictions on attendance become removed, the betterment of the societies must follow. This reminds us that in a recent report of the Prahran, Australia, Philatelic Society, was the sentence: "An item of importance led to considerable discussion but, in these war times, the Press Censor cannot release the information to the public."

Again—The following letter speaks for itself: "'A brilliant writer!' The gods will surely forgive you for your untrammeled imagination. I showed your concept to the boss as a prelude to a dignified verbal formulation for a raise, but Gargoyle laughed your fair words to scorn. However, you mean well and so: What has become of the old-fashioned collector who was always importuning his 'ma' to give him flour so that he could make a paste with it with water in order to put in the stamps; and who left a doughy trail over the furniture as a result of his reliance on the preface of the old International: 'In regard to inserting the stamps in their places, care should be taken to use pure gum arabic, many valuable collections have been entirely spoiled by using prepared mucilage, which in course of time will turn nearly every stamp yellow.' Verb. et Lit. Pure gum arabic was out of the question and so the o. f. c. used flour-paste."

Announced—The suspension of the publication of the Philatelic Gazette is viewed with regret and sympathy. The loss to philately is one that is real and while the contents of the Gazette were too concentrated to have a distinctly popular appeal, the loss is felt the more keenly by the serious philatelists. This we know: The times have sorely tried publishers in many lines, some of them more important than philately, whose increased expenses and diminished income made the prospects unalluring. The Philatelic Gazette did its share in making the philatelic world a better one for having lived in it and we hope that its publishers will be inclined to resume publication when conditions are more auspicious. The really advanced collector is now without any mouth-piece wholly his own.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

"The Postage Stamps of the United States Produced by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing during the years 1894 to 1900," by Eustace B. Power and published by Stanley Gibbons, Inc., is a book of eighty-four pages and is a veritable "complete reference list of all varieties." This study is so embracive that it becomes, first of all, a most important record of the twentieth century issues of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and secondly, a valuable price guide for the collector of blocks, imprints, etc. Four varieties of imprints are listed and arrows and lines are all specified. It is noteworthy that almost every item that is listed is followed by a note of explanation and in their entirety, they become a full history of the prints. Half of the book is devoted to a list of the plate from No. 1 to over 1500 and in this connection, it is remarked that "Plate number collecting is reviving, as it should." It is evident that the compiler brought all enthusiasm on his task and that he spent many hours in studying his material and reducing it to an orderly arrangement.

It is not easy to transcribe the merits of a work of this kind where the many little evidences of research crowd upon the attention but it is at once evident that with so much descriptive text, it becomes a reference work of high standing. It is so much more than the bald plate-number lists of years ago that one does not think of comparing it with them; and the book under notice should be classed as an historical work that has something of a general appeal. We remember that for years there has been a sustained even though moderate demand on the part of readers for information such as may be found in this book and we do not hesitate to believe that the appearance of this work will give a stimulus to the collecting of the issues that form the substance of the volume. The illustrations are clear and the printing good; and the price, fifty cents, is entirely in keeping.

PHILATELIC NEWS OF THE DAY.

From the "American Philatelic Service."

A course of philately on the curriculum of each public school in the United States is not an impossibility of the days of the future. Formal recognition by educational authorities of the value of stamp collecting in association with history, geography, spelling, economics, politics and other studies seems a logical development of the more widespread interest in the postage stamps of nations that has been awakened by the world war and its generous production of postal adhesives.

At Como, Italy, at the Instituto Carducci, the pupils of the secondary schools have philately as one of their regular studies, and for these scholars the postage stamps of the war have been used in the interpretation of many of the developments of the great conflict. Occupation stamps told the story of Entente capture of German colonies, one by one, and told also of German and Austrian and Bulgarian invasion of Belgium, Russia and the Balkan kingdoms; airplane stamps illustrated the necessity of using the flying machines in America, Italy, Austria and other lands in order to expedite the movement of mails delayed by war conditions; provisional stamps reflected shortage of currency in Russia, altered economic conditions in the Orient, the increase in postage rates in many countries, the birth of new nations, the abdication of rulers, revolutionary movements in Russia, and Greece, and the activities of Teutonic submarines. These Italian scholars, looking behind the appearance of these war stamps one by one, have in a new way been learning modern history, studying present-day geographical and financial changes, and keeping abreast of the news of the hour.

In England, Mr. Fred. J. Melville, president of the Junior Philatelic Society, has inaugurated "The Philatelic Institute" after two years of study devoted to plans for establishing this unique school. Philately is being taught along systematic lines, as is any other subject of special study. Mr. Melville has prepared a "grammar of philately" and a "syntax of stamps". A carefully-planned course of ten lessons is given to the pupils, illustrated with actual stamps which, at the conclusion of the course, become the property of the sudents. The lessons explain what the collectors need to know in order to understand and enjoy their hobby, and at the same time they are guided along a path of helpful and informative reading.

In the United States, a movement is under way which is more ambitious than either of the two philatelic institutions abroad. It is the purpose of those who are behind the American project to have stamp collecting introduced into the public schools throughout the nation; to have philately made a prescribed course of study, sanctioned by school boards, State, municipal and rural. At the Italian school, the institution itself possesses a collection of stamps as part of the plan of study, and this idea would be incorporated in the scheme for teaching philately in American schools. Each school would acquire its own general collection, gradually building it as the broadening of the philatelic course made necessary the acquirement of new stamps, so that year by year each school would become better equipped to teach history, geography and other studies with the aid of the postage stamp.

Do you know the story of the great bell of China—moulded of gold and silver and brass—that has sounded for five hundred years, always pealing the name of a woman—the bell that has a soul? Did you ever notice that Egyptian portrait painters always placed the legs and profile at right angles to the body—an impossible posture? Do you know about the sunken road of Ohain—where the shake of a peasant's head brought catastrophe to Napoleon—where 2,000 horses and 1,500 men fell pell-mell into a deep ravine, struggling, grinding and crushing one another? Do you know that "Lusitania" was the Roman name for Portugal? Do you know that the Nobel Peace Prizes are paid out of a great fortune, accumulated by the invention and manufacture of explosives intended to make war more deadly?

The answers to these questions probably will tax the memory of most persons. There are stamps depicting scenes which illustrate the answers; and it is the belief of Houghton, Mifflin Company, Boston publishers, that the boy or girl in school who is asked any one of these questions is going to derive a great deal more fun out of a search for knowledge if he or she is a stamp collector—a collector not alone individually but one of an entire class which, collecting as a unit, makes constant use of postage stamps in the pursuance of daily studies.

The Boston publishing house's campaign is frankly in connection with promoting the sale of a set of books, "The World's Story", a history of the world in story, song and art, in which Eva March Tappan, the editor, presents history in a manner departing from the one in which pupils are accustomed to learn history in the schools. In teaching, through these volumes of "The World's Story", geography and literature and art as well as history, Houghton, Mifflin Company are associating a plan which involves an advertising campaign that is without precedent for the reason that the postage stamp is for the first time used in this connection.

Incident after incident in the world's ancient and modern history may be illustrated by the postage stamp; it has been informally recognized by educators of national standing that children who are stamp collectors are apt to rank higher in studies than children who know nothing about stamps. It is the Boston publishers' conviction that philately if officially adopted in schools for its educational value would prove beneficial to the America of the future.

Czecho-Slovakia, a baby among the world's Republics and which has been recognized by the United States and associated Powers, has issued postage stamps, but little is known in America regarding the character of them. Meanwhile, the arrival home of Charles L. Jones, a Y. M. C. A. overseas secretary, from the American front in France, discloses that the French Government several months ago issued special franking adhesives for use by the Czecho-Slovak troops fighting on French soil.

Mr. Jones, a New York man, returned from Europe in December bringing some of these unique stamps. He was at a Red Cross hut in Vittel, in The Vosges, on Nov. 19, when some Czecho-Slovak soldiers, who had been brought back from the fighting line for a rest period, displayed letters which they were about to mail to friends in St. Louis and which bore some of these stamps. The labels were printed probably in Paris. Some of the copies which Mr. Jones brought home he turned over to a friend, Henry C. Needham, a New York lawyer, who has one of the finest collections in the world.

The design of the Czecho-Slovak stamps, each ten centimes in value, shows a soldier standing with gun and bayonet pointing, and the inscription memorializes the presence in France of the volunteers of this young Republic.

Altho the New York-Chicago airplane mail service was not inaugurated auspiciously from the Government's viewpoint, in the opinion of stamp collectors this branch of the nation's aerial postal system is already highly successful. The reason for this attitude by philatelists is that the Government commemorated this extension of the service by issuing a new postage stamp—a 6-cent orange label for use on letters carried on this route. The new stamp is being placed also on mail carried on the New York-Philadelphia-Washington route, and marks the second time the Government has reduced the airplane postal rate. On May 15 last, when regular service was established, 24 cents was the levy, and two months later this was lowered to 16 cents.

The only disappointment for philatelists in connection with the Chicago-New York airpost is that the Government did not provide a special "first trip" cancellation or a distinguishing cancellation. A letter sent from New York bore "Washington-New York-Philadelphia" — the same postmark used for the first branch of the service. One mailed from Chicago carried only the postmark customarily stamped on letters sent from that city, with no reference to airmail.

The significance of the desire by philatelists that all new branches of airpost service be accorded "first trip" postmarks and have identifying cancellations may be understood when it is stated that a collection of fifty varieties of envelopes with various airpost cancellations was sold recently in New Jersey for $225, notwithstanding that the face value of the stamps on these covers was approximately only $10.

UNITED STATES.—In our issue of November 30, we mentioned the fact that plates had been made for printing the 1 cent stamp by the offset process. We now learn from the Philatelic Gazette the numbers of the first fifteen plates together with the dates on which they went to press. The first plate No. 9095 went to press September 21, No. 9096 Oct. 9, No. 9242 Oct. 18, No. 9245 Oct. 21, No. 9247 Oct. 23, No. 9248 Oct. 28, No. 9249 Oct. 29, No. 9250 Oct. 28, No. 9257 Oct. 31, No. 9258 Nov. 2, No. 9259 Nov. 2, No. 9260 Nov. 2, No. 9266 Nov. 4, No. 9267 Nov. 6 and No. 9283 on Nov. 18. Stamps from any of the plates had not made their appearance in either New York or Philadelphia up until December 22nd, but they will without doubt be turning up in some cities before long. We will await with great interest the news that the stamps have finally been issued and we judge the perforated varieties will in turn be followed by those in an imperforate condition.

About a year ago we made mention of a 2c rotary coil stamp from a second die, but outside of listing it we gave no details as to which varieties existed from each die. This second die for the 2c stamp is the only die ever made especially for coil stamps and never used for the flat plates. It seems that the first die of the 2c stamp, that is the one now used for the flat plate stamp, had the outside frame lines cut so deeply that when the plate was laid down and then curved they printed an impression that produced an offset on the back of the stamp covering it in the roll. To overcome this the new die was cut.

To distinguish these dies:—DIE I, the white colorless rectangle within the colored border is thicker around the entire stamp. In the first section of the curled ribbon over the left "2" there are two diagonal lines and the same number in the second section of the ribbon on the right. The white lock of hair in front of the ear is formed by the termination of the many crossed lines of the face. The large heavy lock back of the ear shows first a short colored line, then a long one.

Die II: the white, colorless rectangle is much thinner, and the hair generally is deeper cut. In the ribbon sections mentioned above, three lines instead of two are found. The white lock in front of the ear is formed by a heavy colored line and is distinct. The two lines in the large lock in back of the ear are of the same length. Many other differences may be noted, but these are sufficient to distinguish one from the other. I have in my own collection some strips from Die II that show two lines in the ribbon peculiar to Die I instead of three and I took these to the Bureau of Engraving & Printing thinking that there had been a recutting of Die II, but was informed that this difference was caused by the curving of the plate, for in some plates certain lines do not show up as clearly as in others. In distinguishing the dies, therefore, the stamp as a whole must be studied and not simply one point. The die for the 2c stamp was recut in March, 1915, and no plates for printing coil stamps were made from the old die after May 22, 1915. The coil varieties issued were as follows:—

Watermarked U S P S
2c sidewise, perf. vertically, Die I.
2c endwise, perf. horizontally, Die I.
2c sidewise, perf. vertically, Die II.
2c endwise, perf. horizontally, Die II.
2c sidewise, IMPERFORATE, Die I.
Unwatermarked.
2c sidewise, perf. vertically, Die II.
2c endwise, perf. horizontally, Die II.

In our issue of December 7th I gave a list of all imperforate coils known and from several letters I have received I am led to believe that many of our readers do not understand what an imperforate coil is. When we say imperforate coil we mean just exactly what we say and that is coils without any perforations whatsoever. If a coil is perforated either vertically or horizontally, it is part-perforated and not imperforate. We well realize that it is difficult to distinguish such coils from stamps cut from the imperforate sheets, but that is a subject outside of the realm of this column.

Some little discussion took place recently in Philadelphia, as to whether that portion of the plate which retained the ink for printing the offset stamps was in relief or in recess. Our friend, Mr. Owen, was quite positive it was in recess, while Mr. Mann was equally positive it was in relief. We appealed to the Bureau and Director Wilmeth writes Mr. Mann under date of December 13, 1918, as follows:—"Practically speaking, both the parts of the plates corresponding to the white and color are on the same plane, that is neither are recessed, but to be scientifically correct that part that prints the color is a greasy film that is superimposed upon a layer of hardened albumen. Both the albumen and grease film are measurable with instruments ordinary in use, and are undoubtedly less than one-hundred thousandths of an inch."

Mr. Allen S. Davenport writes to state that he has located a copy of the 4c Documentary with a double overprint "Stock Transfer". We are informed that the second surcharge is quite distinct.

Regards aeroplane trips, the recent "first trips" between Chicago and New York were not successful and the Postmaster General has announced that the establishment of a permanent daily service between these cities has been postponed.

We wish to thank Mrs. W. E. Underwood, the B. & E. Stamp Co., Mr. John Rausch and others for information regarding new shades, plate numbers, varieties, etc.

BELGIAN CONGO.—We are informed that a large consignment of the recent Red Cross stamps for this colony, and a corresponding quantity of those earmarked for Belgian East Africa, were lost at sea. The fact should make thes popular novelties even more desirable.—Stamp Collecting.

CURACAO.—We are informed by E. H. Gammans that the current 12½c blue is out with the surcharge "5 cent" in two lines.

INDIA.—According to the Indian newspapers the letter postage rate has been increased from 1 anna to 1½ annas thus bringing India into line with Great Britain and the other British Dependencies, and of course necessitating the issue of a 1½a stamp.—Alfred Smith's Monthly Circular.

PACK UP YOUR STAMPS.

(The Rev. Jas. Mursell is one of the leading philatelists of Gt. Britain and we reprint the following for a self evident reason. Mr. Mursell promised us some time ago a booklet article on the "Long Stamps" of So. Australia.—W. O. W.)

We received an interesting letter from the Rev. James Mursell recently, wherein that gentleman informed us that he had undergone a serious operation towards the latter end of July, but was on the fair way to a full restoration to vigour. Mr. Mursell had been in poor health for some years and the trouble could not be located until lately. In his letter he wrote that he did not expect to pull through and quite surprised himself with his recuperative power.

Subsequent to the operation Mr. Mursell went to a nursing home, where the matron confided to his wife that she dreaded having men patients as they were very good when they were downright ill but restive as they grew stronger. She put this down to the fact that they had nothing to do with their hands. Mrs. Mursell assured the matron that her husband had something to do with his hands, for that he was a great stamp collector. The matron then said, "Pray let him bring his stamps," so he included amongst his luggage volumes one and two of his South Australian collection, volume one of Tasmania, and his volume of West Indies, which included Antigua, Barbados and St. Vincent.

As soon as the first days of extreme weakness had passed he began to turn the pages of his album, and as they lay on an invalid table to his hand he was able to drink in joy and gloat over their beauty; the bargains made here and there in Australia and London, and the rise in catalogue value of some of his prizes. As strength stole back he was able to re-arrange pages with which he was not satisfied, and generally to bring his early South Australians into as perfect order as he was capable of. He then turned his attention to Tasmania and Barbados and enriched them with some stamps which had been sent him on approval from the Laing collection.

Later, when he returned home, he was able to pursue the same course with Queensland and Antigua.

Several philatelic friends relieved the weeks of weakness by visiting him. Needless to say they looked through his albums and spoke well of their contents. "So," he writes, "my stamps and the joy of collecting, assisted my convalescence and helped me to make quite a model patient in my nurse's eyes,"

NOTES ON OAXACA SHEETS.

By W. PARKER LYON.

For collectors of Oaxaca Stamps they might be interested in the following notes sheets which I have in my collection.

Second setting of one cent value entire stamp No. 2 inverted, also stamp No. 38 both errors shown in first three vertical rows and duplicated again in the second three vertical rows all of which are inverted, making 11 tete beche pairs in the sheet and center vertical pairs imperforate between. Traces of numerals of value show on all stamps in this setting.

Second issue 2 cent value:—
Entire stamp No. 1 inverted, stamp No. 11 shows both top numerals of value inverted, imperforate vertically through center of sheet.

Second print of 3 cent value:—
In the sheet one stamp is inverted entirely, one stamp shows numerals at top inverted, another stamp shows both top numerals figure 8's instead of 3's.

Another sheet of same printing, same errors, shows official printing on face of stamps instead of back as usual.

The second print of 5 cent value I have also in same shape printed over the official printing waste paper same as all Oaxaca issues are printed on, but instead of being printed on backs of these official blanks the printing is done right over the original printing.

TWO TYPES OF "S" ON N. W. P. ISLANDS

One of our readers wants to know why there is so much talk about the two types of S in Northwest Pacific Islands stamps and how they became to be used, so perhaps a little further information on the subject is necessary. There is a font of type known as the "De Vinne" type which includes two types of S, one with a short curl at the top and a big curl at the bottom is known as the commencing S, whereas those which have the curls at top and bottom both alike are known as middle or ending letters. This is not generally acknowledged amongst printers in this country, and an investigation will show that the two types are used promiscuously. Take, for instance, the various headings over articles in our journal, the type of which is similar to that used for overprinting the North-West Pacific Islands stamps.

The trouble arose through this same indifference on the part of the late Commonwealth Stamp Printer. Although that gentleman's attention was called to the fact that he had unwittingly created varieties, he declined to alter them, with the result that they continued in use with variations (i. e., the elimination of the bottom row of the second printing, which contained three mixtures) until he vacated the position. The letter "S" now being used is the middle or ending S, and is, therefore, technically correct. —Australian Stamp Journal.

THREE CENTS VIOLET.

pressions in sheets of 400 stamps being possible.

The ink used for the first printing (Plate 8370) was of commercial type bought of a local concern, but for the succeeding printings ink was used of the Bureau's own manufacture, and as it was of a more or less experimental nature, varied considerably with the different early printings, so that at least the first nine may be distinguished, not alone by the plate numbers, but also as well by the shade of ink employed. These first nine printings are as follows,—

1st printing, March 12; plate 8370; dark violet.
2nd printing, March 15; plates 8375 and 8379; deep bright violet.
3rd printing, March 19; plates 8381 and 8382; light grayish violet.
4th printing, March 20; plate 8383; light violet.
5th printing, March 23; plate 8384; lavender.
6th printing, April 1; plates 8413, 8421, 8556; bright violet.
7th printing, April 2; plate 8420; light bright violet.
8th printing, April 4; plates 8559, 8560, 8561; deep lilac.
9th printing, April 5; plates 8417 and 8563; light reddish violet.

It has been supposed hitherto that practically all of the early printings were absorbed by the Washington Post Office, but I have recently come across a copy with bottom plate number attached, plainly showing it to be from plate 8375, precancelled "Red Bank, N. J.," so some at least were sent to other offices, and I have been informed by a correspondent that he purchased both plates 8370 and 8375 at the Philadelphia P. O.

There are numerous collectible varieties for those interested in the successive processes in this issue, as for instance, plate 8610 appears with the numbers as tho "rubber-stamped," irregular in alignment and the numerals of a wholly different character than the normal ones, being broader; the whole number being 11½ mm. long as against a normal length usually of about 9 mm. Another correspondent calls my attention to the fact that plates 8604, 8605, and 8608 also have this same "rubber-stamped" type of plate-numbers, while 8607 is normal.

In addition in my own collection, I have a bottom plate number from 8596 which has the 6 crudely redrawn, and a similar bottom plate number from 8646 shows the same peculiarity in the final 6, while a top number from 8647 has the 7 drawn in at a considerable distance from the 864. A bottom number from 8674 shows all the numerals half as large again as ordinarily.

Again, on plate 8649 the numerals appear as tho scratched on by hand with some sharp pointed instrument, the numerals being 3 mm. tall, very irregular and misshapen.

There are also instances where the plate number and arrow guides repeat at intervals along the margin at top or bottom of sheet. Two such from plates 8632 and 8656 show the numerals over about every second stamp, and in some cases they are also doubled at a given point.

Some very fine double impressions are found in these "offset" prints,—some from plate 8615 being particularly fine, with the second impression a ½ mm. off. Printings from this plate, however, are not always to be found double, as I have also this same 8615 perfectly normal in every respect.

Between two and three hundred plates were made for the Die I offset process, the last plate from this die being 8719 No imperforates or booklets are known of this Die I offset type.

One of the last plates made of offset Die I, number 8717, is different from all others preceding, having the subjects spaced 3 mm. apart vertically, instead of the normal 2½ mm., and it will be noted that this feature is also a distinguishing one of the following series of Die II offset plates. This plate 8717 was printed from on June 1, and must be a scarce article.

Here it may be well to state that the subjects have not in reality been spaced further apart but rather that the subjects themselves have been reduced in height ½ mm., the vertical measurement from the bottom of a stamp in one row to the bottom of a stamp in the next row remaining as before, 25½ mm., the new subjects measuring vertically 22 mm. instead of 22½ mm. as formerly.

THE PUJOL COMMEMORATIVE.

We have received some information concerning the last commemorative stamp issued by Argentina to mark the "CENTENARY of Dr. Pujol." The issue took place on June 15th last and consisted of two millions copies of a 5 centavos stamp showing a profile of the Doctor and lithographed in gray and bistre. The centenary was somewhat late, as he was born in Corrientes on November 27, 1817. He was a professor, legislator, minister and governor in the province of Corrientes. While Governor, from 1852 to 1859, he initiated many important works, including the founding of schools, museums, colonies and missions; approved the provincial constitution, constructed parks, bridges and highways; created the Charity Association, took the first census and made the first map of the province. The Argentine Philatelic Society considers the commemoration as an homage which the Post Office owes the creator of the first postage stamp in the Republic, since the issue of the Corrientes stamps in 1856 was due to his initiative while Governor. We are pleased to meet the Doctor!—N. E. Stamp Monthly.

"PHILATELIC GAZETTE" SUSPENDS.

We are deeply pained to announce the suspension, temporary at least, of the Philatelic Gazette. For five years it has been published by the Nassau Stamp Co. and has proven one of the ablest of American philatelic publications. It was conducted along specialistic lines with an array of contributors that might well be envied.

There are many reasons why publications devoted to stamp collecting have a hard time getting along, but there are two particular reasons that are worth considering. We lay it down as a general principle that many dealers here in the United States are not public-spirited. They are interested only in what concerns their own immediate welfare. There are of course illustrious exceptions and we could name them, even as we could name those who are mortally afraid of giving comfort to a competitor in business. There are dealers who would not permit a stamp paper to be seen on their office counter, for fear the address of a rival dealer might be secured.

We have spoken plainly about the dealer, but the collector too is to blame, when a good paper like the Gazette is compelled to suspend. Any collector can afford to take at least two stamp publications, one devoted to the scientific and the other the news features of his hobby. The trade would be in a sorry condition if there were no philatelic press and the collector should realize that so far as his financial interests are concerned they are tied up in the same bundle with those of the dealer. We are gratified with the asset we have in a subscription list that is big enough to compel patronage, but at the same time we deeply regret the suspension of so excellent a publication as the Klemanns have been issuing. We take this opportunity of saying a few things that we have had on our mind to say for some time. A deeper, broader spirit of co-operation is absolutely essential upon the part of collector, dealer and the philatelic press.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

THE THREE CENTS VIOLET.

BY PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

I read with great interest the article on the 3c violet appearing in recent issues of the WEEKLY by Mr. Louis G. Barrett and a letter of Mr. Joseph B. Leavy which was published on November 16th. I now note that in your edition of December 7th, Mr. Barrett takes exception to some of Mr. Leavy's statements. While I am not anxious to enter into any controversy, I have made quite a study of the coil stamps and happen to have detailed information on the very subject. Before completing my article on the "Coil Stamps of the United States", which has been running in the Philatelic Gazette since June, I made a special trip to the Bureau at Washington to learn as to the exact number of dies used. I had read in one of the papers that there were two dies of the 1c value and before completing the chapter on the "rotary coils", I wanted to be able to make a positive statement. I can positively state that Mr. Barrett is absolutely wrong when he says that the 1c, 3c, 4c and 5c rotary coil stamps are from different dies than those used for the flat plates. The apparent differences that he describes are due, I am told at the Bureau, to the curving of the rotary plates after they are made. Of the 2c value only was a special die made and in my Gazette article I explain in detail why this was necessary. The above information was not only given me verbally at the Bureau, but I have since received confirmation as to the number of dies in a letter from Mr. Fisher, Acting Director, dated December 5, 1918.

Mr. Barrett also says that the 3c Die II vertical coil has been issued, but this is not correct. If he will read in one of the current papers, the list of plates that have appeared since the first Die II flat plate was made, he will not find mentioned a plate of 150 3c subjects which would be necessary in order to have a Die II vertical coil.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—H. E. Spicer, Elkhart, Ind., can get no returns on letters sent James & Francis Swan, 2809 Ohio Av., Topeka, Kans.

—Have you seen Bartels' pink list? A copy sent this office has been perused with interest and demonstrates the wide variety of stock that the Bartels firm carries. It is something more than a mere list and the collector who would add to his stamp possessions or his wealth of philatelic literature will do well to procure a copy.

—R. C. Hooghkirk, the secretary of the Edgewood Stamp Co., has been honorably discharged from the Service and resumed his position at his desk in the office of the company. He writes:—"It seems pretty good to get back into the game again and business was never better with us than now." We also note that J. Eustace Guest is back in Minneapolis.

—The stock of the Republic Stamp Co., Louisville, Ky., has been sold to A. N. Estes, who, beginning this week, will use our columns in an endeavor to dispose of the stock. The Republic Stamp Co. will be remembered as an old time advertiser in the WEEKLY.

—L. C. S.—The best catalogue of envelopes and wrappers of foreign countries is published by Bright & Son, 160 Strand, London, England.

—List No. 273 is at hand from Geo. J. Carter, 265 Halsey St., Brooklyn, N. Y. Numerous hard-to-get stamps are listed and the little booklet is well worth having for reference purposes. It may be secured by writing to Mr. Carter.

—A new and attractive feature may now be found in the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times. It is "The Stamp Collector," with A. S. Jessop of Pittsburgh as editor. The department is freely illustrated and should prove a valuable aid in creating philatelic sentiment. The local stamp club should also profit by the publicity given stamp collecting. We congratulate the Gazette-Times upon its enterprise in furnishing its many readers with the latest news upon one of the brightest and best of hobbies.

—"I would like to have some Sonora expert tell me if the re-issue green seal stamps were printed in 1913 along with the other green seal issues. I happen to have a strip of four 10c value of the so-called green seal with black roulette with green seal omitted and each copy embossed by the genuine embossing machine same as the white seals. I have seen parties from Hermosillo who personally saw these so-called re-issues in the print shop in 1913 and attended a meeting at which it was considered how to use this issue as postage so that the stamps could be distinguished from the ones earlier used by the other Villa faction and at that meeting it was determined to use the large rubber stamp Mexico as a validating surcharge and for a while it was so used and later used as a cancelling machine when the regular Nogales cancellation was stolen."
—W. PARKER LYON.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

R

R.—The letter "R" is a widely recognized postal abbreviation for "Registered" or "Registration." It forms a prominent part of the design of most of the registration stamps issued by the Colombian States.

II. The letter "R" was overprinted on certain French Colonial stamps used in the colony of Reunion between 1885 and 1891.

III. The letter "R" forms part of the design of all the locally produced stamps for the Indian state of Jhind. It is the initial of Raghbir Singh, who was at one time Rajah of the State.

RABAUL.—The chief town in the erstwhile German colony in New Guinea. The registration labels showing the name of this town were converted into provisional 3d. stamps by the victorious British forces occupying the territory in 1914.

RAILWAY LETTER FEE STAMPS.—These are special stamps issued by many British railways, under agreement with the Postmaster-General, for the purpose of conveying single post letters by rail. It is a supplementary postal service authorized, though not managed, by the Post-office. By means of this service a letter can be sent by the next available train—passenger or freight—to be dropped in the nearest mail box at its destination, and it is then collected and delivered in the ordinary way. By its means letters to many points can be considerably expedited. In addition to the ordinary postage a special fee of 2d has to be paid on these railway letters, and most railways provide stamps to indicate that this fee has been paid. These stamps are supposed to be affixed and canceled by railway employees and are not intended for sale to the public.

RAILWAY STAMPS. — Many railway companies, particularly in Great Britain, issue adhesive stamps as a convenient method of indicating that the necessary charges have been paid on small parcels, newspaper packages, etc. Some companies have different series for different classes of packages and though these labels doubtless have an interest, they can hardly be considered as coming within the realm of philately.

RAJNANDGAON.—A feudatory state in the central provinces of India, which has an area of 905 square miles and a population of about 130,000. It issued its own postage stamps in 1893, but they continued in use but a short period, for in July, 1895, they were withdrawn from use.

RAJPEEPLA.—A small district on the Deosatra Hills in Baroda, India, which issued stamps of its own in 1880. How long these continued in use is uncertain, but they have been obsolete for many years.

RAJ SERVICE. — An overprint found on certain Indian stamps. They were used by the Public Works Department of Jeypore and the overprint seems to have been more in the nature of a preventive of theft than as a mark to distinguish the stamps as a special issue for the State. The labels are, therefore, more of a private than an official nature.

RALEIGH, N. C.—A small town in North Carolina philatelically famous from the fact that special 5c envelopes were issued by the Postmaster in 1861 just before the general stamps for the Confederate States made their appearance.

RAMALHO, SR. — A Portuguese artist who drew the designs "St. Anthony preaching to the fishes" and "St. Anthony ascending into heaven" used for most of the values in the special commemorative set issued in Portugal in 1895 to mark the 700th anniversary of the birth of St. Anthony of Padua.

RAPPEN.—The German equivalent of centimes as shown upon many of the early stamps of Switzerland. A hundred rappen were equal to a franc, so that 5 rappen were worth about 1c in American money.

RAWDON, WRIGHT, HATCH & EDSON.—A New York firm who manufactured the first two stamps issued by the United States government, and all the stamps issued in Canada prior to 1859. This firm was eventually absorbed by the American Bank Note Company.

RAYON. — An inscription appearing on the stamps of Switzerland used between 1850 and 1854. A rayon was a postal circle and the value on the stamps tallied with the particular rayon or radius within which they paid the postal charges. Thus, in 1852, for instance, the rates were 5 rappen for every ½ oz. within the first rayon of two leagues; 10 rappen for the first ½ oz. and 5 rappen for every additional ½ oz. within the second rayon of two to ten leagues; and 15 rappen for the first ½ oz. and 5 rappen for every additional ½ oz. beyond ten leagues. These 5, 10 and 15 rappen stamps were inscribed "Rayon I", "Rayon II" and "Rayon III" respectively.

R. B.—An overprint found on certain South Australian stamps used between 1868 and 1874 on the correspondence of the Road Board Department. They were suppressed in 1874 in favor of the general issue of official stamps with the "O. S." overprint.

R. B. S.—An abbreviation for "rigsbank skilling" shown upon the first 4sk stamp of Denmark.

R. DE C. GARZON.—The inscription shown upon the type-set provisional stamps issued in Garzon. The first part of the inscription is an abbreviation for "Republica de Colombia."

RE.—The value in which some of the stamps of Corea are expressed. It is a coin of very small value, for the wen or woon contains 1000 of them and 25 re are only worth about 1c in United States currency.

REAL.—A Spanish money value expressed on the early stamps of Spain and its colonies, Mexico, Dominican Republic and various South and Central American states. As a rule, 8 reals were equal to a peso, but it had other equivalents.

REAL M. C.—The value expressed on the first stamp of Corrientes. The real M. C. had a value of 50 centimos in Argentine currency then in general use, or about 20c in American money.

REAL PLATA.—Some of the early stamps of Cuba and the Philippine Islands have their value expressed as so many reales plata. Eight reales plata were the equivalent of a peso, which at that time was worth about 12c in United States currency.

RECARGO.—The inscription shown upon the 5c Spanish war tax stamp of 1898-99. In this sense the word means "additional charge," referring to the extra fee charged under the tax.

RECEIPT.—An inscription shown on certain British 1d stamps originally issued for revenue purposes, which in 1881 were allowed to do duty as ordinary postage stamps.

RECIBOS.—A Spanish word meaning "receipt" found on certain revenue stamps of Spain which have been used for postage.

RECOMENDADA. — An inscription shown on the 1881 registration stamps of the United States of Colombia, meaning, literally, "recommended."

RECONSTRUCTED PLATE. — A philatelic term applied to a number of stamps restored to the arrangement they occupied on the sheet in its original state. The early stamps of Great Britain can be easily reconstructed by the corner letters which differ on every stamp in a sheet. Other stamps, like the early issues of Bolivia and New South Wales can be reconstructed or plated, owing to the fact that each stamp on the plate differs in small particulars because the plates were engraved by hand. Other line engraved stamps can be plated owing to the development of minor peculiarities during the process of manufacture, and it is also possible to reconstruct many stamps produced by lithography owing to the presence of minute flaws and defects.

RECOUVREMENTS. — This word, meaning literally "to recover" is found on some special labels issued in France, etc. These stamps are used in connection with a "cash on delivery" service by which the Post Office undertakes to collect payment of goods sent by registered mail. A form accompanies the package, stating the amount payable plus the post office charges, but if the addressee refuses to accept the package, this form is sent to the consignor in an envelope on which are placed "recouvrement" stamps representing the amount required for the return of the package. The stamps are, therefore, official stamps restricted to a certain use and would appear to be quite collectible varieties.

RECUTTING.—A term sometimes used to denote re-engraving, but the two terms are not actually synonymous. It would perhaps be better to refer to recutting as the actual work involved in altering a die or plate, and re-engraving to denote the impressions obtained after the work of recutting has been finished.

REDRAWN.—A term denoting an alteration in the design of a stamp which, while not changing it materially in its general aspect, necessitates the engraving of a new die.

RED CROSS STAMPS. — Postage stamps overprinted in a distinctive manner of special design, which are sold at a premium above their postal franking value, the extra charge being devoted to Red Cross funds.

DEATH OF JOHN W. SCOTT.

SCOTT.—On Jan. 4, John Walter, beloved husband of Minnie Peyton Scott and father of Charles P., Walter S., Martha Scott, and Mrs. Florence Le Rowe and Dorothy K. Scott. Services "THE FUNERAL CHURCH," Broadway, 66th St., (Campbell Bldg.,) on Monday morning, 11 o'clock. Interment Cypress Hills.

A stalwart bulwark has fallen.

Just as we go to press this week the above clipping from the New York Times informs us of the death of John W. Scott of New York City. We do not know the particulars in connection with his death, but a wide circle of friends will be called upon to mourn the loss of one of the greatest men philately has produced.

Mr. Scott commenced dealing in stamps in London, England, in 1859, at the age of fourteen, thus early laying the foundation for a business that ultimately became one of the most lucrative in the history of the stamp trade. In 1863 Mr. Scott came to the United States and four years later founded the J. W. Scott Co., which he disposed of a few years ago to J. E. Handshaw of Smithtown Branch, N. Y.

Mr. Scott became interested in the early literature of the hobby and was the founder and first editor of what was known as the American Journal of Philately, and at the close of his dealing career published and edited the Metropolitan Philatelist. In the matter of stamp auctions he holds a unique record. He has to his credit the first stamp auction ever held in the United States, the date being May 28, 1870, and to these laurels he added the holding of the first stamp auction in London two years afterward, March 18, 1872.

One of the fine achievements of his career was his effort and energy in connection with the International Philatelic Exhibition held in New York in 1913. As secretary of the Association for Stamp Exhibitions, his longtime experience in stamp matters and devotion to the duties of his position earned the warmest commendation of his confreres. As treasurer of the Collectors' Club, he demonstrated his interest in the foremost of America's local organizations and at the annual meeting two days before his death, he was re-elected

In 1917 at the Clayton convention of the A. P. S. he was elected president and re-elected at the session held last year.

Only a bare outline of Mr. Scott's many activities can be given in this notice. He has frequently been referred to affectionately as the "Father of American Philately". We hope that at some not far distant day someone who is well acquainted with Mr. Scott's activities will furnish us with a more adequate record of his philatelic life. We are indebted to "Who's Who in Philately" for some of the facts as stated above and several friends, including J. C. Morgenthau, A. W. Batchelder, J. M. Bartels and Allen S. Davenport have written us or sent clippings concerning the death of the "Grand Old Man" of Philately.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—W. I. C.—You ask "Will this government stamped envelope without ink on the embossed stamp be carried to you by Uncle Sam?" Our reply is, "Yes."

—"Speaking of large amounts of postage, the Scott Stamp Co. offered me a superb block of twelve $5 1916-17 issue, another of 12 of the current $5, and a block of 19 of the current $2. I won't say a word about the prices asked, but I need hardly say that my limit on stamps of that class is emphatically a block of four. I figure that sixty dollars postage carried a parcel weighing 125 pounds, but there must have been a ten cent stamp also for registration fee!"—HUBERT LYMAN CLARK.

—Of all the season's greetings that we received there was none more original than extended by Herman W. Boers of Detroit. It consisted of a handsome brown card to which was fastened a chestnut with the accompanying sentiment:—"Wishing you the Same Old Chestnut—a Happy New Year for 1919."

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Wm. L. Aldrich and W. E. Egbert.

—We have received from George C. Rockfellow one of the U. S. War Savings Certificate stamps for 1919. It is in a fine shade of blue and bears the head of Franklin and Mr. Rockfellow writes:—"I have already noticed a minor plate variety, viz.: a diagonal line of blue about 2 mm. long across the top leaf on the right hand side."

—A. Miller, the manager of the Exchange Stamp Co., Auburn, Cal., informs us that the date of their next auction sale has been changed from Jan. 25 to Jan. 31.

—"I am ambitious to plate the first stamp issued by Spain—Spain No. 1, 1850, 6c black. A good deal of study on this stamp has found over twenty plate variations—all of them clear cut and ones that can be seen by any one without the use of too much imagination. Now, can any one tell me how many stamps there were in this plate and how they were arranged? Considering the fact that Moens does not tell in his book on Spain and the Madrid dealer, Miguel Galvez, did not know, I consider the question not an easy one to answer. I also would be very grateful to have anyone send me pairs or strips for tabulation purposes and will guarantee prompt return and acknowledgment of them."—J. HARPER BLAISDELL, 45 Bay State Rd., Boston, Mass.

—We have received an interesting letter from S. R. Secor of the 128th U. S. F. A. until recently located on the Verdun front. He writes us that he is homeward bound though it may be some time before he will reach his home in St. Louis. Mr. Secor voices the general satisfaction of the many collectors in the service who eagerly read the WEEKLY whenever a copy reaches them.

—Owing to business conditions and distance from New York, their main source of supply, the W. C. Phillips & Co. has removed from Reno to Hartford, Conn. Correspondents will please take notice.

—Any of our readers who have had trouble with Miss H. Pfersdorf, 58 New Chambers St., New York, should communicate at once with A. V. Dworak, Denison, Kansas.

—Any of our subscribers who are so minded can render a valuable service to a shut-in. There is an eighteen-year-old schoolboy by the name of Wilson Bridges, Watervliet, Mich., who has been laid up for over a year from a gunshot wound. He received both barrels in his right leg, has had several operations, and will have to have more, with prospects of being laid up for a year or two longer. A local collector has interested him in stamps, given him some duplicates and an album, and will be glad to have others send their spare duplicates. Our correspondent convinces us that the case is one of real merit.

—The Suburban Stamp & Curio Club has re-elected the following officers for 1919. Pres., Henry Schuhmacher, Sec., J. A. Gallant. Stamp collectors of Boston and vicinity are invited to join. The yearly dues are 50c. Membership 66. Address the President, 78 Kittredge St., Roslindale, Mass.

—O. A. Michel, who has for months advertised from Newark, N. J., a stationery embosser, has removed to St. Louis, Mo. The change of location will doubtless mean some delay in the filling of orders, hence the above explanation.

—"As a matter of interest I note in my collection a copy of Argentine No. 81, postmarked Nov.-'89, altho Scott in the latest catalog I have at hand (1916) lists this stamp as 1890".—MRS. ALBERT POWER.

VICTORY SPECIAL.

To Be Issued January 25.

Our purpose is to issue a special number that will fittingly represent the satisfaction of the trade in the successful outcome of the great World War. The stamp trade has borne right well its share of responsibility and sacrifice and now that peace is in sight we have a right to rejoice. There are great days ahead for the trade—do not be content to merely see them—enter into and possess them. There is only one way the sign post reads—"Publicity".

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Moving—We are beginning to sail in smoother waters so far as the printing of the WEEKLY is concerned and the irregularities for which the times were responsible are giving way to the old systematized procedure. The handling of the paper at the post office doubtlessly will improve and in short time the delivery of it will be as prompt, we hope, as it was in days gone by. The delays for which we are not to be charged have been regarded tolerantly by readers, we are glad to say; and at least, their complaints have not added to our burdens. The implied restrictions on the use of paper will soon be removed and we are planning a Victory Special for the end of the month. Our handbooks that have been promised for some months will soon be issued and the difficulties of the past will be forgotten. We are reminded that our latest handbook, "United States Postage Rates," by Joseph Waldo Sampson, is numbered twenty-five on our list and we have been told by several collectors that it is the most valuable work that we have published. These are pleasant words even though we suspect that they come from persons who are interested in U. S. covers.

Mention—One of the shining stars of the WEEKLY staff, Mr. Elliott Perry, has been on a trip to Chicago, where he was heartily welcomed. Mr. Elliott is a great historian of early U. S. issues in particular and as for revenues, including match and medicine, we know of no one who has a working knowledge of them better than he. Many an hour has been spent by Mr. Perry in different cities with a philatelic past, poring over old newspapers and other records and the dicta that he has rescued for work, present and prospective, give him high place in the councils of philately. Like other competent observers of the trend of the times, Mr. Perry thinks that prices on fine old U. S. must be revised on an ascending scale.

Matter—The non-appearance of material in our reading columns in season that has been awaiting publication which has been due to the "exigencies of make-up" when we use a six page form will soon be overcome. Also, correspondence has been neglected treating of this condition because of the uncertainty of prospects of resumption of our old form but short shrift will now be made of matters in abeyance.

Many—From Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, we have received the following testimony: "Occasionally, I have noticed your items concerning the use of high value stamps on parcels sent abroad. I have just received a 'part of cover' from a friend who is a captain with the American forces stationed in N. E. Siberia, which bears a total of $43.27 in U. S. postage stamps. This piece is six by eight inches and bears a block of eight $5, perforated 10; six 50 cent; two 12 cent and three 1 cent, all in superb condition,—finely centered, lightly canceled and fresh in appearance. In a note which accompanied the piece, my friend said that he and five friends had ordered new suits and overcoats from a Boston firm and that they had sent them boxed in a fibre case, well wrapped, by post. It must have been something of a parcel for I am told that mail addressed to forces in Siberia goes at the same rates as that addressed to Europe. I was rather surprised to find no revenue stamps used to pay the war tax on parcel post mail as I have paid this tax on parcels sent to members of the A. E. F. stationed in England, France and Italy. I am inclined to think that the parcel of overcoats, etc., originally bore revenues, too." Some time ago, Mr. Ragatz donned khaki and as an army field clerk, he has been in various camps and military posts. He is now at U. S. Nitrate Plant No. 1, Sheffield, Alabama, from where he probably will go to the Depot Quartermaster Offices in Atlanta.

More—Speaking of high values, we recently had an opportunity to see the unwrapping of packages of currency from the Treasury Department at Washington, preparatory to the placing of the new money in the vaults used by the Federal Reserve Bank at Chicago. The wrappers with the high denominations were carefully preserved by the officers who were detailed as attendants at the unpacking and the covers with their stamps were used to check up the number of bundles,—and they must tally. The bundles were of different sizes and the officers said that there were more five dollar values than two dollar stamps used on the packages in this consignment. It is our belief that this custom of sending money by mail is one that benefits the collector by increasing the supply of dollar denominations in used condition that are available for the pages of the stamp albums.

Merited—As showing how much the philatelic theme enters the thoughts of some of the philatelists who are still in service abroad, we subjoin the following extract from the letter just received from a first lieutenant, who we are glad to say thinks enough of the stamp business to consider it as a worthy means of gaining a livelihood: "Now that the big conflict is over, our thoughts quite naturally turn to what we will do when we return to the United States and again take up civil life occupations. I have just been trying to decide just what I would do and the other day I happened across a copy of the WEEKLY and of course, it revived my interest in stamp collecting. It also set me to thinking that stamp dealing might prove a very interesting and also profitable enterprise. It was with this idea in mind that I decided to write to you so that I could obtain all the information that I could and be prepared to go ahead carrying out my plans on my return."

Multiply—This paper goes to great length to encourage recruiting to the ranks of collectors and also to the division of stamp dealers. The reasons for not confining ourselves to the encouragement of collectors only are not always fully understood judging from comments on our plan that sometimes reach us. Let it be known, first of all, that the more dealers there are the more advertising we are likely to carry. As much weight may be given to this selfish consideration on our part as you like, but here is what we are interested in. As the number of collectors increases, there must be more dealers so that collectors' wants may be supplied competitively. There should be a training-school for stamp dealers and we provide it. The way to get experience is to get into the business. In the probationary period, the weaker vessels are smashed while the ones destined to succeed become dealers worthy of the best traditions. The more dealers there are, the better collectors will be taken care of; and keen competition will make the dealers behave. The dealer who is going to turn the corners of honesty too sharply had better be caught young than to be allowed as an old rogue to make his forays into the ranks of dealers. There cannot be too many dealers of the right stripe for the collector's good.

EMBARGO REMOVED.

The War Trade Board has announced the removal of postage stamps cancelled and uncancelled from the export conservation list. The new ruling became effective Dec. 23, 1918.

Commerce Reports from which the above is gleaned also gives the information that the British War Mission has notified the War Trade Board that commencing Dec. 19 the "permit to purchase" system for purchases in the United States has been dispensed with. Stamp dealers both in this country and abroad will rejoice in the freedom of the seas that is now theirs.

THE BOOK SITUATION.

The second instalment of the Dictionary has just been issued and it makes a stocky insert of some 60 pages. The text is more fully illustrated than when it appeared in serial form and every collector who purchased the first section should order this one immediately. The cover of the book furnished with the first section was purposely made large enough to include the further instalments as issued. The Dictionary is fast nearing completion and will be a notable contribution to philatelic literature.

War conditions have seriously affected the publication of the Goodwin book on U. S. stamps, but it will be good news to at least one hundred of our subscribers to know that the work is being pushed rapidly forward to completion. Two sections of the book have been whipped into shape and the two remaining will be taken care of in the very near future. This book has been revised by a competent authority and numerous illustrations added. The edition will consist of 2000 and F. Hugh Vallancey, the British publisher, has already placed with us a substantial order.

Have you purchased the Sampson book on U. S. Postage Rates? It covers the subject in a comprehensive manner and is a reference book of great value to every collector of U. S. stamps. Price 10c.

We have several books and pamphlets in the making and now that labor conditions are easier they will be soon brought out. It is possible that Postage Stamps Worth Fortunes may be the next booklet to be issued. We shall run a large edition of it and plan to give it an extensive circulation, not only among philatelists but the general public.

Mr. Melville is preparing a serial on the stamps of the Cayman Islands, which we shall begin in an early issue.

THE THREE CENTS VIOLET.

NOVEMBER 2, 1917, TO NOVEMBER 2, 1918.

By LOUIS G. BARRETT.

DIE II. OFFSET PRINTED.

(To be referred to hereafter as Type IV.)

Like a bolt out of a clear sky, early in July there appeared what at first seemed to be only an extraordinary change in color of the three cents offset prints. Imperforate sheets received by the New York Post Office, July 15, were in a beautiful bright purple, so different from the existing perforates in their rather dull violet shades, as to be quite noticeable even to the non-philatelist, and they were even distributed by dealers without a suspicion of their true character. The plate number I possess of these imperforates is 8787, but there may be other earlier numbers which I have not seen.

For the same reason that the original recess plate Die II was brought into being, namely a lack of depth to the lines of Die I, so also with "offsets" it was thought possible to improve the quality of the impressions, gaining in depth and color.

So new photographic reproductions were made from the recess Die II in the same way that the former offset Die I had been made from the original recess Die I; with the difference above noted, that the subjects were shortened ½ mm., making the space between subjects vertically 3 mm. instead of 2½ mm.

The first plate of the new Die II offset process was 8720 and printing was begun on June 1 from this plate, the first impressions being in a dull purple, which is quite scarce. I have plate number block of 8760 in this same dull purple shade while 8765 is the earliest number I have in the bright purple, so it would appear that about forty plates were printed from in the dull purple ink, assuming, of course, that the plates went to press in the order of their numbering. All following printings to date have been in the bright purple of varying intensities. If it was the intention of the Bureau to improve the quality of their productions, it can hardly be said that they succeeded, for the new emissions are much cruder appearing, altho there is no question as to their having more depth of color.

All of the three cents plates made beginning with 8720 have been of the offset Die II, so it will be seen at once that the imperforates above mentioned as of plate 8787, and in the distinctive bright purple color, were of this Die II and not of Die I; in fact I have been informed that Die I offset printing does not exist imperforate.

Offset Die II differs from offset Die I in several important particulars, as follows.—

a. The shading below the jaw has been so altered that the noticeable double-chin characteristic of Die I has almost disappeared.

b. The eye, nose and mouth have been entirely redrawn.

c. On the "button" the center vertical line is entire with a dot at its middle; the lines at right and left of center line are broken.

d. All the six cross-lines on fold of drapery are heavy. (See illustration of Type IV.)

It is well to call attention to a recurring plate variety in this second "offset", type IV, which is really worthy of inclusion in any collection. On the stamp directly below the plate number from the top of N. E. panes, there is a conspicuous flaw of color directly below the S of U. S. and between it and the top of laurel spray. I have numbers 8775, 8782, 8804 and 8816, which show this flaw, and a correspondent informs me that about half of his top plate-numbers up to 9057 show it, so it is quite constant.

As in the earlier offset printings of Die I there are numerous varieties for the specialist in the printings from Die II.

Plate 8779 has the numbers appearing as tho "rubber-stamped," the same as noted for plate 8610.

Printings from plate 8784 have been seen having a smudged appearance, which might be mistaken by some for a double impression.

Plate 8810, however, is known distinctly double printed, the impression being off some ½ mm., as in the similar variety of offset plate 8615 of Die I.

Plate 8800 is also interesting in that on the left panes the two 8's were engraved slightly off-center to the right in relation to the adjoining stamp, and that then two zeroes were cut in at the left of the 8's so that the number 8800 has to be read from the outside, as in the earlier plate 8375. As the upper lobes of an 8 are smaller than the lower it is plainly evident how the error was made, of course in reverse on the plate, for both 8's have their bases towards the stamp, but as the plate number has to be looked at, they are inverted.

A right side plate number from Plate 8816 has all the numerals scratched in as with a pin, in the crudest manner, the numerals leaning slightly to the right and are of varying sizes; the 6 being 4 mm. tall. The whole number is 11 mm. long. A top plate number, however, from the same plate, is normal in every respect.

One of the most interesting of these numerous plate variations is such as is found on left, bottom pane from plate 8782. On the lower margin, just below the stamp at left of the "guide-line-arrow," (No. 100 in the pane) is a pin-scratched number 215, whose numerals lean to the right and are from 3½ to 4 mm. high. The perforations cut thru the upper part of them horizontally.

It was suspected that this might be some kind of an inspector's check number, but it is found that, owing to the numerous faults charged to the printers, certain of them for self-protection have taken the liberty of scratching the press number on the plates so that they could check up any errors laid at their doors. Thus it is known that this same number 215 appears in combination with other plate numbers than 8782, and also that there are other press-numbers to be found.

Here, indeed, is a new field for the specialist, adding emphasis to the open-

TWO PARODIES.

SING A SONG OF POSTAGE STAMPS.

By Miss Betty Thompson.

Sing a song of Postage Stamps,
Stamps from far and near,
Some I get are rather blurred,
And some are fine and clear.
But there's nothing like Philately,
For the tales the little stamps bring,
Make the finest tonic going,
And it's favoured by the King.

LITTLE RED STAMP.

By Gunner J. Ireland.

My stamps and I live all alone
In a library we call our own,
I love them and they love me,
Without their charm where should I be?

Ha, ha, ha! you and me,
Little red stamp don't I love thee!

'Tis you who makes my friends my foes,
'Tis you who makes me wear old clothes!
I spend too much on thee, tha knows,
But, still, you drown my cares and woes.

Ha, ha, ha! you and me,
Little red stamp don't I love thee!

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer has shown us the first of the new 1c stamps printed by the offset process which we described in our issue of November 30th. The strip of three which he received on cover showed plate number 9283 and was mailed from Federalsburg, Maryland. Mr. H. F. Colman also sends a complete sheet of one hundred from the same plate and states that these have just been placed on sale in Washington and as yet stamps from none of the other plates have been located. As this is the fifteenth plate made of the 1c for surface printing, it means that the fourteen with lower numbers are as yet to be found and we will await with great interest advice from our readers informing us that they have found them.

The sheet before us is printed in a very light washed out green on unwatermarked paper, perforated 11, and is the lower right pane. This stamp will without doubt be found in as many shades as its companion, the 3c surface print and we would not be at all surprised to find the double prints, the printed on the back and the imperforates.

1918 Surface print. Unwatermarked. Perf. 11.

Mr. Eugene Klein advises that he has learned of another sheet of the 3c surface print with direct impression on the back. This sheet is from plate No. 9088 and thirty of the hundred stamps show the second impression plainly. From the plate number we, of course, know that this is Type IV. Specialists in this one stamp alone will have their hands full and we trust that some of the lucky finders of these sheets will break them so we will all have a chance of securing blocks for our collections.

Mr. George Soulman sends for our inspection a block of four of the current 4c perforated 11 with a very sharp and distinct offset on the back. This is the reversed impression caused by the sheet underneath and is not to be confused with the direct impression on the back mentioned in the previous paragraph. Slight offsets on the back are common to all denominations, but we do not offhand recall sharp offsets on the current issue other than on the stamp just chronicled and the 3c Type IV.

Mr. J. Fred Shartle has shown us strips of three showing plate numbers of the current 25c Documentary. The strip from plate 1987 is in a deep shade. The white scroll lines are thin and the red portion heavy. The second strip is in a much lighter shade. The white lines are thick, while the red lines throughout are very thin. We do not believe the second strip to be from a different master plate as was the case with the 1c value that we chronicled on October 19th, but believe the second strip from a much worn plate.

We recently purchased a couple packs of playing cards and were surprised to find the stamps thereon with inverted surcharge. The surcharge, which was in red was also somewhat different from any that we have heretofore seen. We find on the first vertical line in very large figures "7c", followed with two more lines reading "R.P.C.Co. 1-25-'18".

1918, Rouletted, Watermarked U. S. I. R.
7c on 2c blue, inverted surcharge.

Mr. Galen S. Wallick in The American Philatelist for Dec. 1st quotes Treasury Decision 2594 dated Washington, D. C., November 28, 1918, and signed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, wherein the several collectors of internal revenue are authorized to issue provisional "Stock Transfer" and "Future Delivery" surcharged stamps. The interesting portion of the order is as follows:—

"These temporary special stamps, which will be distinguished from other documentary stamps by the letters "S.T." for stock transfers and "F.D." for future delivery contracts, overprinted upon the face thereof, will be ready for delivery to collectors by December 10, 1917."

Mr. Wallick has seen the 10c value only and this was surcharged in purple diagonally by means of a rubber stamp "S.T." As he mentions, other values no doubt exist. As the surcharged stamps now current did not come into use until February 1, 1918, these provisional revenues were in use for a month and a half. Can any of our readers supply us with additional information?

AZORES.—A further value in the current series of Portugal has been overprinted for this Lusitanian possession—viz. the 3½c green. Philatelia, on whose authority we chronicle this stamp, also reports the issue of the following Postage Dues, in the usual type, with currency in centavos instead of reis.—½c slate, 1c orange, 2c slate-violet, 3c green, 4c grey-mauve, 5c carmine, 10c blue.—Stamp Collecting.

CANAL ZONE.—J. P. Coveleski advises us that there has been discovered one sheet of Scott's No. 41 (1c green and black) of the second type of surcharge issued in 1913 that has the top horizontal row without surcharge. Thus there are ten vertical pairs in which the upper stamp of each pair is without surcharge. Mr. Coveleski states that he knows of eight pairs unused and two used.

COOK ISLANDS.—For some months speculation has been rife on the subject of possible changes in the stamps of these Pacific islands. We now learn that an entirely new series is to be issued, consisting of the current stamps of New Zealand—1d Universal, and ½d, 1½d, 2d, 2½d, 3d, 4d, 4½d, 6d, 7½d, 9d and 1s, King George, overprinted with the name of the capital of the Dependency, RARATONGA. These are said to be in active preparation.—Stamp Collecting.

MOZAMBIQUE CO.—Mr. Fred J. Melville advises us that a very fine pictorial series is about to be issued. The entire set will consist of 16 values, as follows:—¼ centavo (native huts); ½c (ivory); 1c (maize); 1½c (rubber); 2c (sugar); 2½c (Rio Buzi); 5c (Beira); 7½c (orange trees); 8c (cotton); 10c (sisal); 15c (railway); 20c (cattle); 30c (copra); 40c (wattle); 50c (law courts) and 1 escudo (Arms). The stamps are bicolored and represent chiefly the staple products and views in the Mozambique Company's territories.

PALESTINE.—Smith's Monthly Circular notes that a variety of the provisional 5 mils on 1 piastre has been found, showing the overprint in olive green instead of black.

PANAMA.—We extract the following from a letter just at hand from J. P. Coveleski:—"No one seems to know how many pairs exist of Scott's No. 187 in horizontal, imperforate between condition. I own a pair that was used, but it is not on the original cover. Scott says there is no proof of these stamps having been regularly issued.

Concerning Scott's No. 193 I know of one sheet that has the left half imperforate vertically, making ten horizontal strips of five stamps each imperforate between and also imperforate at the left margin. Scott says they have no proof that any of these stamps were regularly issued. I own several of this variety including a horizontal strip of six stamps unused showing one with perforations between and the other five imperforate."

PERSIA.—Lieut.-Col. Napier, writing to the London Philatelist, anent a local provisional issue at Kermansah during the Turkish occupation, says:—"These stamps were issued owing to the impossibility of getting fresh supplies from Teheran. They were issued in January, 1917, and remained in use till the end of March. As most of the copies used went to Turkey and were destroyed, they are exceedingly rare.....A new provisional," adds Col. Napier, "appeared about May 10th last, the green are before us. Only two values have arrived so far, viz., 35 and 70 kopecs, the design being the same and showing a clenched fist grasping the hilt of a sword, in the act of breaking a chain, of five links, stretched across an oval frame. In the upper part of the latter is the lower half of what we presume to be the sun, and there is a background of wavy rays from that object. At the top of the stamp is the Russian word POCCIB and at the foot the denomination "35 KON 35" and "70 KON 70" respectively, the numerals being enclosed in square frames. In the upper spandrels there is some conventional ornamentation, differing somewhat in the two values.

The 35 kopecs stamp is in blue and the 70 kopecs in brown, and there is every indication that they have been produced at the State Printing Works. They are on white wove unwatermarked paper, perforated 13½. — Stamp Collecting.

SWITZERLAND.—Mr. G. Hemond shows us two new stamps recently issued for this country. They are Charity stamps, but in use for regular postage. The values submitted are the 10c and 15c. They are printed on cream colored paper, the former in red yellow and black, while the latter value is in violet, red, yellow and black. At the top of each stamp is the words PRO. JUVENTUTE—1918 and at the bottom HELVETIA. The 10c value has the head of an animal with a ring in its mouth. The 15c shows a coat of arms. Above the words at the bottom of each stamp are the values in figures, appearing at each side of the centre figure.

TURKS ISLANDS.—A. C. Roessler sends us a new 3d War Tax. The surcharge is applied in a very crude and indistinct fashion and consists of the words WAR TAX in a horizontal line on the lower part of the stamp. The surcharge is in red and is made up of sans serif capital letters. It is a local production and we are advised that only a small quantity was issued.

COLLECTORS' CLUB ANNUAL.

The twenty-second annual meeting of the Collectors' Club of New York was held December 2 at the Club Rooms, 120 West 49 St., New York, 16 being present.

The president, Theodore E. Steinway, made his annual report, naturally dwelling upon the war and expressing the hope that now that it is all over there will be an increased revival of Club life and of its philatelic pursuits. He observed that the Club was in excellent condition, well located and furnished and suited to the purposes and pursuits of a philatelic society. He touched briefly on the recent demise of one of the most active and devoted members, F. F. Falisse voicing the Club's sorrow at losing so valuable a man and member.

The Treasurer and Librarian, J. W. Scott's report showed the Club in good financial condition. The library is entirely rearranged and grown considerably of late.

The following Governors were elected to serve for three years: H. H. Wilson, Thomas L. Wells and H. M. Lewy.

At the election of officers, Theodore E. Steinway expressed the desire to retire from the presidency, giving important reasons for his resignation and the Board reluctantly accepted it. Mr. Steinway has been president for the last two years, during which he devoted a great deal of time and energy to its welfare, securing the new and greatly improved quarters, with the result that the Club is again assuming an important position among the philatelic fraternity.

The following officers have been elected for the year: Alfred F. Lichtenstein, president; H. H. Wilson, vice-president; J. W. Scott, treasurer; E. M. Sperling, secretary.

THREE CENTS VIOLET.

ing sentence of this review. It is presumed that such markings will not be found occurring much longer, for it is, I believe, illegal to have plates for postage stamps bear any other inscriptions than the plate-number imprint, outside of the stamps themselves.

In regard to booklet plates in these types, it is probable that 8331, 8332, 8333 and 8334 are from recess die II, or Type II; while 8448, 8449, 8452 and 8460 are probably from offset Die II, or Type IV, altho I have no positive proofs that such is the case. It has been reported that booklets have been seen in the offset print of Type IV, but I have not seen them.

A collector wishing to have a sequence of blocks and plate numbers illustrative of the various changes and processes in this most interesting current stamp, could make a collection covering the ground, something after the following summary, bearing in mind, however, that perhaps in some cases the actual first or last plate of a given printing may not be immediately available, and that one should get the nearest number to those limits as is possible.

To show both the plate number and the "press-number" referred to above, however, a full bottom row, or better, a double row of twenty stamps is required.

SUMMARY IN BLOCKS OF FOUR; THREE CENTS, SERIES OF 1917-18, PERFORATED 11, ON PAPER WITHOUT WATERMARK.

Die I, Recess Plates. (Type I.)
1, block with last plate number, 8256.
1a, booklet page, with a plate number if possible.
1b, block with a plate number, imperforate.
1c, horizontal coil strip.
1d, vertical coil strip.
1e, double print from plate 8209.

Die II, Recess Plates. (Type II.)
2, block with first plate number, 8262.
2a, booklet page; with a plate number if possible.
2b, block with plate number 8357, (or any other), imperforate.
2c, horizontal coil strip.
2d, vertical coil strip. (?).
2e, block from worn plates 8266 or 8285.
2f, block with last plate number, 8367, of regular sequence, or any of the "orphan" plates ending with 8481, which is the actual last recess plate, as explained in text above.

Die I, Offset Plates. (Type III.)
3, block with first plate number, 8370; 1st printing, perfs. through number.
3a, block with plate number 8375; 2nd printing, perfs. through number.
3b, block with plate number 8379; 2nd printing, normal position.
3c, block with plate number 8381 or 8382; 3rd printing.
3d, block with plate number 8383; 4th printing.
3e, block with plate number 8384; 5th printing.
3f, block with plate number 8413, 8421 or 8556; 6th printing.
3g, block with plate number 8420; 7th printing.
3h, block with plate number 8559, 8560 or 8561; 8th printing.
3i, block with plate number 8417 or 8563; 9th printing.
3j, block with plate number 8610; ("rubber stamped") or others as mentioned in text.
3k, block with plate number 8596 (with "6" redrawn).
3l, Block with plate number 8615; double impression.
3m, block with plate number 8632 or 8656 (multiple plate numbers).
3n, block with plate number 8649; ("free hand" numerals).
3o, block with plate 8646 or 8647; (final numerals redrawn).
3p, block with plate number 8674; (large numerals).
3q, block with plate number 8717; spaced 3 mm. apart vertically.
3r, block with last plate number 8719.

Die II. Offset Plates. (Type IV).
4, block with first plate number 8720.
4a, block with plate number 8779; ("rubber stamped").
4b, block with plate number 8784; (smudge print).
4c, block with plate number 8787; (or any other) imperforate.
4d, block with plate number 8810; double impression.
4e, a top plate number block from N. E. pane showing flaw on stamp below plate number.
4f, bottom strip of 20 from S. W. pane of 8782 with additional number 215 (or other combinations) at right under stamp No. 100.
4g, a right side block from plate 8816 showing large pin-scratched numerals.
4h, booklet page, with a plate number, if possible; (?).
4i, block with last plate number; (yet to come). (?).

The last two items have not as yet been issued, with the possible exception of 4h which has been reported, but not verified, while there is every chance that the last of the offset plates is approaching, as there have been rumors of a return to recess plate printing.

At the present time, early in December, all the three cents stamps on sale at Boston P. O. are of the old Type I recess plates, with numbers running in the 72 hundreds, and quite distinctive shades from what earlier printings from these same plates showed. As an example, I purchased plate 7258 within the week in a deep violet shade, whereas an earlier block from the same plate purchased just a year ago this same week was in a rosy lavender shade; whether old plates have been put to press again or whether merely old stock is being worked off is unknown.

From the above descriptions the most casual reader will observe how important it is that where possible, plate number blocks or strips should be obtained to provide positive proof in a series such as has been discussed. The historical value alone of such a "sideline" collection as I have outlined above is very great, and will be of increasing value in the years to come.

AN AERIAL SOUVENIR.

F. Hugh Vallancey, the publisher of Stamp Collecting, favors us with an aerial souvenir that is truly a "greeting from the clouds". The card bears upon its face the current 10c French stamp postmarked Dec. 9, 1918, "Army Post Office, S.20". There is also the censor marking in an upright, rectangular frame, "Passed by Censor No. 7029" surmounted by the royal crown. On the reverse side is a representation of the famous Mulready with the following explanatory matter:—"This souvenir card was posted from French soil. It was conveyed across the Channel in an aeroplane by me on the date shown on the postmark. (Signed) F. HUGH VALLANCEY". We extend our congratulations to Mr. Vallancey for his enterprise.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Rumors are current that the Post Office Department contemplates issuing a series of Victory or Peace stamps but we have heard nothing definite as yet. It has also been said that a stamp to commemorate the taking over of the telephone and telegraph lines would appear but detailed information in regards to this variety is also lacking. We can state, however, that we feel quite confident that the 2c value will be printed by the offset method very shortly and that by the time the domestic postal rate is back to 2c the stamp will be on sale.

Speaking of the surface print, Mr. John N. Luff tells us that he received a cover postmarked New York, December 24th, with one of the new 1c values which would show that this variety was placed on sale in that city previous to the time when it was issued in Washington. We have seen a sheet of this stamp with phantom plate numbers similar to the 3c denomination which was described in our issue of December 14th, the sheet in question being No. 9283.

Mr. Charles M. Breder sends us a sheet of the 3c Type IV wherein the perforations start at the correct place at the top of the sheet but by the time the operator reached the bottom the perforations were cutting through the center. We get a complete stamp in each instance but we must object to having the right side of the stamp on the left side and vice versa. We have not been trained to expect them printed that way. They are great on economy at Washington at this time for anything passes inspection. They not only print them on one side as per our former custom but they are now turning up here and there printed on both sides. Reminds us of the old Confederate envelopes, when you have finished with one side turn them over and use the other.

We described in our December 21st issue the current 2c stamp, double print. We perhaps should have mentioned that this second print was caused by the sheet being smeared across the plate as it was taken up by the helper rather than by the sheet actually going through the press a second time. Mr. Percy M. Mann now shows us a block of fifteen of the 1c engraved showing a similar effect caused in part by a greatly over inked plate. This latter block was from the lower right pane of sheet No. 8399.

The Nassau Stamp Company has sent us first trip covers of the recent unsuccessful aeroplane flight between New York and Chicago which will go in our reference collection as marking another step towards the day when the country will be covered in its entirety through the air. The one from New York is postmarked with the regular "air mail" cancellation and is dated Dec. 17. The one from Chicago is dated Dec. 18. 12-M and is cancelled with the regular cancelling machine. Please, Mr. Second Assistant Postmaster General, use a special postmark in the future when you open up new routes. The cost would be a minor consideration but the results obtained both historically and philatelically would be of the greatest importance. We wish to mention that the 6c aeroplane stamp used on this cover is much lighter in shade than any we have seen in the east.

We wish to thank Messrs. Harmon Wendell, Karl Koslowski, John H. Feeman and others for current notes of interest.

BOLIVIA.—Mr. James D. Havens has shown us a cover containing a vertical pair of the current 2 centavos stamp showing a peculiar perforation. It is imperforate vertically, but about one third appears in the regular perforation. It is evident that the stamps must have been separated by cutting.

FEDERATED MALAY STATES.—(1446.)—Mr. C. L. Harte-Lovelace and Mr. C. L. Teck have shown us copies of the new 3c stamp recently issued It is the current type but of grey color. Mr. Harte-Lovelace advises that while on sale at some offices the stamp is not yet in general use.

INDO CHINA.—Mr. Benj. Cadbury advises of the receipt of the French Charity stamps of 1917 surcharged IN-

DOCHINE and new value in Chinese currency as follows.

Scott's No.
205	15x10c	surcharged	10 cents.
206	25x15c	"	16 "
207	35x25c	"	24 "
208	50x50c	"	40 "
209	1frx1fr	"	80 "

All surcharges in black.

Mr. Cadbury adds that his correspondent informs him that the 5 Fr x 5 Fr No. 210 has also been surcharged but he did not send a copy.

They were on sale in the French P. O in Canton and do not have the additional Canton surcharge. The correspondent writes under date of Nov. 28 "The postmaster says he has only been allotted a small supply of these stamps". They were evidently not especially surcharged for the different P. O.'s in China. He also informs them that the Indo China stamps in current use in Canton with the Canton surcharge (France No. 1148 to 1164) had not yet appeared with new value surcharged in Chinese currency (cents and dollars) although it has been noted in various stamp papers the prospect of an issue of such a series for Indo China and the various surcharged issues for P. O.'s in China.

MESOPOTAMIA (IRAQ).—Copies of the complete series of Turkish pictorial stamps, overprinted with the words "Iraq in British Occupation" and new value in Indian currency, as described by us some time ago, have been shown by Mr. R. Roberts, Mr. F. T. G. Townsend, and other correspondents. The type used for the overprint would appear to have been far from satisfactory. —Stamp Collecting.

MEXICO.—Hermann Focke sends us the current 10c overprinted with a red cross and "5c" also in red. A strip of three rouletted is submitted. This makes a fourth variety of the current 10c as listed by Mr. Focke:—
(1) Rouletted without name of printing office at bottom.
(2) The same perforated. Very scarce.
(3) Perforated and design retouched with name of printing office.
(4) Rouletted with name of printing office and surcharged as indicated above.
Mr. Focke submitted specimens of all these varieties.

PALESTINE.—Mr. Benj. Cadbury advises that he has received a copy of the 1 piastre stamp, perforated, in a very dark shade of indigo blue.

PHILIPPINES.—J. M. Bartels informs us that he has just received the current 6c perforated 10. This stamp appeared some time ago, perforated 11, but is only now making its appearance in the 10 guage.

SERBIA.—Specimens of a brand-new set of stamps for this country are to hand, says M. Th. Champion. They bear the double portrait of King Peter and Prince Alexander of Serbia, who is the prospective ruler over the greater Kingdom of the Jugo-Slavs.

The appearance of the stamps, so far as the actual impression is concerned, leaves much to be desired, says M. Champion. One must not overlook, however, the difficult circumstances under which they have been produced, and we have no doubt that future printings will show a marked improvement. Moreover, it is quite within the bounds of possibility that these new stamps will have quite a short life, if the unification of Serbia, Montenegro, and Bosnia-Herzegovina is to be philatelically signalized by the issue of postage stamps bearing the inscription of the new Kingdom of Jugo-Slavia.—Stamp Collecting.

ST. VINCENT.—We are in receipt of a new printing of the 1d War Stamp, this time the color being a salmon red. We also note that the sheet received has the Surcharge printed on a slant, as the words WAR STAMP at the top of the sheet are in the centre of the stamp, while at the bottom the surcharge is so far to the left that the W in WAR touches the perforation.

UKRAINIA.—Five prehistoric-looking labels have arrived from this South Russian republic. They are "fearfully and wonderfully made," and comprise four values, viz.:—10 chagivé, sepia; 20 chagivé, brown; 30 chagivé, ultramarine; 40 chagivé, emerald green, and 50 chagivé, vermilion.

They are illustrated in the Madrid Filatélico, the first and fourth having geometrical designs which we will not attempt to describe. The design of the 20 chagivé is the portrait of presumably a Ukrainian citizen, holding a scythe in his left hand (possibly he is a young Father Time), while on the 30 chagivé we discern, after patient analysis, an extremely crude head of a woman, or perhaps a goddess, reminiscent of the notorious "baker's boy" head of Corrientes and infinitely worse than the ugly heads of Antioquia, 1883-5 issue. The 50 chagivé stamp has the denomination in the centre, with floral and laurel ornamentation around. All are imperforate.—Stamp Collecting.

FORGED FOOCHOW PROVISIONALS.

We have received from a Shanghai correspondent a clipping from the Shanghai Mercury dated November 15, in which stamp collectors are warned that forged Foochow provisionals are being offered as genuine. We quote the article just as it appeared in the Mercury:—

"The easiest test for their detection is in the 5th and last character Li 里 from right, (first character from left) the horizontal stroke at bottom of which is much shorter in the forgery than in the genuine stamp. In the latter this stroke is 3½ millimeters long, while in the forgeries it is only 2 mm. long. There are other tests, but this is the most simple.

Usually the cancellation Postmark is also forged, which reads 'Foochow 12 Oct. 12,' but this also can be easily detected, as it is from a wood block, instead of the usual metal one, and the ink used instead of being the usual oily printing ink, is the ordinary Chinese water ink.

Usually these forgeries are offered on what seem to be original Chinese envelopes with a red band horizontally through the center, being addressed in Chinese. The forged post cancellation also appears on the back of the envelope. They are also offered on parts of covers.

Forgeries have been seen on all the values then issued at Foochow, and always on genuine stamps."

FORMOSA

For sale a remarkable specialised collection of the large native stamps of Formosa including a number of entire sheets of five. The collection contains 210 stamps in all in perfect condition and could hardly be duplicated at any figure. Price and particulars on application.

THE RISE OF THE POSTAGE STAMP.

(Under the caption of "An Invention Anniversary" the Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger of Friday, January 10 contained a very interesting article and one we think advisable to reprint. We have many clippings sent us, only a few of which can be used in our publication because little fresh matter is included. This article, however, has sufficient merit to reproduce and we thank W. J. Long for sending it.—W. O. W.)

Philatelists should be in high fettle today and very probably they are, for those amiable hobbyists are too keenly conscious of chronological values to be oblivious of a date of prime significance in the fascinating lore of stamp collecting. Moreover, those of us whose tastes are less highly specialized have also in this instance full warranty to recognize the anniversary, for January 10 marks the opening move from which the entire modern system of communication by letter (enemy countries temporarily excepted) is derived.

Inventions so simple as to appear by the illuminating rays of hindsight inevitable have long been imperfectly honored in a world whose admiration for the mysterious is ever profound and prompt. Thus the linotype, the airplane and the wireless provoke, as of course they should, respect and awe. No one marvels at the corkscrew and yet its originator must have been an ingenious and perspicacious chap. That he was a universal benefactor is admitted on reflection, though one seldom pauses to ponder upon the scope and efficacy of his achievement.

How seldom was disclosed a few years ago in Paris—that Mecca of monuments on an astonishing variety of subjects—when the suggestion was made that the inventor of bottle openers be memorialized in bronze. Probably rival names were submitted for his laurels, for accounts of the grateful construction of that statue have not yet crossed the seas, but no such confusion exists as regards the father of the modern postal service and the adhesive prepaid postage stamp. He was Sir Rowland Hill and seventy-nine years ago today his transparently simple, but none the less original, scheme went into operation in the island of Great Britain.

Familiar to philatelists, but often truly surprising to folk without the brotherhood is the fact that postage stamps date only from 1840. From the days of the epistolary bricks of Babylonians to the third year of the reign of Queen Victoria the delivery of correspondence had been crippled by complex and unwieldy machinery. Until the sixteenth century a trusty friend, a ship captain or a governmental legate irregularly performed mail carrying functions. The development of modern Continental Europe brought forward a much needed semblance of standardization and also a most lucrative monopoly.

The German Counts of Thurn and Taxis were officially declared hereditary postmasters of the Holy Roman Empire and of Spain. It was a goodly office profitable to its incumbent, but decidedly less so to patrons of the service. Mail delivery was both haphazard and hazardous and always expensive.

Postal arrangements were considerably reorganized in Britain under James I, but their inconveniences were numerous. The cost of dispatching letters was proportioned to the length of their journey. The recipient paid the charge. With certain improvements and modifications, fostered by the establishment of regular mail-coach routes, this system obtained in England—with imitations in America—until railroads started to revolutionize civilization. It was soon evident then that the awkwardness of postal services was both unnecessary and pitifully archaic.

A British educator with a bent for statistics and reform was aroused to the situation. Sir Rowland Hill held no office in the Government and the Post-office Department, tainted with circumlocution, resented interference. But Hill's admirably reasoned pamphlet, "Post Office Reform" was too obviously pertinent to be ignored.

The author had successfully demonstrated that the difference in the carrying cost of a letter sent from Threadneedle street, London, to St. Martin's Lane, and one dispatched from the capital to Edinburgh was infinitesimal. It was, to be specific, precisely the ninth of a farthing! The high cost of mail service was largely due to superfluous tangles in administration, such as the time wasted in working out charges on the number of sheets of paper contained in an envelope, on fixing prices by a distance schedule and in collecting payment from the receiver of the missive.

With convincing lucidity the reformer brushed all these snarls aside in urging a flat rate of one penny for all letters under a certain weight carried to any destination whatsoever in Great Britain and in advocating a prepayment system. Any difficulties in that plan "might be obviated," declared the pamphlet, "by using a bit of paper just large enough to bear the stamp and covered at the back with a glutinous wash, which by applying a bit of moisture might be attached to the back of the letter." The invention of that indispensable scrap of paper, the modern postage stamp, dates from this modestly advanced suggestion.

Even the circumlocution office was stirred by this proposed new instrument of civilization. January 10, 1840, saw the penny postage scheme operative in Great Britain. Six months later an adhesive prepaid stamp, a remarkable creation, ten times the size of its descendants appeared. Collectors cry for it. King George, an indefatigable philatelist probably owns one. Its principal feature is an idealized portrait of his grandmother, Queen Victoria.

Before the forties were finished stamps had come down in size, and the first American Government issues, in 1847, bear, save in the absence of perforation, a normal aspect. By the fifties the leading countries of the world had reformed their postal systems and were using the adhesive paper. Its existence and that of the whole postal administration, later admirably organized for international purposes in the Universal Postal Union, with headquarters at Berne, were soon serenely accepted as matters of course. It is not easy to regard them as "inventions." Yet such is their incontestable due today.

DEATH OF GEORGE R. TUTTLE.

Following closely upon the death of the veteran philatelist, John W. Scott, comes the sad news from J. M. Bartels that George R. Tuttle, the well-known New York dealer passed away Friday, Jan. 10. He died quite suddenly. On Thursday, he was in his office and complained of a pain in his chest which, however, was not thought to be serious. The funeral occurred Sunday, Jan. 12, at 3 P. M. from his late residence, 356 Marlboro Rd., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. Tuttle has been a leading figure in New York philately for many years. His office on Nassau St. has always been a Mecca for the trade and he will be greatly missed.

EDITORIAL.

Vale—In some of the newspapers, the announcement of the death of J. W. Scott, New York City, was made under the date of January 7th, 1919. It was printed that John Walter Scott, "one of the most widely known stamp collectors of the world," died at his home in New York City on Sunday, January 5th, at the age of 75 years. The citizens of the larger world will never know what a deep significance this intelligence had for us who dwell in the precincts of philately. The Father of Philately is gone, but he went in the fullness of years, and he leaves an imperishable name. His life spanned the origin, the growth and the present estate of philately. His patronym typified stamps the world over and the distinction that was his and which he bore becomingly remains unique in the annals of American philately.

Biography—It would be a presumptuous biographer who would essay to sketch his career adequately. His life while consistent in a philatelic sense was so long and at times intensive that there is a wealth of material too great for any hurrying biographer to handle. On several occasions we have insisted to Mr. Scott that he write his autobiography, and in particular, last August at Cleveland, our importunities seemed to have some effect as Mr. Scott promised to take the idea seriously under consideration. It was represented to him that he could proceed leisurely with his task and he admitted that while he was not favorable to the personal or intimate note in the printed word of philately, he granted that his autobiography would touch upon many of the momentous questions of philately as they developed from year to year. We regret it greatly that to our knowledge, Mr. Scott did not leave a personal record of his associations with stamps. His memoirs would have been a history of philately for all times. As it is, there is a paucity of printed records, comparatively speaking, of the achievements of Mr. Scott that impresses the one who would live his life by the proxy of print; and the thought becomes conviction that Mr. Scott deprecated any advertising that became personal in its references. He was ready to extol his business but he preferred that he, himself, be left out of the calculations. This blend of modesty and dignity was known to many of Mr. Scott's friends.

Confidences—While the sparseness of published detail about Mr. Scott has been remarked, it is something to say that Mr. Scott would relate reminiscences that ran the gamut down from important affairs to incidents of human interest. His experiences embraced all the big moments in philately for many years; and he could regale a friendly circle with recitals of engrossing interest. His stories of persons sometimes afforded an insight into the central workings of philately and the lights and shadows of philately were thrown on the screen in rapid succession. Those who have had the privilege of listening to the stories of past and present as told with real art have pleasant recollections of Mr. Scott whom they will miss not only as a philatelic sage but as a delightful companion. The Collectors' Club in New York City was very close to Mr. Scott's affections and he made no secret of having the intention to remember the institution in his will.

Brief—Early in the '60's, John Walter Scott was established as a dealer in stamps and coins in New York City. While of English birth, he found his new home most congenial in a business sense; and he forged ahead to become by 1870, perhaps the best known philatelist in the country. By that time, he had published the American Journal of Philately, first series; organized the National Philatelic Society, New York, and otherwise made his mark as an alert, aggressive and intelligent purveyor to the wants of the growing ranks of stamp collectors. His regard for stamps was genuine and his knowledge gave him an advantage over many of his competitors with some of whom he would have a spirited brush at times. His business grew by leaps and bounds and a decade later, by reason of his catalogues, his stamp albums, particularly the International, not to mention other items, he was facile princeps. Still under the age of forty, he was the dominant figure in the commercial life of philately. In 1885, Mr. Scott sold his business to the Scott Stamp and Coin Company organized by G. B. Calman and Mr. Scott retired from the business side of philately, although he took the editorship of the American Journal of Philately, the second series of which was revived in January, 1888. Soon afterwards in 1889, he formed the J. W. Scott Co., Limited, and became its manager. Some years ago, he retired permanently from the ranks of dealers.

Head—At the time of his death, Mr. Scott was president of the American Philatelic Society for the second year. He presided at the convention at Cleveland last year, where he entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion. Mr. Scott told of his plan to spend his declining years in upbuilding the Collectors' Club and helping philately in different ways. All his words tended to show that his allegiance to philately was undying. Not alone was Mr. Scott a faithful philatelist but he was a student of stamps as well, as his catalogues and occasional contributions proved. Mr. Scott did much to advance stamp collecting in America and his business methods were of an approved kind. While conservative in some respects, this very attribute did much to inspire respect for the commodities in which he dealt. His advertisements never got the swing of modern day publicity but there was something engaging in their unbending dignity. Mr. Scott must have found recent years pleasant, although he did speak of having undergone a severe trial that required the correction of the surgeon's knife, recently, as he knew that he had labored well for not himself alone but also for his beloved philately. Mr. Scott took his profession somewhat seriously and pursued a course that while courteous was not lacking in independence. He always had the courage of his philatelic convictions and his enterprise took different forms. He held the first auction sale in London as an experiment in 1871 or thereabouts. His catalogues and special works on stamps were conceived and offered in full confidence of their acceptance. His faith in stamps never faltered and when he disposed of his interest in 1885, it was said that he had "accumulated a comfortable fortune."

Rest—A writer once claimed that identification with philately was conducive to longevity; and he adduced many instances to prove his point. It is a coincidence that many ardent philatelists live to an advanced age and while the years of Mr. Scott, seventy-five, were not remarkable yet they are very full measure. His death emphasizes the probability that he is the last philatelist who has lived publicly, in a sense, whose life has bridged philately from its infancy to its present position of strength. As a veteran, he is acclaimed and as a worker in the cause to the end of his days, he is revered.

EIGHT NEW NAMES FROM KLEIN.

Outside of the 31 new subscriptions received from the Edgewood Stamp Co., 8 new names from Eugene Klein is the outstanding figure of the past week's campaign for new subscriptions. COMMUNICATION.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

EBENSBURG, PA., Jan. 8, 1919.

Gentlemen:

As a regular reader of MEKEEL'S for a number of years I want to again express my appreciation of the paper.

The special object in writing this note is to express my disgust for some of the communications recently published anent stamps of countries we have recently been at war with and their allies, and to express my appreciation of the letter of Mr. T. Russell Hungerford in the last issue, and also your editorial.

I wonder if the gentlemen who are still venting their hate are not aware that the war is over. Germany is paying a tremendous price for her sins, and she will continue to pay. To express such hatred at any time and specially now that the war is over is showing small caliber indeed, and a spirit of hatred even more bitter than Germany showed. We thought she was a past master at hating.

Some day these same people who are cleaning out German and German allies stamps will be heartily sorry, and will be scrambling to get them. If they would just not be in too big a hurry time will take care of some things, cool off their hate, and show the way.

A. Z. MYERS.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We have received quite a bunch of clippings from Norman J. Harrar consisting of the Stamp Department of the Pittsburgh, (Pa.), Gazette-Times, A. S. Jessup, editor. We take this opportunity of complimenting Mr. Jessup upon the merit of his effort and it must redound to the benefit of Pittsburgh philately. Mr. Harrar writes in connection with the current 3c stamp:—"The shades are very numerous and with the various types, straight edges, etc., the field is a large one. At present I have over seven hundred varieties and many of my friends thought it impossible until they saw for themselves."

—H. E. Kleist, 10741 Ave. H, Chicago, Ill., would like to secure Whole Number 1388 of the WEEKLY to complete his file for that year. Who is the fellow-philatelist who will meet the need?

—We are informed by J. M. Bartels that Dr. Carroll Chase has been seriously ill, having contracted an infection in his surgical work in France. He is now on the highroad to recovery.

—A. M. McFadden of Cherrydale, Va., also reports Arthur DeMund as failing to reply to letters sent him.

—A subscriber sends us a clipping from the World's Markets which deals with "Seaplanes as an aid to Mail Liners." The correspondent of the publication argues that there would be a great saving in time made by despatching letters by air when a steamer is approaching the coast, and it is stated that letters posted in London could in this way be delivered in New York or vice versa within four days.

—A. B. M.—We answer your question publicly, pro bono publico. When your subscription has expired you will be reminded of the fact with an inscription in bold type upon your wrapper, one that you cannot fail to see.

—A serious fire visited Halifax, N. S., on Jan. 9, and the Roy Building, in which was the office of W. W. Walsh, was destroyed. Mr. Walsh writes us that luckily his stamps were in the vault at his home, so his loss was slight. He is now in the Metropole Building.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Benj. Cadbury, L. Reggiani, Leonard O. Kirschner, Mrs. E. W. Oughtred, Walter S. Wilmot and A. S. Davenport.

—We have never seen chronicled the Virginia 5c State Revenue used in connection with the delivery of intoxicating liquors within that state. The law requires an affidavit, and one of these stamps is pasted on each instrument. The color of the stamp before us is green, in the center is the seal of the state, above is the inscription "5 Cents 5" and below are the words "State Revenue". There is nothing upon the face of the stamp to indicate the specific purpose for which it is used. It might be well for those who are interested in this stamp to procure it in the immediate future, inasmuch as history is being made so rapidly these days. The stamp is the size of our regular 1c adhesive.

ODD CANCELLATIONS.

(We have received from L. A. Hall a clipping from the Waterbury (Conn.) American, which we quote below. The Mr. Sanborn referred to is M. Ray Sanborn, president of the New Haven Philatelic Society, who is preparing a history of the Waterbury mail service.—W. O. W.)

During a period of time extending backward from 1878 Mr. Sanborn has found that there was employed at the Waterbury Post Office a man who had many original ideas in the cancelling of stamps and letters. Hundreds of letters passed from the Waterbury Post Office bearing small hand-carved wood cuts that exactly fitted the cancellation form and these envelopes, bearing the unique markings, are now eagerly sought after by collectors.

Envelopes have come to light with cancellations representing a small elephant, evidently in use during a political campaign in that city. Another cancellation of a heart and arrow was on valentine mail. The fall season of the year was marked by large oak leaves on the cancellation form and the spring by a small spray of flowers.

One envelope mailed at the Waterbury Post Office years ago has been found in Buffalo, N. Y., where in the cancellation mark there appears a hen with widespread wings rushing toward one end of the envelope.

According to Mr. Sanborn some of the most interesting of the cancellation marks are yet to be found and the chances are that more than one attic in Waterbury contains one or more of these valuable old envelopes with the unique markings.

From envelopes that have already come into the hands of collectors it is apparent that the Waterbury Post Office employee was a master at the art of engraving or rather carving, for all of the many small stampings were made from wood cuts. Mr. Sanborn has sent many of the Waterbury-marked envelopes to Washington for inspection.

IVAN E. GOODNER ALIAS L. TRAXLER.

We are advised by P. M. Weiss of the Queen City Stamp & Coin Co. that Ivan E. Goodner of Dayton, O., has been bound over to the Federal Grand Jury under bail of $500 on, the charge of using the U. S. mails to defraud. Goodner offers the excuse that he did not mean to defraud any dealers but with the idea of going into the stamp business he secured selections from dealers to get an idea as to selling prices. Dealers having any evidence against Goodner are urged to communicate with the P. O. Inspector at Dayton.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF ARABIA.

After four years of devastating war, the Royal hobby of Philately—for Royal hobby it truly is, with King George, keenest of collectors, at its head—finds itself not only unscathed by the ravages of Armageddon, but actually possessing a prestige far greater than was its portion during the preceding half-century. It is one of the philatelist's proudest claims that not only does the postage stamp invariably follow the flag, but that Imperial and Colonial revenues have been largely augmented by the sale of the tiny scraps of paper to collectors. Every unused British and Colonial postage stamp purchased and retained by collectors is a direct contribution to the Treasury of the country, and, unlike War Bonds, it is a Government security upon which no interest is payable and which the Government will not be called upon to redeem. Who, then, shall be ashamed to collect stamps in this time of Imperial needs?

Colonial Governments have been quick to recognize the power of Philately in this direction, and their coffers have been amply swelled by the demands of dealers and collectors for the War stamps which have been issued in such great variety. The Home Government, ever conservative in its postal administration, still refrains from following the example set by its Dominions, though it will be readily conceded that an issue of British War Tax or Red Cross postage stamps would create an enormous demand and secure a substantial sum for the worthy purpose of helping the country and its deserving heroes.

The late Sir John Henniker Heaton, that ardent postal reformer, aptly claimed that he was sticking the British Empire together with a penny stamp, and there is no doubt that had he lived he would have impressed the British Post Office with the crying need and the crowning merit of its own War Tax adhesives. The conservatism of the British Post Office with regard to War stamps is a quality also displayed by the Army Postal Service itself, for, although the latter is a system established with the co-operation of the Inspector-General of Communications, and has performed wonders for vast armies in various theatres of war, there has been (except in the case of Palestine) a total lack of foresight in regard to the postal needs of the civilian populations in places occupied by the advancing armies. It is nothing less than appalling, for example, that, though there had been ample time to prepare suitable postage stamps for German East Africa, the best the authorities could do to signalize the conquest of the Germans and the occupation of their vast territory was to overprint the stamps of the adjoining British Colony with the initials "G.E.A." (German East Africa)—a moral concession to the defeated enemy which no one has yet been able to understand.

The King of the Hedjaz set a commendable example when, as the Grand Shereef of Mecca, after he had defeated the tyrannous Turk, he declared his territory independent of the Ottoman Empire and issued distinctive postage stamps to take the place of the Turkish stamps which were previously used there. These stamps of the Kingdom of the Hedjaz are handsome and characteristically Arabesque, and their issue affords an unmistakable index of the permanent character of the action of the ruler of the sacred centre of Mussulman faith.

There have already been several issues of postage stamps for this Arabian kingdom. The first appeared in August 1916, and comprised an "emergency" set of one piastre stamps, which were designed and printed by the Survey of Egypt to the order of the Intelligence Office, Cairo, acting on behalf of the Grand Shereef. These stamps bore, in the centre, the Arabic words "MAKKA EL MOKARRAMA" (Holy Mecca), and at top and bottom respectively, the Arabic inscriptions "BARID HEJAZI" (Hedjaz Post) and "QERSH SAGH" (one piastre), with Arabic numerals in the lower corners and the date of the Arabic year 1334 (Lunar year after the prophet Mohammed's flight from Mecca to Medina) in side panels. The main portion of the design, which was printed in Chinese blue, was taken from the detail of an ancient prayer-niche in the mosque of El Amri at Qus, in Upper Egypt, and the binding together of the design was taken from various sources, all purely Arabic.

An "emergency" ½ piastre stamp was issued in September 1916, the design incorporating inscriptions similar to the foregoing and being taken from the last page of a Koran in the mosque of Sultan Barquq, fourteenth century. This was followed in October by a ¼ piastre stamp, the design of which was worked up from one of the carved panels on the principal door of a Cairo mosque, the whole being printed in green, and the ½ piastre stamp in red. The respective denominations were indicated in Arabic in each case.

In February 1917, a stamp of the value of ⅛ piastre was issued, printed (in deep yellow) like the others at Giza, to the order of the Arab Bureau. The central ornament of the design of this ⅛ piastre label is based on a fragment of a Koran design from the tomb of Sultan el Churi, sixteenth century. The Arabesque ornament forming the background was taken from the stone carving on the sides of the entrance arch to the Wakfs Ministry in Cairo.

Stamps of the values of 20 paras and 2, 5, and 10 piastres, issued more recently, are also purely Arabesque in character, and the whole forms a fascinating group of souvenirs of the rise of this new Arabian kingdom. Supplies can be obtained from any stamp dealer, but the early issues are scarce and command fairly high prices.—Traveller's Gazette.

OUR BOOK AGENCIES.

Already agencies for our publications have been established in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington, and others will follow very soon. Our subscribers are urged as far in as possible to personally purchase our books at the nearest agency. Orders by mail, however, should be addressed to this office.

Inquiries are coming to us from various quarters seeking information as to the scope of our plan. In this connection we beg to say that our original idea was to establish agencies in the large trade centers, but we have no objection to establishing them elsewhere providing our terms are acceptable. We require that an initial order be filed with us for a complete set of our books, which will be furnished at the usual trade discount. Agents will soon know what books are the best sellers and can order accordingly. Our desire is to spread philatelic knowledge. All the S.-W.-J. Co. publications are put on the market at a very narrow margin of profit, but we have done this in the knowledge that a reading philatelist is a better asset to our hobby than one who merely contents himself with accumulating stamps.

We have no desire to restrict the number of agents in any one locality and any dealer or collector who will comply with our terms will be commissioned to serve us. In the meantime, we are taking active steps to secure at least one representative in the large centers. If interested, write us.

Some of our agents make a specialty of philatelic literature and other books than what we have published can be supplied. This is true of Eugene Klein of Philadelphia, and we are glad to give him the benefit of this notice. At this writing the following agents have been secured and you are urged to obtain from one of them the second section of the Dictionary just out, price 20c:—

CURRENT AUSTRALIAN STAMPS.

The new Australian War Tax Postage Rates came into force on the 28th ult. The War Postage Bill, which was introduced, provided only for the additional rates of postage on newspapers and postal parcels posted within the Commonwealth for delivery therein, but it subsequently transpired that the Governor-General already had the authority to impose extra rates for oversea delivery. This authority was exercised by an order-in-council, consequently the new rates apply throughout the world.

The Postmaster-General's Department estimated an additional revenue from the extra half-penny of £796,000 per annum or £516,000 up to the end of the next financial year in June.

New 1½d stamps have been provided (see "Chronicle") and were put on sale in Melbourne on the 9th inst. The colour is as near black as it can be. It is very distinct from the other current Australian stamps, but the colour of itself would not be much preventative against forgery, for the stamp looks just like a photograph. At the bottom of the sheet, kindly sent us by Mr. Ackland, we notice a new imprint, namely, "T. S. Harrison" in one line with the words, "Australian Note and Stamp Printer," whereas on the ½d stamps recently issued, the imprint at foot has the words "T. S. Harrison, Commonwealth Stamp Printer" in one line. This will, of course, only concern ultra specialists, but we might remark that Mr. Harrison's proper designation is "Australian Note and Stamp Printer."

Quite recently the postal department sent an intimation to the daily press throughout the Commonwealth that complete sets, comprising all the stamps issued since the establishment of the Commonwealth, were obtainable at the various post offices, that those up to and including the 5sh were postmarked, while the 10sh, £1 and £2 stamps were overprinted "Specimen," and that the price of the set was 10sh. This has caused some commotion, for several of our readers seem to be of the opinion that this is something new, but it was merely a clever attempt at getting a free advertisement regarding sets of Commonwealth stamps which were put on sale several years ago. These sets do not comprise all the stamps issued since the establishment of the Commonwealth, for no notice is taken of the different watermarks of the Kangaroo designs. Should anyone purchase a set he would have to take a chance as to what it contains. The stamps are all obviously postmarked-to-order and are got up merely for sale to the public.

This is a most reprehensible practice and should be abandoned, for we contend that neither the Treasury nor the postal department have any right to enter into business as stamp dealers. Their function is to provide stamps for the purpose of pre-paying postage. Besides, the stamps produced for sale to the public do not cost more than 6d or 9d a thousand, a complete set would only cost a fraction of a penny, and yet the department asks 10sh for it without undertaking to give any service whatever in return, whereas the general public have to pay the face value of the stamps when in unused condition, and very much more than 10sh for similar stamps when they have been bona-fidely used through the post, so it can be readily seen therefore that the procedure of the postal department is unfair competition.

This is a matter in which we think the various philatelic societies throughout Australia should take action in order to maintain the dignity of the Commonwealth, for at the most, the sale of these "ready-made sets" could not add a very great deal to the revenue of the country, whereas the sale of ordinary unused specimens to collectors for which no service is rendered by the department does.

At the present moment we cannot recollect any other country throughout the world which sells similar sets, consequently there is all the more reason why Australia should not show the way in such a contemptible practice.

Our Melbourne friends are still very much agitated regarding the penny King George stamps which were issued six or eight months ago on multiple watermark paper. So far as we can ascertain, 150,000 of these were printed and they were only put on sale in the Victorian post offices. The whole proceeding is very strange, for it would appear now that an ample supply of multiple paper was received to enable at least both ½d and 1d stamps to be printed in considerable numbers, for we are informed that supplies of the ½d stamp on the multiple paper are now obtainable at many post offices throughout the Commonwealth.

As we have said on a former occasion, the multiple watermark has come to stay, for it saves the necessity of accurate registering when the stamps are being printed, and it would be a great deal more difficult to forge the watermarks, consequently we would not advise any of our readers to speculate very largely in these stamps or pay high prices for them. We understand that the present market price in Victoria is 3sh a piece. That may be all right, but when one considers the possibility that penny K.G. stamps on multiple watermark paper might any day become just as plentiful as the halfpenny are now, a person would be very foolish to spend a lot of money on them.

If there was any "wire-pulling" while Mr. J. B. Cook was the Commonwealth Stamp Printer, we are confident that it ceased the day he left the department, and we believe Mr. Harrison will endeavour to tread in the path of rectitude in duty so far as stamp production is concerned. Still, we must make some allowance for war conditions and so long as he is not prompted in his actions by any motives with regard to stamp collectors, then we are quite prepared to give him a pretty free hand.—Australian Stamp Journal.

THEODORE CHAMPION

PARIS 13 rue Drouot 13 PARIS

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

RE-ENGRAVING.—A term used in connection with line-engraved stamps. Either the die from which the plate is made or the plate itself may be recut and the resulting impressions are distinguished as being from (a) a re-engraved die, or (b) a re-engraved plate. Sometimes only small portions of the original die are strengthened by re-engraving, as was the case with the first 1d stamp for Great Britain, where the difference between the two states of the die is not too obviously apparent to the tyro. Then, again, re-engraving may result in striking alterations, as will be found in the various plates of the "Sydney View" stamps of New South Wales. In the case of the 2d, for instance, there was only one actual plate, but this was re-engraved several times and the resulting differences are, on some stamps, so great that it is difficult to credit their origin to one plate only.

REFERENCE NUMBERS.—On the margins of the sheets of many of the stamps of the British Empire, a "reference number" will be found as well as the more usual "plate number." In the case of the line-engraved British stamps produced by Perkins, Bacon & Co., this number referred to the order in which the plate was made, irrespective of the facial value of the stamps printed from it. Thus, in the case of the 1d red, plate 192, the reference number is "229", showing this was the 229th plate for British stamps manufactured by this particular firm.

The reference numbers found on the margins of the sheets of certain British colonial stamps printed by De La Rue & Co. have not yet been satisfactorily explained and, apparently, they do not refer to the sequence in which the plates were manufactured.

REGENCE DE TUNIS. — All the stamps of Tunis issued prior to 1906 bear this inscription to show the country is a protectorate, and not a colony proper, of France.

REGISTERED STAMPS.—These are special stamps issued for the prepayment of a registration fee in order to have a postal packet specially safeguarded in the post. Their use has never been general and at the present time but few countries issue these special labels.

REGISTRO. — This word, meaning "registered", is found upon the registration stamps issued in Antioquia in 1896 and 1899.

REICHSPOST. — The inscription shown on all the stamps of Germany issued prior to 1902, meaning "Imperial post".

REIS.—The unit of value in Portugal until recently and most of its colonies and Brazil. A thousand reis equal a milreis, which in Portugal and its possessions had a value of about $1.08 in American money. The Brazilian milreis is only worth about 50c.

RE-IMPRESSIONS. — (see "Reissue".)

U. S. STAMPS

The United States can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and make it worth twenty dollars.

THAT'S MONEY.

A mechanic can take material worth $5 and make it into watch springs worth one thousand dollars.

THAT'S SKILL.

There is a man in Paris who can take a fifty-cent piece of canvas, paint a picture on it and make it worth $1,000.

THAT'S ART.

You can get a good sack of tobacco for 5 cents.

THAT'S BULL.

The author of this could write a check for $9,000,000 but it wouldn't be worth a cent.

THAT'S TOUGH.

Some people know from experience that the author has a fine line of used and unused U. S. Stamps for sale.

Believe us, that's the Truth.

Presenting Our Victory Special Number

This issue of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS worthily upholds the reputation of the stamp trade as a live, energetic and important factor in the business life of the nation. It emerges from the great world war chastened by sacrifice but rejoicing in the downfall of autocracy and militarism. The years thru which we have been passing tested philately and it stood the test right worthily.

With this great number of twenty pages we express in a measure the confidence of the stamp trade in the future of Philately. Read it through carefully and if you are not as yet a devotee of stamp collecting let us introduce you to its charms and mysteries.

If you have a hobby you are fortunate—every man should have one! Even so you should take on stamp collecting. It is a hobby that rests the nerves, irons out the aches and pains, furnishes intellectual food for the student, banishes care, satisfies the temperament artistic and earns dividends for the cool and calculating.

STAMPS OF THE GREAT WAR.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

Now that the terrible and destructive war which has ravaged the world for more than four years has happily ended in complete victory for the Allies and the United States, the time may be considered an opportune one for a brief survey of the stamps which owe their origin to the machinations of Mars. The stamps are sufficiently numerous to form a specialistic study in themselves and while many, owing to the limited numbers issued, have already attained the ranks of practically unobtainable varieties and others are extremely rare and high priced, the vast majority are still within the means of the average collector. The appeal of these war stamps to all classes of collectors is obvious and though they have enjoyed enormous popularity in Europe since the first of the captured German colonies had its stamps overprinted "G. R. I." by the victorious New Zealand troops, it is only recently that their collection to any considerable extent has been a feature of philately over here. Naturally, directly Uncle Sam threw in his lot with the other believers in right and justice interest in war issues became more pronounced and at the present time most collectors have at least a few of these stamps in their albums.

Some idea of the number of varieties the war has given philately may be gleaned from a perusal of one or other of the excellent specialised catalogues published by various British and French dealers. The stamps themselves fall, as regards the issues of the Allied Powers, into three main groups, viz.:—

(1) Stamps issued for use in occupied territory.

(2) Stamps denoting special postal war taxes.

(3) Red Cross stamps.

Then there are special stamps issued by neutral countries for Charity or other special purposes or to denote increased postal charges directly attributible to the war.

Finally, there are the stamps issued by the enemy powers—a group finding little favor and worthy of but scant mention.

In this brief survey we purpose dealing with the various groups on the plan outlined above, starting with the stamps issued by the Allies for use in occupied or conquered territory. The vast majority of these have been issued under the jurisdiction of the victorious troops of the British Empire—a natural result when one considers that at one time or other during the war British forces were engaged on nineteen distinct fronts, viz., in Belgium, France, Italy, the Dardenelles, the Balkans, Egypt, Palestine, Persia, Mesopotamia, east, west, and southwest Africa, China, the Pacific Islands, Arabia, western Russia, northern Russia, Transcaucasia, and Siberia.

Starting with the erstwhile German colonies in their alphabetical order, we find that British troops operating in West Africa occupied the Cameroons and overprinted the Hun stamps captured there with the letters "C. E. F." and new values in shillings and pence. The letters signify "Cameroons Expeditionary Force." As a rule only small quantities of enemy stamps were found in the captured post offices but the Cameroons issue were an exception. A large consignment of all values was found on the German S. S. Professor Woermann at Freetown, Sierra Leone, with the result that the Cameroons are among the most plentiful of any of the overprinted Hun labels. Of the mark values 2000 of each were found, there were 100,000 of each of the 5pf and 10pf, and of most others there were at least 10,000.

Operations in East Africa extended over nearly two years before the "blond beast" was completely defeated by British troops. Mafia Island was taken first (March, 1915) and the only stamps found there were a few German East Africa fiscals which were overprinted "O. H. B. M. S. Mafia". In August a number of the "I. E. F." 1 anna stamps were overprinted "G. R.—Post Mafia" and in November all values of the same Indian issue were similarly treated. At the same time General Northy was operating from the Nyasaland side and in the territory cleaned up by his army some of the stamps of Nyasaland overprinted "N. F" (Northy's Force) were issued. In 1917, when the whole territory was under British jurisdiction a permanent issue was obtained from London this consisting of the current stamps of the East Africa and Uganda Protectorate overprinted "G. E. A".

On September 25th, 1914, German New Guinea was taken by the Australian forces and on the 17th of the following month the captured stamps were issued with an overprint consisting of "G. R. I" (George Rex, Imperator) and new values in shillings and pence. About the same period the island of Nauru (Marshall Islands) was taken possession of by the Australian Expeditionary Force and included with New Guinea for administrative purposes under the name of New Britain. The stamps found there were taken to Rabaul and overprinted in the same manner as the other enemy stamps. These provisionals being limited in number, did not last long and they were followed by contemporary stamps of the Australian Commonwealth overprinted "N. W. Pacific Islands." This issue was eventually superseded by one prepared in London consisting of current British stamps overprinted "Nauru" under which name, we believe, the whole territory is now administered.

Samoa surrendered to the New Zealand Expeditionary Force on August 29th, 1914—twenty-five days after the British Empire had declared war on the Hun. On the third day of the following month the captured Samoan stamps were issued with "G. R. I" overprint and as they formed the first war provisionals they were greeted with a tremendous demand. Although there were fair quantities of some values they were so quickly absorbed by members of the New Zealand army that before the end of September all had been sold. In the meantime a more or less permanent issue had been ordered from Wellington this consisting of contemporary stamps of New Zealand overprinted "Samoa".

The one time colony of Togo was the first German soil to fall into British hands though special stamps were not issued until nearly a month after those of Samoa had appeared. Lome, the capital, was captured on Aug. 7th, 1914—only three days after war had started—and on August 26th the whole colony was surrendered. Gold Coast stamps without any overprint were used by the troops until the provisional stamps were ready. The provisionals were issued on October 1st, the Expeditionary Force having seized a quantity of Hun stamps at Kamina (about 100 miles from Lome) which were sent to the capital and overprinted there at the Catholic Mission. The overprint consisted of the words "TOGO—Anglo-French—Occupation" in three lines. Some of the 3pf and 5pf stamps were also surcharged "Half penny" and "One penny" respectively, but on all the others the German value remained unaltered. These provisionals were all exhausted by May, 1915, when they were replaced by contemporary stamps of the Gold Coast overprinted with the same words. These stamps were produced at Accra and owing to the limitations of the local printing office several interesting typographical errors were made. In the meantime a supply of stamps had been ordered from London and these were placed on sale in April, 1916. The overprint is somewhat like that produced at Accra but in slightly heavier type with thicker letters.

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA

French troops gallantly operated with the British in the conquest of German Togoland as is clearly indicated in the overprints described above. The stamps captured at Kamina were divided between the French and British, and the former had their share overprinted at Porto-Novo in Dahomey. The overprint consisted of the words "TOGO—Occupation—franco-anglaise" in three lines and in addition the 3pf and 5pf stamps were surcharged "05" and "10" respectively. Another small supply was issued in January, 1915, these being overprinted at the Catholic Mission at Lome. This issue comprises some of the greatest rarities among the war stamps for of the 5 marks there were but three copies, of the 2 marks two and of the 1 mark only one! German stamps being exhausted the contemporary stamps of Dahomey were suitably overprinted for use in the territory administered by the French.

The French also took part in the subjugation of the Cameroons and though none of the Hun stamps were used contemporary stamps of Gabon were issued in November, 1915, for the use of the military. These stamps were overprinted "Corps Expeditionnaire—Franco-Anglaise—CAMEROUN" in three lines and were not sold to the public. In 1916, a series consisting of a mixed lot of the stamps of French Congo and Middle Congo were overprinted "Occupation Francaise du Cameroun" but after a short life these were replaced by a permanent set formed by overprinting the words "Cameroun Occupation Francaise" on the contemporary stamps of the Middle Congo.

Even little Belgium had her share in the conquest of the Hun on the Dark Continent for Belgian troops occupied that part of German East Africa contiguous to the Congo and celebrated this movement philatelically by issuing Belgian Congo stamps suitably overprinted for use in the conquered territory. Portuguese Colonial troops also had their part in helping to eliminate the Hun and occupied part of German East Africa. A series of four stamps overprinted with new values and "Kionga" on the 100r stamp of Lourenco Marques were used in the occupied terrain.

German Southwest Africa was cleaned up entirely by British South African troops under the gallant General Smuts but no special stamps or overprints were issued to signalise the conquest. The Marshall Islands, other than the island of Nauru, together with the Marianne and Caroline Islands were occupied by the Japanese on October 7th, 1914, and administered by them. Though enemy stamps were found in all these places none were overprinted nor were any special stamps of any kind issued in any of these islands. Some stamps were overprinted in red with the name seals of three Japanese officers and though these are interesting souvenirs of the occupation the marks do not appear to have had any postal or official significance.

Having disposed of the conquered lands of the noisome Hun, we now turn to a survey of the issues made by the British in places formerly under the heel of the unspeakable Turk. In the conquest of the Turk, Britain played a lone hand, and, in spite of early disasters, a steady persistency and refusal to acknowledge defeat resulted finally in the utter rout of the Turkish armies. There were two chief campaigns—one in Mesopotamia and another in Palestine—and in connection with these some of the most interesting of the war provisionals were issued.

When General Maude's forces occupied Baghdad, the most important town of Mesopotamia, after the series of victories around Kut-al-Amara, steps were immediately taken to re-organise or rather re-establish the postal service. A supply of British Indian stamps was not expected for some weeks and as the Turks had destroyed nearly everything at the head post-office before evacuating the city some difficulty was experienced in getting stamps of any sort. However, some were found in sub offices and others were bought back from merchants and private individuals who had small supplies. The result was a heterogeneous mixture of some six issues comprising twenty-five varieties. Of three varieties there were about 1000, of most less than 300 and in two cases less than 100, while the total supply accumulated was about 14,500 stamps. These stamps were all utilised for one of four denominations in Indian currency—¼a, ½a, 1a, and 2a. The overprint consisted of "In British" upwards at left, "Occupation" downwards at right, "Baghdad" across the top, and the value at base. There was no machinery available and very little European type and the stamps were laboriously surcharged by hand. The overprint, furthermore, was in several parts which had to be adjusted to fit the various shapes of the stamps. In fact, the overprinting of even so small a number as 14,500 stamps in this manner was a monumental job requiring an infinite amount of patience. The stamps were issued on the first day of September, 1917, and could hardly have lasted very long. In May, 1918, a new set was pre-Turkish pictorial issue of 1913 being overpared for use in Mesopotamia the printed "Iraq" at top, "In British" on left, "Occupation" at right and new value in annas or rupees at base. These were produced in London. The name "Iraq" covers the district between the Euphrates and Tigris almost coincident with ancient Babylonia in which district are several towns in addition to Baghdad.

THE U. S. AEROPLANE STAMPS OF 1918.

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Introduction.

The twelve months of 1918 which have just drawn to a close will stand out pre-eminently in the history of the world as the year of Victory for Right and Justice, as the year which saw the humbling of Hun "kultur" and all that we have come to associate with the name; the world was made safe for Democracy. Philatelically speaking it was an epoch making period in so far as the stamp emissions of our own country were concerned. We saw appear for the first time stamps designed and issued primarily for prepayment of postage upon mail carried by aeroplane.

The balloon had been used many years back as a means of communication and much has been written about the famous balloon post of 1870, whereby the inhabitants of the besieged city of Paris were able to communicate with the outside world. The aeroplane, however, as we know it today, is a modern invention and consequently its use as a mail carrier is of recent date.

The first official notice whereby the Post Office Department authorized the carrying of mail in this manner is contained in a newspaper clipping headed Washington, November 3, 1910, wherein we are informed that Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock has authorized J. A. D. McCurdy to carry the United States Mail from the steamship "Kaiserin Auguste Victoria", 50 miles out at sea to New York. The Hamburg-American Line prepared special covers to be used in connection with this trip but the steamship sailed before the necessary platform for the flight was ready and the steamship "Pennsylvania" was designated to take its place. However, when this latter vessel was ready to leave port an accident to the propeller of the aeroplane resulted in the machine remaining ashore and consequently what would have been the world's first aeroplane mail carrying trip was postponed indefinitely.

In the meantime this honor fell to India for on February 18, 1911, at an exhibition held at Allahabad, mail was carried via aeroplane for the first time in history. Later, on September 9th, a similar flight was made in England. On September 22, 1911, Postmaster General Hitchcock authorized an experimental mail route between the temporary sub station in the aviation grounds at Nassau Boulevard (Garden City Estates), Long Island, New York, and the post office at Meneola, N. Y., seven miles distant, during the "International Aviation Meet" September 23rd to October 1, 1911, inclusive. A flight was made each day with one exception and during this time 43,247 pieces of mail were carried. It is not my intention of covering and listing these air routes, for such information would fill a volume. Suffice to say that most exhibitions held during the next several years were granted the privilege of carrying mail in this manner. Those interested may locate air mail covers postmarked St. Louis, Minneapolis, Rochester, Louisville, Atlanta, Savannah, New Orleans, Milwaukee, etc., just to mention a few of the earlier flights. All of these trips were experimental only and were side attractions rather than efforts on the part of the Post Office Department to establish permanent routes.

CHAPTER ONE.

Aerial Mail Service Established.

The first aerial mail service in the United States was inaugurated on May 15th, 1918, with the departure of airplanes laden with letters from Washington via Philadelphia for New York and from New York via Philadelphia for Washington. The plane leaving Washington started at 11.45 A. M. and that from New York promptly at 11.30 A. M. Among those present at Potomac Park to bid godspeed to the machine which departed from Washington were the President and Mrs. Wilson, Postmaster General Burleson, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Second Assistant Postmaster General Praeger, Third Assistant Dockery, Postmaster Chance, members of the Senate and House Post Office Committees and many others. The airplanes used were the property of the War Department and were piloted by members of the Aviation Service, Signal Reserve Corps. The flight from New York and the stop at Philadelphia also attracted a prominent attendance. The aviator leaving Washington failed to complete his trip on the 15th due to an accident, but the mail from New York reached Washington without delay.

It will be of interest to note that the first aeroplane stamp sold was affixed upon a letter from the Postmaster General to the Postmaster at New York, the letter reading as follows:

OFFICE OF POSTMASTER GENERAL,
May 15, 1918.

HON. T. H. PATTEN,
Postmaster, New York City.

My dear Mr. Patten: With this letter the Post Office Department inaugurates a regular aeroplane mail service. In this important work of developing an advanced medium of postal transportation, I feel that the Post Office Department will have the fullest co-operation of the New York post office in making it a success.

This letter will be despatched under the first aeroplane postage stamp to be sold by the department and canceled and autographed by the President of the United States. Please deliver the envelope to Mr. Noah Tausig, 111 Wall Street, New York City, who will arrange to have it sold at auction for the benefit of the Red Cross, and who will start the bidding at $1,000.

Sincerely yours,
A. S. BURLESON,
Postmaster General.

I had the pleasure of inspecting this cover, which had the first 24c aeroplane stamp upon it. The stamp had part of the sheet margins and upon this there were a number of initials including, among others, those of the Postmaster General, the Second Assistant, the Third Assistant, the Postmaster of Washington, the Chief of the Stamp Division and I cannot recall the others. The cover itself was, of course, autographed "Woodrow Wilson". The envelope was large and of the type that the Postmaster General uses for his private correspondence. This was finally sold in New York at auction and was purchased by Mr. Tausig for one thousand dollars.

With the starting of this service, the Post Office Department announced that daily trips would be made each way, the flights to start promptly at 11.30. The aeroplane from New York was scheduled to arrive in Philadelphia one hour later and at that point connections via train would be made with the surrounding cities. At 2.30 the plane was scheduled to reach Washington, making connection with fast trains for the south.

The airplanes leaving Washington were scheduled to reach Philadelphia at 1.30 and arrive in New York at 2.30 P. M., where prompt connections would be made with trains for New England and the West. The time taken for transportation of mail from Washington to New York by train, including the delivery at the post office, requires from six to seven hours, whereas via aeroplane not more than three and a half hours would be necessary, including the time taken to land. The post office advised the public that there would be a saving of at least two hours, and that a much greater saving of time would be made in most cases, due to the special delivery features in the cities and the prompt train connections for mail addressed to outlying districts. At the start twelve planes were in the service—three being at New York, six at Philadelphia and three at Washington.

For this special service a charge of 24c an ounce or fraction thereof was made in accordance with an Act of Congress which passed on May 10th and was signed by the President on the following day. The mail carried via aeroplane travels as first class and was given special delivery service at the city of destination. Parcels must not exceed 30 inches in girth and length combined, and must not exceed two pounds in weight. A 24c stamp was designed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and issued by the post office for this purpose, but I will treat of this emission at one time rather than furnish details here and there.

A special rubber stamp canceler was furnished the several offices which contained within a circle AIR MAIL SERVICE, WASH., N. Y., PHILA." and the name of the despatching city at the bottom. In the center we find the date and under this, FIRST TRIP. The same cancelers have been used since with the words FIRST TRIP omitted. Several different ink pads were used and as a result the cancellation is to be found in several colors. At the right of the postmark are four horizontal bars for the purpose of canceling the stamp.

In the Official Bulletin for June 19th we find a news item of interest, from which we quote:—

The Post Office Department authorizes the following:

"In the first month's operation of the Aerial Mail Service between New York, Philadelphia and Washington, a total of five and two-fifths tons of letter mail was transported. The planes carrying mail covered 11,109 miles and had a total of 157 hours 59 minutes in the air. The average speed through storm and fair weather for the month was slightly in excess of 70 miles an hour. Twenty-one out of 26 flights were completed at Belmont (N. Y.) before 4 o'clock in the afternoon, 12 of them being between 2.30 and 3 o'clock."

"Lieut. Edgerton has to his credit 20 perfect flights of 130 miles, never having to make a stop en route, and without damaging a plane. * * * In view of the success obtained in the first month's operation of the service and the fact that the capacity of the machines is not being fully utilized, the department has under consideration a reduction of the postage rate on aeroplane mail."

A VICTORY SET OF STAMPS.

It has been a matter of newspaper comment that a set of stamps would be very appropriate to celebrate the successful termination of the war. So influential a paper as the New York Sun has editorially advocated the plan. Stamp collectors generally would hail with great satisfaction a set made up of low values that would deal with patriotic subjects. In this connection Erwin Lyndall has submited to Postmaster General Burleson a letter on the subject which we deem of sufficient interest to reproduce. The list of subjects suggested by Mr. Lyndall is eminently appropriate and if you are interested in this matter write Mr. Burleson. We quote from Mr. Lyndall's letter as follows:—

"Our country has not been treated to a new issue of postage stamps for quite a long time, and I am taking the liberty of writing you at this time and recommending that in view of the return of peace, with consequent endorsement of the principles of liberty, our country commemorate this occasion with a special issue of postage stamps.

Taking further liberty, I am prompted to recommend the following subjects as suitable for such a commemorate series, 1c Pennsylvania State House, Philadelphia.

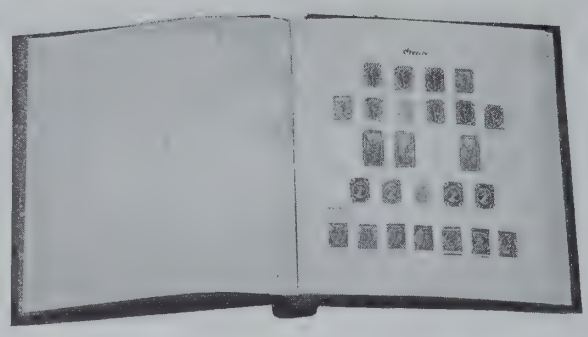
2c Liberty Statue, New York Harbor.
3c Capitol Building, Washington.
4c Washington Monument, Washington.
5c Liberty Bell.
6c Betsy Ross Flag House, Philadelphia.
7c Faneuil Hall, Boston, Mass.
8c Landing of the Pilgrims, Plymouth Rock.
9c Washington crossing the Delaware.
10c Signing of the Declaration.

Trusting that this suggestion will be considered worthy of your attention, I beg to remain,

ERWIN LYNDALL.



THE ECONOMIST BLANK LOOSE LEAF ALBUM

We have tried for a number of years to perfect an album to supply the varied needs of collectors, and we have at last succeeded in producing the finest loose leaf album on the market. NO NAME OR ADVERTISING ON THIS BOOK.

It is finely half bound in morocco leather and comes in two colors, either dark green or dark blue. It is neatly decorated with gold which makes it a fine and rich appearing album. The pages contained therein are of the best quality of linen paper, with quadrilled lined background. They have the finest gold edge and will not tarnish. Each page is linen hinged and when open the leaves lie flat. The binder is patent peg style which is a vast improvement over the spring back. Each page is interleaved with a glossy tissue sheet for the protection of the stamps. There is a front and back fly leaf for the protection of the pages. A felt lined box to match the color of the binder is furnished with each album.

These albums are made in two sizes.

Binder size 10¼x10¾ inches contains 50 leaves size 8½x10¼ inches. The quadrille lined background for mounting is 7x8½ inches. The price of this size album as above described is $10.50 postage prepaid, and extra leaves are 10c each.

Binder size 13¾x14¾ inches contains 40 pages size 12x14 inches. This book is especially adapted for mounting complete sheets, blocks, covers, etc. The quadrille lined background for mounting is 10½x12½ inches. This album exactly as above is priced at $13.50, expressage prepaid, and extra leaves are 15c each.

WITH THE TRADE.

First and foremost in the features of this special number is the big advertisement of the W. C. Phillips & Co. It is a marked contribution not only to the stability of this house but to this number in which we celebrate the approach of peace. The firm takes the two middle pages and our editorial page for the nonce is forced to occupy another place. These two pages are supplemented by another advertisement of a half page, constituting the finest piece of publicity that any stamp firm has approached for years. We may add parenthetically that it costs real money, too. Any firm that desires to duplicate the Phillips advertisement will be extended every consideration possible. During the past year Mr. Phillips, for the improvement of his health, went west and was first at Boise and more recently at Reno. He has, however, returned to Hartford, where he is much more conveniently situated in being near sources of supply. We feel quite positive that the attractive offers of this firm will touch a responsive chord in our subscription list.

There are several half-page advertisements in this issue and they speak an appreciation of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY that is gratifying to us. The Scott Stamp and Coin Co. repeats its adv. of last week emphasizing the change of address through the firm's removal into new quarters. Wendover Neefus whose "House of Satisfaction" has become familiar to our readers in more ways than one, takes a half page in two instalments. Mr. Neefus makes a specialty of United States stamps and his bargains in this issue are sure to receive consideration.

The Western Stamp Co. of Omaha has been advertising with us quite freely in recent months but in this number they extend a patronage that results in a wealth of material being displayed before the eyes of our readers. The firm has a way of listing the stamps of various countries singly and in this manner collectors can readily purchase just what they need, and at prices that are bound to beat out the approval selections. The dealer who advertises always puts his best foot forward and we bespeak a careful perusal of this announcement.

The page advertisement of the Marks Stamp Co. is supplemented by a reading notice that gives somewhat of an insight into the great business that this firm is carrying on.

Elsewhere we have given a brief sketch of the proprietor of the Indiana Stamp Co., Mr. E. T. Wallis, and in that sketch we have covered to a certain extent the activities of this firm. Heretofore so far as the WEEKLY was concerned Mr. Wallis has been content to advertise only auction sales, but this time the wealth of definite offerings must prove alluring.

The Voorhees auction advertisement emphasizes Mr. Voorhees' activity in this direction. The Fulton Stamp Co. uses a quarter page in the firm's accustomed place. C. L. Moreau, the manager of the company, prefers to take a quarter page space occasionally, claiming that it makes a stronger impression upon the mind and pocketbook than do several smaller advertisements. However, he has not yet won the Managing Editor over to the soundness of his contention.

The column advertisement of A. C. Roessler is full of good things. Anything that bears the name of Roessler is bound to be read as everybody who knows anything about him appreciates that he is a Hustler as well as a Roessler. In fact, the words are synonymous.

It is a well-known fact that the George W. Linn Co. makes a specialty of Mexico war stamps, but the firm in this issue shows that it has other resources. We are advised by the firm that it has arranged with the Southern Hotel of Columbus (the hotel where the A. P. S. held its convention in 1908) for an auction sale in one of its parlors. The management considers that such a sale will be good advertising, offers the parlor for continued use, and makes no charges for its occupancy. Here certainly is a lead for auction dealers in other cities. The Linn sale will occur on Feb. 11.

The United Stamp Company, Chicago, having faith in its Marquette Album, made it a leading advertising feature years ago. Season after season, the enterprising publishers have proclaimed its advantages to the reading public and it is fair to say that the album has become a standard requirement. A stout heart is needed to enforce recognition of a new album venture but when it is accepted, it is a tribute both to the album and its originators. Mr. Staub, the manager of the United Stamp Company, expresses his satisfaction over the successful reception of his album which is now considered one of the indispensable adjuncts of the collector. The merits of the Marquette Album have been confirmed by time in the estimation of the philatelic public and its hold on the regard of philatelists is growing stronger by reason of the increasing demand for it.

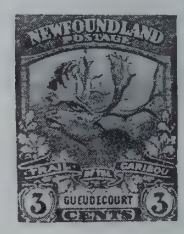
C. G. Dietrich is now located on Broadway, N. Y. City, his old stamping-ground, and he can be found at No. 171. Mr. Dietrich has advertised with us quite regularly in the past and he has an attractive eighth of page in this issue filled with desirable stamps at reasonable prices.

Dr. Lionel Hartley is determined to create a demand for foreign revenues and he has formulated a unique plan to further that interest. His large advertisement in this issue tells the story. Mr. Sledd makes Canada the subject of his offerings this week. His prices are reasonable and the specialist in this country should make it a point to read the Sledd advertisement carefully. A few weeks ago the Elk Exchange of St. Marys, Pa. outlined an exchange plan and those who are interested should apply for information The exchange of duplicates is so practical a way of building up a stamp collection that exchange societies and exchange clubs have a right place in the trade. The firm this week makes another appeal for the patronage of the collector with a well displayed advertisement.

The Belmont Stamp Co. of Philadelphia, with whom many of our subscribers have become acquainted during the past two years, makes an announcement of more than ordinary interest, and we bespeak for it a thorough reading. The city of Philadelphia is active from the trade standpoint and this company is seeking to maintain in a befitting manner the reputation of the city.

Two advertisements by the Colonial Stamp Co., one covering United States stamps and the other British Colonials, cannot fail to receive attention. Mr. Enelow, the proprietor of the company, has made a specialty of these two lines of stamps and this is particularly true of British Colonials. An attractive list of British Colonies in sets will be noted.

THE TRAIL OF THE CARIBOU.



We picture above the 3c value of the new "Caribou" Newfoundland set. There are twelve values in the set, ranging from 1c to 36c, and the design shown is the one shown on the 1, 3, 4, 6, 10, 15, 24 and 36c. On the remaining values, 2, 5, 8, and 12c, is the inscription "Royal Naval Reserve". On a tablet on each stamp is inscribed the name of one of the engagements in which the Newfoundland contingent took part.

VICTORY AND THE WAR STAMPS.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

One of the philatelic wonders of the war has been the boom in war stamps.

And now the war is over, what of the stamps?

Although the war is over, the issue of war stamps is far from ended. In fact the whole interest and fascination of collecting war stamps enters upon a new and what will doubtless prove a more wonderful phase.

Historic Souvenirs.—Peace with Victory means a great impetus to the interest we shall all take in our war collections. We shall complete our collections with the keener enthusiasm and the more pride in that they will be permanent memorials of how the Allies came through the fiery ordeal of four years and a quarter of the greatest war in history.

A Story Half Told.—But the story the war stamps will have to tell is as yet but half told. The sequel to the story is to come, and it promises to be a great and glorious one. The war has destroyed many things, but it has ended by creating many others, and by re-creating nations that have long been crushed under the heel of oppression.

Allied Occupation Stamps. — The coming year—or years—will see the introduction of scores of new stamp issues, all definitely and directly due to the great events of the war.

At the present early stage it is only possible to speculate vaguely on the nature of the new issues.

One very probable source of new war issues will be called for by the Allied Occupation of Enemy Territories. The Huns, the Austrians, the Bulgars and the Turks, during four years, have indulged their philatelic tastes in occupation issues which fill pages in the Berlin catalogues, but which will never be collected by patriotic British philatelists. The enemies have had their turn, and right lavishly have they used it, no doubt much to the temporary benefit of their depleted exchequers.

Philatelic Reprisals.—Now it will be the turn of the Allies. Serbia may have her philatelic revenge on the Bulgars and the Austrians for the Bulgarian and Austrian stamps that have been foisted upon Serbia—and there are other places which will henceforth be in Allied occupation.

Heligoland "King's Heads."—Philatelically and historically, it would be a welcome tribute to the British Navy to present an issue with King George's portrait, in naval uniform, on stamps for the possible occupation of Heligoland.

Stamps of the New Nations.—But possibly the greatest and most sustained interest to be provided in the forthcoming reconstruction issues will be the stamps of the new and the restored states which are being evolved out of the dismembered empires of Russia, Germany, Austria and Turkey.

There are already new stamps for the Ukraine, three in special pictorial designs and the other three—high values—surcharged on the familiar Russian stamps. Whether in time the Ukrainians are proved to be friendly or otherwise, their new stamp issue points out clearly that stamps are an essential to any modern organised government. They will be as necessary to the Jugo Slavs and the Czecho Slovaks. They have already come for the Finnish nation in its transition stage. They will come also for Poland, for Ararat, for Siberia, for Murmania, for Mesopotamia, Armenia, Syria, Albania.

The New German States.—It is early yet to prophesy, but it looks extremely probable that the pages long since closed in our albums for the states of Germany will be re-opened, not with braggart symbols of autocratic and military power, but of chastened and enlightened democracies. Some of them we may hesitate to accept in our albums, but others will surely present a strong appeal to our patriotism and philatelic enthusiasm—Schleswig Holstein, for instance.

The Trail of the Caribou.—Then there are some very interesting issues promised by our own overseas possessions. The Trail of the Caribou series of stamps from Newfoundland, expected shortly, will tell of the splendid work done by the brave lads of our oldest colony during the war. Some of them, I hear, will bear the initials of the Royal Naval Reserve, in which our sea-going Newfoundland comrades did valiant service. Others will bear the names of the great encounters in which the islanders took part; among these are the historic names of Suvla Bay, Guedecourt, Beaumont Hamel, Monchy, Steinbeck, Langemarck, Cambrai and Combles.

War Commemoratives.—Jamaica, too, is reported to have a 1½d stamp in preparation in honour of her fighting lads. The design will depict a contingent of Jamaican soldiers leaving the colony to fight with their Mother Country against the Huns.

An "Adhesive" Peace.—Without a doubt other colonies will follow the lead. Some will surely commemorate the happy consummation of the Empire's pledge not to sheathe the sword of Justice until the Ogre of Prussian militarism was crushed forever. There will be Peace stamps no less fascinating and full of interest than those of War.

Stick to Your—War Stamps.—So let none of us close his album of war stamps and say that its course is run, its story ended. The curtain has rung down upon the heart-rending first act—that is all. It will rise again to carry on the drama to its happy and glorious finale. The second act will be greater far than the first, and will lead up to the crowning triumph of the Allies in securing to all mankind the unalloyed blessings of Peace.

The Coming Grand Finale. — The stamps of this coming period—the second and final Act—will not be less numerous, varied and historically interesting than the issues of the past four years. They will be as attractive an investment, for there will be many provisionals. The world will be in process of transition from war to peace; some countries will not find their level at the first attempt; there will be changes and counter-changes. The very word transition calls up to the foresight of the philatelist prospective provisional issues, which the wise ones will endeavour to secure early, lest they become obsolete and high-priced in a few months, or perhaps even weeks.

Not Too Late to Begin Now.—To my readers, then, I say, stick to your war stamps; look out for the transition and reconstruction issues, and let not opportunity knock at your door in vain. To those who have not already collected war stamps, it is not too late to begin now. A fine display of them can be got together at comparatively small expense, at the present juncture, but with the end of the war many of the war stamps at present on the market will become obsolete and scarce.—Stamp Lover.

EDITORIAL.

Rejoice—Our Victory Special number marks the ascension of philately from the ashes of war and the conditions that have repressed its expansion during the trying period are removed. Stamp collecting again emerges triumphantly over the might of war and we celebrate the return of peace as most congenial for philately. It is apparent that the "fiery furnace" did not demoralize our pursuit even though it has refined it and has made it a more appealing force than ever for the serious and discriminating mind. The war has left philately a rich heritage in issues and there are others to come that will add to the fascinations of our royal pursuit.

Retrospect—At the time of our civil war, in 1861, stamp collecting was so relatively unimportant so far as its investment phases were concerned as to engage no attention to speak of. It is true that about the time of this war, Sardou, the French playwright, gave one of his stage characters a philatelic cast by representing him as a youthful speculator in the stamps of the Confederacy. The touch was a whimsical one that probably did not fail of appreciation among the public of that day, advanced enough to know about stamp collecting. Later, stamp collectors in their enthusiasm for new varieties to add to their albums were known to have been accused of fomenting rebellion and encouraging political strife with the intention of creating new states and consequently, new stamps. Of course, this fantastic conception was that of an imaginative mind seeking sensational disclosures. We remember the Spanish-American war but the disquiet that it occasioned timid minds by the new experience that our country was to undergo was soon forgotten in the interest shown in the new issues that were a consequence of the clash of arms that was of short duration. Then, the investments in stamps were heavy, even in the light of today, but there was no general feeling that their value would be impaired by the war. Even those who had no other than stamp assets had no forebodings of disaster but rather they had a greater faith in their stamps; and it soon proved that their judgment was well-advised. However, the war was so short a one that time was not given for sober consideration and from the first, it was to be seen that the outcome would be favorable to us. It was not long after the Spanish-American war had begun before the WEEKLY was enabled to publish a special number to celebrate our nation's expansion due in great measure to Admiral Dewey's victories.

Results—The cataclysm that has crushed the world has been so stupendous that no past parallel could be used for the purpose of comparison. The effect of the war was felt in every community; and the question of what would become of stamp collecting was fraught with significance. None had the folly to believe that philately would escape all consequences of the titanic turmoil. From many directions there came requests for an opinion as to war's effect on stamps and there were signs of trepidation here and there that might have developed into a stampede, under certain conditions. Yet for every faltering collector there were not a few who would not admit that the pursuit would suffer critically. It was not necessary to have the thought the parent of the wish to say that stamps would escape disaster, even in the face of disheartening predictions as to possibilities. Letters came telling of the relegation of the album to the limbo of forgotten things and many of our readers could not have their paper follow them as they fought under the banner of our country. We could not shut our ears to these indications but in other quarters there were signs of encouragement. The hope ran high that philately would not be deserted by those whose vision was clear and whose understanding of human impulse was sound. While they worked for their country in stay-at-home war activities, they kept the philatelic fire burning. They continued to draw comfort from their stamps and to patronize the stamp market. There was no rush to realize on their holdings but rather they continued to add to them. A combination of favoring details strengthened the position of stamps and neutralized disturbing conditions; and it truly may be said that philately did not languish. Now that the pursuit is untrammeled, it will flourish all the more vigorously in the compatible surroundings of the present day. Philately's steadfastness and by that we mean its followers is to be rewarded by plenteous and prosperous returns. Instead of marking time, stamps go forward on the run.

Resolutions—The war has broadened the views of all and has taught its lessons. Stamp collecting is singularly adaptable to the new idea of internationalism and philatelists are in advance of the average citizen in their grasp of the new situation. The new order of world regulation will be based on international comity and compromise and will require the cultivation of the better qualities of us all and collectors should be in the front ranks of the realignment. We must "highly resolve" to foster a true feeling of fraternity in our little world and a beginning should be made by improving the mutual relations of philatelists at home. By individual effort, the forward step should be taken and then the benefits will be shared by all. Let collectors have ideals that they will not relinquish in their intercourse with their brothers; and tolerance and fairness should be given first place. Let all those who have been compelled to abandon their album delights for the time make a reaffirmation of philatelic faith. After what philately has been through, it is only right that the lives of its followers be made more pleasant than ever before.

Returning—Readers of the WEEKLY are returning from abroad and we are proud to greet them. To some who went and will not return we pay the tribute of a tear. We had the magnitude of the war brought home to us in an indirect way by the list of our subscribers who went away under arms. We believe that after the stirring days our soldier and sailor readers have spent in shaping the history of the world, the stamp album will offer a consoling and sympathetic interest. We had testimony from the battle-front that stamps were not wholly crowded out of the minds of collectors who were fighting there. The ruling passion of philately is strong indeed when the thought of stamps intrudes in the strenuous duties of war. It is a great satisfaction to know that philately drew heavily on its resources numerically in fighting the war and that its record is such as to make us feel grateful that stamps could give a brilliant account of themselves in the sternest phases of life. We dedicate this number of our paper to those who as philatelists fought so well and to those at home who stood by philately so valiantly in times of stress.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

GEO. H. BEANS SAYS:—

For six years I have been plugging away at the Booklet Issues of the U. S. and at last can say "I have put them on their feet." Certain phases of Booklet collecting seem to puzzle the uninitiated and the many queries received indicate that an ever increasing number of collectors are entering this new field. When once the philatelist starts after even the current varieties he finds himself engaged in a most interesting enterprise. One never knows what a Booklet contains until it is dissected and few specialists have as yet obtained the current issue complete. This tends to stimulate interest in the subject not only on account of the element of sport but also because one is liable to find items of real value in the most recent issues.

We have had some interesting innovations in Booklets. The three centers first broke the monotony, then the War Books—and probably we will soon have rotary printings. As to the older issues, well they are becoming quite scarce. There is not a particle of doubt that in a few years those who now build up a collection will find themeselves in possession of really good property.

At this time I am making a close study of the first issues, and if any reader has anything unusual in this line I should like to see it in hopes it may clear up some of the obscure points pertaining to the subject. There is an inner circle of half a dozen specialists who have been delving deeply into the problems connected with the early emissions and what is needed is additional material to work with.

DEATH OF HENRY J. DUVEEN.

Following closely upon the death of John W. Scott and George R. Tuttle comes the announcement of the death of Henry J. Duveen, owner of one of the greatest stamp collections in the world. The information reaches us through a clipping from the New York Times sent us by J. M. Bartels.

Mr. Duveen was senior member of the firm of Duveen Brothers, international art dealers with houses in New York and Paris and also in London until 1914. He died Jan. 15 at his home 907 Fifth Avenue, after an illness of some duration. He was in his sixty-fifth year and was considered one of the leading art critics of the world.

It is, however, as a philatelist, that Mr. Duveen was known to our readers. He was a general collector but specialized in the stamps of certain countries, including Mauritius and Switzerland. His Mauritius has the 1d and 2d Post Office unused, while in Switzerland are large blocks of the "double Genevas" and "large Eagles" as well as a block of fifteen Basle doves. He has been awarded many medals at various exhibitions.

The exhibits made by Mr. Duveen at the New York exhibition in 1913 received much attention. He exhibited in twenty-three classes and received the Grand Prize as well as several medals.

Mr. Bartels in his letter to us, states that the Duveen collection must be worth approximately a million dollars and it is a matter of no small moment to stamp collectors to know what will become of it. We are indebted to "Who's Who in Philately" for some of the facts given above.

UNITED STATES APPROVALS.

Selections of all lines for all classes, but we much prefer a want list as it saves us sending only just those you need and loss of sales. Prices will be as reasonable as any. We might mention especially our books of ENVELOPES Some nice lots of cut squares at less than half list in many cases.

M. & M. Several hundred dollars worth of these popular stamps (Match & Medicine) Postage, used and new, Depts., Newspapers, Telegraphs, Dues, Revenues, etc.

OTHER BOOKS

U. S. "JUMBOS" Two books in our "Jumbo" series are O. K. for those with collections not too far advanced. No. 24 U. S. postage, Depts., etc., value about $25 to $35 net, and No. 31 U. S. Revenues, value about $25 net. See our list of approval books for details.

FOREIGN STAMPS.

Look this list over, please. It contains a little of everything as space does not permit a larger line. If you don't see what you want, ask for it. We have one of the largest general stocks in the country and are constantly adding to it. Prices on want list about half list, except where cost or face makes this impossible.

SPECIAL PREMIUM OFFER Details of this offer given with the list of our app. books in this issue. List of free stamps will be sent on request. It's one of the most liberal ever made and a chance for the general collector not too far advanced, ready to spend $3, or more at a time. We offer few low priced stamp in this adv. as space will not permit.

NEW GOODS Thousands of dollars worth have come in lately or since our last list was issued, but in most cases too few of each to offer here if space permitted. Many more large and valuable lots are on the way.

WANT LISTS Why not let us have yours and get the benefit of our recent purchases. It's the best way to buy, costs no more, and we prefer it to sending books where you have any sort of a showing in a country. Prices about half list unless cost or face makes it impossible. Give Scott's numbers.

SPACE FILLERS Get next to our "Jumbo" books, offered elsewhere in this issue for stamps cat. 1c to 25c each for general collectors. Over 10,000 var. in the series.

PURCHASE We are always open to buy goods we need for stock, either U. S. or foreign, where price allows us a handling margin to work on. Submit goods with price wanted or make offers. No junk wanted.

EXCHANGE We take good lots of stuff we need for stock in payment same as cash for goods we offer. If you have some good U. S. or foreign duplicates, etc., you want to turn into stuff for your collection, make us a proposition. Cheap penny stuff not wanted.

11c, 22c, 37c SPECIALS

Take a little time and run these over. You can find your money's worth and many a "snap" and space filler you've been looking for.

W. C. PHILLIPS & CO., Box 1012 HARTFORD, CONN.

Business conditions, and distance from our buying markets, forced us to come East to keep our stock in shape, so please note our new address. We wish to thank all our Western friends and others for their interest, and trust we may continue to serve.

A GREAT APPROVAL OFFER --- PREMIUMS

This is practically the same offer we made during several of the summer months last year, which caused hundreds of new buyers to try our series of "Jumbo" books, and made many friends for them. We make the offer again, subject to being cancelled at any time, but premiums will be given at any time for purchases made during the time limit which begins Feb. 1st and ends at a time to be set later.

To keep our series of "Jumbo" books working we will give FREE stamps cat. one-third the amount of your remittance, your selection from a list of several hundred good stamps we will send you on request. Thus if you purchase $3.00 you select to the cat. value of $1.00 from the list. This offer is good only a limited period beginning Feb. 1st and applies only to Jumbo books and want lists. It's one of the most liberal ever made and as we give you good value anyway is so much absolutely free. No free stamps will be given, however, for purchases of less than $2 at a time as it does not pay to send out these books for less.

PREMIUMS TO APPROVAL APPLICANTS

Any one of the following offers free to applicants for approval selections who satisfy us as to their reliability and responsibility. This offer is only good for those who are not at present receiving selections of us, and is made to get in touch with new buyers. Please give us size of collection, state whether general or special collector, and some idea how much you are ready to spend. Don't send just to get a premium. We want LIVE collectors and make this little inducement to give us a trial.

1919 Series of Approval Books

Our celebrated "Jumbo" books, Mounted collections, approval books by countries, special books, etc. Approvals for all classes and kinds of collectors. A partial list follows.

1919 Series of "Jumbo" Books

A brand new series just made up. Better than ever before. In the few years we have put out these books they have proved the most popular series in America. It's not uncommon for us to make sales of $15. to $25. from a couple of books, and sales of $5. from a book are the usual thing, which shows their popularity and quality. Books contain about 400 stamps each, about 10,000 var. in the series. Priced net from 1c up, usually at about half catalog, but in many cases less. Will average 50% of list. An extra 10% discount on sales of $3. and 20% on $5 or more.

DEATH OF LEBAUDY.

Stamp collectors must have noticed the press accounts of the death of Jacques Lebaudy of New York, the famous "Emperor of the Sahara". Lebaudy, who was shot and killed by his wife about two weeks ago, was made a front page feature for the time being in the New York newspapers. Commenting on the casualty Geo. B. Sloane writes:—"Lebaudy was a character in New York life and the newspapers often told stories of his eccentricities." It is in connection with the well-known "Empire of Sahara" stamps that his memory will be kept green in the minds of stamp collectors. In 1903 the WEEKLY made this initial announcement of Lebaudy's operations:—

"There is another new empire, if the claims and pretensions of Jacques I, Emperor of Sahara, are finally recognized, although it is probably on the opera bouffé order. The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly says: 'In private life the new-made monarch, whose sovereignty is not yet formally recognized by anybody but himself, is simply Jacques Lebaudy, the millionaire son of a millionaire soapmaker. As outward and visible tokens of his kingship, the Emperor Jacques has issued stamps and taken unto himself a flag. A few faithful followers will help the young millionaire to build his new empire in the sands of the Sahara, and there will doubtless be much waving of the Lebaudy flag, which is described as a "blue triangle, ornamented with three yellow or golden balls." Such a design, says the East Anglian Daily Times, is suggestive of what may be called the avancular way of raising revenue, and is, no doubt, indicative of the manner in which Jacques I means to replenish his civil list'."

McVITTLES vs. CANCELLATIONS.

By COTTON C. DOYLE.

"Is it true what I hear that you've added a goat to your other troubles?" inquired Casey, between puffs at his pipe.

"Yes and no," answered McVittles. "But it's an asset and not a liability, though it can't butt or give milk and I won't let the neighbor's kids play with it."

Casey sniffed obtrusively. "I smell O'Hoolihan," he remarked, eyeing McVittles with an expression of disgust. "I thought you were layin' to git even with him—has he bilked you again?"

"He has not, Casey, and what's more, he won't try to, not until he gets tired of livin' peacefully and goes huntin' f'r trouble, like them Hohenzollerns. I have his goat all right, all right, and well he knows it. What do you think of it."

Casey took the envelope McVittles tossed on the counter and examined it closely.

"A goat is it?" said he. "If that's a goat the feller who made it had better take lessons in drawin' from a mustard plaster. He'd draw a cow and every man who saw it would say, 'ah! What a fine hippopotamus!' That's no goat at all. It's a fox, and runnin' as if all the hound dogs in the Meadow Brook Hunt was tight after it."

"Go out to the zoo and come back and try again," said McVittles. "Goat it isn't and fox it isn't, but wolf it is, and the most famous wolf that ever stole sheep in all New England, Casey."

"You don't say! But fox or wolf, how comes it on this old envelope? I see the postmark says 1864—were there wolves around New England then?"

"Probably not, Casey, anyhow not fourlegged ones, but as I just told you, this wolf was famous and its memory lived long after its bones had been ground up for fertilizer. Have you never heard of Israel Putnam?"

"I might have. What stamp is he on? This one here is just a common three center and the face on it is the same noble profile of the great George that I have seen a million times before. I never heard of Prisidint Putnam, but I raymimber there was a Gin'ral Putnam way back in the Revolutionary War."

"The same, Casey, and a grand American he was. This cancellation commimorates his exceptional bravery and makes even a common stamp very desirable in the eyes of stamp collectors. Putnam tracked the wolf—an old she one—to its lair and crawled into the cave with a rope around his legs and shot her with his old muzzle-loader and was hauled out by the rope with his eyes and his digestion full of smoke and lived to tell about it, and the wolf didn't."

"I have been to the place myself. A rough, wild country it is and you'd never think the board walk at Atlantic City was nearer than a thousand miles,

$1.00 Cat. Value Free

Four hundred different stamps. None damaged. All in fine condition. The advanced collector would doubtless find many in this packet to add to his collection, while the beginner would have a start such as very few collectors have. The price is $1.20.

Mexican Dollar given. With the above packet I will send as a present a Mexican Villa dollar till my supply gives out. Can't tell just how long these curios will last. Among the 400 varieties in the $1.20 packet mentioned above will be found one stamp alone that catalogues at $1 or over.

A LETTER ABOUT IT.

The packet of stamps sent me was better than advertised and I am glad be able to say a good word for both yourself and the stamps.

as the fly crows—I mean, as the crow flies. 'Tis pretty enough there in the day time but after dusk any tom cat would look as big as a catamount, if you stopped to look at him at all. Probably you wouldn't, Casey. Old Put, as he is sometimes called, was skinny then and just managed to squeeze through the hole in the rocks. If his name had been Taft, with all his bravery, he never could have done it. The feller who made the canceller couldn't draw the den and so he drew the wolf."

"What part of New England is it; I'd like to see it myself—maybe the cave is full of old stamps?"

"Maybe the packet of a thousand Continentals f'r 25c in the window is full of Post Office Mauritius too, Casey. Give me your quarter and find them if you can. The wolf den is not far from the town named after Ginral Putnam up in the State of Connecticut where the wooden nutmegs used to come from before black walnut got so scarce on account of every Yank from New England or Arkansaw insistin' he couldn't do his full duty to the Germans unless the butt of his rifle was made of the same. The boys in khaki have an idea one good crack with a chunk of black walnut on the place where German brains would be if there are any does a better job than two jabs of the bay'net lower down in the anatomy of those same partners of old man Spurlos Versenkt—and cheaper than cartridges"

"Are there many cancellations like that? I don't raymimber seein' anything of the kind before. Who made them and how and when and why?"

"One question at a time, Casey. There are lots of them. Stars and shields and bumble bees and dickey birds and even the Evil One himself, tail and all, with his pitchfork in his hand waitin' impatiently f'r his first chance at the man who invented watermarks. Durin' the Civil War the postmasters often spent all their spare time between Union vict'ries cuttin' them out of a plug of wood or a second hand cork. Every time the Army of the Potomac welcomed a new commandin' gin'ral with hope and prayer half the postmasters from Maine to Minnesota sharpened their trusty jack-knives and started whittlin'. Frequently they were disappointed, or every old three center you'd find now-a-days would have a different cancellation on it."

"'Twas not a bad idea, either. F'r instance:—one fine spring day in '75 century before last, Old Put hears about a scrap at Lexington sixty miles away and drops his plow and rides the feet off his nag to get within smell of powder before the cheerin' is all over. And a few months ago one of Israel P's descendents, in the spirit if not of the flesh, Jacob Perlstein by the name on his registration card, leaves his push-cart in the middle of Bainbridge street and starts for France to show the Germans what they're up against, and what happens?"

"Why one of them seven foot Pomeranian Grenadiers sees his own finish and Jakey's five foot nine of Yankee spunk comin' f'r him all in one piece and dives into a dugout just in time to miss a remarkably fine specimen of good old American black walnut. Jakey dives after him just like Old Put in the wolf den and when he comes out his lieutenant asks, 'Did you get him?' and Jakey says, 'Yes, I have got twenty-six of him.' What a fine thing it would be for the stamp collectors of 1968 if some country postmaster around here would risk his patriotism for his job and get up a cancellation with Jakey's push-cart on it!"

"It would that," agreed Casey. "And now that I see the connection between this here zoological specimen and ancient and modern American history perhaps you'll tell me how you got O'Hoolihan's goat, or wolf, away from him. Did you use a black-jack or T N T."

"Neither, Casey. 'Twas like this:—O'Hoolihan tried to sell me about fifty covers with three centers of the vintages of '61 to '66 on them. Nearly half of the stamps was pretty dark red like this one with the wolf on it, and, for a wonder, fine copies. He wanted me to believe those were No. 66 that the catalog calls 'lake' but by good luck I had a copy of No. 66 and showed him how he was wrong, never lettin' on the whole truth or that I'd noticed the wolf."

"What d'you mean—the whole truth?"

"Just this,—what the catalog calls lake is not a true stamp at all but only a finished proof—a trial color. Not one of them was ever sold for postage. When the printin' fellers tried to match that color for regular stamps they couldn't do it and soon gave up tryin', and these dark ones is the nearest they got. The catalog prices number sixty-six at fifteen dollars unused and nothing used and the real lake red stamp isn't priced at all, or even mentioned. No doubt they were made in '63 and occasionally used as late as '64, barrin' hangovers. A good used copy is worth maybe five dollars, especially on the letter and I would buy unused copies happily at fifteen dollars each all day long, if I could."

"And O'Hoolihan didn't know that?"

"He did not. He's found it out since—I told him myself. When he saw none of his were like my number sixty-six he decided his were just common reds, badly oxidized, and thought he was gettin' out of me about ten times what they were worth. Havin' stung me before naturally he thought I would be just as easy pickin' the second time. But very foxy he was—foxier than any wolf."

"How much for any I happen to like says I."

"Ten cents each if I pick 'em and a quarter apiece if you pick 'em, and I won't break the lot for less than a dollar, says he."

"He was out to stick you either way. Heads he wins; tails you lose. How did you settle it?"

"I did the stickin' myself and I settled it and him all at once. I stuck the Putnam Wolf in my pocket and I stuck the others in the drawer under the counter and locked it and threw the key over the transom and handed him a five dollar bill."

"What's the idea? say he, satisfying himself that the bill was genuine."

"I'll take 'em all, says I—and you pick 'em."

PANAMA AND ITS POSTAGE STAMPS.

By Frederick E. Heydon.

Chapter IX.

Third Panama Issue, 1904.

These stamps have been sometimes referred to, although not very appropriately, as the "Fourth Panama Issue," but the stamps were probably surcharged in December, 1903. The facts of the case seem to be substantially as follows: After supplies of the 2c, 5c, 10c and 20c were obtained by the rather cumbrous process of obliterating "Colombia" by a bar in color of stamp, and then printing "PANAMA" twice by a second impression, it dawned on some of the intellectuals in the Panamaian postal service that impressions in one color would be practically as useful and avoid a needless expense. The 1c, 50c and 1p were therefore surcharged with both bar and "PANAMA" in carmine, by which I mean the shade only; as the color is not real carmine, but a crude and inferior substitute, which was so badly mixed that it was very deficient in adhesive qualities. In consequence, the finer lines of letters, particularly the A's, are often missing or defective, thus adding very materially to the difficulties attendant on the identification of varieties.

Additional supplies of the 2c and 20c were prepared by the same process. Most of the old errors were repeated, and many new ones introduced; the net result being one of the most difficult sets of stamps for purposes of study with which I am familiar. However, I am satisfied that nearly all of the errors are quite unintentional and arose almost entirely from two causes, first, the difficulty of obtaining the requisite number of capital A's, as stated in connection with the preceding issue, and secondly that the type was not locked securely in the forms, thus allowing letters to shift and even to drop out. For example, in the second arrangement, the upper and lower halves of the sheet should be exact duplicates, but this is not always the case. Letters, which were evidently loose when the upper half of the sheet was printed, have become entirely out of alignment, or apparently dropped out when the lower half was printed. I have seen sheets of the 20c and 1p, and a half sheet of the 50c, for which I am indebted to Mr. Luff, and from these and other data, particularly Bartels' valuable Check List, I have prepared diagrams which may be of some value to specialists.

The errors were noticed and the surcharging was so unsatisfactory that before the stamps were actually needed for immediate use, the Panamaian postal authorities prepared a new set. Early in 1904 a full set of surcharged stamps appeared, neat in appearance and quite free from errors, and they therefore held back the slovenly surcharges until called for to fill temporary shortages, some still remaining in stock available for another surcharge in 1906.

While a good many of the double and other abnormal surcharges of the Fourth Panama Issue should have been scrapped as printers' waste, those of the issue now under consideration, although unfortunately very numerous, are with hardly an exception legitimate.

The normal surcharge reads

This setting covers fifty stamps and is a re-arrangement—or, rather, three re-arrangements—of the setting for the preceding group. "PANAMA" is set to read in the same direction at both sides of the stamp. It usually reads upward, but sheets of the 1, 2 and 20 centavos exist on which it reads upward on one half the sheet and downward on the other half. As the sheet contained one hundred stamps, two impressions were required to surcharge it and, if it was reversed before the second impression was made, "PANAMA" would, of course, read in the opposite direction on the second half of the sheet.

The first arrangement covered ten horizontal rows of five stamps each, the second covered five horizontal rows of ten stamps each. In impressions from the first arrangement, we find the stamps with "PANAMA" 15½ mm. long in the first and tenth vertical rows; on six stamps of each of these rows, the larger word appears at each side, and on four stamps at one side only. In the second arrangement the first stamp in the top row has "PANAMA" reading downward at the left and upward at the right. Numbers 3 to 10 inclusive, in that row, have "PANAMA" 15½ mm. long at each side of the stamp. These varieties were repeated in the sixth row when the sheet was moved forward on the bed of the press before the second impression was made, but, when in what is known as the third arrangement or setting, the sheet was turned around, they appeared in the tenth row and No. 100 is the complementary stamp of No. 1.

The full list of varieties known, all of which, however, do not occur on any one value, is as follows:

* These varieties do not occur in all values or in all sheets of the same value.

† These varieties should have been discarded as printers' waste if accidental, but this supposition seems to me so improbable that I feel compelled to consider them deliberate inventions for speculative purposes. I regard the other varieties as bona fide errors, although the number is unfortunately unusually large.

L. V. LINDSEY, NORWICH, N. Y.

I have only noted missing letters where I have seen them or they have been reported on good authority, but they doubtless occur elsewhere, as, particularly, on the 1p, letters are not infrequently barely legible, and at times only traces appear.

The inverted V's for A's are only noted where my own observations agree with Bartels' Check List, but frequently many such letters seem to exist, and an isolated example with this defect may come from practically any part of the sheet.

Variety "e" and those that follow it in the list usually exist reading downward as well as upward. It appears to me better to disregard these differences as far as assigning them specific letters. Letters c and d have, however, been assigned to the corresponding varieties with PANAMA 15½x2 mm. on each side, as from their comparatively frequent occurrence they are obtainable.

While I have examples of varieties s and t I am unable to indicate their position in the settings. but the former was undoubtedly in the first arrangement; the latter may exist in either the second or third or in both.

E. T. WALLIS.

Proprietor of Indiana Stamp Co.

We are pleased to present herewith a picture of Mr. E. T. Wallis, the proprietor of the Indiana Stamp Co. of Indianapolis, Ind., but regret that the necessary details are lacking in connection with his philatelic career. For some time the firm has been a regular user of space in the WEEKLY, specializing in auctions. As will be seen elsewhere in this issue, however, the firm has a good stock and is well prepared to deal with approval requests. Both United States and foreign stamps are specialized in. Mr. Wallis is No. 60 in the American Stamp Dealers' Assn. and with all his other activities is connected with the Stamp Herald, the well known Bushnell publication from Indianapolis. Mr. Wallis is an enthusiastic supporter of philatelic societies and has a membership in both the American Philatelic Society and the Sons of Philatelic America.

The general collector would do well to be satisfied with the following varieties:—

a, PANAMA 13x1¾ mm. reading down both sides.

b or y, PANAMA, PANVMA or PANVMA 13x1¾ mm. reading down at left and up at right.

c or d, PANAMA 15½x2 mm., reading up or down.

e, PAnaMA—Large PA and MA.

f or g, PAnamA or PAnaMA, Large PA and A (with or without inverted V).

i or h, PANAMA, or PANAMA, Large P (or P and 2nd A).

n, o, p, q or r, PANAMA, etc. One or more inverted V's for A's.

x, PANAMA. Third A accented.

These seem to me the most important varieties, excluding some very scarce ones, and with an example of each of these on say the 1c or 2c, and normal type and PANAMA 15½x2 mm. for the other values, the issue would be fairly represented. I do not include the inverted "N". I would suggest care that the inverted V's are really such and not faulty A's, as, owing to defective inking and printing these are very numerous.

As to the arrowhead for an A, inverted Y, and all inverted, double and shifted surcharges, even specialists will do well not to form any fanciful conclusion as to completing their collections.

There is, however, a fascination in the quest of the unattainable, if not taken too seriously, and I know from my own experience that there are still opportunities of picking up very rare varieties at moderate prices.

As regards arrangement and display, my remarks as to the Second Panama Issue are applicable here.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We are informed by Edwin P. Seebohm of the death of two stamp collectors, Frederick T. Huddart, a prominent coin and stamp collector of San Francisco and W. Wolters of Honolulu. Mr. Huddart was active in the Pacific Coast Numismatic Society, where he had been honored with official position. Mr. Wolters was an old-time collector and has long been a subscriber to the WEEKLY.

—We have received from J. E. Handshaw, the present proprietor of the J. W. Scott Co. Ltd., an appreciative tribute to John W. Scott whose death was announced in the WEEKLY of Jan. 11. Mr. Handshaw says:—"I had known him for a great many years and my dealings with him were very pleasant. While at the time of his death he had no financial interest in his old business, he made it a practise to call in upon us quite frequently and I have had many a pleasant chat with him. We have had a cut made from his last picture and have also written up a little tribute which will appear in the Metropolitan Philatelist for January."

—The Jersey City (N. J.) Stamp Club which disbanded for the period of the war is to be revived. Former or would-be members are invited to communicate with F. E. Prohaska, 82 Hutton St., Jersey City, N. J.

—Elliott Perry of Westfield, N. J., has recently been elected secretary of the New York Collectors' Club. He writes sententiously:—"I do hope I am not elected to anything else this year."

—Dickey, the precancel man, tells us that Newton, Kans., used great quantities of precancels during the holiday season, including the 16c aeroplane. Mr. Dickey sends us a letter received from Maj. (Dr.) W. I. Mitchell, who writes that he got abroad just in time to get into the big push that started Sept. 25 and ended Nov. 11.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Elm City Stamp Co., Maitland Milliken, Wm. F. Goerner, E. J. Southern and Paul Murray.

—Fred S. Martin of Greene, N. Y., has sent us a weird production "obtained from a post office in Palestine", so one of Mr. Martin's customers reports. So far as we are personally concerned it might be a hat tax stamp or most any kind of a label, for there is not a word of English upon the stamp and it would require a Howes to translate it into stamp terms. The label is oblong rectangular in shape, is printed in brown, is crudely engraved and we shall await developments before giving it a regular listing.

JOHN W. SCOTT, PHILATELIST.

By MAX CASPER.

Of philatelic knowledge, a man beyond compare,
Happiness, contentment and good will everywhere.
Never shunning friend or stranger, fraternally bound,
Within calling always, with good advice, and sound.
Societies his friendship boast, of most of them a leader
Contributions literary, to the philatelic reader
On subjects philatelic for profit or for pleasure.
The stamps and coins of ages to him became a treasure.
Those who knew him realize the loss we name:—
John Walter Scott, of philatelic fame.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Rumors still persist that the Post Office Department will shortly issue a Victory stamp. The latest news, which we might state is of a semi-official character, in that it will be a 3c stamp, that the design has been made, the die engraved and approval of same is now awaited. We wrote to the department a couple weeks back in regards to the issue but have not as yet been favored with a reply. For some unknown reason it seems to be the policy of the officials now in charge to keep all such information secret until the stamp is ready and is placed on sale. Instead of giving such information all the publicity possible, they follow the methods used in connection with the issuing of the aeroplane stamps—we hear about them definitely about two days ahead of the time the stamp is placed on sale.

Mr. Milton P. Lyons, Jr., informs us that he has located the current 3c stamp, surface print, type IV, with a distinct triple impression. Unfortunately the writer did not have the opportunity of viewing the stamp, but as Mr. Lyons is well posted on such matters we do not feel that this was an optical delusion as is quite often the case with many varieties sent us for inspection.

The sheet of 3c type IV, printed on the back, which we described quite recently was sold in Philadelphia where it has since been broken up. Mr. A. E. Owen, one of our authorities on late issues examined these most carefully and states that he is convinced that the printing on the back is not a direct print, but is an offset from an offset. To make this clearer, he believes that an impression, heavily inked, from the roller was made direct and that this in turn left a reverse impression on a second sheet. A third impression was obtained from this reverse thus giving us what appears to be a direct impression on the back. We examined a single copy and a large block and from the single specimen was led to believe that this was a direct print from the roller. The block, however, in places, showed white streaks which we would hardly expect except from an offset, then too on the back of some stamps there was but spots or streaks of color and this would hardly happen if a firm direct impression was made from the inked roller.

We learn that the Senate has passed a bill which now goes to the House, granting to Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt the franking privilege. Your editor has often wondered why the philatelist has not paid more attention to the autograph frank, for it is really a signature that has taken the place of the postage stamp. It franks a letter or rather pays the postage just the way the Department stamps did in former years. I have been a number of years trying to get together a complete series of Presidential Franks, that is letters franked by the Presidents of the United States from Washington to Wilson and today have twenty-one out of the twenty-seven.

Mr. G. M. Williamson calls our attention to the fact that with the discontinuance of the Philatelic Gazette the plate number collector as well as the student that goes deeply into our issues, will be unable to keep posted as to the numbers assigned to the different plates by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. We will be glad to obtain and publish this information from time to time, beginning where the Gazette left off, providing there are enough of our readers interested.

Mr. J. M. Bartels has very kindly given us a complete set of the current envelopes, all dies, including the rare 2c Die C so that when new varieties appear we will be able to distinguish them and give early information. The writer, in the past, has given scant attention to envelopes, collecting adhesvies only, but from now on will become posted. Miss Pigeon, Mr. Bartels' able assistant, has pointed out most carefully the distinguishing characteristics of the present emissions so in the future we will have at least a speaking acquaintance with the subject.

BAHAMAS.—Mr. William L. Aldrich has shown us a copy of the new Charity stamp recently issued. The 1d Queen's staircase stamp has been surcharged "WAR CHARITY 3.6.18" in three lines in red. We have also heard that these were entirely sold out the first day they were put on sale and all orders were filled only in part.

CEYLON.—A. C. Roessler informs us that this island has put out five fine low value provisional stamps. Four are war stamps. The set consists of the current 2, 3 and 5c surcharged WAR STAMP in black in two lines. In addition the current 5c has been overprinted in black in one line with new value ONE CENT, and this in turn has been made into a war stamp with the same surcharge that was applied to the 2, 3 and 5c. Mr. Roessler writes that this colony contributed ten million dollars to Britain's war fund and part of the amount has been made up through postal taxes. It will thus be the privilege of American collectors to contribute to the colonial exchequer.

FALKLAND ISLANDS.—We have received from J. A. Galbraith specimens of the current ½d, 1d and 1sh with the overprint WAR STAMP in black in the lower part of the stamps just above the inscription indicating the value of each stamp. Mr. Galbraith feels that the supply printed was small but has no definite information in relation to the same. We are not advised as to whether any other values than the three indicated have been overprinted.

HAYTI.—Mr. A. W. Dunning has submitted copies of the following new provisionals of this country:—7c de p, orange-red, No. 168, surcharged "1 ct. Gourde", type a, of the 1917 overprint, in black; 3c de p orange, No. 156; 3c de p brown, No. 127; 15c de p yellow, No. 171, all surcharged "2 cts. Gourde", type b, as above in red and 10c de p red-brown, No. 170, surcharged "5 cts. Gourde" in black, type a, as in the first value noted.

KISHENGARH. — Mr. Jno. Godinho, writing under date September 16, 1918, states that the sale of "On K.D.S." stamps of this State has been discontinued. No cause has as yet been assigned for this sudden suspension. Mr. Godinho has reason to believe that the appearance of a number of errors in complete sheets in Bombay led to an acrimonious correspondence between collectors and dealers and the authorities of the Kishengarh State. It is even alleged, and we trust it may prove to be true, that an inquiry was held regarding the complaints from stamp collectors, and possibly the discontinuance of the sale of these notorious official provisionals is the result of the reported inquiry. Further developments are expected.—Stamp Collecting.

LIBERIA.—According to the Madrid Filatélico, the ten cents triangular adhesive of 1909 and the corresponding official stamp have been surcharged with a new value, 3 cents. These provisionals are said to have been issued just before the new series described in our columns some months ago. The overprint in both cases is in red.—Stamp Collecting.

NEWFOUNDLAND. — Mr. Michael P. Hines has shown us the new set of stamps complete which he advises were put on sale Jan. 2nd. They are in every way as described in our notes in issues 1452, 1459 & 1461. The size is the same as the issue of 1910 and perforated 14. The colors are as follows:—1c lt green, 2c red, 3c brown, 4c purple, 5c ultramarine, 6c gray, 8c red lilac, 10c dk. green, 12c orange, 15c dk. blue, 24c bistre, 36c olive green.

NORWAY.—From the Kristiania Aftenposten we learn the following interesting news: "By reason of the greatly increased postal traffic and the increased rates the Norwegian Post Office Department resolved to issue a 5 kroner stamp, a new value for Norway. In interested philatelic circles it had long been hoped that this value might be issued in a more satisfactory design than the current Norwegian kroner values, e. g. something like the present Danish and Swedish 5 kroner stamps with view of the General Post Office building, a proposal which had even been discussed by high authorities in Kristiania. However, the new G. P. O. building will not be finished for several years to come for which reason it was not thought appropriate to depict it so long in advance. The new 5 kroner stamp will therefore be of the same design as the present other kroner values. The color has not yet been decided on. —Albermarle Stamp Collector.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

NEW PAGES FOR OUR STAMP ALBUMS.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

It has been observed by different writers on many occasions that modern history is plainly marked in the pages of a well filled stamp album. Changes of government, political upheavals, the rise and fall of dynasties, local and international celebrations, etc., are all vividly portrayed. Changes of greater or lesser import are always taking place and these are invariably marked by the issue of new postage stamps. Some of these transformations have merely affected the names of certain territories such as the renaming of British New Guinea to Papua, or Nyasaland Protectorate for British Central Africa. Then again amalgamations of territory have taken place such as occurred when Lagos and the two Nigerias were united into one administrative area under the name of Nigeria, or the style of government has been changed as when Portugal and China became republics. But whatever the nature or extent of the change sooner or later it is marked by the issue of new stamps. Wars have always brought their crop of philatelic novelties and it is therefore hardly to be wondered that the last four years represents a fruitful period of stamp issuing. Not only have there been plenty of new stamps for countries already well-known but many new names have written themselves large on the philatelic firmament. Since 1914, for instance, the following entirely new names have required pages in our albums—Cape Juby, Ubangi, Hedjaz, Kionga, Naura, New Britain, and Rouad. And such is the swift progress of events in stamp history that almost before these had ceased to be novelties the new catalogues introduces us to still others of which the most striking are Palestine and Mesopotamia. In this short article, taking these newcomers in the alphabetical order in which they are catalogued, we will endeavor to give a few notes—general, historical or geographical—regarding each.

Cape Juby consists of the territory contiguous to the promontory of the same name on the west coast of Africa. It covers an area of about 6,300 square miles and as its population consists chiefly of wandering Arabs the necessity for postage stamps is not very apparent. Spain has administered this territory for generations but it was not formally annexed to the Spanish crown until 1916.

The new kingdom of the Hedjaz—a name which means "the barrier"—consists of the northern part of Arabia to the east of the Red Sea. It covers about 96,500 square miles and has a population of over 300,000. Its two chief cities are Medina and Mecca, the latter as the birthplace of Mohammed being a holy city and focus of pilgrimage for Islam. When the present king as Shereef of Mecca defeated the Turk he declared his territory independent of the Ottoman Empire and immediately arranged for the issue of distinctive postage stamps. These were produced in Cairo and the designs are of considerable interest. The 1 piastre, which was the first to appear was issued in August, 1916, and shows in the centre the Arabic words "Makka el Mokarrama" (Holy Mecca). The characters at top and bottom mean "Hedjaz Post" and "one piastre" respectively, while in the side panels the date of the Arabic year 1334 is shown, this being the Lunar year following the prophet Mohammed's flight from Mecca to Medina. The main portion of this design was taken from the detail of an ancient prayer-niche in the mosque of El Amri at Qus, Upper Egypt. A ½ piastre stamp appeared in September, the design, which incorporated inscriptions similar to those on the 1 pia., being taken from the last page of a Koran in the mosque of Sultan Barquq, and it dates from the fourteenth century. This was followed in October by a ¼ pia. value the design of which was worked up from one of the carved panels on the principal door of a Cairo mosque. In February, 1917, a ⅛ pia. stamp was added to the set, the central ornament of the design for this denomination being based on a fragment of a Koran design from the tomb of Sultan el Churi (16th century). The arabesque ornament forming the background was taken from the stone carving on the sides of the arch at the entrance to the Wakfs Ministry in Cairo. Stamps of other denominations have been issued since, the designs of these being also typically Arabesque and the whole series form a fascinating group characteristic of this new Arabian kingdom.

Kionga for which the Portuguese issued provisional stamps in 1916 is a mountainous region situated in the northern portion of the erstwhile colony of German East Africa.

Mesopotamia, meaning "between the rivers" is the district between the Euphrates and Tigris rivers. It consists of a great plain with an area of about 55,000 square miles. The soil is sandy but when well watered or, as it was in ancient times, well irrigated, it develops an extraordinary fertility. Yet since 1515 when the Turks made themselves masters of the region it has fallen more and more a prey to barrenness and neglect. Held successively by the Assyrians, Babylonians, Persians, Greeks, Romans and Arabs it has been the battleground of these mighty empires. Its most notable town, Baghdad, at which the British army of occupation issued provisional postage stamps, is surrounded by a brick wall, five miles in circumference, and forty feet high, and by a deep dry ditch. The river is spanned by a bridge of boats, 220 yards long, and the communication is guarded by a citadel. There are four gates, the finest of which, bearing the date 1220, has remained closed since 1638. Since 1836 British steamers have plied on the Tigris between Baghdad and Basra, and here one of the chief stations of the Anglo-Indian telegraph is situated.

Nauru is one of the Marshall Islands which once formed part of the German colony of that name and was occupied by the Australian Expeditionary Force in October, 1914. It is administered from Rabaul, New Britain, which latter territory was once known as German New Guinea. While the seat of administration has not been changed, the New Guinea settlement has since been renamed Nauru.

Palestine, Canaan, the Land of Israel, or the Holy Land, the scene of most of the great events of sacred story, is a country in the southwest of Syria. Palestine proper has an area of about 6000 square miles. Formerly the home of the Jews, it has, since 70 A. D., been held by Persians, Saracens, Latin Crusaders and Turks, but has never been the home of a nation. Now that it has been wholly freed from the domain of the Turk its ancient prosperity may return in some measure. Until General Allenby's victorious army occupied Jerusalem, Palestine had never had distinctive stamps but it will doubtless now make up for lost time.

Rouad is an island in the Levant off the coast of Syria which was occupied by French troops in 1916, the occupation being signalised by the establishment of a French post office and the issue of a special series of stamps.

The French colony which Scott lists as Ubangi forms part of French equatorial Africa and in addition to Ubangi proper consists of territory on each side of the river Chari and the military district of Tchad on the lake of the same name. This territory was constituted as such under the authority of Lieutenant-Governor Estébe in January, 1910, but it was not until October, 1915, that distinctive postage stamps were issued.

The foregoing notes concern new countries or colonies which have actually issued stamps and it is obvious that when the final session of the Peace Conference has been held there will be many more entirely new stamp issuing countries. It is probable that most of the European countries will treat us to new stamps, but how many pages in our albums will be headed with new names is a matter regarding which we can only conjecture. Prophetic speculations are undoubtedly rash and yet if "coming events cast their shadows before" it is fairly safe to assume that before long we shall have to re-open the long closed page for Poland.

The ultimate disposition of the erstwhile German colonial possessions is bound to result in some changes, and even Germany itself may be split up more or less, so that the re-opening of such pages as Prussia, Baden and Saxony is by no means improbable. Albania represents another page that will probably become "active" again, while Arabia—apart from the independent kingdom of Hedjaz—will undoubtedly come under British influence and we may see special stamps for that country. To the north, France will probably control Syria, which has been historically hers from the days of the Crusades, while Armenia will probably be helped to independence and ultimately to a postal system of its own. Finland will probably be a republic and it seems highly probable we shall want new pages for the issues of the Murmans, and the peoples of Ukraine and Lithuania. It is practically certain we shall see new pages opened for the countries of the Jugo-Slavs and Czecho-Slovaks. Indeed, at the time of writing it is rumored that the government of the latter have actually placed a series of stamps on sale with the Lion of Bohemia as the main feature of the design.

Finally, an entirely new Turkish state under the name of Anatolia has been suggested and if this becomes an accomplished fact it would mean another new page for our albums. The future is in fact pregnant with "possibilities" and whatever betides it would appear that there is likely to be no lack of novelties for the most omnivorous new issue enthusiast for many moons to come.

THE MARKS STAMP CO.

"The House Built by Satisfaction" is the way the firm puts it. The Marks Stamp Co. was established in the year 1891 and is now entering in upon its twenty-ninth season of an enterprise which has grown from the ground floor up through its personal guarantee of "satisfaction to the buyer". The Marks Co. now has the largest wholesale, retail and approval trade of any B. N. A. dealer, in fact it specializes on wants of the beginner or specialist, whether in sets, packets, single stamps, and supplies of all kinds.

There are over sixty million stamps in stock, with over twenty-nine thousand varieties. A ground floor store in Toronto is occupied besides two additional floors for stock and approval departments, occupying approximately four thousand square feet of floor space. The manager of the store reports "business good", though like most other dealers they are handicapped for experienced help. But this will soon be overcome as trade conditions settle down. With a staff of about twenty regular employees the firm is quite well equipped to meet the demands made upon it.

Pricelists have been issued frequently, but beginning with January the firm will try a new feature by issuing a small monthly circular for the sole benefit of their active customers. There will be no subscription price and it will be sent only to those who have open accounts.

Mr. E. Marks, the founder, owner and general manager of the firm is well known to the collecting and dealing fraternity. Mr. G. H. Crouch has charge of the retail and wholesale order departments, and the firm contemplates attempting a wholesale approval service which will greatly enlarge their business in this direction. The retail approval end of the business is in charge of Mr. L. A. Davenport and it is his desire to come in contact with any readers of the WEEKLY who may wish to know what the firm can do in the line of approval selections.

VICTORY POSTAGE STAMPS.

(This editorial is taken from the New York Sun and copies have been sent us by Allen S. Davenport, O. Ivan Lee and Henry Jonas, the latter signing himself "A Subscriber from No. 1 to the present time." Two feel that the suggestion is a good one and Mr. Davenport comments upon the fact that so reputable a newspaper as the Sun should make editorial mention of the matter. No doubt many of our subscribers will feel that a set of stamps commemorating the great victory will be eminently proper. If you feel so, write the Department.—W. O. W.)

A correspondent makes the timely suggestion that our Government should make a new issue of postage stamps in celebration of the successful collaboration of the United States in defeating Germany, the world's outlaw, and bringing a cessation of hostilities to the distracted nations.

We wish that the present Post Office Department were a worthier instrument in the carrying out of this excellent idea. The daily work of this great department is done so badly that one cannot feel enthusiastic about entrusting any fine undertaking to it, as at present administered. Of course, it is fond of playing with side issues, and with such novelties as air-routes for the mail, we bespeak better brains for the work of making a new issue of Victory Stamps than have been enlisted in the routine work of the department, or even in the establishment of the flying mails.

The idea itself is admirable; we hope the Post Office Department will adopt it and make it enough of a success to bring forgiveness for many present shortcomings. The occasion is of far more importance than many former occasions for new postal issues, such as the Louisiana Purchase, the Founding of Jamestown or even the Columbian celebration. The end of the World War is surely a unique subject of commemoration by the deepest inspiration of Art, by the sincerest thankfulness of a free people, and by the concert of all Americans of whatever variety of political ideas.

The new stamps should carry the message of the American Republic to all the nations of the earth. We have been able to lend force to the blow which has slain the monster. It was the high favor of Fortune which allowed America to give the coup de grace. Let America show her gratitude for that favor by a becoming attitude toward her associates in the great fight and let these new postage stamps contain distinct recognition of new, world-wide and enduring national friendships.

PEACE AND PHILATELY.

As these lines are written the British Empire is en fête on the conclusion of an armistice with our last and most powerful enemy—Germany. The great nightmare of over four years of world conflict has faded at the dawn of peace, and the world is free from the shadow of war and free to begin the great work of reconstruction.

A big price has been paid for this freedom, and amid the rejoicings of success there will be many sad hearts, for in every degree of life from the highest to the lowest in every rank, in every calling, there are gaps left by those who made the great sacrifice, which alone made possible the glorious victory which we are able to celebrate.

To those who did not survive to see the end attained, repayment can only be made by thankfulness of heart and by keeping their memory ever sacred and ever green.

And what of Philately?

During times of war and strife the reward of our hobby has been such that the most sanguine and enthusiastic devotee could scarcely have imagined. The numbers of collectors, despite hard times, the need of economy, the lack of leisure, unsuitable conditions, have increased enormously.

Many prophets have suggested that if hard times came Philately must suffer, but like many another prophecy in connection with war, it failed to be borne out in fact. Prices obtained at auction and by private sale for rare pieces have never been so high, and there has never been such a demand.

Philately has afforded comfort and relaxation to thousands, not only civilians anxious to forget the worries of the times, but also to many members of the forces, and that, too, not only during periods of leave or even during service at home, but in the very front-line trenches themselves. Little collections have been studied and arranged in dug-outs by the light of a candle. Who can tell what comfort may have been brought to those who of necessity spent a great part of the hours of the night in wakefulness, ready for action if necessary, but wishful to forget, if only for a few moments, the strain of it all.

Nor would it seem that this was applicable to one side only. The editor recently received from an officer overseas a small collection of postage stamps found in a German officer's front-line dug-out. The stamps themselves were of little value from the financial standpoint, but the arranging and study of them no doubt afforded much pleasure to their former owner.

So much for the past. What of the future? With the record of the past we think there is nothing to fear. Philately has taken the firmest of holds, and has successfully surmounted the most trying times that it will in all probability ever have to face.—London Philatelist.

ADDITIONAL BOOK AGENCIES.

We have been able to add several new names to our list of agencies during the past week. Chicago is represented by the United Stamp Co., San Francisco by E. P. Seebohm, Providence by the Preston & Rounds Co. and additional agencies have been established in Washington and Philadelphia. In Washington we have H. B. Mason and in Philadelphia Percy McG. Mann.

Our subscribers who are able to visit any of these agencies are respectfully urged to purchase our books in person rather than order by mail. It will afford them the privilege of inspecting our publications and as soon as a new book is published a supply will be forwarded to each agency. May we point out that the agencies will be encouraged to carry these publications in proportion as the local demand makes itself manifest. Orders by mail should be addressed to this office.

It is our intention to keep standing a list of our agencies and our subscribers will be constantly reminded of the convenience we have placed before them. If you want our two latest publications, Sampson's "United States Postage Rates" or C to G of Poole's "Dictionary", you can obtain them by calling on any of the following:—

STAMPS OF THE GREAT WAR.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

(Concluded from page 27.)

At the same time that General Maude was harassing the Turk in Mesopotamia, General Allenby was by a series of brilliant victories driving him out of Palestine. As the British troops moved northwards the question of providing adequate postal facilities for the civilian population of Southern Palestine engaged the attention of the military authorities. Arrangements were made for the transmission of correspondence through the Army Post-offices in occupied enemy territory and on December 19th, 1917, authority was given for the preparation of an adhesive postage stamp of distinctive design and two months later stamps were issued. The stamps were manufactured at Cairo and were of the value of 1 piastre. The design consists of Arabic characters, the value, "Postage Paid" and the letters "E. E. F", the latter signifying "Egyptian Expeditionary Force". They were printed on the watermarked paper used for the contemporary stamps of Great Britain and at first were only sold to be affixed to letters actually handed to the postal employes. Later as further supplies were received these sale restrictions were removed. A provisional 5 mils stamp was also issued this value being surcharged on the 1pia. Subsequent supplies of this label were printed in London in a paler shade of blue and in June, 1918, a set of six values was despatched from London for use throughout the Holy Land.

We next turn to the operations of the Allies in the Levant, where a number of interesting provisionals were issued, although we must admit that the status of some of these has aroused considerable controversy.

During the early months of 1916, one of the Turkish Islands in the Aegean Sea was occupied by British naval authorities and renamed Long Island. In connection with this occupation a number of exceedingly crude labels were issued and although these are not listed by Scott and are decried by many collectors in England, they seem to have been issued under properly constituted authority and to be in every way a legitimate issue. When the navy took control of this island the only stamps found there were a few Turkish fiscals and these were overprinted "G. R. I Postage" and new values by means of a typewriter. The supply of these stamps was quite inadequate for the island's needs and a supplementary supply was made by means of a typewriter. The design is crude in the extreme consisting of "G. R. I.—Long Island—Postage and Revenue" and the value in five lines within a border of dots. At first green paper was used and to save time the sheets of stamps were duplicated by using carbon paper. As both blue and mauve carbons were used the stamps are found in these colors as well as in black. The green paper was found most unsuitable and ordinary white typewriting paper was used. This lasted for a short while and after it was exhausted transfer paper cut from a folio letter-copying book was employed. The result is a conglomeration of curious stamps literally made on the spot as required. They were in use only between the 7th and 26th of May when the Turks became so offensive that the naval force, presumably, evacuated the island.

Early in 1916 it was proposed that a British force should be landed in a "certain place" in the Levant and stamps were prepared for the use of civilians in that place. These provisionals consisted of eight values of the contemporary set of Great Britain overprinted "Levant" in heavy type. The proposed landing was abandoned and as the stamps were on hand they were placed on sale at Salonika and were in use for about two weeks. The stamps were overprinted at the British Army Printing Office, Salonika, on January 23rd, 1916, and they were in issue from some time in the latter part of February until the 9th of March.

Our French allies were also busy in the Levant and in 1916 they occupied the island of Rouad, off the coast of Syria. By a Paris decree the 5c, 10c, and 1pia stamps of French Levant were provisionally overprinted "Ile Rouad" and issued for use there the overprinting being apparently done in Alexandria. Later, a complete set of all values was overprinted in Paris, on the regular Levantine series.

H. F. COLMAN, 2ND NATIONAL BANK BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Finally, among occupation stamps we have an interesting series issued in Persia under British authority. Although Persia was not a belligerent, to guard their communications in the first operations in Mesopotamia, the British considered it advisable to occupy the Persian seaport of Bushire. This occupation lasted from August 8th until October 16th, 1916, when the town was again restored to Persia. The military authorities took over the stock of Persian stamps and overprinted them "Bushire—Under British Occupation" in three lines for the use of the troops. The overprinting was made by means of a small printing machine belonging to the British Residency. This was taken to the Persian post office and after the work was done the machine was returned. The type was old and defective, consequently the work of overprinting is hardly a sample of the highest form of the art of printing. The postage rate at the British post office was 1d per oz., while the rate at the Persian office remained at 2½d. Many of the natives therefore, used the British office with the consequence that most of the stamps that were used went to the interior of Persia and Asia Minor.

One result of the war has been to increase the cost of postage almost all over the world. In the United States the chief effect has been to increase the postage on ordinary letters from 2c to 3c; in Great Britain the rate was raised from 1d to 1½d and the weight was also reduced; and France raised its rates from 10c to 15c. Italy increased its charges from 15c to 20c and issued a number of provisionals to represent the new rate, and while these, together with the new stamps and provisionals for Russia, Switzerland, Sweden, Norway Denmark, etc., may all be legitimately considered war issues as representing an increased postal tax, for the purposes of this article we shall only refer to those stamps which bore some distinctive overprint or inscription referring to the tax.

All the stamps in this group are found among the stamps of the British Empire, and most of them were issued in connection with the West Indian colonies. With the exception of Canada all these war tax stamps were made by overprinting. Early in 1915, Canada authorised a war tax of 1c on all letters and postcards and special stamps were issued. These were the regular 1c postage stamps of the King George series with the words "WAR TAX" in large colorless block letters between the value and the portrait. A 2c value was also issued in this type and while this was primarily intended for use on money orders, checks, etc., it was also quite frequently used for postage. In January, 1916, a stamp combining both the postage and tax was issued this being an adaptation of the current 2c value with "1 T c" below the portrait. As this stamp was in the same color as the regular 2c much confusion resulted and eventually it was changed to brown. Finally, a 3c stamp was issued as it was found that there was no special need for tax stamps proper inasmuch as no regulations insisted on their exclusive use.

The other British war stamps issued in the West Indies, Malta, St. Helena, etc., were all made by means of overprints. In some cases these were produced locally and in others the overprinting was done in London by Messrs. De La Rue and Co. Antigua, Jamaica, Fiji, St. Vincent, etc., used the words "War Stamp" in one or two lines; Barbados, British Guiana, Malta, Trinidad —in fact most of the colonies—used the words "War Tax", while British Honduras was content with the single word "War". The Cayman Is. used the words "War Stamp" with a new value, while Dominica, St. Helena and Gold Coast used the words "War Tax" with value as well.

Some of the most interesting stamps issued in connection with the war are those issued wholly or in part for the benefit of Red Cross funds. France and most of her colonies and consular offices have issued one or more stamps for this purpose, the current 10c stamps being used as a rule with an overprint consisting of a cross and "5c". In these cases the 10c represented the franking power of the stamp, while the additional 5c was a contribution to the Red Cross.

On January 1st, 1917, Bahamas issued its current 1d stamp with an overprint of a cross and date these being used voluntarily in addition to ordinary postage. In May, 1916, the chartered company of North Borneo contributed a number of its stamps specially overprinted with a red cross to the British Red Cross Society and these were sold at a substantial premium for the benefit of the fund. In 1918, another set appeared consisting of all values from 1c to $2, which were sold at face plus 2c on each stamp. The extra 2c was given to the Red Cross Society while the coffers of the company were enriched to the tune of about $2.30 on each set in the name of charity! The Straits Settlements and Trengganu both issued a few Red Cross stamps and the colony of Trinidad and Tobago issued special stamps in both 1915 and 1916.

Belgium has been a prolific manufacturer of Red Cross varieties starting with two small series of 5c, 10c and 20c, respectively, in 1914, which were sold at double face value, half the proceeds going to Red Cross funds. Another small set was issued in 1915 on the same lines and in 1918 all values of the 1918 pictorial set were overprinted with corresponding values and a cross in red the extra premium going to enrich the coffers of the Red Cross Society. In 1918, similar sets were issued for the Congo State and the occupied territory of East Africa and in both instances half the proceeds were devoted to Red Cross purposes.

Italy has been modest with its Red Cross issues being content with four varieties for itself, Eritrea, Somaliland and Libia the additional premium of 5c on each being devoted to the funds of the Red Cross Society.

In March, 1917, the provisional Venezuelist government at Salonika caused a number of the Greek stamps found there to be overprinted "K II" (an abbreviation for Greek words meaning "Provisional Government") and new values The stamps were sold at face value plus this extra charge which was devoted to the funds of the Red Cross Society.

Among neutral countries the Dutch Indies issued a small series of three stamps which produced about 10,000 florins for the Red Cross and Liberia has been active with a number of varieties which served to enrich the black republic to the extent of one dollar for every cent contributed to the Red Cross!

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA.STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

In addition to stamps issued for Red Cross benefaction special stamps have been issued in some countries for other charitable purposes. Thus in 1917, France issued a series of five stamps which were sold in most instances at double face value, the premium above franking power being devoted to a fund for the benefit of French War Orphans.

Roumania issued a number of stamps with an overprint consisting of the words "Timbru de Ajutor" (literally "Assistance stamp") and the funds collected from this tax were used for the succor of refugees and to help the needy families of soldiers. The same country issued four special postage due stamps which were sold at a premium, the extra amount so realised being used for the benefit of refugees from Transylvania.

In the early days of the war Russia issued a series of four large stamps each of which were sold at a premium of 1 kopec over face value. This extra sum was for the benefit of the widows' and orphans' fund organized by the Imperial Women's Patriotic Union.

Among the neutrals, Sweden issued a series of "voluntary assistance stamps" in 1916. These consisted of various stamps overprinted either 5 ore or 10 ore. They were sold at face value plus the surcharged denomination but had franking power only to the extent of 5 ore or 10 ore. The surplus realised from their sale went to a fund for providing clothing for mobilised reservists

In addition to the above, there are a number of other war stamps which cannot be classified in either of the three main groups outlined at the beginning of this article. For instance the Indian Government caused a number of its stamps to be overprinted "I. E. F" (Indian Expeditionary Force) for the use of the troops engaged in France during the campaign of 1914-16. This force arrived in France on September 26th. 1914, and the stamps were available for the use of the soldiers soon afterwards.

One result of the campaign against the Turk was that the Emir and Sherif of Mecca (Arabia) declared his territory independent of the Ottoman Empire. The Emir became the new king of the Hedjaz and the new kingdom was formally placed under British protection. It did not take the new government long to organise its postal system and the stamps of Turkey were soon replaced by a distinctive issue which were designed and printed by the Survey of Egypt to the order of the Intelligence Office at Cairo. The stamps are handsome and characteristically Arabesque, and their issue affords an unmistakable index of the permanent character of the action of the ruler of the sacred centre of Mussulman faith.

France has always claimed certain rights in Morocco and German interference in the affairs of the country, tending to weaken French influence, nearly led to war in 1905. France has now definitely established a protectorate over that part of the Moroccan Kingdom within her sphere of influence and issued a special series of stamps denoting this fact in September, 1914.

Belgium, in spite of its manifold sufferings under the detested Hun, has always managed to hold its government and after the loss of Antwerp transferred its headquarters to Havre. Here a new series of stamps was issued in 1915 consisting of fourteen values all of which may legitimately be considered war stamps. This handsome series was engraved and printed in London by Waterlow Brothers and Layton.

Events in Greece have also resulted in the issue of special stamps. When Mr. Venizelos founded the provisional government at the time the Royalist party were flirting with Germany he caused a special series of stamps to be prepared and these were issued at Salonika (the headquarters of the new government) in December, 1916. In the same month the Royalist adherents at Salonika caused the current Greek stamps to be overprinted with a crown and the letters "E T", standing for Greek Posts, and on Mr. Venizelos reconciling the difference between the two parties the stamps continued to be used.

In November, 1915, the Council of Ministers in Russia decided to increase the issue of small silver money to meet the need for subsidiary coins. Pending this the Ministry of Finance issued stamps of corresponding denominations which were legal tender for payment up to 3 roubles to private persons and to an unlimited amount to Government offices. These stamps are the 10k, 15k and 20k values of the Romanoff set printed on thin card and printed on the back with an inscription in Russian characters meaning literally "Having circulation on a par with silver subsidiary coins". These currency stamps were also good for postage.

Last of all we come to the stamps issued by the enemy powers but as they arouse but scant interest, so far as the majority of collectors are concerned, we can dismiss them with a very brief mention.

Germany—a name for all time synonymous with all that is contemptible—has issued new values to correspond with increased postal rates and also overprinted provisionals for use in the outraged territories of Belgium, Lithuania and Courland, and Poland.

Austria—the dupe—has issued several charity labels for itself, Hungary and Bosnia, numerous stamps for military use and special stamps for use in the occupied lands of Serbia and Montenegro and Roumania.

Bulgaria, the renegade, issued a series of five stamps for use in the occupied territory of Roumania, while the unspeakable Turk has been content with an astonishingly long and complex series of stamps overprinted with a star and crescent.

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION HAS EXPIRED.

Some complaint has reached this office that notices of expiration of subscription have been printed on wrappers when the subscriptions have not expired. This can be readily explained in the fact that the printing of the wrappers is necessarily done expeditiously and there is not sufficient time to verify the work done. Will our subscribers please note that the subscription number on the wrapper tells the whole story and if this number is in advance of the number of the current issue, all forms of reminders as to subscription expiration should be disregarded. Just remember that mistakes will happen in the best regulated offices. Also bear in mind that it takes about three weeks to enter renewals.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Arrival—The new thirteen cent stamp has made its appearance and was on sale in Chicago on January 23rd, 1919; the sheets were of plates 9140, 9147 and other numbers near them. Certainly it is distinctive because of its color, which almost defies description, but "apple green," the favorite of an early cataloguer or two applies to it about as patly as any other. The thought of the collector who sees this stamp for the first time is that this pale, vague color will be replaced before long by one that is more definite.

Abrogated—It is ironical that just as collectors are protesting against the absence of special postmarks on aeroplane mail, the first assistant postmaster general issues an order prohibiting the use of the few special markings that are now to be had. He says: "It has been brought to the attention of the department that many postmasters use ordinary rubber hand stamps and various colored inks in postmarking mail received for dispatch by aeroplane service. This practice will be discontinued immediately, and all aeroplane mail will be postmarked and the stamps thereon canceled by the use of canceling machines or the regular hand postmarking stamps, and the black canceling ink furnished by the department for such purpose." It now becomes the duty of the philatelic "ways and means" committee to show the department that its arbitrary ruling is one that deprives the philatelist of a legitimate source of satisfaction. We think the question is one that calls for action by the philatelic societies and though we are aware that the authorities frown on any deviation from the regulation procedure of the score of business safety, yet there is no overwhelming reason why the expectations of collectors cannot be recognized without danger to the exchequer.

Arrangement—At our request, Mr. R. McP. Cabeen, Chicago, has prepared the following explanation of the scheme for air mail service. The program of development of air mail routes provides for the following air-ways: 1. New York to San Francisco with cross routes from Chicago to St. Louis and Kansas City; Chicago to St. Paul and Minneapolis; and Cleveland to Pittsburg. 2. Boston to Key West with cross routes from Philadelphia to Pittsburg; Washington to Cincinnati and Atlanta to New Orleans. 3. Key West via Habana to Panama. 4. Key West via West Indies to South America. Of these routes, the Boston to New York and New York to Washington divisions of the Boston to Key West trunk line are in operation. The New York-Chicago division of the transcontinental route has been laid out, but regular service has been postponed. It is proposed that all these routes be fully established and in operation "within two years."

Answers—From Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, U. S. Nitrate Plant No. 1, Sheffield, Alabama, we have received a communication that answers specifically the questions propounded in a recent issue by Mr. J. G. Walker: "(1) Portuguese colonials may be obtained at face by addressing the Director of the Mint, Lisbon, who will supply any value of any current set in any quantity and who sends a list of stamps that can be supplied upon request. (2) The postmaster at Nukualofa, Tonga, will supply stamps at face, though he handles them carelessly, cramming them into envelopes in any old way. The stamps often come stuck together and the worthy who fills orders pays no attention to requests that the stamps ordered by packed 'block by block, with the enclosed sheets of oiled paper between each piece.' (3) Ariel Houghton, a Canadian who formerly lived in Toronto, is now a resident of Suva, Fiji Islands. He is a collector who has a superb collection of used British colonials and does a great deal of exchanging. He supplies his correspondents with current issues at face, and charges dealers 5% for sending 'made up' covers through the mails for them."

Amended — Commenting on the "storied cover" described by Mr. Steinmetz in our issue of December 21st, 1918, Mr. A. A. Kranhold, Anoka, Minn., says: "The cover shows the U. S. ten cent of 1861 and the four pence vermilion, No., 43, Great Britain, 1865, postmarked C5, 'being the British Colonial Post Office of St. Thomas, Danish West Indies.' The St. Thomas postmark is C51, not C5, as specialists can verify. I have several dozen copies of Great Britain so canceled." Mr. Kranhold is right, but the evidence is that the Steinmetz letter was canceled "C51" in company with the St. Thomas postmark, but that somehow in our or Mr. Steinmetz' description, the "1" was dropped.

Admirable—We want to say a word of commendation for the American Philatelic Service and for those whose business acumen has made the bureau possible. First of all, the material that is offered the newspapers by this philatelic publicity bureau is so readable that it must interest the non-collecting public and unconsciously incline them to stamps and the collecting of them; and secondly, it is so accurate that the reader gains the proper prospective. The writer of the matter is one whose philatelic intelligence is marked and he has inherently the knowledge of what the general reader wants. Observing what this "service" is doing and the activities of other writers on stamp topics in the newspapers, it is apparent that the gentle propaganda of philately is covering the country.

Ambitious—One of subscribers who has been advertising for the one cent, blue, 1851, U. S., in particular, submits the following letter that he has received, that he wishes to share with our readers: "I have some 6 or 7 of the Franklin stamps of the 1851 blue one cent stamps, but I will not send them to you because they are so heavily cancealated you might not want them. However, they have the head of Franklin and the letters United States over head and the words 1 cent at the low edge of the head of Franklin, but the back of the head of Franklin is where the ink is so heavily cancilated. Two of the stamps have the fuiger 1 at the side of the stamp a little ways up on the outside of the ovel. My price is $50.00 each stamp and I have two old stamps of Jackson, one four cents green, $75.00; one 2 cents orange, $100.00. Two 10 cents brown, 1845, Jefferson, $75.00 each. Washington, 3 cents green, 1871, 1872, $75.00 each stamp. State what you want and I will send them to you by mail."

Advanced—The deaths of H. J. Duveen and G. R. Tuttle in New York recently removed one of the greatest collectors and one of the oldest dealers, respectively, of the day. Mr. Duveen collected on a magnificent scale and his rarities have been the theme of many an account, oral and written. By every in- New York City, where for so many years he catered to the wants of collectors, had a personal acquaintance elsewhere among collectors by reason of an occasional trip. We remember him as having attended the conventions in 1900 at Milwaukee, when he was sales superintendent of the American Philatelic Society. Mr. Tuttle was true to the best traditions of philately and his memory will long be respected.

SAW-TOOTH PERFORATIONS.

BY JAS. LEWIS HOWE.

Several letters have evidenced interest in the United States 3 cent 1857 with saw-tooth perforations, of which mention was recently made in your Chronicle of New Issues. As very few similar copies are known (one was sold on small piece of cover in the Worthington auction), it may be worth while to give a fuller description of this copy, which was found by Prof. J. R. Long among a lot of old letters.

The stamp is of Type I with the outer frame line at top and bottom. The saw-tooth perforation (percé en scie) measures exactly 10½ and its depth is about 1 millimeter. At bottom it is very sharp and clean cut, at top and left fairly so, at right rather rough. On the right the perforations touch or cut the outer line of the stamp, while at the left the edge of the next stamp is visible. At bottom the design of the stamp below is cut into. The stamp is from the upper line of the pane and the perforation at top clears the stamp by a full millimeter.

The stamp is placed sidewise at the upper right corner of the envelope and is lightly covered by about one third of the postmark, which is "Richmond Va. June 18 1857". The second figure of the date "8" is indistinct, but is confirmed by entry on the envelope, common among business men of the period, of the date of the letter and of answer. The condition of the stamp and envelope is "perfection".

Whatever may be the origin of the saw-tooth perforation, this copy is particularly interesting as having been used in the course of ordinary (legal) business correspondence, and that at almost the exact date that the regular perforations were first used on stamps of the United States.

IN RE THE 3c VIOLET OF 1918-19.

By Louis Barrett.

In regard to the controversy about the dies for the 3 cents rotary press productions whereby my innocent little mention of a different die for that process has aroused much criticism in various quarters, I think the only way is to review the entire subject matter, leaving judgment as to the merits of the case to those better qualified to pass upon it.

First.—In Mekeel's Weekly, Nov. 2, 1918, on Pge 334, I stated, "Of the numbers missing from above list, 8269, 8270, 8275, 8276, 8281 and 8282 were three cent 170 subject curved plates for the rotary presses, which, of course, it is well known are of a different die anyway, which has never been given a separate die name, as it was distinctive of that process."

(The italicized portion is that to which exception has been taken.)

Second.—In Mekeel's Weekly, Nov. 16, 1918, on Page 351, Mr. Joseph B. Leavy writes, quoting my article of Nov. 2, and italicizing the same clauses,—"The underscoring (words in italics) is my own, made to call your attention to a statement that is a gross error."

"There is no different die for the rotary press three cents plates." Then, after referring to types I and II of the flat plates states that,—"the differences between the three cents coil stamps printed from the flat plates are caused by the very slight stretching of the steel in curving the rotary press plates; the less shrinkage of paper", etc., . . . and further on in same, "The two cents denomination is the only denomination in which the die used for the rotary press curved plate is different from the die used for the ordinary flat plates."

Third.—In Mekeel's Weekly, of Dec. 7, 1918, Page 370, I stated,—"If, however, Mr. Leavy believes that only the two cents rotary press plates are from a different die, I should suggest that he has been misinformed on that point, as he would undoubtedly himself admit were he to give the 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, and 5c values of the rotary press coils a careful examination".

Fourth.—In Mekeel's Weekly of Jan. 4, 1919, Page 8, Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr., states,—"I had read in one of the papers that there were two dies of the 1c value, and before completing the chapter on the rotary coils I wanted to be able to make a positive statement. I can positively state that Mr. Barrett is absolutely wrong when he says that the 1c, 3c, 4c, and 5c rotary coil stamps are from different dies than those used for the flat plates", and further on,—"Of the 2c value only was a special die made". . . . .

Fifth.—In reply to Mr. Ward's criticism, under date of Jan. 9, 1919, I wrote to him, enclosing both unused and used copies of the two dies of the 3c rotary coils, with detailed descriptions of their differences, upholding my original claim that there was a different die for that process which had never been referred to. And also in the letter I said: "On my part, so far as the latter part of the statement is concerned, I must admit that there are in reality two dies of the 3c rotary instead of one, and must also qualify my reply to Mr. Leavy's criticism, by now stating that as far as the 1c, 4c, and 5c values are concerned, a still further examination has convinced me of the existence of but one die each for these values in the rotary process."

(It will be noted that at this stage, the criticism had been extended to all values of the rotary coils, thru my inadvertent reference to them in my reply to Mr. Leavy, whereas the original article had reference to only the 3c value, which had been the bone of original contention.)

Sixth.—In reply to my letter of Jan. 9th, Mr. Ward writes on Jan. 12, 1919, as follows, referring to the enclosures above mentioned,—"There is no question about these being from two separate dies and neither Mr. Leavy nor myself have questioned this fact". (As to the underlined or italicized phrase, I can only refer the reader to the earlier criticisms by these writers as given above, this being the whole point involved.)

Then resuming, he writes,—"We know there are two dies of the 3c rotary print, and if you will read my article in the December Gazette you will see that I describe them." (The reader must bear in mind relative dates; i. e., my original article appeared in the Weekly of Nov. 2, 1918, having been written over a month earlier, in fact was in the publishers' hands Oct. 10th. Up to that time, there had been no reference other than my own, to a different die for the 3c rotary press; to which statements, however, exception were taken and it was not until the December Philatelic Gazette was published, the latter part of the month of December, that Mr. Ward's descriptions appeared.)

Again quoting from his letter,—"I maintain, and you have produced no evidence to refute my statement, or the statement of the Bureau, that the two dies for the rotary are the same as the two dies for the flat plate, and that in the case of the 3c there is no 'different' die as you maintain 'which has never been given a separate name. In other words there have been but two dies for the current 3c stamp and these two dies have been used on both the flat plates and the curved rotary plate." (As to the underlined (italicized) phrase above, I had made no such claim, neither had Mr. Ward or anyone else before advanced one to that effect.) The last sentence above of Mr. Ward's, however, covers the ground completely, and is an admission that any original statement was correct rather than a denial. In fact, the intent of my original statement seems to have been lost sight of by my critics,—in a nutshell the situation is as follows,—

Nov. 2, 1918.—I referred to the existence of a new 3c rotary press die, of which but one die had been previously known.

Nov. 16, 1918.—Mr. Leavy says that this statement is a "gross error".

Dec. 7, 1918.—I attempted to show that Mr. Leavy had been misinformed.

Jan. 4, 1919.—Mr. Ward joins with Mr. Leavy in denying the existence of a different die for the 3c rotary coils.

Jan. 9, 1919.—Replying to Mr. Ward, I submitted samples of the two dies to back up my original claim of Nov. 2, 1918.

Jan. 12, 1919.—Mr. Ward writes, admitting my claim, and stating that neither Mr. Leavy nor himself had ever denied their existence!

Query: Now who was wrong?

But, altho the tendency of this criticism has been of the Bolchevist variety, a destructive rather than a constructive type; we have at least learned something definite from the publicity given the subject. We know first, that so far as the Rotary Coils are concerned, but one die each corresponding to those for the flat plates, has been made for the 1c, 4c and 5c values; secondly, that for the 2c value, there are two dies, the first like the corresponding flat plate die, and the second, a re-engraved die which has never been used for anything but rotary coils; and thirdly, that there are also two dies for the 3c value, corresponding to the well known Types I and II for flat plates of this value.

HARTFORD'S "COLLECTORS' CLUB."

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Hartford (Ct.) Collectors' Club: President, W. L. Phillips; Vice President, R. S. Williams; Secretary, Olin H. Clark; Treasurer, Eugene D. Field; Auction Manager, W. C. Phillips; Librarian, Joseph Wachstteter. Dr. John D. Newton presided and welcomed as one of the guests of the evening, J. E. Handshaw of New York. Mr. Handshaw had some very nice things in the stamp line to show, and was enjoyably reminiscent in a brief talk The attendance was the largest of the season. An invitation from the New Haven Philatelic Society to visit them on the evening of February 11, was read and accepted.

of U. S. postage and revenues are made up from stamps that I buy. I pay real money for them. If a good sport sends me a stamp worth $100 I do not offer him ten cents for it, nor a bunch of Central American wall paper worth 50c per square yard. I am satisfied with a fair profit margin. CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.
The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—We are informed by Mr. A. E. Owen as well as by a Washington correspondent that the new 13c stamp was placed on sale in the latter city on January 11th. It is in a shade of what might be called apple green, has a portrait of Benjamin Franklin similar to the other higher denominations of the current series, is upon unwatermarked paper and is perforated 11. The stamp is printed in sheets of four hundred subjects which are cut into post office sheets of one hundred.

1919 Unwatermarked, Perforated 11,
13c apple green.

This stamp was issued for the purpose of prepaying postage and registration on domestic mail but with the domestic rate returning to 2c on July 1st, it is quite likely that this value will meet the same fate as its predecessors. At the present time, however, parcel post mail creates a demand that may make it advisable to retain this stamp.

Mr. W. A. Beach sends us a block of the 50c perforated 11 on unwatermarked paper in a very odd pinkish violet which is different from any that we have seen heretofore although quite a number of used copies have passed through our hands. We are always glad to have submitted any unusual shades.

One of our correspondents wrote us several weeks back stating that he had located a copy of the 90c, issue of 1869 on the entire cover and this is certainly worthy of mention for if the cover turns out to be the genuine article it is the only copy so known. It has been submitted to a Nassau Street dealer for inspection and I understand that an offer running into three figures has been made. The envelope is addressed to a banker in France, and from what the finder tells us as to its history there seems to be no reason to doubt its authenticity. Your editor recently had the privilege of inspecting a collection of covers, one with three 24c and some odd values, one with a couple of the 30c and quite a few with several of the lower denominations of the '69 issue on each envelope so it seems most unusual that this 90c on cover has not been found before. All of the older 90c values with the exception of the 1860 imperforate are known on cover, so why is the 1869 so evasive?

Rev. John G. Wildenberg sends us an interesting clipping from the Morris Tribune published at Morris, Minn., a town of 2,000 population wherein we are advised that the post office of that city has on hand a supply of the new six cents aeroplane stamps. It states that if these stamps are used on mail going east that the letters will be carried from Chicago to New York via aeroplane at a saving of about twelve hours in time. The post office is without doubt doing all it can to popularize the air mail even among the smaller cities.

We wish to thank Messrs. Harmon Wendall, F. H. Webster, Benj. Cadbury and others for early information in regards to our issues.

CANAL ZONE.—Mr. Victor R. Wailly has shown us a copy of the current 2 cent stamp with the surcharge CANAL ZONE in slightly different type. He advises that this appears on the stamps in booklet form but has not seen it yet in the sheets.

CHILE.—Two high values have been locally printed on unwatermarked paper:—1 peso green and black and 2 pesos red and black.—Metropolitan Philatelist.

DENMARK.—Mr. W. T. Wilson shows a copy of the new permanent type of the 27 ore. It is Scott's type A16 and the stamp is printed in two colors. The head in the middle being in black with the border in red. At the same time copies of the 27 on 680 and 27 on 10kr are sent for inspection. The type is the same as the previous provisionals.

DOMINICA.—According to the Colonial Journal, two additional "War Tax" stamps are to be used in the island. The overprint in red:—1½ pence orange and 3 pence violet on yellow.—Metropolitan Philatelist.

EGYPT.—Two of the current stamps have been overprinted with new values:—2 piastres on 3m orange and 5 piastres on 4m red.—Metropolitan Philatelist.

FALKLAND ISLANDS.—Mr. Frank P. Brown has shown us the War Stamps of this colony chronicled last week.

FINLAND.—Mr. Eugene Klein has shown us additional values to those reported in our issue No. 1443. They are as follows:—Helsingfors issue, 5p, 10p, 25p, 40p, 50p, 1m, 5m, 10m; Wasa issue, 1m. The colors are as described in Scott's catalog.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—Mr. M. P. Hynes sends us an original cover with the following printing, POSTAGE PAID—G. P. O.—ST. JOHN'S NEWF'L'D. in three lines. Mr. Hynes advises that on December 4th the sale of 1, 2, and 3 cent stamps was stopped as the supply of these denominations was very low and it was feared that the new issue would not arrive in time. Letters and the necessary cash for postage were taken at the window and the inscription as above applied by a rubber stamp. The arrival of the Caribou series on the 31st inst. relieved the situation.

SWEDEN.—Mr. W. T. Wilson has shown us the following provisionals of this country recently issued:—27 on 55 pale blue, 27 on 65 light olive green, and 27 on 80 grey. The surcharge is of the same style as those of 1918. Scott's No. 98 and 99. Mr. Wilson also includes copies of the new 7 and 12 ore Official stamps just out. The color of the former is grey and the latter red. The type is Scott's O3.

A NEW ZEALAND STAMP FIRM.

In another column Messrs. Wilcox, Smith & Co. of New Zealand advertise their offers. This firm has now been going strong for over thirty years, and has a very fine stock of Australians and New Zealands. We welcome dealers so far afield to our columns, and should like to see dealers from all our possessions and allied and neutral countries represented in our advertisement columns.

QUITE LATELY.

(Just to show that the day of the live advertisement has not passed out of existence we submit for your perusal an announcement by A. W. Dunning. We are not charging him anything for the publicity it receives and only hope that our contribution to his publicity campaign will be productive of good results. —W. O. W.)

I have become interested in U. S. PRECANCELS. Having more money than brains—so some folks say who have neither—I am open to buy (yes, BUY) job lots of these stamps, but only at NOMINAL PRICES. By "job lots" I mean 7 stamps to 35,000,000, and by "nominal" prices I mean something like what you'd pay for frozen spuds—if your life depended on mashed potatoes Send YOUR lot at once, stating emolument you will accept, and enclosing return postage (in case your price is too low for me). I LIKE precancelled parcel post stamps—as they're bigger and worth less—but I take all kinds—even Civil War proprietaries. If I don't hear from you, I shall know that you are reeking with riches, mired in money, bloated with bullion, or wallowing in wealth—even more than I be—or else that you ain't got nothing tho you don't want!! My address—when I'm at home—is:

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—The annual meeting of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society will take place Tuesday, February 18, at Turks Head Club, Turks Head Bldg., Providence. A business meeting at 6 P. M., supper at 6.30 and social meeting with exhibition of two specialized collections of 1847 U. S. is on the program.

—The following parties do not answer letters sent by the Aylmer Stamp Co.:—J. H. Pairut, Ormstown, Kans.; Walter Schardt, Wilkinsburg, Pa.; J. W. Hagen, Racine, Wis., and M. Brody, 226 Lafayette St., N. Y. City. Material for Mr. Dworak.

—Percy McG. Mann will occasionally contribute to the WEEKLY articles dealing with U. S. stamps and their varieties. Mr. Mann is so good a student of these stamps that our readers will welcome a series of articles from his pen.

—The Marks Stamp Co. has begun the publication of a Monthly Circular and No. 1 is before us. A large number of stamps are offered in compact space and this house organ will no doubt be a valuable means of communication between the firm and its clients.

—We have received from Wm. T. Kimball a drawing showing a military cancellation that has not been chronicled. It bears the circular inscription "U. S. Military Express Service" and in the center in two lines is "C. P. O. 11 Nov. 1918". C. P. O. may no doubt be translated into Central Post Office. Mr. Kimball reports the cancellation both in purple and red. We have received from the same party copy of a P. O. Department order dealing with air mail postmarks. Where postmasters in the past have used ordinary rubber hand stamps and various colored inks, this practise is ordered discontinued and all airmail will be postmarked and stamped by the use of cancelling machines or the regular hand postmarking stamps. Only black ink can be used.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from J. C. Jay.

—S. H. Mason of Spokane, Wash., has had unsatisfactory experiences with the Payn Stamp Co. of Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Mason reported this firm to the U. S. Postal Inspector at San Francisco and finally received a mess of trash in the form of mixed stamps worth probably 10% of what they charged him for them.

—The Marks Stamp Co. wants the address of Keith Kelsey, formerly 450 Second Av., San Francisco, Cal. He pays no attention to letters. Mr. Dworak please take notice.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

PHANTOMS AND OTHERS.

BY PERCY MCGRAW MANN.

Most collectors of U. S. current stamps are now quite familiar with the so-called "phantom" plate numbers. As far as most collectors go the "phantoms" will not interest them because it is only the plate numbers that are faintly duplicated along the "top" and "bottom" margins of the sheet and the stamps are not duplicated at all. The specialist will, however, obtain a block or strip showing this printing oddity and cherish it among his treasures which show how the U. S. produced stamps under difficulties unforeseen a few years ago. The main difficulty being to cope with the demand made by the public for postage stamps 30,000,000 per diem being an estimate of the current production.

The first thing the collector asks, when any oddity or other unusual stamp item occurs, is: "How did it happen?" Mr. Ward accounted for the "phantoms", based, probably, upon information from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, by stating they happened in the same way as the "double prints", that is, the roller shifted during a stop press.

I was not convinced by this explanation and endeavored to figure the matter out for myself and have come to the following conclusion: A wheel "guide" guides the sheet as it comes out from under the "rubber" roller and revolving, this wheel takes up the ink from the plate numbers or (and) arrow and as it guides the next sheet, an imprint is made by it, and continuous revolutions of the wheel imprint a continuous string of numbers (each number separated by a distance equal to the circumference of the wheel).

It was my recent good fortune to secure a few 1c current issue U. S. stamps from plate No. 8399 showing the impression double. Mr. Ward mentioned these stamps in the Chronicle and stated they were "similar" to some 2c stamps which he had. The word quoted is satisfactory enough for most purposes, as they are "similar" and that is all. These double impression 1c stamps were not produced in the manner stated by Mr. Ward. They are, of course, printed from flat steel plates. The sheet probably did shift, but, nevertheless, the double impression was caused by two distinct pressures on the plate. Mr. Ward also stated that they were caused in part by a greatly over inked plate. I cannot agree to this remark, because Mr. Ward did not also state that some of these stamps I had were from different sheets and that the latter were not "over inked". Part of one sheet that was overinked showed the double print stronger for the very reason that the plate was overinked, but an entire sheet and parts of three other sheets did not display any overinking. It is but natural to assume that an overinked plate printing double would show two heavier impressions than two impressions from a plate regularly inked.

The two impressions are clear in delineation, but being hardly separated by more than the distance of the width of the outer frame line of any one stamp, the whole effect is one of "blurring"—or a shifting of the plate from one position to another. I do not think the paper slipped in the press, because I had one entire sheet and parts of four other sheets (160 stamps in all) all from the same position of the same plate, No. 8399, the lower right corner pane—or from the extreme outer corner of the plate as it passes around the press. If it were a case of the paper slipping, it would not be only the paper on the one plate, the same thing would without doubt occur as each of the other three plates were printed, four plates being in press at one time, as is well known. But the other three plates (printed sheets) from the same lot did not disclose any doubles when examined.

At first I was inclined to believe that this plate "jumped" at a particular time, either from some defect or when first starting up the press. In a measure I still believe the same. The double impressions showed strongly or strongest toward the lower right corner of the sheet. It is probable the pressure roller, which presses the paper against the plate, performed its function in a regular manner, but in some way caused the corner of the sheet, after it had one impression to shift and take another impression before the pressure of the roller was released, and that this was caused by some slight defect in the plate resting on its base, or in the moving press when this particular plate came around to position for printing, effecting the "jump" referred to above. However, it was not caused by pulling, because pulling would smear the ink and not give two distinct impressions.

BULGARIA DURING THE WAR.

Bulgaria as a producer of War stamps has ranked fourth among the Central Powers, and for many months there was confusion regarding many of these labels. The existence of reported sets was seriously questioned for a time by many philatelic authorities here.

In 1911 Bulgaria issued a series bearing portraits of Ferdinand and views of some of the country's noted places. The plates were engraved in London and the printing was done in Rome. After Bulgaria entered the war these plates were supposed still to be in Italy. When Bulgaria's supplies of the Rome-printed stamps became exhausted, it became Am breaking up my collection of U. S. It is really an accumulation of duplicates. For example, there are 25 '47s, 10 being on cover, about 4000 3c '51s, 1000 being on cover. All other interesting stamps show a wide range of shades, shifts, recuts, odd grills, cancellations, and the little oddities that go to make up an unusual layout. While '47 to '69 are best represented, there are Confed. Locals, Baton Rouge, Lynchburg, etc., U. S. Depts., Revs., Puerto Principes, Philippine $ values, etc., Canal Zones, etc., etc. Do not ask to see the collection as it is in several volumes. Want lists will receive prompt attention. COMMUNICATIONS.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

To the Editor:

Referring to the letter of Mr. Coning in No. 1460 it might be said, that if German stamps give offense to a collector, he is certainly at liberty to sell or destroy them. However, to judge from the advance in price of old German stamps according to the last edition of the Catalogue, it is doubtful, whether a large number of collectors have an animosity against German stamps. Being of German birth—though now a good American citizen—I may not be considered as competent to discuss the sentimental side of the question.

But suppose, a greater number of collectors could be induced to eliminate German stamps from their collections, what would be the effect? A large number of German stamps would come into the market and could be sold only at a price which would in most cases mean a loss to the seller. The collector of German stamps probably would welcome such a bear market, as it would enable him to obtain some of the rarer specimens which are almost out of his reach at the present quotations. With Germany thoroughly democratized and having atoned for her sins, the bitter feeling towards her will disappear, and the stamps would regain in favor, which would enable the former buyers to sell their stamps with a profit. In other words, the 100% American would lose money and the pro-German would reap the benefit.

Yours very truly,
RUDOLF STOESS.

DENVER, COLO.

To The Editor:

It is rather surprising that no one has yet ventured an opposite opinion in regard to the proposed boycotting of the stamps of Germany and her allies. Refraining from the purchase of current unused stamps of these countries during the war was one thing; refusing to handle their postal emissions after war ceases is something else. The former may be defined as "furnishing aid and comfort to the enemy," the latter certainly cannot. The vigilance of the Government prevented, however, any real danger of the former becoming a serious matter, and there is no necessity of making a moral issue out of the latter and dealers and collectors banding themselves together to boycott all current and future issues of these countries. The idea is ridiculous, and I feel I reflect the true feeling of at least half the philatelic public when I say it. The idea is set up as reflecting a phase of true Americanism, and I presume it is for fear of appearing in a bad light that no one has thought to contravert it, but the philatelic public is an intelligent one, and I am sure will concede the justice of my contention. I sympathize in no way with the character and aims of the later German Empire, nor with the atrocities committed by her and her allies; my Americanism has never been questioned, and personally I collect only the stamps of the United States and Canada; but I speak for those who may wish to collect the stamps past, present or future of these enemy countries without their loyalty to American principles being assailed.

Did any one suggest because of the many atrocities committed in Cuba previous to 1898 which were of enough movement to bring our Country to Cuba's aid that the postage stamps of Spain be boycotted; was it ever suggested that the stamps of Belgium be tabooed because of the atrocities in the Congo; were we ever forbidden to handle the postage stamps of the Confederate States of America because of the moral issue involved in her defense of slavery; did anyone argue that the stamps of Russia were moral poison because of her suppression of the liberties of the Poles and Finns and massacre of the Jews? I say not, yet where as a principle does the case of Germany, Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey differ?

As I see it, the only moral issue involved is that establishing the stamps themselves as legitimate issues called into use by a "de facto" government and supplying real postal requirements of their people, whether such government be black or white, heathen or Christian, barbaric or humane. Only on this basis can a representative collection of the postage stamps of the world be built up.

The idea of dealers ignoring the stamps of certain countries to the extent of omitting them from their catalogues for such reasons is ridiculous. They will not do it, nor should they be expected to.

The world is too big; philately is too big to have any such restrictions placed upon it. The choice of any individual to collect or to refrain from collecting the stamps of any country or any group of countries cannot be questioned, and the attempt of any one to encroach on this liberty on alleged patriotic or moral grounds I, for one, would consider bordering on tyranny.

Does anyone presume that there will not be a new Germany, a Germany chastened by fire and blood? Can we not hope for a regenerated Russia after this awful scourge is finally past? What about peace and good will on Earth and a world regenerated?

Fraternally,
FRANK L. APPLEGATE.

To the Editor:

Read what the "Intensifier" who writes for the Amateur Photographer Weekly has to say of our hobby in this week's issue:

"I think of a friend of mine who for the better part of a year has been overseas as first lieutenant in one of the ammunition trains, a level-headed young man now in his thirties, and I recall the surprise and amusement with which I learned a couple of years ago that he was violently addicted to the collection of postage stamps! Postage stamps forsooth! Now isn't that a nerve-racking, muscle-binding occupation for a great big healthy man. And yet I also know of a judge, quite a prominent man in his part of the country, who was similarly afflicted. I know about it because I read in his obituary that he was president or something of the Philatelic Association of America (I think that is the name), and had been a frequent attendant at its annual conventions.

Put that up to your wife when she complains about your photographic madness. Just show her how much worse it might easily be with you. Ask her how she would like to have it said of you after you decease that you were one of the leading philatelists of the country."

How's that for rubbing it in, eh! He evidently never had the pleasure to own a stamp collection.

Yours very truly,
JOHN JONES.

BLUE ISLAND, ILL.

necessary for the postal authorities to issue franking labels locally. Apparently it then transpired that the plates thought to be in Italy had been transferred to Sofia, as the new set which Bulgaria put forth in 1915 and 1916 is characterized as "re-engraved" in Scott's 1919 Catalogue. These labels, six in number, vary in colours as compared with the 1911 series, and there are several slight changes in the designs of two of them. They must be classed among the stamps of the world war, as but for the war they would not have been issued in the re-engraved condition. The chronicle of them is as follows:

5s green and violet-brown.
10s brown-red and brownish black.
15s olive-green.
25s indigo and black.
30s olive-green and red-brown.

In 1916 and 1917 Bulgaria put forth labels significant of the occupation of Rumanian territory, and as the Bulgarian troops have now withdrawn from Rumania, these stamps are no longer current and collectors are seeking them eagerly. Upon the 1, 5, 10 and 25s of the re-engraved series of 1915-1916 the Bulgarians placed an overprint, or surcharge, reading, in Bulgarian, "Correo Bulgaro en Rumania, 1916-1917," the words reading upward along the left border and the dates reading upward along the right border. The translation is: "Bulgarian Posts in Rumania."

In 1917 Bulgaria put forth a series in new designs, bearing portraits of King Ferdinand in military undress uniform and other representations of war. At least three of these values have appeared—5, 30 and 50s—and probably others.

Thus the known War stamps of Bulgaria number thirteen, with others possibly issued. With the abdication and flight of King Ferdinand, the 1917 set probably will be replaced soon by stamps of a more peaceful character, and showing a portrait of the new monarch, King Boris III. These also will be placed in War stamp collections, as it was because of the war that Ferdinand left his throne.— Stamp Collecting.

ALBANIA.
ITS HISTORY AS PORTRAYED BY ITS STAMPS.

HORACE E. JONES.

In 1912 the nations of Greece, Montenegro and Bulgaria, in alliance, declared war on Turkey. The cause was their desire to reclaim the lands peopled by their compatriots from the Turks' misrule. The war was quite successful, and, in 1913, the Treaty of London restored peace after a fashion. By this treaty, which was inspired by the great European powers, each of the victors was disappointed; Serbia failed to gain access to the sea; Greece failed to obtain parts of Macedonia she desired, these going to Serbia, and Bulgaria; Montenegro failed to get Skutari, Albania; and Bulgaria was so disappointed that she almost spoiled the whole affair by making war on her allies, only being properly defeated by the aid of Roumania. The last, but not the least important part of the Treaty of London created the new nation, Albania, which included Epirus, a Greek objective.

The National Geographic Magazine tells us that the Albanians are among the oldest races of southeastern Europe, if not the oldest, being in their present mountains at the dawn of European history. They are sturdy mountaineers and a real nation, so that their re-creation as an autonomous nation was right ethnologically.

The Albanians adopted, in 1913, their old flag, the double-headed black eagle on the red field and it soon flew over all the country from Skutari on the north, almost to Janina on the south. The powers assigned them as king, one Prince William, of Wied, and the stage was set for the inevitable stamp issues.

The first stamps, issued in June 1913, were surcharges consisting of the black eagle handstamped on Turkish stamps. These were soon followed by handstamping plain paper with one of two handstamps—each of which bore the inscription "Postat e Qeverries se Perkohëshme te Shqiponies", meaning, "Postage of the Government of the newborn Nation of Albania". Later, in the fall of 1913, came the regular issue which bore the head of Geo. Kastriotis—surnamed "Skanderbeg" by the Turks—who lived from 1404 to 1467 and was king of the Albanians at that time. The inscription "Sqipenia é Lire" means "Free Albania".

These stamps, both without and with the later surcharged change of value, continued in use by the Albanian government till it ceased to exist because of the present war.

For a day, so it is claimed, in 1914, the post office of Korytza being out of stamps, used some large stamps inscribed, "Commision de controie provisoire Korca." These were prepared by means of a handstamp in various values and various errors resulted, all to the glory of some of the natives of the place.

In the fall of 1914, Greek agitators succeeded in causing trouble in southern Albania, which is called in Greek, "Northern Epirus". This part of Albania is peopled for the most part by Albanians but it also has many Greeks living within its borders. The excuse for wishing to be annexed to Greece, was that the Greek government was firmly established and orderly, while the new Albanian government, was, to say the least, chaotic. Of course the government of Greece looked with favor upon the aspirations of Epirus but, being bound by the Treaty of London, she could not start anything. So the Epirotes took matters in their own hands and seceded from Albania, calling themselves "Autonomous Epirus". The northern boundary of Epirus is from a point on the coast about half way from Valona on the north to the Greek border on the south, thence northeast towards Lake Malik, including the cities, Tepelini, Klisura, Radovitchka, Korytza, and Argyrocastron.

The first stamps issued were crude handstamped affairs with the skull and cross bones prominently displayed. They are inscribed "Autonomous Greek Epirus—Liberty or Death—Do good for your native land". They were soon followed by a regular issue showing an infantry-man defending his home. This issue was used concurrently with separate issues which soon appeared for Argyrocastron, Korytza and other places. Those of Korytza and Argyrocastron show the Albanian eagle on a background of the field of the Greek flag and are quite common used, as they were cancelled to order in large numbers. In 1915 the Greek authorities established their posts thruout and issued stamps overprinted "B.HΩEIPOΣ".

Perhaps the most interesting issues, from the standpoint of Albanian history are those of the present war. The Salonica expedition of the Allies and the landing of the Italians on the Adriatic coast brought new changes to southern Albania.

The Italians succeeded in winning from the Huns all that part of Albania west of the river Osum and the French the remainder. The Italians instituted modern methods of government, building good roads and opening up schools, but issued no special stamps. On the letters from the Italian area of occupation the only thing making these stamps Albanian is the post-mark, consisting of a circle inscribed "R.R.Poste Italiane" and the name of the town. These stamps on cover rank in desirability and collectibility with the American stamps used in Vera Cruz in 1914.

The French area of occupation centered about Korytza as the Italian centered about Valona and Durazzo. Here, true to Napoleonic customs, the French tried their ability at making a republic, "The Republic of Korce", as the Albanians rendered it. It seems to have been short lived as were the Napoleonic ventures, and although only instituted in 1917, by the early spring of 1918 it had vanished, according to the National Geographic. It continues: "The Republic seems to have died a natural death. It probably had no support from the people and was merely a forced attempt of the foreigner, upon whom the Albanians always look askance . . . At all events, Korytza and the surrounding country today remain under French control".

These facts about the Republic of Korce are very well illustrated in original covers from there. There were three issues of type set stamps. The first were inscribed "Shqiperie Korca Vetqeveritare" meaning "Independent Korca, Albania". The next was inscribed "REPUBLICA KORCE SHQIPETARE" meaning "Republic of Korce, Albania", and the last was inscribed "Qarku Postes I Korces", modestly proclaiming the "Local district post of Korce". These are all cancelled with a dauber reading "KORYTZA, ALBANIE". I have covers bearing all three of the issues, postmarked as late as March and April, 1918, and which bore letters from Korytza to people living in Philadelphia. The envelopes are sealed by censor labels reading "Poste Albanaise-Censure" and over the flap of the envelope is struck a handstamp which is circular and inscribed around its border "Service de Surete-Poste de Korytza" and within "Armee d'Oriente-Censure Postal". This shows the French origin of the government most faithfully. These type set stamps have now been superseded by regular French stamps of the current issue. They are cancelled by a dauber inscribed "Tresor et Postes" and the date. On the back of the covers are the same censor labels and same dauber as before. These French stamps are analogous as occupation stamps to those of Italy, mentioned above, but as the French area is smaller than the Italian, the French covers should be the rarer.

ADDENDA.

As to Hun occupation stamps used in Albania, nothing is known beyond the mere fact that some were so used.

Italy, prior to the Balkan wars, had post offices in Albania under the Turkish Capitulations and issued separate stamps for Albania as a whole, for Durrazzo and for Skutari and for Valona. These are issues of Italy and not of Albania in the strict sense of the term.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We have two items of news from Mr. Roessler. An airplane service was in operation Jan. 30 between Miami, Fla., and Nassau, Bahamas. It is believed that letters were carried. His other item states that the club controlling the sale of the Canada airplane stamps jumped the price 10c on Jan. 1.

—We cannot take the space to mention the various catalogs which come to this office, but occasionally one demands attention. This is the case with the coin catalog issued by B. Max Mehl advertising the sale of the Crichton collection of United States, foreign, ancient Greek and Roman coins and medals. Not only is the book exceedingly well printed and illustrated, but the description of the various lots (totalling 1519) is a liberal education in coin information. We feel compelled to say that any collector either of stamps or coins will be fortunate in having this book for reference purposes.

—A letter just at hand from Base Hospital No. 6 A. E. F. France carries with it an interesting bit of news which we reproduce in full:—"Please change my mailing address from Major Warren L. Babcock, U. S. Base Hospital No. 6, A. E. F., France, to Col. Warren L. Babcock, 81 Willis St., Detroit, Mich." The many friends of Col. Babcock will learn with interest of his safe arrival at his home in Detroit.

—W. C. Henry, who has been managing the F. E. Harwood Stamp Co. of Los Angeles, Cal., has bought out the business of the firm and in the future it will be carried on under Mr. Henry's name.

—A wonderful variety of oddities is appearing in connection with the stamps of the current issue. This is particularly true as regards freak perforations, creased paper, shades, etc. E. W. Bridge favors us with some specimens showing the vagaries of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

—We are informed by S. L. Israel of Havana, Cuba, that the current 2c Cuba (Scott's 266) is appearing in the color of the 8c (No. 269). It is a chemical changeling and this warning should be heeded.

—F. G. Floyd, 325 Park St., West Roxbury, Mass., would like to get a copy of the WEEKLY Whole Number 812.

—We introduce this week in Adlets the Walters Stamp Co. of Madison, N. J., with a specialty of precancels. The interest taken in these stamps warrants us in believing that the firm will get a good patronage. The manager writes "While the Stamp Herald is supposedly —"While in New York City last week I chanced to see some stamps on display in a dealer's window. The old collecting fever of twenty years ago came back, so I went in and bought some stamps and an album. I asked the dealer to recommend a good Philatelic Journal and he gave me a copy of your paper. I recognized it as an old friend of mine of many years ago. To the best of my recollection it was then published in St. Louis. At that time the Philatelic Sons of America was one of the leading Societies, with Mr. Kissinger and Mr. Wing officers."—CHAS. Vice-President Van Dyke MacBride, well known in philatelic circles, will be present, with his very interesting description and exhibition of his treasures. J. Waldo Sampson, the author of the philatelic hand book "U. S. Postage Rates" will show part of his collection of used U. S. Blocks of Four. Louis Mier, one of our members and president of the Rutherford Stamp Club, will bring three volumes of his "Great Britain and Colonies Collection." —A. E. LANDVATTER.

E P. SEEBOHM SAYS:—

"I thank you for sending me the literature and giving me the agency. I had just opened the package when two men came in and bought the whole lot except three. Will you kindly send me books as per enclosed order. I have used your invoice as an order blank as you will see, and have ordered a few of all the books except three which I have scratched. By the way, the literature field is not even scratched here and I hope to be able to sell a good many books."

The above quotation from a letter just at hand from Edwin P. Seebohm of San Francisco, shows what can be done by any dealer who wishes to introduce our publications. They are all admirably fitted for the use of the collector and that dealer is farsighted who realizes the value of making the stamp collector a lover of philatelic literature.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

TWO LETTERS.

By PERCY MCGRAW MANN.

Not so many moons ago a query as to "supplementary mails" appeared in the WEEKLY. While the query was answered, the answer did not seem to impress into one's memory deeply enough and clear matters. I feel, therefore, that the following letter from Joseph Stewart, Second Assistant Postmaster General, dated January 14, 1911, will be of interest.

"Sir: In reply to your letter of the 28th ultimo, addressed to the Third Assistant Postmaster General, enclosing a newspaper clipping relative to the mailing at the pier in New York of the Cunard Line of letters at an extra rate of postage for despatch by the Steamer 'Mauretania' which sailed on the 17th of December I have to inform you that the letters referred to were included in what are called supplementary mails, that is, mails composed of articles posted after the time of closing the mails at the post office. Such letters are subject to a postage charge of double the usual rate and are prepaid by postage stamps affixed in the usual manner."

At some time or other a few South American countries issued "Too Late" stamps for the very purpose referred to in the letter above. The prepayment of the charge for supplementary posting.

I have two reasons for quoting the following letter, from James L. Wilmeth, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, dated December 13, 1918.

Firstly: Mr. Ward misquoted the letter in a recent number of the WEEKLY—unknowingly, most likely, and without any harmful effects.

Secondly: Because the numbers G214, 124, 214, etc., are not "scratched" on the plates of the 3c offset printed stamps as is generally thought and as described in the Jan. 1st edition of The American Philatelist in a special article on these stamps. I had the pleasure of informing one of the compilers of the mentioned article, Mr. Owen, of the error of the statement.

Mr. Wilmeth's letter is as follows:

"Sir: Referring to your letter of the 15th ultimo in which you request to be advised whether the white parts of the design of the 3c stamp enclosed by you are in recess on the zinc plates, or whether the parts that receive the color are in recess on these plates.

In reply I beg to state that the 3c ordinary postage stamp forwarded to me by you was printed by the offset process, and the plate was produced photographically.

Practically speaking, both the parts of the plates corresponding to the white and color are on the same plane, that is, neither are recessed, but to be scientifically correct, that part that prints the color is a greasy film that is superimposed upon a layer of hardened albumen. Both the albumen and grease film are not measurable with instruments ordinarily in use, and are undoubtedly less than one hundred thousandths of an inch."

The transfer of the color design of the stamps to the rubber offset roller being made from greasy film superimposed upon a layer of hardened albumen, the numbers G214, etc., are also transferred or printed in the same manner and a number "scratched" on the zinc plate by the printer (a scratch would make a recess in the plate) would not take color and, therefore, would not print. The numbers G214, etc., are placed on the plates in the same manner as the stamp designs and are grease film superimposed on a layer of hardened albumen and are, therefore, placed there by the plate maker.

ON THE BLACK LIST.

We have an addition to our list of undesirables and all advertisers will please give ear to this notice. There are numerous stamps in Scott's catalog that have been reprinted and we want it distinctly understood in the future that these reprints cannot be offered on a basis of the catalog valuations which are for the originals. This is particularly true of certain South and Central American countries. We earnestly urge all our advertisers to comply with this rule.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Regular—Mr. Burt B. Hyde, Afton, New York, addresses us: "In your editorial of January 11th, 1919, Mr. Ragatz speaks of the revenue stamps being missing from the package to Siberia. My experience is as follows. My son left December 11, 1917, and I sent him about every week from that time on, a package of six or seven pounds, paying the parcel post rate and the revenue charge, until into January, 1918, when the postmaster informed me that packages to the A. E. F. did not have to pay any revenue; after that, I did not put on revenues. Later, the sending of packages to the A. E. F. was practically prohibited." Mr. Hyde's son is now at the U. S. General Hospital No. 3, Rahway, N. J., from the effects of a high explosive shell that burst about 15 feet from him, eight miles north of Verdun, last October. A fragment broke the bone of his right arm above the elbow but he has about recovered the use of his arm.

Range—From Mr. B. F. Enelow, Chicago, we have received a one cent blue on buff, U. S., 1857-61 stamped envelope with the printed inscription in two lines. "To any one who can give information about the Newcomb family." Below, room was left for the post office address. Evidently, some genealogist was pursuing his search for family data at considerable postage expense; and we trust that his enterprise was duly rewarded.

Reasonable—Several covers have been received from Mr. W. J. Stanton, Coronado, California, that merit an observation or two. Two folded notices telling of the impending maturity of notes given by the addressees bear the Chicago postmark and the additional "paid" impression, one in black and one in red, respectively. Further, each cover is stamped at the left in postmark form, "Geo. Smith & Co.—Paid—Chicago." There is no date of year to be found but the indications are that the sheets and markings are of the 1850 period, approximately. It is almost certain, that the banker's "paid" marking was applied in the office of the institution, merely to record the fact that the postage was paid and was wholly independent of the post office marks. Geo. Smith, it may be added, became one of the most famous financiers of the times, in Chicago.

Retrospect — Writes Mr. Bernard Prieth, Newark, New Jersey: "Your editorials about the late Mr. Scott remind me of an incident that may interest your readers. About four years ago I called on him at his store in John Street, New York, to look over his stock of Two Sicilies. While I was looking at them, he said to me, 'It was not so long ago, Mr. Prieth, that I was selling these stamps for twenty-five cents a set. I had large numbers of sheets of each denomination.' When asked how long ago that might have been, he said that it was in the early eighties. What a harvest one might have reaped by buying a sheet or two of each variety, at these prices. They were common then and scarce today. Thus, likewise, many a stamp which can be had for next to nothing at the present time will command a large price some time within the next twenty-five years. This it is that makes philately interesting."

Received—From a friend on duty abroad we have received a letter from which we take a few sentences: "The new catalogue finally reached me and I am looking it over. Such advances as I have noticed in the early unused of the countries in which I am interested certainly are justified. Here in Brussells, I miss J. B. Moens, the best of them all, with whom I got well acquainted through having made translations for his Timbre-Poste from the American stamp papers of the times. You will remember of my having told you of my explanation of the significance of an account by Col. J. M. T. Partello of a visit to Moens' atelier that the Colonel contributed to a paper in the U. S. and the spirit of which M. Moens did not catch. This was around 1885. What I wanted to say was that it was due to the faith and enterprise of Mr. Moens that quantities of the unused of the early issues of the world were available in later years. His importations when philately was a puny thing were in such volume that they changed somewhat the conditions of collecting. Through his acumen, collectors in later years were able to obtain mint copies of the first stamps, speaking broadly, but I surmise that after Mr. Moens' death a good many years ago, his holdings were scattered and I think that his supply of the stamps under discussion has been practically absorbed; and the result must be a strengthening of the price of these stamps which in fact we are fortunate in having in any considerable number."

Revived—Some time ago we printed a portion of a letter that a reader had sent us that came to him from a friend in Tibet. At the time we expressed some surprise that he said nothing about the envelope that contained the narrative. It developed that our correspondent had supposed that he had sent the cover with the letter, but we know that it was not in his letter to us. Even so, he cannot find the envelope which to all intents and purposes seems to be lost, but which he remembers as having been without stamps but with a number of "quaint marks". One reason for these prefatory remarks is to ask readers not to send us for inspection any items to which they attach a monetary value without taking precaution to secure their safe handling. Our friend speaks: "The Tibetan mystery is still unsolved and I have seen no letter direct from the Roof of the World since. The envelope may still turn up. From our missionary paper I learn that a treaty between the Chinese and Tibetans is likely to be ratified and as it is, one or more medical officers have been allowed to succor the wounded, both Chinese and Tibetans, at Chamdo. The attitude of the Tibetans has altered greatly in the last ten years and the Tibetan soldiers march to Scottish bag-pipes. It is likely that Lhassa, the Forbidden City, will in short time become a general port of entry."

Recovery—For a good many months our foreign exchanges have come haltingly and in some instances not at all. However, it is noticed that the stamp papers from the continent are showing signs of life and while we have had a few notices of suspension of papers, it is likely that their places will be filled in due time. We congratulate those of our confreres who are still faithful to their charges and we trust that their loyalty will be well rewarded.

Reported—We have been informed that L. J. Flerlage, Norwood, Ohio; Harry E. Klotzbach, Buffalo, N. Y.; Chas. S. Thompson, Los Angeles, Cal., and others have organized a new society for stamp collectors, to be known as the International Philatelic Association, and that it will soon be in working order. The society for collectors of philatelic literature which was proposed tentatively a good many months ago is again in embryo in the minds of some of the ardent collectors of stamp lore who favored an organization of the kind "after the war".

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

RE-ISSUE.—The resumption of the issue of a stamp or stamps that has gone out of use. The term is usually applied to fresh printings of such stamps, which can be distinguished in some way from those of the original issue. In other words, they are re-impressions intended for or admitted to regular issue and use.

REJISTRO.—This word appears on some of the registration stamps issued in the Republic of Colombia and means, of course, "registered."

REMAINDERS.—These are stocks of stamps left on hand after a particular value or set had gone out of use. These have in many cases been sold to dealers, either unused or cancelled in some way or other, with the result that large quantities of some stamps have occasionally come on the market and temporarily unsettled values. Many collectors confuse them with reprints but they are of course nothing of the sort. They are perfectly genuine in every respect and do not differ from the stamps which were put into circulation in any way whatsoever. They are simply stamps remaining over after new ones had been issued or stamps not required for some other reason.

REP (OR REPP) PAPER.—This is wove paper which has been passed between ridged rollers so that it becomes, to use a somewhat exaggerated description, corrugated. The small elevation or ridge on one side of the paper coincides with a depression or furrow on the other side, the thickness of the paper being the same throughout.

REPRINTS.—Impressions from the original plates, blocks, or stones from which stamps were printed, taken after the issue of the stamps to post offices had ceased; impressions, that is, printed not for use as stamps, but as specimens or curiosities, for sale to collectors or otherwise.

REPUB. FRANC.—An abbreviation for "Republique Francaise" shown upon many of the early stamps of France.

REPUBLICA.—This word forms part of the inscription on most of the stamps of Colombia, Argentine, Salvador, Paraguay, etc., and, of course, simply means "Republic".

II. This word is found overprinted on many of the stamps of Portugal and Colonies issued in 1913-14 to show the change of government from a monarchy to a republic.

REPUBLICA MAYOR DE CENTRO-AMERICA.—An inscription shown on certain stamps of Nicaragua and Salvador issued in 1897-8 in commemoration of the federation of the three republics of Honduras, Nicaragua, and Salvador, a federation which was very short lived. Translated it reads "Greater Republic of Central America."

REPUBLICA ORIENTAL.—The two first words of "Republica Oriental del Uruguay" whch form the only inscription shown on the 1864 stamps for that republic.

REPUBLIC OF CHINA.—The inscription shown on all the stamps of China issued since 1912.

REPUBLIQUE FRANCAISE.—The French rendering of "French Republic" as shown upon all the stamps of that country issued since 1876.

REPUBLIQUE D'HAITI.—The inscription shown upon all the stamps of Hayti with the exception of the 1887 issue.

RESELLADA.—A Spanish word meaning literally "recoined", found on certain stamps of Venezuela and Ecuador. The word was overprinted on the stamps of the 1899 set of Venezuela to make the ordinary labels—a large quantity of which had been stolen by a postal employee—of no value for postal purposes. The stamps of the 1901 issue of Ecuador used in the province of Bolivar bear the same overprint and this was applied for a similar reason—to demonetize the unsurcharged stamps, a large number of which it was feared had been stolen from the office at Guayaquil during the course of a disastrous fire.

RESETTING.—Implies the re-arrangement of the separate pieces of which a design is composed, or of the separate cliches of which a plate is made up.

RESOLUCION DE 10 DE OCTUBRE DE 1892.—This inscription is shown on the surcharge applied to certain stamps of Venezuela in 1892 to create provisional 25c and 1 bol. stamps. It evidently refers to the date of the "Resolution" authorizing these temporary labels.

RETARDO.—The inscription shown on the Too late stamps of Antioquia meaning, literally, "delay".

RETOUCHING.—A philatelic term often used as though it were synonymous with re-engraving. The two terms should really convey two distinct ideas, retouching referring to minor alterations made to a die, plate or stone. In other words it refers to local or general "touching up" and not to a careful re-engraving of an entire die or plate.

RETOURBRIEFE.—This word forms part of the inscription on the so-called "return letter" stamps of Bavaria which were formerly catalogued and are now frequently found in collections. These labels were merely used to re-seal letters which, after being opened in the postal department, were returned to the senders owing to the fact that they were undeliverable for some reason or other.

RETURN LETTER STAMPS.—The return letter stamps of Norway, which are still listed in some catalogues, seem to be of little if any more philatelic interest than those of Bavaria referred to above. They are merely labels which were affixed to letters it was found impossible to deliver and which were therefore returned to the senders. They bear no indication of postage paid or to be paid and were used solely for the convenience of postal officials.

RETYMNO.—This name appears on one of the 1 metallik stamps issued in the Russian Sphere of Administration (Rethymo and district) during 1899.

REUNION.—A French island in the Indian Ocean 115 miles south-west of Mauritius. It has an area of 970 square miles and a population of 175,000. Postage stamps were first issued in 1852.

REVENUE.—An overprint shown on certain stamps of British Honduras in 1899. These stamps were inscribed "postage" only and the object of the overprint was to make them available for both postal and revenue purposes.

QUESTIONS BASED ON A 3c STAMP.

A thoroughly up-to-date game is the guessing of objects on the new three-cent stamp.

1. Why is a good stamp like true love? Because it sticks.
2. What we'd like to do to the Huns? Lick 'em!
3. The crown of success? The laurel wreath.
4. Lavender, rose and lily of the valley? Three cents (scents).
5. The color worn by royalty? Purple.
6. What are always found in a book? Leaves.
7. What we like to get from absent friends? Letters.
8. What sometimes bothers married people? Ties.
9. A Belgian rodent? Hair (Hare).
10. Something which holds up a fence? Post.
11. A favorite beverage? "T" (Tea)
12. What a Chinaman has? Queue.
13. What a farmer says to his horse? "G" (Gee).
14. What Washington rode in? Stage.
15. A desirable characteristic? The power to stick.
16. The capital of the United States? Washington.
17. The most popular words in the English language? "I" (Eye); "Us" (U. S.).
18. A sign of old age? Wrinkles.
19. The food of certain birds in winter? Berries.
20. A Shrub? Laurel.
21. An exclamation of surprise? "O"!
22. Something which will never meet? Parallel lines.
23. The edge of a hill? The brow.
24. Two negatives? Nos. (Nose).
25. A thick sticky fluid? Mucilage.
26. Why doesn't the Government make a seven-edged stamp? Because they perforate (prefer eight).
27. Why could Washington be classed with the herbs? Because he was a sage.
28. Why do the English think Washington had "class"? Because 'e's a' 'ighbrow (highbrow).
29. Why does this picture suggest John the Baptist? Because it's decapitated.
30. Some spring flowers imported from Holland? Tulips (two lips).
31. Older than age itself? Post Age (postage).
32. The window of the soul? The eye.
33. What is the difference between Washington and Wilson? One was the first President and the other is the last.
34. What is good for only one trip? A stamp.
35. Why is getting a letter through from "over there" like buying a stamp? You must pass the censor (cents, sir).

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our Chronicle of last week we mentioned that the new 13c stamp which we had described some time back had been placed on sale in Washington. We now learn that four plates were made to print this denomination, the plates bearing numbers 9147, 9148, 9149 and 9150.

In a recent philatelic article, the author spoke of the 3c booklet pane being printed by the offset process. To correct an erroneous statement we would advise that the plates from which the booklet panes are printed are of the flat type and that curved plates for the offset printing have never been made. In order to answer numerous inquiries we would advise that to date only the 3c Type III and IV and the 1c, in perforated sheets of one hundred and the 3c Type IV in imperforated sheets of four hundred have appeared from the surface or offset printing. Neither booklets, coils nor other denominations of postage stamps have been printed by this method, notwithstanding the fact that some of these have been offered by dealers.

Our correspondence during the last week contained no less than three letters telling of supposed errors in color that had been located. While we covered in detail these chemical changlings a year or more back, they are again becoming so plentiful that it may be well to make passing mention of the subject. One collector had located in Pennsylvania a 3c in the color of the 2c, one in Georgia a 6c in the brown of the 4c and another from far away Minnesota a 1c Documentary, issue of 1898, in green. None of the above were submitted for inspection, but we have seen copies of the 3c changling in the color of the 2c passed around by a New York dealer as curiosities. We also had the pleasure of inspecting two single used copies of the same stamp submitted to one of the Philadelphia dealers by a client. We doubt very much the existence of any errors of color outside of the famous 5c and before chronicling any of them we would have to see an undoubted specimen.

In our issue of January 11th we described one of the 7c on 2c Playing Cards with inverted surcharge. Mr. Allen S. Davenport now kindly informs us that he has the same type normal as well as double inverted, each bearing date of 1-25-18. He also has Scott's No. 5630 reading down in black; reading up in violet as well as those similarly surcharged with "A.D." instead of "U.S.P.C.Co." in red, both reading up and down. The latter come in at least two very distinct shades of red. To date we know of the following and would be glad to know of any other varieties.

Surcharged "7c R. P. C. Co. 1-25-'18"
a. normal in red
b. inverted in red
c. double inverted in red

Surcharged "10-4-1917. 7 CENTS U. S. P. C. Co"
a. reading down in black
b. reading up in violet

Surcharged "10-4-1917, 7 CENTS A. D."
a. reading down in dark red
b. reading up in bright red

Under date of January 17, 1919, the First Assistant Postmaster General called the attention of Postmasters to the fact that postage stamps should not be canceled in colors and that rubber stamps should not be used. He distinctly instructed that aeroplane mail should be canceled in black and that the rubber cancellor should not be used. If he really means what he says, we have seen the last of the special cancellations on the Washington, Philadelphia, New York air mail service, but we think that he overlooked the fact that rubber canceling stamps were furnished by the Post Office Department to be used in connection with the aeroplane service. We have written the post office for definite advice and if they reply with their usual promptness we will have their correct interpretation by early summer.

We wish to thank Messrs. C. Bayliss Sumner, Benjamin Smith, C. J. Hohenstein, J. R. Hammerle, Geo. A. Lindemann and others for notes of interest.

Paul C. Wild of the Covert Stamp Co. has submitted for our inspection a very fine double print of the 1c carmine rose Documentary. Mr. Wild writes that a sheet was found at the Rochester, N. Y., postoffice Jan. 29 and all but thirty-eight had been used before the double print was noticed. It is a very fine specimen of its kind.

AITUTAKI.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us a copy of the 2½d stamp recently issued for this colony. The current stamp of New Zealand of the same value has been overprinted AITUTAKI in red.

AUSTRALIA.—The new 1½d stamp has appeared with inverted watermark. Owing to difficulty in obtaining 1½d stamps in some directions, and to stocks of 1d ones on hand, the Postal Department tacitly permitted the use of one half of a bisected penny stamp in conjunction with a penny one. We have been shown several examples of these on original envelopes. However, on attention being drawn to the matter, the following appeared in the daily press:—

BISECTED PENNY STAMPS.

"Before the issue of the new 1½d war postage stamp had become adequate to meet the public demand, there were many ruses, ingenious and otherwise, to meet or circumvent the new tax. The most common cause of complaint was that through absent-mindedness, or wilfulness, the extra half-penny was not added, and hundreds of addressees found themselves paying 1d at the door to secure possession of insufficiently stamped letters.

In a few instances correspondents who had not half-penny stamps at hand adopted the expedient of cutting diagonally into halves a penny stamp, and applying one half to represent the additional half-penny. Recipients were surprised at the request of the letter-carriers to pay excess rates. It appears that in all such instances the sender is liable to a fine of £50 for mutilating a stamp. The practice, innocent though it looks, would, if permitted to continue, open the way to serious fraud. Partly obliterated stamps could thus be bisected, and wholesale loss of revenue would result." — Australian Philatelic Record.

GERMANY.—A. C. Roessler has received a letter from E. W. Fuss and writes us as follows:—

"I just got a letter from Ed Fuss stamped with two 10pf German stamps. These were taken from a German prisoner ten days after the battle of St. Mihiel. Another letter has come through with a fancy label, white letters on a red background—very German looking. Both were marked 'Passed by the Censor' and cancelled by the U. S. Postal Service on the reverse side. Fuss has MEKEEL'S sent him from home and is thus keeping up to date on stamps."

GIBRALTAR.—Whitfield King's Monthly Circular is authority for the statement that the War Stamps of this colony were withdrawn from sale December 31st.

JOHORE.—We have received a consignment of stamps which included a great surprise, the one dollar values being with multiple quatrefoil watermark, the existence of which we were previously unaware of and which may be very scarce, as it is not long since we received supplies with the single quatrefoil watermark, and the $1 stamp on C.A. paper has already been issued.—Whitfield King's Monthly Circular.

MOZAMBIQUE.—We have been favored by A. C. Roessler and F. M. Mason with copies of a circular sent out by the Mozambique Company from the London office in Queen Street Place. The circular very obligingly states that the 1918 set of postage stamps already referred to in our Chronicle can be obtained at face value from the address in question on a minimum order of $25. We are interested in the naive statement that the Company's revenue is mainly derived from customs receipts, native and other taxes and the granting of certain concessions. Without stretching the truth as Mr. Mason reminds us, stamps could have been added to the company's list of resources. Naturally the stamps are very attractive and we are obliged to Mr. Roessler for submitting the four lower values for our inspection.

PARAGUAY.—Mr. O. D. Challans advises that he has just received a copy of No. 407, 5c, yellow-brown, postage due, surcharged "Habilitado" in two lines.

PENRHYN ISLAND.—Mr. N. R. James of Adelaide has drawn our attention to the fact that the spacing between the words "Penrhyn" and "Islands" on the 1½d stamp measures ½mm. on some stamps and 1½ mm. on others.—Australian Philatelic Record.

SPAIN.—According to Philatelia, the 40c value is now appearing in bright rose, the salmon-rose printing, for the time being at any rate, having been exhausted. —Stamp Collecting.

SWEDEN.—In referring to the new values recently mentioned in our issue of No. 1466 Whitfield King's Monthly Circular reports the following:—

"Two new values, 55 ore, pale blue, and 80 ore, grey-black, were prepared for use, but as it was found that in consequence of alterations in the postal rates they would not be wanted, they were overprinted '27' in black over the original figures in the upper corners. By mistake 1,000 of each of these without the overprint were issued to one Post Office and all sold over the counter before they could be recalled. We are told that collectors in Sweden are offering $25 each and upwards for these unsurcharged stamps. If any of our friends should be asked to pay a fancy price for these, our advice to them is 'wait and see.'"

TRENGANNU.—The Australian Philatelic Record reports that the 4c Red Cross appears in new colors, chocolate and green.

Whisperings and Whimperings of a Philatelic Nut

Edited by COTTON C. DOYLE.

Vol. I No. 1. FEBRUARY 8, 1919. Price: Postfree

Personal.

The editor of this department is a desperate character, weighing 119¾ with his collar and necktie on. He would rather fight than eat and would rather collect stamps than fight anyone weighing over 120 pounds. He lives on blood, and carnage is his delight, also red stamps. He has been collecting stamps for 23 years and his collection of American 2c reds numbered 2,827,311 at the last counting. When it gets to 5 million he intends to donate them to five aged and indignant females and start all over again.

He is of a kindly disposition and can laugh as loudly as anyone with only two lungs. He always carries a six-shooter magnifying glass and will cheerfully perforate any idiotic contrib who has the effrontery to differ with him on any philatelic subject whatsoever.

He does not care a hoorah for the truth but will use it when necessary or unavoidable. He will take a drink of buttermilk if properly approached. He has never been known to pay full catalog price for anything and his collection is a work of art in more ways than one. Nevertheless he loves all stamps and everything that looks like a stamp, and being a firm believer in the transmogrification of souls he expects to be the kind of a 90c 1869 in the next world that he dreams about having in this.

Criticism.

Quotation from Eugene Field when he was editor of a paper in Den., Colorado,—"This awkward sheet is our Esteemed Contemporary—etc." Which reminds us that Van of Denver has come to light again and is the new U. S. Rev. editor of the Philatelic West.

Friend Van ought to smoke better cigars or not let 'em go out. He knows better than to say Die II of the Brockett & Newton match stamp is scarcer than Die I. Put the blame on the "standard" catalog where it belongs. Die I is priced $1. Die II isn't priced at all and anyone who doesn't know would think Die II to be scarce. Truth is Die II is a common stamp worth 10c as it usually comes. If centered and not creased or cut with scissors 20c is about right for it. Pity the fellow with more money than knowledge of M & M who bid $25 for a copy of Die II at an auction last year!

Good news for M & M collectors:—The Scott concern is going to kill some of the jokers in their catalog and the edition for the winter of 1969-'70 will quote prices revised up to Jan. 1, 1919. While there's life there's hope

Notes & Gossip.

Stan Oakbrook, of the burg that made the 7c Stanton famous, has a fine new house with a sign on the front door, "Stamp Collectors Welcome." Three walls of the room devoted to stamps are papered with 1c fifty ones and he expects to complete the fourth wall this year. He hasn't decided what to do about the ceiling yet.

A certain well-known raconteur and jurist of Rhode Island, drove his flivver a bit too swiftly one frosty morning lately and had to thaw out the traffic cop with a peacherino ten cent '47 on cover. Luckily for you, Judge, that the blue-coat was a stamp collector.

"Stamps" (Apologies to "Smiles")

There are stamps that make me happy,
There are stamps that make me sad,
There are stamps that need new perforations,
There are stamps off center very bad.
There are stamps that cost me many dollars,
There are stamps that take my last rupee,
But the stamp that I get for nothing
Is the stamp that appeals to ME.

Queries Dept.

Ask us about anything. No matter what you want to know we will give you some kind of an answer.

Dere Mable:—No, we would not use Standard Oil No. 23 test kerosene to remove a violet town cancellation from your 90c Justice. If you can't bear cancelled stamps put the 90c in a bath of extra XXX nitric acid for 72½ hours and then borrow $18 to buy a new copy. The other one will be useless as a trader.

THE STAMPS OF ENEMY NATIONS.

Your articles on The Stamps of Enemy Nations bring to my mind discussions very similar in our trade paper for Florists. The subject under discussion was changing the names of Roses which were of German origin or had German names. The British Floricultural Societies refused to take up the subject, preferring to leave matters as they were before the war. If Messrs. Sleicher and Coning have any No. 1 Saxony or Bremen stamps I would be glad to take the strain off their mind by accepting same at any time. By the way the above mentioned Saxony has gone up a mere fifty dollars in the 1919 catalogue as have a number of the other old German states. I certainly agree with T. R. Hungerford's idea and were we to eliminate so many countries from our Albums we might as well give up the game. What shall we do with German Samoa, East Africa, Togo, etc., which are really a German product with a British surcharge? British dealers have been offering them for sale for some time past. However, time will heal the deepest wound, so let us all carry on our hobby as we wish.

NEW HAVEN POSTMASTER STAMP.

(Some weeks ago we published a clipping from the New Haven (Conn.) Register dealing with early Connecticut stamp markings and we now reproduce another article from the same journal dealing with the Mitchell stamp issued in 1845. The article will be of interest to all our readers.—W. O. W.)

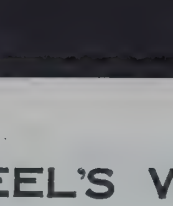
Connecticut has had stamp issues and stamp markings that have interested collectors and many of these stamps and markings have premiums on them and are in great demand among collectors.

Particularly is this true of markings on envelopes mailed at the post office in Waterbury prior to the year 1878. During the period of the time extending backward from 1878 there was employed at the Waterbury post office, according to Mr. Sanborn, who is preparing a history of the mail service and postal markings here, a man who had many original ideas in the cancelling of stamps and letters. Hundreds of letters passed from the Waterbury post office bearing small hand carved wood cuts that exactly fitted cancellation forms and these markings are now eagerly sought after by collectors.

Envelopes have come to light with cancellations representing a small elephant, evidently in use during a political campaign in that city. Another cancellation of a heart and arrow was on Valentine mail. The fall season of the year was marked by large oak leaves on the cancellation form and the spring by a small spray of flowers.

One envelope mailed at the Waterbury post office years ago has been found in Buffalo, N. Y., where in the cancellation mark there appears a hen, with widespread wings, rushing toward one end of the envelope.

From envelopes that have already come into the hands of collectors it is apparent that the Waterbury post office employee was a master at the art of engraving or rather carving for all of the many small stampings were made from wood cuts.



The first prepayment stamp that New Haven had was back in 1845, and that stamp was in no way like the adhesive stamp of today, but was a stamp on the envelope itself made from a brass die, and countersigned with the signature of the postmaster. Each town had a different prepayment stamp. In those days few letters were pre-paid, as practically all letters were paid for on delivery.

The original drawing of the First New Haven stamp is in the possession of the New Haven County Historical Society and may be seen at the museum of the Society in this city. From that original drawing there was made a brass die and this die was used in stamping all of the envelopes. Many of these old stamped envelopes have found their way into valuable stamp collections.

It was in 1840 that the first nation adopted the adhesive stamp for postage payment and that nation was Great Britain. In 1842 the city of New York produced adhesive carrier stamps, which were sold for delivery of mail in that city. In 1847 it was that the adhesive stamps came into general use throughout the country, but the old custom of payment upon receipt of the letter was adhered to strongly until 1856, when legislation required the prepayment of letter postage. The following year brought about a new law, which was even more strict. This law was to the affect that all non-prepaid letters would go to the dead letter office. This is not so strictly observed today, when, if you happen to place a two cent stamp on an out of town letter the letter will not go to the dead letter office, but to the person to whom it is addressed. It will have upon it a "postage due" stamp, which must be paid for before the delivery of the letter.

E. A. Mitchell was the postmaster of New Haven in those early days and the first payment stamps had to carry his signature. At that time New Haven was more of a maritime center than it is today and many vessels from the seven seas came into the New Haven harbor. It was the law then that all ship mail could be delivered or posted by none other than the captain of the vessel himself and immediately upon the arrival of a vessel in the harbor at Long Wharf the captain with his bag of mail would make his way up to the post office and custom house and return with his ship's papers and the crew's mail.

Each of these ships had its own peculiar stamp and envelope markings and these are eagerly sought after by stamp collectors of today.

A. W. DUNNING, Pres.; R. N. HALL, Vice Pres.; F. W. STILES, 310 Warren St., Roxbury, Mass., Sec.; OSCAR HILL, 60 State St., Boston, Mass., Foreign Sec.; G. CARLTON RUSSELL, 38 Wellesley Park, Dorchester, Mass., Treas.; W. L. Aldrich, Supt. of Auctions; S. G. BIXBY, 12 Parker St., Malden, Mass., Supt. of Sales and Bourse.

Jan. 21, 1919.

The 416th (regular) meeting of the Society was called to order at 8 P. M. by Pres. Brown, 43 members and friends being present. The regular routine business was conducted. Esidor Curhan being elected to junior membership. In his oral report for the year the president thanked the council and others for their help during his two years of office and hoped that the incoming officers would be able to show a marked advance in the progress of the Society at the end of their terms. Balloting for officers for 1919 resulted as follows:—A. W. Dunning was elected president, Ralph N. Hall, vice-president, F. W. Stiles, secretary, G. Carlton Russell, treasurer, S. G. Bixby, Mgr. of both Sales and Bourse, Oscar Hill, Foreign secretary, and W. L. Aldrich, Auction superintendent. Messrs. C. K. B. Nevin, D. F. Kelleher, B. W. Allen, Oscar Hill and J. S. Bell, Jr., were elected as councillors at large.

Mr. Dunning took the chair and read a number of rewards which he proposes to give during the year to those who bring new members into the Society. He also made an appeal for donations to the collection which the Society has been forming for the past two years. The meeting adjourned at 10 P. M. There was no formal entertainment but a wonderful lot of U.S. covers were shown by one of our guests, Mr. Malin, which will be shown again at some meeting when he can have time to do himself and his exhibit justice.

The applications of Messrs. Wm L Blake, Portland Me., proposed by Mr. James C. Woolley and of M. D. Olmstead, Concord, N. H., proposed by Mr. S. G. Bixby were posted. Mr. Olmstead made a short speech, the subject of which was the encouragement of the young collectors.

Don't forget that at the next meeting we will have that postponed competition "Uruguay, Scott Nos. 29 to 210." The medals for which are given by Mr. Frank P. Brown.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Unauthorized Republican Surcharges.

Again we find in Ewen's Weekly Stamp News for October 19, 1912, a letter from Mr. W. S. Lincoln who wrote them as follows:—

"I have just received a new overprint emanating from 'Kien Yang Fu' in the Province of Fukien, like the 'Hwang-do' surcharge previously received, consisting of seven values, ½, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 7 cents, and the overprint is found both in red and black, the red ones being considerably rarer than the black.

"I understand that only 1,000 of each value has been surcharged of both colored overprints; the type employed for the surcharge is quite distinctive and can readily be separated from the other overprints."

Kienyangfu (the fu signifying a municipality of the first class) is a city in the postal district of Foochow. In chronicling these surcharges, the Monthly Journal states that: "Our correspondent tells us that their use was almost immediately discontinued as fresh supplies arrived from Shanghai." Further details are furnished by a Shanghai journal, L'Echo de la Chine, as follows:—

"The Kien-yang-fou issue also numbers seven stamps, surcharged in black and red. A dealer at Shanghai, wishing to obtain official information on this issue, wrote to the postmaster at Foochow, sending him several sets on postal cards and inquiring if these stamps were still on sale at Kien-yang-fou, at the same time requesting that the postal cards stamped with these stamps might be cancelled and sent to him through the mail. We have seen the reply of the postmaster at Foo-chow, signed 'TAH', postal commissioner ad interim, central office of Foo-chow. We quote the following phrase: 'Our district Director has investigated this affair; the office at Kien-yang-fou no longer uses these stamps'. This is proof that in this case also the issue was official."

It seems to us that this last sentence takes considerable for granted; and we also might say that the laconic quotation immediately preceding it seems to us to indicate just the opposite, if it means anything. The overprint is illustrated as type d. We have seen a cover canceled in August, 1912, (date illegible) and received at Foochow on August 7th.

The above are the best known of the unofficial Republican surcharges. There are a number of others, but very little is known about them and it seems hardly worth while to give them much attention when their status is at best open to very serious question. We have illustrated two of them as types e and f in the accompanying cut. The first of these is known as the Harbin or Harbin-Kwan-chengtze surcharge. I have been unable to find it chronicled except in the Numismatic and Philatelic Journal of Japan for September, 1913, where the 1 cent is illustrated and mentioned as a "curious and rare surcharge" but the postmark was not sufficiently clear to allow the locality to be determined. I have seen several values cancelled "Kwanchengtze, Sept. 22, 1913." There seems to be no further information available. Both Harbin and Kwanchengtze are chief offices of sub-districts under the Moukden postal district in Manchuria. Just why they should have surcharged the old Empire stamps as late as August or September, 1913, does not appear unless they desired to use up a stock of them on hand. But this could have been done just as well without surcharging, for the Empire stamps were still good for postage and were often used alone or in company with those bearing the Republic surcharge, the demonetization of the Empire stamps not having taken place until April 1, 1914.

As will be seen, the surcharge consists simply of the two characters Chung Hua, signifying "China," in rather larger type than usual and appearing as if done with a hand stamp. It is known in red on the ½, 1, 2, 3 and 4 cent stamps and in black on the ½, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 10, 20, 30 and 50 cent stamps as well as the 1? 4 and 5 cent blue and 1 cent brown postage dues. The lateness of the appearance of these surcharges, the two colors of surcharge and the extent of the series surcharged, combined with the lack of information about them all tends to make one suspicious of their bona fides, to say nothing of their "official" standing.

Type f in the cut is the so-called Kongmoon surcharge. This I find described in Paul Kohl's Mitteilungen for January and March-April, 1913. Three values are listed as having been used for franking letters, the 3, 5 and 7 cent stamps with the surcharge in a washed out red color. It is listed with reserve as being "questionable", and later they quote their informant as being of the opinion that it was "the work of an all too patriotically minded philatelist as a private enterprise". There seems to be no other information available. It might be added that Kongmoon is a Treaty Port on the "West River" some distance south of Canton, in which postal district it is included.

Kohl also lists a surcharge from Tungchow on the 3c stamps, this being somewhat similar to the Kienyangfu surcharge (type d) and struck in red. A horizontal surcharge in black, reading from right to left, is also listed on the 2c and 3c stamps as hailing from Liuchow, but there is no further information. Ewen's Weekly Stamp News in its issue for January 4, 1913, says:—"A correspondent writes from Singapore informing us that he has just received from Satow [Swatow?] some provisional stamps of Chinese Republic, with the surcharge handstamped. He kindly encloses copies for our inspection of the 1, 2, 3, 10, 50c with red surcharge; and the 5, 20c with black surcharge." Again no further information.

We have given in this chapter the stories, as far as we have been able to find them out, of the locally struck Republican surcharges which have so insistently, in some cases, knocked for admission to catalog standing. It seems to us that from these the reader can form a fairly good idea himself of the real importance and necessity of their issue, as well as the official view concerning them. In the first place the unsurcharged Empire stamps remained valid for postage, but new supplies as sent out from Shanghai bore the Republican overprint. There was, therefore, no need for any Empire stamps to be surcharged locally. The official notice which demonetized the Empire stamps is here given:—

Directorate General of Posts.
Peking, 1st October, 1913.
MINISTRY OF COMMUNICATION.
CHINESE POST OFFICE.
Notification No. 56.

Withdrawal of old issues of Postage Stamps.

The public are hereby notified that all denominations of unsurcharged stamps and postcards of the late Ching Dynasty, including the Hsüan Tung Commemoration Issue (Temple of Heaven design) will cease to be valid for the franking of mail matter on and after the 1st of April, 1914. Such stamps may be exchanged for stamps of the current issue at all Chinese Postal Establishments up to the above mentioned date.

T. PIRY,
Postmaster-General.

The only excuse that can be offered for the local surcharging is the one given by the Postmaster of Hochow An, whose letter we have already quoted, where he speaks of the order that post offices should obliterate from all papers the old Empire name (Ta Ching) and substitute the new Republican name (Chung Hua Min Kuo). We quote a paragraph in defense of them from a much interested party.—

"Many of the smaller offices, especially those in out-of-the-way-districts, did not receive these Government surcharged stamps for months after the notice was issued, and many of the local postmasters, therefore, used their own surcharges, type, wood blocks and even rubber stamps; and these we claim, though not officially authorized by Peking (unrecognized now by them), are legitimate non-official issues, having done postal duty for weeks and months; and, in fact, these non-official issues have fewer errors—such as inverted and double surcharges, than the so-called strictly official ones authorized by Peking and executed there and in Shanghai.

"The Stamp Societies here [Tientsin], at Shanghai, Hong Kong and Yokohama, all recognize and collect these non-official surcharged issues."

It strikes us that "legitimate non-official issues" is a rather curious phrase! As for having done duty "for weeks and months", we think none of them can claim much beyond "weeks" and some hardly more than "days".

On the other side, Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. published the following:—

"The so-called Tientsin provisionals are absolutely bogus and the others are but little better. We made enquiry concerning these when the first lot were offered us, said to have been issued at Hwang-do, and were officially informed that these surcharges were unauthorized and unofficial. They are not recognized as valid for postage, and each Chinese Post Office has now been furnished with a rubber stamp with the words 'Surcharge Forged' on it, which is to be used to obliterate any of these local surcharges which may be noticed passing through the post on letters all such letters being treated as unpaid."

This shows clearly enough the official attitude toward the local attempts, and the summary stopping of such issues when called to official notice has doubtless been remarked in reading our account of several of the issues treated at length earlier in this chapter. The excuse that they passed unchallenged through the post, at first, thus giving them "official" standing, is pure bosh. Almost anything will go through the post at times and many collectors make a place in their albums for such "freaks" as a sideshow. In this class the unauthorized Republican surcharges belong. Let those whose interest in China warrants it collect them as interesting "side-shows" if they will—we are all free to collect anything we fancy—but let them desist in their attempt to make them "official" in any way or to get them into the catalogue as regular issues with proper credentials so that we shall all feel obliged to collect them in order to make our showing of China "complete".

Although not wholly directed against these local surcharges we have been considering, yet including them, is the following notice:—

CHINESE POSTAL ADMINISTRATION.
NOTIFICATION No. 192.
Fraudulent Surcharged Stamps.

This is to notify and warn the public that any surcharges differing from those given in the Report on the Working of the Chinese Post Office, for the 3rd Year of Hsüan T'ung (1911) are unauthorized, and are not recognized by this Administration.

By order of the Postmaster General.
J. P. DONOVAN,
District Postmaster.

Chinese Post Office,
Shanghai, 22nd Sept., 1913.

The surcharges referred to were the "Provisional Neutrality" and "cruciform" types that we have already described in Chapter XV; but it evidently included the regular Republican surcharge as is evident from explanatory remarks in one of the Shanghai local papers which we reproduce:—

"Stamp collectors should pay particular attention to the notice published yesterday by the Chinese Post Office authorities. . . This notice has become necessary because of extensive frauds. The warning was sent out from Peking after consideration of reports from various provincial offices revealing extensive forgeries of the surcharge on new stamps. . . The forgery consists of an imitation of the official chop 'Chinese Republic', printed in black or red ink vertically on the stamps in the center. The imitation has been so cleverly done that the fraud cannot be detected, in most cases, unless the stamps be examined under a strong magnifying glass. The forgery seems to have been begun about the time of the revolution, and when the surcharged stamps got into the market, agents appear to have obtained chops similar to the official surcharge chop and to have used them on the old stock".

We have left to consider one surcharge lettered g. This is the so-called White-Wolf surcharge, printed in red on the ½, 1, 2, 3 and 4 cent stamps. Concerning it we really have no information. The surcharge reads Pai Lang Han and means literally "White Wolf China." This was the terrible bandit White Wolf who terrorized central China from the autumn of 1913 until he was killed on August 5, 1914. The word "Han" is a favorite term for China much used in the central provinces where the fame of the old Han dynasty is strong. White Wolf operated in the provinces of Honan, Hupeh, Anhui and Kansu, where he led an army of revolutionaries, religious fanatics and plain brigands who looted villages, plundered towns and terrorized the countryside. Moving swiftly and secretly, his army was able to take the worthless government garrisons and police forces of the various towns by surprise; the place looted, they would depart as suddenly as they came. In the spring of 1914 fifty thousand government troops were pursuing them, but could not catch them. White Wolf was at last killed in Honan on August 5, 1914, by a Chinese officer who got $50,000 reward. His followers were then easily dispersed.

The stamps may have been surcharged by his order, but as he did not attempt to organize any government, as far as known, it hardly seems likely that a roving army of revolutionary bandits would bother with the postal service or stop to surcharge a stamp issue for themselves, particularly with a printing press such as was used to produce the neat job done on these stamps. We shall have to view them with even more suspicion than the "unauthorized Republican surcharges."

IN ANSWER TO MR. BARRETT.

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

I have read with amusement the remarks on page 49 of the February 1st edition of your paper by Mr. Louis G. Barrett concerning the 3 violet. Mr. Barrett concerning the 3c violet. Mr. statements regarding these stamps which were absolutely incorrect and now tries to explain his position by reading into criticisms made by Mr. Joseph B. Leavy and myself, statements which we have never made. I still maintain that every word mentioned in my article on Page 8 of the January 4th WEEKLY can be proven to be true by anyone who will take the trouble to investigate and the same remarks will apply to Mr. Leavy's notes.

In my statements I mentioned the following Facts:

(1) "Mr. Barrett is absolutely wrong when he says that the 1c, 3c, 4c and 5c rotary coil stamps are from a different die than those used for the flat plates."

(2) "Of the 2c value only was a special die made".

(3) There is no 3c die II rotary press endwise coil.

Mr. Barrett trys to make it look as if I have said that there are not two dies of the 3c rotary stamp, I do not say this for there are two dies of the 3c flat plate and the same two for the rotary. I stated that the dies used for the rotary plates are the same in the case of all but the 2c as were used for the flat plates.

Mr. Barrett now admits that I am correct insofar as (2) and (3) are concerned and that he is wrong. He also admits that only one die each was used for the rotary and flat plates in the case of the 1c, 4c and 5c whereas in his article he states that there are two of each.

He now trys to confuse matters by stating that there are two dies for the 3c coil. Neither Mr. Leavy nor myself have ever denied this and if anyone will trouble themselves to refer to our articles they will see that we did not take exception to Mr. Barrett's statement that there were two dies of the 3c but took exception to the remark that the dies for the 3c rotary coil differ from those of the flat plate.

Referring to page 334 of MEKEEL'S for Nov. 2nd, Mr. Barrett states, "Of the numbers missing from above list 8269 * * * were three cent 170 subject curved plates for the rotary presses which, of course, it is well known are of a different die, anyway, which has never been given a separate die name, as is was distinctive of that process". You will see from this that he does not recognize the rotary coil die as the same one that he speakes about on the same page as Die II of the flat plate but says "it is well known are of a different die".

In Mr. Barrett's remarks on page 49 of the Feb. 1st edition of MEKEEL'S he says "Up to that time (Nov. 2, 1918), there had been no reference other than my own, to a different die for the 3c rotary press". This is not correct for on page 192 of the June 1918 edition of the Philatelic Gazette the same Mr. Leavy who is not supposed to know that there is a second die of the 3c rotary chronicles "1918—No watermark, coiled horizontally, rotary press, 3c light violet, Die II". This does not look very much as if Mr. Barrett's article was the first to record this second die. Mr. Mann also chronicled the stamp in MEKEEL'S about the same time, but not having my files available I cannot refer to the page. The whole controversy narrows down to this: Mr. Barrett states that different dies were used for the 3c rotary plates than were used for the flat plates and Mr. Leavy and myself maintain that the same dies were used to make the 3c rotary plates that were used to make the flat plates and I defy anyone to prove that we are not correct. Every word in both of our criticisms are true facts in every detail and neither Mr. Barrett nor anyone else can prove otherwise.

EDITORIAL.

Spontaneous—The suggestion that has been made by the New York Sun that a set of stamps be issued to commemorate the closing of the war has spread in the manner of the proverbial wild-fire. "Like wild-fire spread the news" among collectors and now we have a swelling response affirmatively to the question of shall there be a monument of stamps to celebrate our victory. That so much interest would be shown in the proposal impresses us, but, after all, if collectors do not concern themselves over the possibility of increase in the stamp population, who will? It is a fair assumption that a stamp subject that interests the general public will make an impression on collectors and judging from the number of letters that have come to us, the post office department must be aware that philatelists are not sleeping on their rights to address the throne on a proposition that is their especial mutton. The readers who have written to us, without exception, think that it is fitting that the nation's victory be memorialized by a set of stamps and the only differences of opinion that are disclosed have to do with the method of approach to the happy consummation.

Subjects—We may say that the catholicity of mind shown by those who have sent us suggestions for designs is admirable. Some of the themes presented are rather too ingenious for serious consideration but there is no mistaking the sincerity of the senders. Mr. Burt B. Hyde thinks that privates Enright, Gresham and Hay should be honored and he would give the dough-boys and marines prominent place. Another man wants a tank to be shown and President Wilson also is recommended for distinction. In connection with the president's portrait, the note is made that while it is unlawful to picture a living celebrity on our postage stamps, "the law has been laid aside so much during the war" that the idea is not inopportune. We have compiled at different times reasons for not depicting the features of living dignitaries on our stamps which at the time seemed all sufficient but in the face of the statement that our correspondent has always believed that honor should be given the person during his life "as what would a person care about a bouquet after he was dead: not I", what lame rejoinder may we make?

Show—There is a chance that the government will loan favorable ear to the request for victory stamps. We have no particular information on which to base a surmise, but we know that different postal administrations have diverse views on the matter of unessential issues. At one time, we were asked to discourage any demand for special sets that came from promoters of national enterprises that wanted the special issue as an advertising advantage for the affair that they were interested in. Capital was made of the department's position, which was such that the extra work entailed in the preparation and handling of the additional stamps was not justified by the results. Latterly, nothing has been heard of objections based on this point and it is likely that the creation of stamps, not exactly necessary from utilitarian view-point, but welcome sentimentally, is not met with antagonism by the department. We hope to have some news on the subject before long.

Sent—From Mr. James C. Jay we have received a card, the description of which is well worth while, as it has a stamp association in a way. The cardboard is of yellowish tint and is about two and one-half by one and one-half inches in size. It bears in neat type the printing: "One Cent. Receivable in payment of postage and redeemable at the New Orleans Post Office. J. L. Riddell, Postmaster, S. S. Riddell, Postage Clerk." A large "1" is sunk into the card in a yellow of deeper color than the color of the card. There is a wood-cut of a cotton bale in each of the upper corners. The "S. S. Riddell" is written in ink while the letters of the name of the postmaster are impressed without color into the paper. The style and size of the letters are those of the name of Mr. Riddell on the five cent New Orleans local stamp. Having no definite record of the use of this slip, we may only theorize as to the service that it performed. Undoubtedly, it was a sort of emergency currency to supply the small change that was so necessary in minor transactions and has some official standing by reason of having been sponsored by the post office which had a governmental authority. It is possible that this variety of provisional money is known to some of our readers who are in a position to enlighten us concerning it.

Shooting—We are hearing tremendous tales of soaring prices of the good old stamps and as we know that they are somewhat more than founded on fact, it becomes necessary to adjust the focus. Catalogue prices in numerous instances seem to have become a mockery and not a by-word for scores of these specimens which are changing hands at prices much above catalogue quotations. We looked for price stimulation, but the present condition exceeds expectation and the eminence that some of the favorites have attained is a dizzy one. Dependence on the catalogue for the shooting stars is likely to lead to complications, as those who have been somewhat backward in accepting the new situation can testify. Prime condition is a leading factor and when it is present in old U. S., early Europeans, triangular Capes, imperforates, etc., the prices are such as to give the old-timer who is somewhat rusty on prevailing market conditions a start. The day of the classics in stamps has been some time in dawning, but those who have waited for it patiently have been rewarded. In this connection, we may speak of the following little instance. A friend whose position is such that he could fairly pose as a philatelic prophet was asked to inform our readers several months ago on market possibilities. In all courtesy he declined to do so, "not from any selfish reasons but because of the chance of going wrong." He explained that no exclusive knowledge even, of the stamp trend could be depended upon as the basis for prediction, as any general upward sweep was due to a variety of causes which joined in one swelling movement. It is all right to generalize, he said, but when it came to citing particular stamps as the ones to buy, he maintained that the very announcement of that statement affected their position.

Sold—The prices in London sales for some of the war stamps from some of the late German colonies surprise us. For instance, in New Britain (German New Guinea), the 3d on 30pf, mint vertical pair, the top stamp with double surcharge, 70 pounds; the 4d on 40pf, with double surcharge, mint, 80 pounds; and the rarities in the second printing ranged from 14 to 65 pounds. It is evident that the demand for stamps of this kind will assure the rarities a place high in the sun.

—We have received from D. C. Alexander, Franklin, Vt., a very pretty label showing a young girl in native costume as the central design. The designated value is 1c. It is printed in blue and the engraving is by the American Banknote Co. of New York. It looks like an advertising label, and anyone who can translate the inscription found in two lines at the bottom of the stamp can no doubt determine its character. The inscription reads:—"Slov. Liga. Slovensky Brat. Objim Si Mat." The stamp is oblong rectangular in shape and is a handsome production.

COLLECTORS' CLUB YEAR BOOK.

We have received from Herman Toaspern a copy of the Year Book of the Collectors' Club of New York for this season. In addition to the constitution and a list of the meetings, exhibitions and competitions, there is special mention made of "an out-of-town championship competition." It is of more than local interest and we publish the following excerpt:—

Following the custom of the past few seasons of holding new and novel competitions to interest the Collectors' Club members and visiting philatelists, it has been decided to hold a championship contest once a year to determine the best collection owned by a member of a philatelic association or club outside of New York City.

It is requested that all philatelic societies have an exhibition at one of their meetings to determine the collection which, in their opinion, is the best. The intention is not to judge all on the same basis. A collection featuring a single issue specialized, containing original research and careful study, will be placed on exactly the same basis as a collection containing rarities and not representing the same amount of study. The idea is not so much the most valuable collection, but the one that is best according to the philatelic ideals of the Club.

The champion collection of each club is in turn to be exhibited in competition at the Collectors' Club, Monday, May 19, 1919.

It is desired that the owner visit the Club with his collection, but if the distance be so great as to preclude this, then the Club will guarantee all forwarding, insurance and other expenses as well as to assure owners of the prompt return of their collection. The Secretaries of the prominent philatelic clubs have been notified. Further information or questions which may arise will be answered by writing the Chairman of the Entertainment Committee at his home address, 233 Greene Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

There will be three medals offered—silver gilt, silver and bronze, as well as Certificates of Award. The rules governing the contest will be the same as for Club competitions. Resident Members of the C. C. will not be allowed to compete, but non-resident members may compete in their respective local societies.

HUNGARY 1908.

By PERCY MCGRAW MANN.

It recently came to my notice that the Hungarian stamps issued in 1908, on the second type crown watermarked paper, were issued on two distinct varieties of paper, one toned or yellowish and the other pure white.

The Hungarian stamps of Scott's types A4 and A5 cover a period of minor changes similar to those which have taken place in our own United States stamps since 1908. First, they were issued on paper watermarked a large fancy "Iron Crown" enclosed in a circle, and this device was multiplied over the sheet, the circles interlacing. The perforations were mixed 11½ and 12, and sets showing several combinations of these gauges can be formed by the studious—and patient observer. That was back in 1900. In 1901 some changes in colors and additional values were issued.

In 1904 to 1907 a series was issued on a new paper showing an "Iron Crown" watermark to each stamp (sometimes the sheet was misplaced and parts of the crown only show) without the circles. These were at first perforated 12 and later perforated 15. The crown of this watermark is almost round and easily distinguished on account of its curved base.

A change of the crown watermark device was made and in 1908 (Jubilee Year) an entire new series was issued, perforated 15. This crown can be determined by the straight base. Then an all-over design of outline double crosses joined by wavy lines was adapted for watermark and the series was issued in 1913-16, introducing some of the values on colored papers (or, rather, on surface-colored papers). The perforation remained the same, 15.

My first paragraph refers to the issue of 1908, the one with straight base crown and my reference collection shows the following, while others probably exist:

Toned Paper.	White Paper.
1f dark blue gray.	1f blue gray.
3f orange.	2f dull yellow.
5f emerald-green.	3f orange.
6f olive green.	5f emerald-green.
10f carmine.	6f gray-green.
12f dark lilac.	10f carmine.
20f violet-brown.	12f purple.
25f blue.	20f violet-brown.
30f yellow-brown.	25f blue.
30f orange-brown.	35f violet.
35f red-violet.	50f deep rose.
50f lake.	2k blue.
60f green.
1k brown-red.
2k blue.
5k violet-brown.

The cancellations on the white paper varieties show the dates of 1911-12 and the toned papers are the commoner, so it is my belief that the pure white paper only had a short life preceding the double cross watermark paper which appeared in 1913.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Your editor is now in a position to definitely state that there will shortly be issued a new 3c postage stamp to commemorate the successful termination of the war—a victory stamp in other words. In our issue of January 25th we advised that we had been led to believe that such a stamp would appear but since then proofs have been run off. I understand these have been approved and the plates themselves have perhaps been completed and printed from.

The design shows a female figure, representing "Victory", the color will be violet, the denomination 3c, and they will be printed upon unwatermarked paper, perforated 11.

Regarding the 1c surface print which heretofore has been on sale in Washington only, we now learn that the variety has appeared in both New York and Philadelphia. Those on sale in New York are from plates numbered 9496, 9509, 9517, 9518, 9519, 9521, 9525 and higher while those in Philadelphia are from plates 9261 and 9403, the former being the lowest located as yet. We will anxiously await advice as to the whereabouts of those sheets bearing the first number 9095 and would not be surprised to find them distributed through one or more of the smaller offices. Quite a number of our readers have shown great interest in these surface printed stamps from the earlier plates, so we trust our correspondents will keep us fully informed, especially should impressions from the first plate be found.

Speaking of the surface printed stamps, the Nassau Stamp Company has shown us a very interesting sheet of the 3c denominations, where the roller seems to have been greatly over-inked resulting in an impression hard to describe. The stamps appear as rectangular blots of ink rather than anything else. They also show us a clearly printed sheet from the same plate in a vastly different shade. This shows us quite conclusively that we cannot describe and list certain shades as coming from certain plates as we have been led to believe was the case by some of our contemporaries.

Mr. A. E. Owen calls our attention to an odd defect in the upper right pane of the 3c type IV. In the early plates of this type we find a heavy colored spot under the "S" of "U. S." This defect is found on all of the lower numbered plates but it must have been noted by the Bureau for they have attempted to rectify it recently. They, however, made little improvement for the colored spot now appears white.

Our attention has just been called to the fact that the philatelic press has failed to inform its readers that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing had made up three plates of 153 subjects for printing booklet panes upon the rotary press. Heretofore nothing but coils in the way of postage stamps, have come from these presses. Some months back, however, three plates bearing numbers 7917, 7918 and 7960 were completed but these have not gone to press as yet. As these plates must be used in pairs it is quite likely that one of the first two made was damaged in some way, otherwise it is hardly conceivable why a third plate was made at a later date. These plates have the subjects arranged 17 by 9 so when two plates are fitted together 306 stamps are printed at one revolution of the cylinder. This means that 51 booklet panes of 6 are thus produced.

We mentioned in our last edition that the First Assistant Postmaster General had issued an order to all postmasters, instructing them to cancel all mail in black by means of the regular cancellers. A letter just received from the Post Office Department confirms this information and informs us that in the future airplane mail will not receive a special postmark "as it has been found inadvisable to cancel any one class of mail with a special cancellation stamp." What is the result? In the future a cover carrying a letter through the regular mail weighing between one and two ounces and having its postage paid by a 6c aeroplane stamp will not differ in appearance from an aeroplane cover. Watch the next report of the Post Office Department for the amount of mail carried via airplane and we predict that we will find a dropping off of at least twenty-five per cent.

We desire to thank Messrs. Joseph Demer, C. A., Sittig, Chas. M. Breder, E. S. Jamieson, James P. Cooper and others for information of interest.

AUSTRALIA.—We have been favored by Harry S. Cann, Jr., with specimens of the new 1½d King George. These stamps have aready been chronicled.

CEYLON.—We chronicled recently some new provisionals, but in the Stamp Collector's Fortnightly, a Ceylon paper is quoted to a considerable extent and we consider the details worthy of passing on to our readers:—The provisionals were issued to meet a public necessity caused by an increase in postage rates. We quote:—

In consequence of the increase in postal rates taking effect from to-day, many people are wondering what they are to do with the old two cents and five cents stamps, of which many of us have a number on hand. The answer is supplied by the appearance on some of the letters this morning of a one cent stamp, which is really an ordinary five cents stamp with the words "One Cent" printed over it. The words "War Stamp" are also printed on some of the stamps above the words "One Cent" in view of the increase in the postal rates being due to war legislation. This does not, however, alter the value of the one cent stamps. Hence an old five cents stamp on which is printed "one cent" or "war stamp—one cent," has to be added to letters bearing an ordinary five cents stamp to make six cents, the new rate. The authorities are printing a new one cent stamp, but as it will be several months before it is issued, this temporary conversion of some of the five cents into one cent stamps has been resorted to. Similarly two two cent stamps must be used on a postcard to make four cents. A letter (Home letters for instance), the destination of which is outside Ceylon and India, requires a six cents stamp plus a three cents stamp to make nine cents.

The stamps which have been overprinted, to provide for the increase in the postal rates, are the 2c orange-brown, the 3c green, and the 5c bright purple, all of the current Georgian series.

All the overprints, which we should say are of local production, are in black roman capitals; and on the 5 cents we have three different inscriptions.

First of all, we get each of the three values overprinted WAR STAMP in two lines, across the King's head.

Then the 5 cents comes with its value reduced to ONE CENT, the new denomination being in one line, printed just above the tablet containing the original value, which is cancelled by a line of "printers' rule", extending from end to end of each horizontal row of stamps.

Finally, the 5 cents appears with both overprint and surcharge, in the respective positions already given, and evidently printed at one and the same operation.

Mr. Hollick tells us that about two millions of each will be issued, and that, so far as he is aware, there are no minor varieties to be recorded.

We, therefore, chronicle:—
18th Nov., 1918—Georgian series; Mult. Crown "CA"; perf. 14.

COLOMBIA. — Mr. John P. Cooper shows us a copy of a new stamp of this country. It is of the 3 centavos value and the color is red. The centre of the stamp shows the arms of the republic while the border has the words CORREOS DE COLOMBIA at the top and the value figures at the bottom with the word CENTAVOS between. Mr. Cooper shows us at the same time copies of the 1, 2, 3, and 5 centavos stamps, revenue type, postally used.

DENMARK.—Mr. W. T. Wilson shows us copies of the following new values 7 ore orange, 30 ore green and black, and 40 ore violet and black. The type is the same as Scott's A16.

EGYPT.—A further provisional arrives in the shape of the chestnut Official stamp (no value expressed), surcharged "3 P. T.", and with Arabic equivalent in black. Mr. Léonce Colucci Bey kindly sends us an unused copy.

A clause of the "Postal Circular" (for a copy of which we are indebted to our Cairo correspondent) reads:—

STAMPED PAPER OF P. T. 3.

"As the stock of the above stamped paper is almost exhausted, it has been decided to issue old Government stamps, 'Service de l'Etat,' surcharged 'P. T. 3', for this purpose. These will be sold to the public for attachment to petitions, &c., instead of the usual stamped paper."

2. Same stamps, overprinted "Regno d'Italia—Trentino—3.XI.18."

3. Current Hungarian stamps, overprinted "FIUME."

4. All values of current Italian stamps, overprinted as No. 1.

The numbers issued of Nos. 1, 2, and 3 were very limited, and our friends say that, so far, they have been unable to obtain any. It is as yet uncertain whether they will be able to distribute No. 4 to their new issue subscribers.

Thanks to Mr. H. R. Harmer we have before us an envelope posted in Trento, Nov. 30 (?), 1918, and also bearing the Genoa cancellation, the only adhesives on it being the following:—

1. Current 20c stamp of Italy, overprinted "Venezia—Tridentino" in two lines.

2. The same, with the addition of "20 Heller" as third line.

3. Current 10h (Coronation) stamp of Austria, overprinted "Regno d'Italia—Trentino—3 Nov. 1918", in three lines.

With regard to the first of the three varieties, that particular overprint appears on the lower part of the stamp, and quite possibly is identical with the second variety, the surcharged value having been impressed on the stamp below that which should have received the entire overprint of three lines

We are told that, in the first printings of the overprint "Regno d'Italia—Trentino—3 Nov. 1918", the numeral "8" was inserted, by error in place of the "3", so that a few stamps were actually printed and distributed with the date indicated as "8 Nov. 1918". Very few copies got into circulation, however, before this error was noticed.

The following figures are stated to represent the total numbers printed of the two types of overprint which are already obsolete.

Overprint "Regno d'Italia—Trentino—3 Nov. 1918."

'TIS GOOD

An old lady, when she baked pies could never tell which was the Apple and which the Mince so she decided to mark them. She marked one set "T. M." for 'Taint Mince and also the other set "T. M." for 'Tis Mince. And the poor old lady is still wondering which is which.

The items I advertised in the Victory Special seem to have been taken for used, but in truth they are UNUSED and the offer is still good.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

REVENUE STAMPS.—These are stamps issued solely for fiscal purposes as distinguished from those issued for the prepayment of postage or available for both postal and fiscal purposes.

REVERSED.—Some of the stamps issued in Mafeking during the famous siege of 1900 were produced by a photographic process and in printing at least one sheet of the 3d the negative was placed wrong way round with the result that on this sheet all the impressions are reversed. Reversed impressions are sometimes found on the backs of stamps but these are merely "off-sets" caused by the sheets being piled on top of each other before the ink had properly dried. Reversed watermarks, due to stamps being printed on the wrong side of the paper, are by no means uncommon. The term reversed is sometimes, but quite erroneously, used for inverted, implying upside-down.

R. F.—These initials are found on many French colonial stamps and are simply an abbreviation for "Republique Francaise".

R. G.—An overprint found on certain South Australian stamps used during the period 1868-74 on the correspondence from the office of the Registrar-General. They were superseded in 1874 by the general issue for all government departments with the "O. S." overprint.

R. H.—A watermark shown in the two stamps issued in Hayti in 1898. They are intended to signify "Republique d'Haiti".

R. H. OFFICIAL.—An overprint applied to the King Edward ½d and 1d stamps of Great Britain in 1902 for use on the official correspondence of the Royal Household. They were suppressed in 1904 together with all other British departmental stamps.

RHEATOWN.—A small village in Tennessee philatelically famous from the fact that in 1861 its then postmaster issued a special 5c stamp just before the general issue for the Confederacy came into being.

RHODESIA.—An extensive territory in South Africa administered by the British South Africa Company. Its stamps, first issued in 1890, were until 1909 inscribed British South Africa Company, but since that year they have borne the correct name of the territory. The name is taken from that of Cecil John Rhodes who was the dominating figure in its development until the time of his death in 1902.

RI.—The French equivalent for "re" or "rin" shown on one of the stamps of the 1903 issue for Corea, which issue was engraved and printed in Paris.

RIOS.—A control mark stamped upon all the stamps of Ecuador issued in the province of Los Rios in 1902 for the reason explained under "Guayas".

RIBBED PAPER.—This paper differs from Rep in that one side is smooth and the other is in alternate furrows and ridges, the paper being thinner in the furrows than it is in the ridges.

RIDDELL, J. L.—The postmaster of New Orleans, Louisiana, whose name appears on the special 2c and 5c stamps he caused to be issued in 1861 for facilitating the prepayment of postage before the regular Confederate stamps appeared.

RIGSBANK-SKILLING.—The value in which the first two stamps for Denmark were expressed. The unit of value at that time was the "marcbanco", divided into 48½ rigsbank-skilling, and worth about 35c in American money.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We have received a very interesting letter from Lieut. Chas. G. Brown, Jr., home address Huntingdon, Pa., but now with the A. E. F. in France. Lieut. Brown gives us several items of news and we should be pleased to publish the letter in full were it not for the embargo he has placed upon it. We take the liberty of making one reference to the contents of the letter. A copy of the 90c 1869 on the original cover has been located by one of our U. S. philatelists in the service, and its appearance here in the States will be awaited with interest. Lieut. Brown comments "This should create quite a sensation in collecting circles."

—Supplementing our chronicle this week of a proposed "VICTORY" stamp we have received letters from John P. Cooper and A. C. Roessler in which the P. O. Department states that such a stamp is in preparation.

—Edw. Sauer, Richmond, Ind., gives a warning concerning a party who has this address:—The Perrines, care Wayne Christy, Majestic Theatre Bdg., Chicago, Ill. Mr. Sauer writes "This party is a member of a vaudeville team calling themselves The Perrines and I believe he is operating in various towns. He usually looks up collectors and requests them to register valuable lots of stamps to the address given. I can get no reply to letters mailed him."

—We have received from Mr. John Reid a military cancellation similar to the one described by Mr. Kimball in a recent issue of the WEEKLY. The only difference consists in the addition of the word "Postal" while the letters "C.P.O." are in the center. Mr. Reid has seen this cancellation in both purple and red.

—We are informed by D. C. Alexander, Franklin, Vt., that an effort is being made to revive the Vermont Philatelic Society and collectors interested are invited to correspond with Mr. Alexander.

—We are advised of the death of H. J. Howlett, 250 Washington Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. We are asked to notify dealers and auction firms to remove Mr. Howlett's name from their lists.

—Wm. Schwarz informs us that the Pittsburg Sunday Gazette of Feb. 2 contained a striking half-page in the magazine section entirely devoted to stamps and stamp collecting. Mr. Jessup, the editor of this department, is doing a fine bit of service.

—The Philatelic Society of Pittsburgh, Pa., will hold a "Come-Meet-Us-Smoker," Tuesday, Feb. 18, at Hotel Henry. Those who do not smoke will have enough to interest them in a stamp exhibit, auction and raffle of stamp donations.

WASHINGTON — FIRST ON OUR STAMPS.

By C. A. Howes.

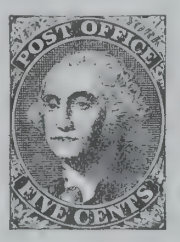
"To the memory of the man, first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen!" Thus spoke Gen. Henry Lee in his eulogy on George Washington delivered in Congress on December 26, 1799. And the philatelists of a century later might add: "first and foremost on the postal issues of his country."

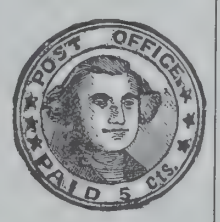
As is well known, the United States was somewhat slow in adopting the English system of prepayment of postage by means of stamps, which also accompanied a sweeping reduction in postal charges, and which took effect on May 1, 1840. Several other countries recognized the advantages of the new scheme before this country took any action in the matter, even the South American Empire of Brazil being four years ahead of us. But at last popular clamor caused Congress to move in the matter, and by the act of March 3, 1845, the previous heavy letter charges, regulated by the distance traversed, were abolished and the single rate made uniform at five cents for all distances under three thousand miles. In the same act was a provision for the adoption of the English system of prepayment by means of adhesive stamps, but this was stricken out at the last minute.

But if Congress was so conservative in making innovations, the various postmasters throughout the country were at least awake to the advantages which the postage stamp system offered. Hence the various "Postmasters' Provisionals," which might never have appeared if the clause spoken of had not been stricken from the law of 1845. This law also accounts for their being all of five or ten cent denomination—the first for single letters, as already noted; the second for double letters or those going beyond the limit of three thousand miles.

Among these provisionals, the best known and most common is perhaps that of the Postmaster of New York, Robert H. Morris. It is fortunate for the purpose of this article that this stamp was of private make since it can therefore be illustrated without hindrance from the Post Office Inspectors. Many foreign countries are vastly more liberal than our own in this regard, allowing reproductions of their stamps for legitimate, illustrative or educational purposes; but our own is so strict that the outlawed and demonetized issues of 1847 and 1851-7 cannot even be reproduced.

This handsome stamp made its appearance in July, 1845, and was the first stamp on Government mail to bear a portrait. Naturally, perhaps, the subject selected was America's first citizen, the greatest man the Republic had produced up to that time—the immortal George Washington. It was not till a year later that its only companion Postmaster's stamp to bear a portrait—that of Millbury, Mass.,—made its appearance, the idea as well as the portrait being acknowledged to have been suggested by the receipt of mail from New York bearing the stamps of that office.





When at last Congress found that the postage stamp was a thing that could not be evaded, it finally passed an act on March 3, 1847, authorizing the preparation and use of the Government stamps, and prohibiting the further use of any issued by postmasters on and after July 1 of that year. The Government stamps were not ready until August 5, however, when they appeared in the two values we should expect from the postal rates—five and ten cents. In this issue and that of 1869, as will be seen. Washington's features did not appear upon the value in most common use for letter mail, as they have in all other cases, barring the commemorative series. Other values, however, were honored with his portrait in the early issues, most all being the same as that upon the New York stamp. This portrait is known as "Stuart's portrait," or more accurately, perhaps, as the "Athenæum portrait."

If the collector will glance through his collection of United States stamps, he will find this picture of Washington appearing upon the following varieties:

Issue of 1847, 10c.
Issue of 1851-7, 10c, 12c, 24c.
Issue of 1861-8, 10c, 12c, 24c.
Issue of 1869, 6c.
Issue of 1902, 2c.
Issue of 1903, 2c.

The story of this portrait, the best known likeness of the "Father of His Country," should be familiar to all. The artist was Gilbert Charles Stuart, an American painter, who was in England until after the Revolution. He then became desirous of painting his most illustrious countryman, and returned for the express purpose. While Congress was in session at Philadelphia in 1794, Stuart went thither with letters of introduction to Washington from John Jay. He first met his famous subject on a reception evening, and was greeted by him with dignified cordiality. Familiar as was the artist with eminent men, he afterwards declared that no human being ever awakened in him the sentiment of reverence to such a degree. For a moment he lost his self-possession—with him an experience quite unprecedented—and it was not until several interviews that he felt himself enough at home with his sitter to give the requisite concentration of mind to his work.

The portrait itself was finished in due course, but the background was never filled in, and in that condition it still remains. At the same time he also painted a portrait of Martha Washington, which remains in like condition. Concerning these portraits Miss Stuart says: "When General and Mrs. Washington took their last sittings, my father told Washington it would be of great importance to him to retain the originals, to which Washington replied: 'Certainly, Mr. Stuart, if they are of any consequence to you; I shall be perfectly satisfied with copies from your hand, as it will be impossible for me to sit again at present.' The copies made from the originals were for Mount Vernon. A short time after these last pictures were finished, the President called on my father to express the perfect satisfaction of Mrs. Washington and himself at his success."

The above extract apparently refutes the common story to the effect that Stuart's first trial did not suit him and was erased; that the next attempt was the one under discussion, which was so successful that the artist did not want to part with it, keeping it "unfinished" as an excuse, while he made copies of it.

After the death of Stuart these two portraits were offered by his widow to the State of Massachusetts (the artist's home was in Boston) for the sum of one thousand dollars, which offer was declined. Subsequently an English gentleman offered ten thousand dollars for the pair; but while Mrs. Stuart was hesitating, thinking they ought to remain in America, he became impatient and departed. Some time after that, an offer of fifteen hundred dollars was accepted from the Washington Association and other gentlemen who, in 1831, presented them to the Boston Athenæum, whence the name usually applied to them. Here they remained for fifty years, when they were transferred to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, where they now are.

We give a cut of the Millbury stamp to show how much it does not look like Washington, although supposed to have been copied from the New York stamp.

We also include a cut of one of the New York Carriers' stamps, for practically the same reason. The latter belonged first to a private delivery company, which so cut into the Post Office business that the Government practically bought them out by employing them, adding the name "United States" to the former title of "City Despatch Post." These were really the first stamps in this country and the first following the example of Great Britain. The Confederate States likewise chose to represent Washington on one of their issues, as will be seen by the 20c green of the 1863 issue (Scott's A9), and adopted the Athenæum portrait, which was very well reproduced.

It might be added, in passing, that the head of Martha Washington on the current 8 cent stamp is from the companion portrait of the Athenæum Washington, which was spoken of above.

But one other portrait of Washington has been employed upon the United States stamps. The ninety cent values of both the 1857 and 1861-8 issues present features of quite a different aspect from the venerable face of Stuart's. The original was a full length figure of Washington painted by John Trumbull, another American artist. He knew the General at the outbreak of the Revolution, when he was about forty-five and in the prime of life, and was with him again toward the close of the war in 1782-3. No other artist saw more of Washington under circumstances so favorable to a study of his person and character, and none was honored by him with more sittings.

Trumbull, in his autobiography, says: "In 1792 I was again in Philadelphia, and there painted the portrait of General Washington which is now placed in the gallery at New Haven, the best, in my estimation, which exists, in his heroic military character. The city of Charleston, South Carolina, intrusted William R. Smith, one of the Representatives of South Carolina, to employ me to paint for them a portrait of the great man, and I undertook it con amore, (as the commission was unlimited), meaning to give his military character, in the most sublime moment of its exertion—the evening previous to the battle of Princeton; when viewing the vast superiority of his approaching enemy, and the impossibility of again crossing the Delaware, or retreating down the river, he conceives the plan of returning by a night march into the country from which he had just been driven, thus cutting off the enemy's communications, and destroying his depot of stores and provisions at Brunswick. I told the President my object; he entered into it warmly, and as the work advanced, we talked of the scene, its dangers, its almost desperation. He looked the scene again, and I happily transferred to the canvas the lofty expression of his animated countenance, the high resolve to conquer or to perish. The result was, in my opinion, eminently successful, and the General was satisfied. But it did not meet the views of Mr. Smith. He admired, he was personally pleased, but he thought the city would be better satisfied with a more matter-of-fact likeness, such as they had recently seen him—calm, tranquil, peaceful. . . . Another was painted for Charleston, agreeable to their taste—a view of the city in the background, a house with scenery, and plants of the climate; and when the State Society of the Cincinnati of Connecticut dissolved themselves, the first picture, at the expense of some of the members, was presented to Yale College."

Trumbull claimed that his portrait represented Washington as he knew him, and as he was known to his associates, the members of his military family. He said his aim was "to preserve the military character of the great original," and that "in the countenance of the hero the likeness, the mere map of his face, was not all that was attempted." It is a good portrait, and many artists affirm that, from internal evidence, it is doubtless the truest likeness of the man.

We now come to the third representation of Washington, the profile bust. The Act of Congress approved March 3, 1851, reduced the single rate for letters to three cents, and the new issue required in consequence shows the features of the first President in this form upon the stamp for ordinary correspondence. A list of the stamps bearing this profile bust is as follows:

Issue of 1851-7, 3 cents.
" 1861-8, 3 cents.
" 1870, 3 cents.
Departments, 1873, 3 cents.

This likeness is taken from the marble statue of Washington in the State Capitol at Richmond, Virginia. The story of the statue is as follows: The General Assembly of Virginia, soon after the declaration of peace that closed the Revolution, decreed a statue to General Washington, to be placed in the Capitol in Richmond, and "to be the finest marble and best workmanship." Jefferson and Franklin, being then in Paris, were authorized to select the artist, and they chose Jean Antoine Houdon. Concerning him Jefferson wrote: "He is the finest statuary of his age," and again: "He is without rivalship in it, being employed in all parts of Europe in whatever is capital."

It was necessary for Houdon to see Washington to take his figure, and the latter wrote him: "It will give me pleasure, Sir, to welcome you to this seat of my retirement, and whatever I have or can procure that is necessary to your purposes or convenient or agreeable to your wishes, you must freely command, as inclination to oblige you will be among the last things in which I shall be found deficient."

Houdon reached Mount Vernon on October 3, 1785, and remained a fortnight, during which time he took a cast of the face, head and upper part of the body, and minute measurements of his person, and studies of the costume of the period which Washington daily wore.

The artist was to receive as compensation for the statue and pedestal, 25,000 livres, or $5,000, and his expenses for the trip to Virginia reimbursed to him. In addition, his life was to be insured during the time of his absence from France. The contract allowed him three years for the completion of the statue, and it was done within the time. The State Capitol, however, was not finished, so that the statue was not shipped until its site was ready for it. It was finally erected in the quadrangle of the Capitol on May 14, 1796.

The statue is a remarkably fine piece of chiseling, the treatment of the face being so delicate that it needs but the flush of natural color to make it absolutely lifelike. It presents the figure erect, the head uncovered, the sword on the left, the cane in the right hand, and the fasces and plough at his side. It is exact life size—six feet two inches in height. Those acquainted with Washington have pronounced this statue the best representation of his person which exists. Lafayette, on his visit to America in later years, pronounced it a "facsimile of Washington's person." It therefore well deserves the place which has been given it upon the stamps of our country.

Beside the adhesive stamps, the Houdon bust has been placed upon all the envelope stamps bearing Washington's head. All the Civil War revenues, also, had Stuart's portrait as an invariable center piece down to 1875. On the proprietary issues from 1875 to 1881, however, Houdon's profile bust appears. The Stuart portrait will likewise be found upon a beer stamp of 1878, a tobacco stamp of 1868, a snuff stamp of 1872, and a few stamps for imported cigars.

DOTS.

By PERCY MCGRAW MANN.

Have you noticed the "dot" in front of some plate numbers of our current U. S. stamps? The dot is not there on all plates, and it is not in front of each number of each plate.

I have found it somewhat regularly in front of the top number of the upper right hand pane of 100 stamps, and also a few at the left plate number of the upper left hand pane of 100. I have endeavored to discover whether it occurred more than once on a plate, and while the proof sheets at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing would disclose the facts in this case, I am not in a position to examine these sheets at this time, even though I had permission to do so, and I have not as yet discovered the dot before the number more than once to a sheet of 400 (four panes of 100) stamps.

A letter addressed to the Bureau brings the following reply from James M. Fisher, Acting Director, under date of Feb. 8:

"Sir:—

I am in receipt of your letter of the 6th instant in which you request to have explained to you the significance of the dot in front of the plate number, as shown on the blocks of stamps enclosed by you.

In reply I beg to state that this dot has no significance whatever outside of this Bureau, it being a dot placed by the Distributor of Stock in our Engraving Division, to indicate that the plate is ready for the press."

I must explain that the dot appears on the recess or engraved plates. Collectors of blocks of six with plate numbers will now want blocks showing the number with and the number without the dot, that is, for instance, plate number from left, upper left pane of plate 9100, showing the dot, and plate number from left, lower left pane, without the dot, or plate number from top, upper right pane, of plate 8912, showing the dot, and plate number from top, upper left pane, without the dot. Why not?

EDITORIAL.

Complaint—While the resumption of mail relations with different countries of the world that was discontinued in consequence of the war is a hopeful indication yet it is evident that there remains important work of readjustment from the viewpoint of the stamp folk who claim the world as their oyster. The extension of different branches of the service is recorded in the orders issued from the departments and all this is pleasing. In passing, it is to be recorded that beginning February 1st, 1919, a parcel post service to Siam was established. We have had complaints from several quarters that the exporting of stamps is being interfered with, perhaps through misinterpretation of the provisions of the special export licenses. Cases as reported to us reverse each other. We can understand how some confusion has resulted among postmasters in view of the fact that at Washington on February 1st, 1919, the War Trade Board announced the withdrawal, revision or confirmation of special export RAC licenses. Four licenses "now in effect governing exportations to foreign countries" were summarized by the department on February 1st, but as some further instructions have emanated from Washington, we advise that the stamp man who does any exporting of stamps take up the question involving his shipments with his postmaster, who, in the case of any uncertainty as to his procedure is obliged to refer the points involved to Washington. We notice that a number of foreign countries are levying an additional charge on parcel post packages delivered within their borders.

Close—From a correspondent we have received a label that has a strong resemblance in design to the five cent U. S. postage due stamp, first type. The stamp is lithographed in brown and around the large central "5" is the inscription, "American District Messenger Co." Over the number is "Paid" and below is "Cents." There is an imprint in tiny lettering at the lower margin: "Spike Bros. & Co., Tacoma." We mention this label as a first cousin to a stamp even though its uses were not such as to allow the stamp to claim philatelic recognition. Correspondents from time to time send in many labels that are just lacking the philatelic touch, although nowadays there are so many full-fledged stamps to vie for collecting favor that the side line that is philatelic only by suggestion is given little attention.

Crushing—The following letter speaks for itself: "Well, well, you sophisticated fellows fell for the 'thoroughly up-to-date game' of the Ladies' Home Journal which is 'the guessing of objects on the new three-cent stamp'. Now I will swear that you do not try to please yourself with the contents of your paper. I am particularly struck with the question and answer, 'What is good for only one trip? A stamp,' in view of the fact that I have just received in an auction lot a stamp that twice before I had owned. It has made a number of trips since years ago it left my possession the first time. To own this stamp for the third time establishes no record either, I should say, as the recurrence of certain scarce stamps in the stamp mart must mean that by confidence, the stamp here and there may have the same owner a good many times."

Coming—We are pleased to notice that the local societies whose activities have been much curtailed and in a few instances entirely suspended during the war period are being restored to pristine vigor. The local organization of stamp collectors while primarily a source of philatelic pleasure for the members possesses great possibilities as a stamp advertiser. Mr. A. F. Henkels writes: "The regular meeting of the Philadelphia Stamp Club of March 4th, 1919, has been designated as American Philatelic Society night. Special and appropriate entertainment has been provided and all the A. P. S. members residing in Philadelphia and vicinity have been invited to attend. Most of the local members of the A. P. S. are members also of the Philadelphia Stamp Club and so the Club has thought it proper to extend the hand of fellowship to the members of our foremost society, trusting that the existing bond of friendship between the two organizations may be more firmly cemented."

Correct—To the several correspondents who have reported the "United States Postal Agency, Siberia" military postmarks, we wish to say that the third assistant postmaster general informs us that under date of September 28th, 1918, he announced that a postal agency had been established in that country. The several forms of marking employed by this agency have been described. The recall of our troops from Siberia would mean the discontinuance of the agency, it is fair to assume.

Confirmed—A correspondent who subscribes himself as an old-time collector says that he was much interested in the remarks of J. W. Scott, as quoted in this column previously on the Two Sicilies Bomba head set. He says: "I paid twenty-five cents to L. W. Durbin of Philadelphia in 1879 for a copy of his catalogue published in the same year and upon again consulting this relic, I find that the Bomba issue is priced from five to thirty cents each. As a boy, these stamps were popular with me but not with my companions, as a rule, and I believe that I was one of the first specialists as I had duplicates of some of these stamps in my album, although this deviation from the paths of regularity exposed me to the taunts of the young philatelic puritans. The quotation on the five grani red used was ten cents; and it is now quoted one hundred and fifty times as much. My greatest piece of extravagance was the payment of a quarter for a ten groschen green of Hanover. Never fear, I am not going to submit a list of comparative catalogue quotations."

Comment—The other day we had the privilege of inspecting a good old collection that had been resurrected by a collector who again feels the "urge" of philately. The catalogue value of many of the stamps in his fifth edition International Album is now dollars where it had been cents in 1880 when the collection chiefly was made. However, there was shadow with the sunshine because many of best stamps were in a condition not to be tolerated in select philatelic circles. What impressed us about the collection were certain little cards or labels that were pasted alongside of several of the scarcer stamps on which was written in the hand of a dealer dead these many years: "This stamp is warranted genuine," with his signature. We remember that many of the old dealers advertised that they were willing to furnish testimonials as to the genuineness of the stamps that they sold, but we do not remember having seen rather ordinary stamps treated to this distinction before. From our observation, it follows that collectors did not seek to avail themselves of the opportunity to have their rare stamps vouched for by the dealer in the manner indicated. We are not referring to the initialing of the stamps on their backs.

MASS. STOCK TRANSFER STAMPS.

By Wm. H. McLain.

The Massachusetts Tax Stamps are printed by the American Bank Note Co., in sheets of 100, with large margins all around, so there are no straight edges. No particular care seems to be taken in perforating, so that a well centered copy is an accident.

The values are: 2, 4, 10, 20, 50c, $1, $2, $10.

The State does not handle these stamps directly through any department, but has appointed the Old Colony Trust Company as agent and the accounting is done by the bank and the Tax Commissioner in co-operation.

It is made unlawful—in the act creating this tax—for anyone to buy or sell these stamps through any one but the O. C. Trust Company or authorized agents of the State. This, of course, refers to the stamps before use, but the brokers do not or will not so understand it, and used copies are hard to get. Brokers file the transfer slips away in their safes with bonds and other valuables, some under the impression it is criminal to allow them out of their possession, others to be on the safe side in case of State inspection, and some in the vain hope that some time the law will be declared unconstitutional and they will have only to present the stamps to get their money back.

MINT U. S. IN SHADES AND MINOR VARIETIES
We have just purchased a nice lot of these, in blocks, strips and singles. They date from 1888 to 1918 and contain many fine minor varieties. Rich in shades of the 3c violet and many minor varieties. Not enough of any one item to advertise but will be glad to submit selections to interested collectors.
Also offer, a nice lot of Plate Number strips from 1894 to date.
Another purchase gives us a very fine lot of British Colonies, mint, surcharged SPECIMEN. These are very scarce items. They are now ready to send on approval.
Also have some nice proofs and essays of both U. S. and foreign to offer at moderate prices.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

RIKSDALER.—The unit of currency in Sweden until 1878 when it was superseded by the krona. At first the riksdaler was divided into 48 skillingbanco and was worth about 42c. In 1858 it was divided into 100 öre and its value was then about 30c.

RIN.—The value shown on some of the stamps of Japan. Ten rin are equal to a sen which, in turn, is equal to about ½c in American money.

RIO DE ORO.—(River of Gold), A Spanish possession in West Africa having an area of 70,000 square miles and a population of about 130,000. Postage stamps were first issued in 1905.

RIO HA HA.—A small town in the province of Magdalena, Colombia, at which a number of provisional stamps were made locally from ordinary printers' type in 1901 during a temporary shortage of the regular issue.

RIZEH.—A town of Asia Minor on the Black Sea, 40 miles east of Trebizond, with a population of only about 3000. Since 1909 the stamps used in the Russian consular post office established there have been specially overprinted "Rizeh".

R. M.—A watermark found in some of the stamps of the 1896-97 issue of Mexico—sometimes in conjunction with an eagle. The letters are an abbreviation for "Republica Mexicana" (Republic of Mexico).

R. N. S.—These letters, in monogram form, are overprinted on many of the stamps of the Indian state of Bussahir. They are the initials of Tika Raghunath Singh, son of the present Rajah, who was the organiser and former director of the country's postal system.

R. O.—An overprint found upon certain Turkish stamps intended for use in Eastern Roumelia. The letters stand for "Roumelia Orientale" i. e. Eastern Roumelia.

II. A watermark shown in the two stamps issued in Uruguay in 1909. The letters are for "Republica Oriental"—an ancient name for the country.

ROBERTSPORT.—One of the towns of the Republic of Liberia which has its own special registration stamps.

RODI.—One of the Aegean Islands which, since it came under Italian dominion in 1913, has had its own distinctive issue of postage stamps.

ROMAGNA.—The name given to the provinces of Bologna, Ferrara, Forli, and Ravenna, in Italy, which before 1859 formed part of the States of the Church. In that year these provinces seceded from the Pontifical States and special stamps were issued. These had a very short life for they were soon superseded by the stamps of Sardinia and, a few years later, by those for the kingdom of Italy.

ROMAGNE.—The Italian name for Romagna as shown upon the stamps issued by that federation of provinces.

ROMAN STATES.—One of the names by which the group of Italian states formerly subject to the temporal authority of the Vatican are known. The other names covering the same group are States of the Church or the Pontifical States. Special postage stamps for these states were first issued in 1852 and they were not finally suppressed until 1870.

ROMANA.—A local rendering of Roumania as shown upon many of the stamps of that country.

ROMANIA.—Another form for Roumania which has appeared on all stamps issued since 1885 and a few earlier ones.

ROMAN TYPE.—This is the ordinary upright type in which most newspapers, books, and magazines are printed and which has frequently been used in surcharging postage stamps.

ROUAD IS.—An island in the eastern Mediterranean now administered by France and for which special stamps have been issued since 1916.

ROUBLE.—The unit of value in Russia. A rouble is divided into 100 kopecs and in normal times is worth about 50c in United States currency.

ROUGH PERFORATION.—A term used to distinguish certain stamps from others of similar design and color having "clean-cut perforation". These differences in the appearance of the perforation often form the points of distinction between separate printings or the work of different perforating machines.

ROUGH IMPRESSION.—A term used to differentiate certain stamps from others printed from the same plates. Thus apart from the perforation it is possible to distinguish the 1872 stamps of Roumania printed in Paris from the later printings made in Roumania itself. In the former all details of the design are sharp and clear while in the latter they are rough and inferior.

ROULETTE.—This is a form of perforation in which small slits are cut into the paper between the stamps instead of holes being punched as in ordinary perforation. The cuts may be straight, curved, or zig-zag, and they are usually made by a number of small wheels or discs properly spaced so that a whole sheet, or at any rate several rows can be rouletted at once.

Sometimes the cuts are colored, this form being known as "rouletting in colored lines". Though this is not true rouletting, as the slits are not made with a wheel, its effect is the same. This style of separation can only be used in the case of stamps printed from separate blocks or cliches. Between each row of cliches thin strips of metal "printers' rule" are placed, these metal strips being the merest trifle higher than the surface of the stamp plate. Thus, when the stamps are printed the edges of these metal strips also receive a film of ink, and as they are slightly raised, they at the same time cut small slits in the paper.

$1.00 Cat. Value Free
Four hundred different stamps. None damaged. All in fine condition. The advanced collector would doubtless find many in this packet to add to his collection, while the beginner would have a start such as very few collectors have. The price is $1.20.
Mexican Dollar given. With the above packet I will send as a present a Mexican Villa dollar till my supply gives out. Can't tell just how long these curios will last. Among the 400 varieties in the $1.20 packet mentioned above will be found one stamp alone that catalogues at $1 or over.
A LETTER ABOUT IT.
The packet of stamps sent me was better than advertised and I am glad to be able to say a good word for both yourself and the stamps.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our chronicle of last week we mentioned the new 3c stamp about to be issued and was able to give a few meager details that reached us from Washington. We are now in receipt of a letter from the Post Office Department, dated February 7th, replying to a letter which we wrote over a month previous and in this we are informed that "a Victory postage stamp of 3c denomination is under preparation and will probably be issued within a few weeks." We will furnish further details just as soon as we can obtain definite advice. The stamps will without doubt be printed in sheets of four hundred and at least four plates, we judge, will be made; probably more.

While purchasing stamps, recently, from one of the Philadelphia Post Offices we found a sheet of the current 3c Type IV which appeared to be printed upon a purple surface paper. This may be due to a dirty roller. We, however, find the coloring extending about one-half of an inch beyond the stamps on each margin in such a regular manner that we are under the impression that some of the ink has been adhering to the plate in places where it should remain clean and this in turn has been transferred to the roller.

Dr. William Evans reports that he has seen a sheet of the current 2c stamp "with part of eight stamps printed diagonally on the left marginal strip of the sheet". Strange things are most certainly happening at the Bureau. What next? The same correspondent also informs us that he has found the 6c 1869 with double grill although we believe that this variety has been known before.

Mr. B. K. Miller writes that he has located an imperforated horizontal pair of the 1910 1c Franklin, single line watermark from the bottom of the sheet, showing arrow and guide line where on we find the initials "J. P. P." under the right stamp. The plate number not being attached he is unable to state as to what plate this pair is from. These initials, we should say off hand, are those of the employee of the Bureau who did the transferring from the transfer roll to the plate, but why he put his initials in this place instead of at the corner we cannot say.

Mr. Martin W. Hoose has been the fortunate finder of one of our current envelopes showing an impression of both the 1c and 2c in the same corner. Both impressions are embossed clearly and are in their correct colors, one overlapping the other about 3mm. The cover was used from a small New York town and was evidently accepted by the Post Office at the 3c rate. We recall a dealer offering a similar envelope some months back in an unused condition.

Mr. Charles M. Breder sends us an official envelope sent out by the Post Office at Newark, N. J., with a rubber stamp impression reading "Our Patriotic Duty—Purchase * War Savings Stamps—Bearing 4% interest compounded —quarterly, and * Thrift Stamps 25 cents each,—from any Letter Carrier.—This is a convenient way for family savings." We also wish to thank Mr. Breder for information regarding freak perforations and envelopes.

Mr. E. B. Power, of Stanley Gibbons Inc., has shown us a very beautiful copy of the 5c Brattleboro on the entire cover. While this is nothing new it is an item so seldom met with that it is worthy of mentioning when we run across the like in our travels.

FALKLAND ISLANDS.—There is a notable scarcity of the 1s War stamps chronicled and evidently the number issued was very limited. Captain Jolliffe kindly shows us several unused and used examples of the two lower denominations, also a mint copy of the 1s., on which the letter "p" of the overprint approximates to an inverted "d." This is apparently to be remarked in several instances throughout the sheets.—Stamp Collecting.

GOLD COAST.—Mr. Hugo Griebert has shown us the following stamps which vary somewhat from the last printing of this colony: ½d, 2d, 3d and 6d. The shades are of a softer color than the previous printings.

HAYTI.—Mr. A. W. Dunning and Mr. A. C. Roessler have shown us the following new surcharges of this country:
Scott's #192, sur. 1 ct. GOURDE, in red.
Scott's #212, " 5 ct. GOURDE, in red.
Scott's #170, " 2 cts. GOURDE, in red.
The type of the latter surcharge is the same as type B of the 1917 printing.

MOZAMBIQUE COMPANY.—Mr. Ashley C. LeDuc has shown us copies of three new provisionals issued about Dec. 1st, 1918. They are the current:
½ cent surcharged on 700 reis.
2½ cent surcharged on 500 reis.
5 cent surcharged on 400 reis.
Stamp Collecting adds the information that according to a correspondent "this is purely a provisional issue for Beira (the Capital Town of the Mozambique Company's territories in Portuguese East Africa). The surcharging was carried out at Beira, and the stamp was on sale only at that town. The provisionals were placed on sale about the middle of November, but have already been rendered obsolete by the handsome pictorials described in these columns a few weeks ago.
The numbers of provisionals surcharged are:
42,000 of ½ cent. No errors reported.
42,000 of 2½ cent. No errors reported.
21,000 of 5 cent. No errors reported.
and the printing was done in sheets of 28."

PALESTINE.—As the result of our inquiries, and in explanation of the status of the "O.P.D.A." labels, described in our issue for January 11, is now forthcoming. They are, in fact, fiscals, the initials signifying "Ottoman Public Debt Association," and it is stated that the stamps in question are used in connexion with the recovery of the taxes on salt. Sums so recovered go towards the payment of interest on loans to the Turkish Government by this country.
We learn that four new values were added to the current perforated E.E.F. series on or about December 22, 1918, London printed and identical in design, watermark and perforation with the remaining seven denominations at present in use (i. e., eleven in all).
3 milliemes, pale brn. 10 piastres ultramarine.
9 piastres, ochre. 20 piastres, slate grey.
—Stamp Collecting.

SPAIN.—A Spanish correspondent of M. Champion furnishes particulars concerning a very interesting error of colour which has just been discovered. A sheet of 100 stamps of the face value of 4 pesetas each has been printed in the colour of the 1 peseta. This sheet was found among a quantity of 1 peseta stamps recently purchased by the Spanish American Bank, Madrid, and the error was only observed when the stamps were about to be perforated with the Bank's initials. On the discovery being made, every precaution was taken by the Bank officials to prevent any of the stamps being commandeered, and the matter was reported to the Post Office. One dozen examples were sent to the Government Printing Office, for purposes of inquiry, and consequently only eighty-eight copies remain of what will be recognized as a very desirable error of colour.—Stamp Collecting.

TOGO.—Mr. Hugo Griebert shows us the 6d and 1sh values in a slightly different color than heretofore.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

A compact, readable booklet on the "Postage Stamps of Gibraltar" has appeared from the office of Stamp Collecting, 89 Farringdon St., London, England. It is No. 9 in the series of handbooks edited by Derek Ingram. The book itself is written by Capt. F. D. Higham and the price is 25c. The book is a very useful one, written in such a manner as to occupy the middle ground between beginner and specialist, and we take special pleasure in giving it our hearty commendation.

THE CURACAO H. A. W. LABELS.

(American Philatelic Service.)

The story of how a postmaster on a small Dutch island makes his own postage stamps and endeavors to sell them at twenty times their face value is an illustration of how the hobby known as philately has become a source of revenue for some of the minor governments of the world.

This postal official's name is H. A. Williamsen, and he handles the mail which passes through the post office at Curacao, one of Holland's colonial possessions in the West Indies. He is aware that there are hundreds of persons, grown-ups as well as children, who hanker after rare and curious postage stamps. He knows that King George of England is a collector, and that Nicholas Romanoff was a philatelist while on Russia's old throne.

The war has helped Mr. Williamsen's postal activities, although seemingly it harmed them. Apparently it had done them injury by reason of the fact that it cut off from Curacao that island colony's customary supply of current franking adhesives sent forward from the Netherlands overseas. The 1-cent denomination at Curacao became exhausted. Conditions in Holland were not normal. Facing this contingency, Postmaster Williamsen used his ingenuity, with the result that today this official has postage stamp collectors somewhat puzzled.

First, Mr. Williamsen brought out his stocks of 2- and 2½-cent values and bisected them. Each half was then permitted to be used as a 1-cent stamp. Even this expedient, however, did not supply a sufficient number of 1-cent stamps, and the postmaster was obliged to go into the stamp-making industry for himself.

He had prepared some sheets of buff paper, thicker than the usual kind from which stamps are made, and each sheet was divided into forty squares separated with perforations just as the ordinary labels are. On each small square he had printed, in black, CURACAO across the top just below the margin; the figure "1" in the center, and the word "cent" in smaller type along the lower margin. Parallel with the right-hand margin and running upwards he had placed his own initials, H. A. W., but without periods. His initials guaranteed the authenticity of these stamps, he explained to inquirers.

According to a letter received from Mr. Williamsen by A. C. Roessler, of East Orange, N. J., about 51,000 of these provisionals were placed in circulation. "But, of course," the postmaster's explanation reads, "a great part of the stock is lost to the philatelic dealers, as the stamps have been used principally to prepay the postage on printed matter (newspapers, visiting cards, etc.) circulating in the domestic service of the colony and addressed to parties who are not interested in stamps."

Postmaster Williamsen discloses his knowledge that there are persons outside of Curacao who are interested in stamps, however, as he offers to sell 2,000 of these home-made stamps for $200 a thousand, or at the rate of twenty cents each—whereas over the post office counters in Curacao they sold at 1 cent each.

The uncancelled stamps are the ones which Mr. Williamsen purposes to sell. The cancelled ones, so he writes, are hard to get. "In my capacity as postmaster," to quote his letter to Mr. Roessler, "I tell you that it will be very difficult for you to get a quantity of importance of the used stamps, as they are very rare."

These crude, but interesting war stamps, will bring to the island of Curacao at least $400 in American money if Postmaster Williamsen's offer is accepted. This amount of American capital, which would be furnished eventually by American philatelists through purchases of the stamps from American dealers, would reach Curacao in return for a number of large sheets of paper each printed 40 times with one design and each inscribed 40 times with Postmaster Williamsen's initials.

European Powers maintains post-offices at certain towns and ports in the Turkish Empire. In 1896 the stamps used in these offices were surcharged with new values in Turkish currency but their use does not appear to have been long continued.

ROUMELIE ORIENTALE.— An inscription, meaning Eastern Roumelia, shown on the stamps for this country issued in 1881 and 1884. The same words are also found overprinted on a 10 paras Turkish stamp used in Eastern Roumelia in the early part of 1881.

ROYAL NIGER COMPANY.—The Royal Niger Company Chartered and Limited occupied and administered the territory first known as the Oil River Protectorate and then as the Niger Coast Protectorate until it was taken over by the Imperial Government of Great Britain on December 28th, 1899.

R. S.—These initials in the form of a monogram are found upon many of the stamps of the Indian state of Bussahir, and have the same meaning as those described under "R. N. S."

RUANDA.—Certain Belgian Congo stamps with this name overprinted in violet are occasionally met with. They are said to have been issued by a postal employee as a private speculation.

RUE.—A control mark applied to some of the stamps of Ecuador in 1902 for the reason described under "Guayas". What particular province or district used this mark has not been definitely ascertained.

RUE, DE LA, AND CO.—A well known firm of London stamp engravers and printers who have produced the vast majority of British and British colonial stamps issued during the last sixty years.

RULED PAPER.—Paper ruled with faint colored lines. Some of the stamps of the 1887 issue of Mexico were printed on ruled paper.

RUPEE.—The unit of value in India, Ceylon, East Africa and Uganda, Mauritius, Seychelles, etc. In India and its States (and formerly also in Zanzibar, East Africa, etc.) the rupee consists of 16 annas and has a nominal value of 32c in American money. In Ceylon, Mauritius, etc., it has the same nominal value but is divided into 100 cents.

RUPIA.—The unit of currency in Portuguese India, being simply a variation of rupee. The rupia is divided into 16 tangas (annas) and is worth about 32c in American money.

RUPIE.—The unit of value in the erstwhile German colony in East Africa. Until 1895 the rupie was divided into 64 pesas but after that date it was divided into 100 heller. Its value was the same as that of the Indian rupee.

RURAL POST STAMPS. — (See "Land Post").

RURAL STAMPS.—(See "Russian Rural Stamps").

RUSH MILLS.—The paper mills at Northampton, England, originally belonging to Mr. Stacey Wise, at which the paper used for the first British postage stamps was manufactured.

RUSSIA.—An enormous territory extending over eastern Europe, the whole of northern Asia and part of Central Asia. It first issued postage stamps in 1857.

RUSSIAN CHINA.—For many years Russia has maintained post offices in various Chinese ports and cities and since 1899 all the stamps used in these offices have borne distinctive overprints.

RUSSIAN LEVANT.—The stamps of Russian Levant are in a somewhat different category to those of the Powers simply maintaining Levantine post offices, for part of the Levant proper is Russian territory. The first stamps for this district were issued in 1864 and the earlier issues were supplied to the Russian Steam Navigation Company, which carried mails between Odessa and the Russian and Turkish coasts on the Black Sea as well as to some ports of the Mediterranean. In later years the stamps were also supplied to offices maintained on Turkish soil. Since 1900 these special stamps have been superseded by the ordinary stamps of Russia overprinted with new values in Turkish currency.

RUSSIAN RURAL STAMPS.—The name by which the so-called "local" stamps of Russia are more correctly described. These are produced by the various "zemstvos" or rural authorities for use in the outlying districts untouched by the regular governmental post.

RUSTCHUK.—A town in Bulgaria which issued provisional postage due stamps in 1901, these being created by overprinting certain of the regular postage stamps then current with a large "T".

RUSTENBURG.—A small town in the Transvaal about 70 miles due west of Pretoria. When the town was relieved by General Baden-Powell in June, 1900 temporary postage stamps were made by overprinting the Boer stamps found in the local office with the letters "V. R." The overprint was made by means of a handstamp.

RUYTER COMMEMORATIVE ISSUE.—A series of three stamps issued in the Netherlands in 1907 to mark the three hundreth anniversary of the birth of the famous Dutch admiral M. A. de Ruyter.

BROCKETT & NEWTON MATCH STAMP.

By Everett Van Voorhis.

In your issue of Feb. 8, I enjoyed reading Vol. 1, No. 1, of "Whisperings & Whimperings of a Philatelic Nut," edited by Cotton C. Doyle. I do not know this party, but his mention of the Brockett & Newton match stamp, die II not being as scarce as the die I is true. His value $.20 for a fine specimen comes quite near the mark, while type I is catalogued at $1.00 and is much the scarcer. The last quotation in Scott's catalogue before it was removed was $.25. Why it was taken out is one of the mysteries, as it is not rare or even scarce.

From this collectors have thought it rare and in most cases have priced it at much more than type I. I have seen it priced as high as $3.00 on an approval sheet.

To understand the difference between type I and type II as explained in Scott's catalogue is simple enough, but to one not familiar with match and medicine stamps and not having one or the other to compare with, it is not so easy after all. Type I is readily recognized by the larger letters, B. & N., which fill up the frame space. When Frank E. Clark sold the die of his stamp to Brockett & Newton the initials F.E.C. were altered to B. & N. The two letters were made to occupy the space of three as formerly, this of course made the wide die which is known as type I.

Later a new die must have been made, as Frank E. Clark used eight million stamps and the plate must have worn considerably, as many stamps are found which show they have been printed from a worn plate. Brockett & Newton used twelve millions and if a new die was made or even a retouched plate was used, it seemed to be only natural to re-engrave the B. & N. in a smaller space and not try to fill the space as occupied by the three letters F. E. C. This is type II, which is quite common.

Match & Medicine stamps are a particular hobby of mine and I would like to have other collectors write on the subject and bring these interesting stamps before the collecting public, as to my mind, one would have to go a long way to find anything so fascinating as collecting these stamps.

THE ROCK ISLAND MATCH STAMP.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

It is altogether fitting that the match stamp section of a series of articles upon the individual stamps of the private die group of U. S. Revenues should commence with the story of the most famous of all the match stamps—the Rock Island.

Because this stamp has been unobtainable to most collectors in the past and will be no less so in the future, detracts nothing from the charm and glamour which it has always possessed. The greatest height of satisfaction that many M & M collectors have hoped to attain has been the acquisition of this little piece of paper, a mere scrap hardly a square inch in size, but bearing the magic words "Rock Island".

Fortunately, much of its history is known, and altho there are yet some points regarding it to be cleared up, they are relatively unimportant. The present writer can add little to what has been known about the stamp for many years: the new data mostly corroborates the old.

On April 6, 1868, William C. Welch, who had been employed in the grocery of Henry Dart's Sons in the city of Rock Island, Illinois, most of the time for the previous ten years, and one Gregg, also an employee in the same grocery for several years, bought the retail business of the Dart concern which was located on the south side of what was then Illinois St. (now 2nd Avenue), near Washington St. (now 18th St.) in Rock Island. Welch & Gregg soon became Welch and Bro. and the latter conducted the grocery business at the same locality as late as 1876.

The Dart grocery was located within 200 feet of the site of the Rock Island match factory. Welch probably supplied the capital for the match business and quite likely the manufacture of matches ceased before he and Gregg purchased the grocery.

As early as 1859 Franklin H. Warren had a book store on Illinois St., Rock Island, near Washington St., and also near the Dart grocery.

The Rock Island city directory for 1866 lists William C. Welch and Francis A. Warren, and the firm of Warren & Welch, American Match Works, on the west side of Washington St., the fourth door north of Illinois St. This is the only reference to any Rock Island match business found in the Rock Island directories. In 1873 F. H. Warren is listed as a traveling agent, and in 1876 F. W. Warren appears as a traveler, in both cases residing on Buffalo St.

Commencing July 5, 1867, the Rock Island Evening Argus carried the following advertisement on its front page:

AMERICAN MATCH COMPANY
Washington St., near the Ferry.
Manufacturers of Superior Friction Matches. The trade is solicited to examine our goods and encourage home manufacture.
Prices as low as in the Eastern Market.
Oct 26dtf

This advertisement appeared last on July 11 and the next day a new advertisement was inserted in the Argus and ran until July 31, 1867:—

DISSOLUTION.
The co-partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, under the firm name of "The American Match Co."
is this day dissolved by mutual consent. The business of the late firm will be continued by W. C. Welch, who will pay all debts and collect all accounts due said firm.
F. H. Warren,
W. C. Welch.
Rock Island, May 31, 1867. d3m

The present writer has been unable to learn whether the factory burned down or whether the business was discontinued for another reason, or why the dissolution advertisement was dated May 31—two months earlier than the advertisement of July 5. It is believed that Warren was the active principal in the business and it is fairly certain he peddled the matches in Rock Island, in the adjoining city of Moline to the east, and in Davenport, Iowa, north of and just across the Mississippi River from Rock Island. Probably all of the comparatively few matches made were sold in these three cities. The life of the business was hardly more than one year.

The factory is no longer in existence. It was located on the west side of what is now 18th St., between 2nd Avenue and the Mississippi River. The People's National Bank, Majestic Theatre and HARD WORK.

It was once comparatively easy to write an ad of U. S. stamps, but times have changed, and with the new issues, shades, flat printed and victory stamps it is some problem. We offer this week
1c flat printed (blk. $.10), each $ .02
We have a large number of U. S. books of blks. of four out on approval that have been out quite a long time. Will consider it a favor if they are returned at once as we have a lot of calls and no books. If your name is on our mailing list—you win, if not WE BOTH LOSE.

1919 PRICE LIST

Of the stamps of the United States and Its Colonies.
It contains 72 pages of useful information, pricing Card Board and India Paper proofs and items not found in other lists.
Remember, I am Headquarters for stamps of the U. S. and Its Colonies.
H. F. COLMAN. 2ND NATIONAL BANK BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Hotel Harms now occupy the entire block between 2nd and 1st avenues.

The stamp is an upright rectangle of the standard size for the 3c to 10c revenues of the Civil War period (about 20x26 mm.) The principal feature of the design is an oval containing a beautifully engraved eagle with outspread wings perched upon a U. S. shield that rests on a hemisphere. The hemisphere bears the words ROCK ISLAND —ILLINOIS. AMERICAN MATCH CO. appears above, THREE—CENTS at the sides, and U.S. INTER. REV. below, with the figure "3" in each corner. The eagle and hemisphere are exactly the same as those on the 1c and 3c Hall & Ruckel medicine stamps and as the latter were first issued a year earlier, the Rock Island design was quite evidently copied from them. The stamp is a rather dark green and perforated 12.

Die approved Sept. 24, 1866.
First issued Oct. 31, 1866.
Last issued Oct. 31, 1866.
Total issue (old paper) 44,000.
170 stamps per sheet (17x10).

"Only one delivery was made of these stamps, as is shown above. The last printing was made on November 10, 1866, and left a balance on hand of 119,200, which were finally destroyed, as obsolete, when the silk paper was introduced."

The 44,000 stamps cost Warren & Welch just $1,200. This is a very small issue for match stamps and is the chief reason why the stamp is and always will be rare. Its existence was known in the early '70's—if not sooner—and its authenticity cannot be questioned. The 1874 edition of J. W. Scott's Revenue Stamp Album provided a place for it and as the years go by its rarity is being more and more appreciated. The standard catalog quotations reflect this unmistakably:—

1894	unpriced
1896	$40
1898	$50
1900	$100
1910	$125
1919	$125

In recent years several ordinary copies have changed hands at $100 and some years ago an off center copy brought $115 at auction. The writer has been able to trace less than a dozen copies, most of which are damaged. Many of them are also poorly centered and it seems doubtful if there are three perfect specimens in existence. The Ayer collection (Portland, Me.), contained a very fine Rock Island with gum —probably the only unused now extant. The used stamps were cancelled only by tearing when the box of matches was opened.

The latest specimen to be added to the meagre supply came on the market within a year in a most curious, not to say tragic, manner, as is shown by the letter of the man who unknowingly bought it.

"A young man, whom I had known as a collector, went to Chicago, there, after a few years, he was one of those to lose their lives on the ill-fated steamer Eastland, when it turned over in the Chicago River. All his belongings came into the possession of a relative, his wife also being among the victims. I happened to think of this man, and being able to get the address of his relative, I wrote to him, asking if he had the collection in his possession. He replied that he had, and that he would send it if I were interested and that I should make him an offer. Well, he sent it. I looked it over, not very closely, I admit, and a friend of mine, who is interested in stamps, and who had a little more experience than I in buying, also looked it over. He advised me to offer a certain amount. I offered more. The man accepted. When I began mounting the stamps in my album, I found quite a number of stamps I had thought of low value to be worth several dollars. But my greatest surprise came when I bumped into that Rock Island stamp. I looked at the stamp and then at the catalog quite a number of times before I could believe what I saw. But I was skeptical, so I wrote to MEEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS for information as to the probable genuineness of the stamp. They referred the matter to Mr. W. as an authority on these stamps. The rest you know. * * * *"

No doubt the reader will admit that "every little sticker has a romance of its own."

An imperforate Rock Island in buff was in the DeCoppet collection and another yellowish copy, perforated, is known. The former is thought to be a proof and the latter a changeling. The writer has never seen a plate proof of the stamp, but die proofs are known in several colors. Needless to say, they make excellent space-fillers for those M & M collectors whose love of the stamps is greater than the contents of their pocketbooks.

OUR BOOK AGENCIES.

We are very much gratified at the manner in which appreciation is being shown of the establishing of book agencies. We have received responses from various quarters that evidence appreciation of this new enterprise. In this connection we wish to say that while publicity will be given each week to the dealers in the trade centers who handle our publications, it will not be possible for us to carry the names of all our agents. There are many communities in which there are stamp clubs and where agencies could be maintained, though we cannot maintain standing notices. F. L. Tilson of Rutherford, N. J., a member of the local stamp club, will be our agent in that city and we shall be glad to hear from representatives of other stamp clubs.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We feel quite complimented in that within the space of one week we have received two publications that are fashioned after the order of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. We have mentioned elsewhere the Concord Stamp Club Bulletin and we have also to chronicle the Philatelic Trader from Parkersburg, W. Va., Perry D. Dye, Jr., editor and publisher. While the Concord paper is issued monthly, the*Trader* will be issued twenty-four a year. We take pleasure in recommending a perusal of both of these publications, and feel quite sure that a sample copy can be obtained on request. We may add that we have become so familiar with the form of the WEEKLY that these two papers find us in a frame of mind in which we are disposed to give them both a warm word of greeting.

—Elsewhere in this issue will be found the initial advertisement of W. T. Robey of Washington, D. C. Mr. Robey is secure in philatelic fame by having been the discoverer of the 24c aeroplane stamps with inverted center. He is a member of the A. P. S. and S. P. A. and expects to be a fixture in our advertising columns. He comes to us well recommended and we bespeak for him the patronage of our subscribers.

—Mr. E. C. Dodd, LaGrange, Ill., is taking an extended trip westward to the Coast and while primarily Mr. Dodd goes for relaxation, no doubt he will have an eye for business at the same time. He will return to his desk about April first.

—John Rausch, 2062 Bush St., San Francisco, Cal., would like to obtain a second-hand album for a crippled girl residing in Boonville, Mo., with whom he has been corresponding for some time, Mr. Rausch is prepared to decorate the album with stamps for a start, as well as to subscribe to the WEEKLY for her for one year. However, the WEEKLY will do its part in the way of a subscription if Mr. Rausch secures the album.

—We welcome to our advertising columns J. E. Guest of Minneapolis, Minn. We welcome him not only because of our intimate acquaintanceship with his successful business methods, but also for the reason that he is launching a new issues service. There is no reason why the United States should not be able to contribute a service of this kind to meet the needs of United States collectors. To do this requires both capital and brains and Mr. Guest will make a success of his venture.

—The collection of Mr. L. C. Hassler, Louisville, Ky., has just been bought by the Colonial Stamp Company, Chicago. Mr. Hassler's collection was a long time "in the making" and contained many fine things.

—The Washington State Philatelic Society held its seventh annual banquet on Saturday, February 15th, at the North-old Inn, Seattle. An opulent menu was discussed, couched in properly philatelic description. The speakers of the evening were Messrs. Nelson, the popular president of the society, Mr. Cecil Blogg, Dr. Hoffman, treasurer and a capital story-teller, Mr. Ewing, the industrious sales manager, and a number of others, chief among whom was Mr. Herbert Blogg, whose collecting experience dates back to 1869.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from G. A. Erickson and J. C. Alderson, M. D.

—A movement is on foot to organize a stamp society composed of collectors in the New Jersey lower county. Anyone interested can secure information from Harold E. Bisson, Salem, N. J.

—B. A. Turner, Greensburg, Ind., is unable to secure returns from the Huron Stamp Co., Bay City, Mich. Bay City, as well as Grand Rapids, is obtaining a reputation in these days that is not very creditable to it.

—G. A. Erickson, 4339 N. Humboldt, Minneapolis, Minn., reports that Alfred Reinhold, 322 34th Av., Milwaukee, Wis., pays no attention to letters sent him.

—The Concord (N. H.) Stamp Club Bulletin has been received. It is published by the United Stamp Societies, made up of societies in various cities and towns. It is built upon the plan of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY in four-page form.

—The auction advertisement of M. Ohlman, published Feb. 15 contained an error that is much regretted, though not the fault of the printer. Lot 143 should be numbered 148. We make this public correction in order that bidders may know that a mistake occurred. Mr. Ohlman advises us that on Lot 1009 the catalog value should be $6 and not $5.

—Col. Arthur P. S. Hyde has returned from service overseas with the A. E. F. and is now on duty with the General Staff,—Purchase, Storage and Traffic Division, with station in Washington. While on the other side, Colonel Hyde saw service at various points on the front between Chateau Thierry and Metz, and returned to this country early in November to join a new division being organized for service overseas. The signing of the armistice checked the War Department's plans for additional troops, and Colonel Hyde was assigned to the command of the Field Artillery Replacement Division, at Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky. Upon the completion of the demobilization of this division, the colonel was given his present assignment. His office is at 2524 Munitions Building, and he is living at 3601 Thirty-fifth Street, Northwest.

—The Chicago Philatelic Society recently elected C. E. Severn president; twenty years ago it did the same thing. This society is one of the oldest local organizations in existence, having been organized in 1886.

Hands Across the Seas

THE lure of the postage stamp knows no north, no south, no east, no west, no country, no continent! It claims the whole world for its field and thus philately has become the premier hobby of all classes and colors. The World-War only intensified its hold upon human interest and to demonstrate this fact we shall issue an

POSTAGE STAMPS WORTH FORTUNES.

We take pleasure in presenting our readers this week with Booklet No. 26, written by Fred. J. Melville, president of the Junior Philatelic Society of London, and entitled "Postage Stamps Worth Fortunes." The book is fully in keeping with all its predecessors and we anticipate a splendid demand for it. It may be obtained from any one of our agencies, a list of which is given elsewhere in this issue, but if the book be ordered by mail, please address your order to the Beverly office.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Wines—We have received a request for some details as to the use of the $20; $40; $50 and $100 wines stamps of the current issue which our correspondent says are not listed, but evidently he intended to say that they were not priced, as they are found on page 43 of the catalogue. We furnished particulars of the 1916 issue of the wine stamps at the time of their first appearance. The $20 stamps are in books of twenty subjects; the $40 in books of ten stamps; the $50 in books of eight and the $100, of four. These high values are on the order blank for "wines, cordials, etc.," and may be purchased at face in unused condition. We are given to understand that the used stamps are not likely to get into general collecting circulation because of the manner in which they are employed. The liquor manufacturers are supposed to send these stamps to the government with affidavit that they truly represent the tax payment on large quantities of product. This is the essential feature of the case which involves other details that ensure accuracy and honesty on the part of the tax payer. The assumption is that the stamps that are sent to the treasury department are kept in the files of the department as vouchers.

Writes—From a reader in Hong Kong, we hear: "I see a good many high values of Asiatic stamps in used condition in the office of the company and here I must say that a revision upwards must be made in the catalogues in the prices of unused stamps of this section because of the high price of silver. They are too low and give a wrong impression, in consequence. What impresses me most in our mail are the Borneo covers with the pictorial stamps that are received in the mail, such as the one I enclose. It removes any idea that these stamps are for decorative purposes only! They meet a real postal need. There are several leisurely collectors here, one of whom I asked if he cared to receive your paper each week. He intimated that he did not as he wanted to keep stamp collecting from entering too largely in his calculations."

Word—Writing from Colombo, Ceylon, a correspondent says: "I have not exactly found any philatelic haunts here but several collectors have shown me some fine semi-specialized collections of Cingalese, etc. Naturally, they are partizans of the fine old issues of their country and may be said to resent somewhat the comparative neglect of these stamps in some quarters. Prices for these issues are high but I think that condition is not the factor here that it is at home. Too, there are some great collections of surcharges, 1882 to 1892; and the single c a's are popular. While I have not been very enterprising in my stamp search, I want to add that my travels thus far in the east have yielded me no snaps. Philately is pretty standardized the world over, I think."

Welcome—A good many months ago, we printed the observations of several correspondents on the ninety cent of 1869 on cover. One letter from a gentleman, along in years, told of the arrival of high values of the set on manuscripts that were received by the publishing firm for which he worked as office factotum. This letter was followed by one in which further particulars, interesting, if somewhat indefinite, were furnished by the same writer. We wrote asking him several questions but time elapsed and there was no answer. Now a letter has come from the daughter of our friend: "I am writing at the request of father who is not well. He says that he did not wish to give the idea that he removed any 90c stamps (1869) from packages or that the 'reader' did so. Bulky manuscripts that required over ninety cents in postage may not have had ninety cent stamps on them, as the stamps in question were not on sale at all the offices, as is known. However, that there were ninety cent stamps on manuscripts received by the firm may be confidently asserted." A ninety cent on a package would have a daub cancellation and would not have the satisfactory aspect of a ninety cent, 1869, on a letter to "foreign parts." The correspondent who wrote saying that he used from Boston a ninety cent, 1869, on a package of pension papers that he sent registered from Washington is invited to write us again with any further recollections that he may have on the subject.

Wary—We have been directed to the following excerpt by a dealer from a letter from a South American correspondent: "I find that nowhere can I buy for you the 1910 registration Colombian Republic, neither the 1910 'A. R.' stamp. It is surprising how scarce these stamps of the 1910, bi-colored centennial set are and while I suppose upon further inquiry, I could get a better idea of their available quantity, I am sure that I cannot under the present conditions supply you with the two stamps under notice at a price consistent to your needs, based on your catalogue quotations, even though this year, the prices have been raised." He says too that the peso values of the 1910 set are closely held.

War—A reader addressing us from Sydney, New South Wales, says: "Much interest is being shown in the disposition of the South Sea Islands captured from Germany and aside from the political aspects which must be taken for granted, the stamp possibilities are much in the minds of collectors. The opinion is that the former German colonies should be retained and placed in some cases under the administrative province of the Commonwealth. The demand for early Australians is as keen as ever and the market for the better things is strong, even though the interest in war stamps, particularly those just alluded to, has given another trend to the philatelic mind. The prices for these war stamps are firm and while they may not have reached the heights in the case of the rarities of those reported from London, there is every indication that they are on an ascending scale here."

Warned—A letter from Habana says that in the shops where stamps are offered there is nothing of any particular class to be found. One may be able to pick up an early Cuban or two on the cover advantageously but the instances are isolated. It seems that there is usually some argument as to the genuineness of certain of the Cuban surcharges beginning with the Y 1/4 down to the three cent purple, 1902, inverted, etc., and not overlooking the Puerto Principe surcharges. The collector who infallibly can detect the genuine Puerto Principe surcharge could pick up some specimens at a reasonable price, it appears, but in the estimation of the correspondent, this is about the only chance to get good pickings in Habana. This testimony is almost a parallel to that offered by another reader who had occasion to travel through Cuba recently and whose views were reported at the time.

ONE CENT "OFFSET" PLATE 966.

BY LOUIS G. BARRETT.

On examining a sheet of 100 stamps from the lower right pane of plate 9661 of the new 1c offset process stamps, I found the following note-worthy varieties which appear to be constant on that pane of plate 9661:—

No. 7 shows right side of oval broken for a space of 1mm;

No. 31 has a white oblique dash nearly 1mm. long within the background of medallion close to inner S. W. side of oval, pointing up at the double chin. It is directly across the oval from the first inner laurel berry at left;

No. 35 shows a white spot directly in front of nose, and a smaller one appears in front of brow;

No. 63—the base of S of POSTAGE is interrupted by a dot of color cutting off the left serif;

No. 81—there is a conspicuous green spot about in the middle of the left numeral 1;

No. 100—the nose of Washington is most peculiar, being thin and pointed, the lower edge without any curvature indicating a nostril, and there is no return curve defining the lobe where nose joins the cheek. The pane shows a "phantom" plate-number below the interval between 93rd and 94th stamps, and a faint "arrow" below right side of 99th stamp.

The right plate number is surrounded by numerous dots of color, one to the N. W. and two to the S. W. of the 9; two between tops of the two 6's, and three at right of 1 at irregular intervals. Also ½mm. above the 61 there is a horizontal green line of variable thickness, but heavier at its right end.

The lower plate number shows two green dots between the bases of the two 6's, and both side and bottom imprints show the 1 spaced further from the second 6 than it ought to be.

PHILATELY AS A SCIENCE.

(We have received from C. Lat. Wilhelm, editor of the Baltimore American stamp department, a clipping from that publication which is of more than ordinary interest. As Mr. Wilhelm says, "This action by the Maryland Academy of Sciences is appreciated here as it extends a recognition to the scientific aspect of stamp collecting that has in the past been sadly lacking. I am hoping that it may have great possibilities for our hobby and that we may even see Fellowships of Philately."—W. O. W.)

Philately, as differentiated from mere stamp collecting, that is the scientific aspect of the hobby, is now recognized by the Maryland Academy of Sciences, on Franklin street, near Cathedral, and announcement is now made that a subsection of philately, under the jurisdiction of the chair of history, is propesed in the Academy.

Francis C. Nicholas, Ph. D., curator of the Maryland Academy of Sciences, makes the following announcement:

There is a difference in stamp collecting. The schoolboy collects pretty kinds, the philatelist looks on his stamps as tokens, marks of modern history, representations of expressions among divers peoples telling of their abilities, portraying sentiment, patriotism or beauty on an object of common use—the postage stamp of daily life. From the viewpoint of history and ethnology, philately becomes a subject worthy of academic recognition.

At the old Maryland Academy of Sciences it is proposed to establish, under the jurisdiction of the chair of history, a subsection of philately with its chairman and suitable organization. Philatelists who participate will find a place of venerable, unalloyed interest, a beautiful quiet hall with full lantern equipments for their meetings and a growing correspondence among academies in foreign countries, through which facilities for exchanges and acquisitions may be developed.

The academy, 105 West Franklin St., is open to the public daily, and on Tuesday and Saturday evenings for the use of members. The hall is available at any time on request.

THE NEW ORLEANS "TICKET."

By WM. C. STONE.

The New Orleans "ticket" was chronicled in the Philatelic Journal of America, Vol. 10, page 74 (Sept., 1893). Two values, 2c and 5c, are described and illustrated and a quotation is also given from Moens' catalog which lists a 1c, altho' Mr. Mekeel thinks that may be an error for the 2c. The 5c is on pink card. I have owned a 1c for a number of years. I think Frank Bescher gave it to me at one of our conventions. Mine and those illustrated in the P.J. of A. are signed by Ed S. Rapier, Postage Clerk. Der Philatelist, the German magazine, has also illustrated them and translated Mekeel's article. The tickets were also signed in some cases by J. L. Riddell himself, I am informed by L. S. Knapp of New York, the New Orleans specialist.

Mr. Riddell was appointed postmaster by President James Buchanan, August 16, 1860, and was succeeded April 2, 1862, by Leonce Burthe. I have seen a statement somewhere that he was either loyal to the Union government or that his sympathies were that way. The above dates would fix approximately the date of the "tickets."

They were undoubtedly of the same nature as our first fractional currency.

PITTSBURGH "COME-AND-MEET US."

Eighty-six men active in the business affairs of Pittsburgh met at the Hotel Henry, February 18, at the "Come-and-Meet-Us" meeting of the Pittsburgh Philatelic Society. Members of the Numismatic Society were guests.

The visitor from the greatest distance was E. L. Byard of Kansas City who read of the meeting while in Minerva, Ohio, and jumped on for the night. Others from a distance were: August Wittcamp, Webster; George P. Croft, Steubenville, Ohio; B. C. Wear, Ambridge; Dr. W. L. Strantz, Butler; O. R. Smith, Fairhaven; Dr. O. G. Merston, Belle Vernon and O. E. DeSio, Swissvale, former secretary of the Southern California Philatelic Society.

Upon the arrival of members and guests they were tagged. The tag not only bore a number, but the wearer's name so that it served a double purpose. While this was being done the member had registered his full name and address and what he collected.

Many beautiful collections of stamps were exhibited. The first prize was awarded to N. Georgandas, who had 30 United States revenues in two frames. This collection catalogues $1,028. B. C. Wear's collection of Canadian covers took second prize.

The auction was conducted by Louis Bohn, Jr. A 5-cent red error lightly cancelled on full cover sold for $2.50. No attempt was made to solicit members, but four signed applications were handed in. They will make 26 new members in 60 days. The next meeting will be at the Chamber of Commerce on March 4.—A. S. JESSOP.

LONDON STAMP AUCTIONS

TO VENDORS Are you contemplating selling your collection or better class duplicates?

If so, the following facts are worthy your consideration:

OUR BUSINESS is confined solely to the sale of stamps on commission, we do NOT buy or sell on our own account.

WE HOLD SALES twice each week throughout the year and are the only firm in the World so doing.

WE CIRCULATE 1000 catalogues weekly to philatelists in the United Kingdom and Europe, and in order to get our clients the best results we spend £1500 a year in advertising the Sales.

NEARLY 1100 AUCTIONS have been held by us during the past 19 years, the growth shown by the figures we publish is sufficient testimony to the satisfaction we give.

THE ABOVE ARE HONEST STATEMENTS OF FACT, IF YOU ARE THINKING OF SELLING YOUR COLLECTION, DUPLICATES OR WAR STAMPS, WE CAN CONFIDENTLY PROMISE SATISFACTION.

We can get exceptional prices for Great Britain Stamps, frequently much in excess of Catalog price.

All lots are offered within two or three weeks of receipt; where we consider it in the vendor's interests, we break collections up into countries and offer rare stamps singly.

TERMS FOR SELLING: { Up to £20, 12½% / Over £20, 10%

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—We note on mail coming from Chicago the new 1c surface print with the Shermack perforations. This means that the department has issued this new variety in imperforate sheets. The copy which we have seen is in a dark green shade.

1919 Unwatermarked, Imperforated.
1c dark green surface print.

From an ad of a New York dealer we see that he is offering the 1c endwise rotary coil, perforated 10 horizontally, on unwatermarked paper. While we have not seen this variety it is about time that it should be issued. Scott's catalogue for 1919 lists this variety but we know when this publication went to press the stamp had not been printed.

Mr. Edward Stern of the Economist Stamp Company writes us an interesting letter in regard to a double print of the current 3c offset production, from which we quote: "The first impression was from plate No. 9374 in such a light shade that the operator decided that it was too light to circulate and he deliberately took plate No. 9396 making a dark impression over the light one. Both colors are visible."

Mr. J. J. Klemann, Jr., of the Nassau Stamp Company calls our attention to an apparent double transfer occurring on each sheet of the 6c Aeroplane emission. The stamp in question is No. 14 on the plate and a single double transfer is to be seen on the left figure '6", on the middle stroke of the "N" of "Cents", also a small line in the upper right corner beyond the border.

We are told by another party that a transfer occurs on stamps 36 and 96 but although we have checked the sheet we cannot locate the evidence of such a transfer on these latter two stamps.

The writer was fortunate in recently obtaining for his collection a complete sheet of the 2c 1890, Scott's No. 220A, from the lower right pane of sheet No. 235 TT, wherein the left Cap is shown on every stamp in the sheet. We had never seen such a sheet before and were under the impression that only a portion of the subjects showed the Cap variety.

Mr. W. P. Colman submits for our inspection a very interesting horizontal block of six of the current official seal, blue on white, wherein each vertical pair is imperforated between. The block is from the top of the sheet and, consequently, is straight edged at the top.

In our edition of February 8th, we gave a list of the known varieties of the 2c Playing Cards, surcharged "7c". Mr. August P. Koch sends for our inspection a variety which we have not seen heretofore. This new variety is surcharged horizontally in red, in three lines as follows: "Act of 1917—7—CENTS". This stamp is from Plate No. 42208 and shows the number on the right margin.

Mr. E. W. Fuss, now with the American Expeditionary Forces in Bernecourt, France, sends us some very interesting covers. He franks his communication with a small embossed label with white letters upon a red background about 1¾" long and ½" wide, reading "Feldpost". This is postmarked with a circular cancellation reading "Postal Express Service No. 918-25 Jan. 1919". A pair of these upon a cover were mailed by Mr. Fuss to himself and these were sent to us for our inspection. We are informed in a very interesting letter that these labels were taken from German prisoners of War. He also sends us two other covers of unusual interest, one having a pair of the current 15 heller Austria, showing a portrait of Emperor Charles and the second one of the new 7½ pfennig Germany, together with the 25 pfennig. Both of these are postmarked similar to the above dated "20 January 1919." Mr. Fuss advises that although he has looked over all of the stamps at the post office he finds many values lacking, including the 6, 16, 24c varieties.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.—Messrs. Bowie & Son show us two examples of the 5c charity (non-postage) stamp, chronicled in Stamp Collecting of November 2 last, one being in pale blue and the other in mauve.—Stamp Collecting.

CANAL ZONE.—We are indebted to Mr. A. M. Warner for sending the following minor varieties of the stamps of this country. Two blocks of the 1909-10 1c, both representing different printings, with and without the ceriph on the C. On one block the C of Canal is on a level with the Z of ZONE and on the other the L of CANAL is below the E of ZONE.

At the same time Mr. Warner shows us a block of the 2 cent value, same issue, with the spelling, ZCNE. He adds, "It might be taken that this is only a broken letter, but it was so constant in a certain lot of stamps I received that it was noticed." A permit is also shown us which is the first used in Canal Zone and until June 1, 1918, the only permit ever issued. It is in a frame and reads: "1c Paid, Ancon, C.Z. Permit No. 1." and is printed in three lines.

The same correspondent adds the following information regarding stamps for official use: "They use an old Panama Railroad perforating machine with this design, "rPr", eliminating the rr and using only the P. The sheets were folded once and the two halves perforated at the same time, giving two positions to the P on each sheet. I wrote the official history of the Canal Zone stamps for the Canal Zone government and these were recognized as varieties issued for official use only. This perforation was not merely for identification, but was principally made so that the Canal Zone government would not have to pay the Republic of Panama 40% of their face value which they did on all stamps issued for sale. This payment still continues. So you see this actually made an official stamp the same as a surcharge."

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—Mr. Ormond Rambo, Jr., advises that he has a copy of the war stamp of this colony, Scott's No. 102, with the dividing line between the ½ omitted.

FIJI.—Some further details relating to the locally printed "postage due" stamps of January 1, 1917, are reprinted by the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain from an Australian contemporary. The paper is laid, as already stated, and is watermarked in the sheet with the manufacturer's trade mark, "Danvers," over a large oval surmounted by a crown and a figure of Britania in the centre. The unusual plan of having several values on the same sheet, as was the case with the Fiji "Times Express" stamps of 1870, was again resorted to. The sheet consisted of ninety-six stamps, twelve horizontal rows of eight. Each horizontal row consisted of four values. Thus, the first three stamps are of 1d, the fourth is of ½d, the fifth is the 4d, and last three are 3d. The face value of the sheet is 16s 6d. The 2d value was printed by itself on a separate sheet. The whole issue was ungummed.—Stamp Collecting.

INDIA.—The Philatelic Journal of India states that the current type of the 2½a, India, has at last been issued, overprinted C.E.F. for the use of the British Forces in China. Presumably sufficient of the original Georgian type of this value were overprinted in 1904 to last until recently.—Stamp Collecting.

JAMAICA.—We are informed by the Colonial Postmaster that the Commemorative stamp that was expected to be issued about the first of the year will not make its appearance until some time in April.

JUGO-SLAVIA.—Pending issue of the first definite postage stamps for the Jugo-Slavs, certain values of the last series of charity-postage stamps of the Kingdom of Hungary have been overprinted with a distinctive device, thus:

The values are:—2 heller, orange; 3 heller, brown-violet; 5 heller, green; 6 heller, blue-green; 15 heller, mauve.

The 10 heller (rose), 20 heller (brown) and 25 heller (with portrait of the ex-Emperor), have been earmarked with the same inscriptions, but in somewhat different type, "S H S" being in larger fancy capitals, with the addition of a circular ornament and a horizontal black line on either side of it.

It seems that the above were not permitted to be used in the occupied Hungarian port of Fiume, for which place the Italians are overprinting their own stamps, merely with the name "FIUME" in capital letters.—Stamp Collecting.

MOUNT ATHOS.—Another interesting item, of which we shall have more to say later on, are the historic essays for a projected tri-lingual issue of stamps for Mount Athos during the war. There is an extremely interesting history attached to this projected issue, the stamps being inscribed in three languages, English, Russian and Greek, and having in the centre the arms of the Theocracy of Mount Athos. The issue was abandoned for diplomatic reasons, and the dies and prints were destroyed, with the exception of six sets of these essays. One set is now in the possession of H.M. the King, and another in the official collection at the General Post Office.—Postage Stamp.

NORTH BORNEO.—Mr. Ashley C. LeDuc has shown us some stamps received by him from a correspondent in Jessleton, Br. No. Borneo, and among the lot are two new Red Cross stamps that we have not before seen. The surcharge is on the current 1 and 3 cent stamps and has a small cross and the words "FOUR CENTS" in small type. The surcharge is printed in red ink.

SIAM.—Mr. K. B. Sieng submits to us for inspection a set of Victory stamps. They are the current type surcharged with Siamese hieroglyphic and the word Victory directly underneath it. The surcharge is in red on all values. Mr. Sieng also adds that "they were issued December 2nd in connection with the King's Coronation day and in honor of the victory of the grand Alliance. The sale of these stamps soon exhausted the supply and the 10 stgs are very hard to get." The five values thus far seen and reported are 2, 3, 5, 10 and 15 satang.

APPROVALS

PREPAREDNESS is the main requisite of the approval business. In this respect our approval department is "second to none." Recent large purchases enable us to offer—29,000 VARIETIES—by countries at net prices. We also have net general selections or 50% and 60% books. Send us Bank or Commercial reference and list of countries you collect. A trial will convince the most exacting buyer. The list above shows the quality of our stock.

DESIRABLE SINGLE STAMPS.

Many very moderate "Hard-to-get" stamps will be found in this list. Go over it carefully, there's something in it for you.

THE STAMP OF THE SLOVAC LEAGUE.

By A. S. JESSOP.

On your editorial page, issue of February 15, you note having received from D. C. Alexander, Franklin, Vt., a stamp, and as I sent him same, and being the only person in the country having them, it seems that it is up to me to tell your readers what the stamp is.

The inscription at the bottom of stamp is "Slovak League". The line below it "Brat. Objim Si Mat" is from what is considered the national poem of these people and means, as it has to be expressed in English, "Slovak brothers love your mother." But it means more than that. It does not mean mother, mater or mere, neither does it mean mother country because they have none as they have been subjects of Austria for hundreds of years. No Slav can express in English just exactly what it does mean. Practically it means "Always be loyal and true."

The drawing for the stamp was made in Prague. The artist, connected with one of the large printing establishments, needed a subject who represented the beauty and good health of their women, called in a girl from feeding a cylinder press, and it is her picture on the stamp. On the left is their shield with the peculiar double cross. On the right a shield bearing the stars and stripes.

The stamps were issued for the purpose of raising money in this country to aid their brothers across the sea in their fight for freedom. It is literally a war charity stamp because a portion of the funds went for the education of their youth in the University of Prague to perpetuate the Slavish language in opposition to an Austrian decree inflicting severe punishment upon all those who even dared to think in Slavish.

This is a great and wonderful people and so far they have accomplished more than any others in their fight for freedom. They held a secret election while the war was in progress and elected a president and vice president. It will be remembered by many that their president was in Washington when news of the armistice was received and that President Wilson recognized him as president of a republic that has nothing beyond a perfect working organization. Think of all they have accomplished! They are nothing but a people with a claim and an aim. No country, no home; nothing but a perfectly organized government, and with nothing to govern. Nothing but a demand for their rights.

And thus they go before the peace conference presenting their claims in a business-like manner and supported by assertions that must have suitable recognition. The Slavs, or Czecho-Slavs as you will, are destined to become one of the greatest and most powerful people of Europe. They have the brains; they have the education and they have the money to put their country in a year far in advance of some other countries in 10 years.

Let me state that I am not a Slav. I am an American so far back that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. Some of your Connecticut readers will understand when I say that I am a Pequot. I am simply writing of a people that I have found and I freely say that I greatly admire them.

I befriended a Slav. He gave me some stamps when he ascertained that I am a collector. He had collected when he was at his old home in Prague. After a time he gave me one of the stamps in question. It took me a long time to find out all about it, if indeed, I have at all.

When the stamps were first issued, the intention was to place them on all their mail. They were accepted by some of Burleson's half blind clerks as United States stamps and went through. They even have been accepted as special delivery stamps when on covers with regular stamps and the letters have been delivered by messenger. Soon they found that they must be placed on the inside because there was liable to be a conflict with the Post Office Department.

Another thing got into their minds and that is the question of loyalty. Here are the Military Booklets specially printed and bound up in panes of 30. We have for the moment:

Price for variety (A) - - - - - - - - $5.00
" " " (B) - - - - - - - - 7.50

NOTE: None of these leaflets are obtainable in France today — None are being issued now. But very few ever issued. No approvals — no C. O. D.'s. Cash with order. Only thirty leaves on hand and no more in sight.

SHADES OF U. S. STAMPS.
Be sure to keep up your collection with the different shades of U. S. stamps for they are the hardest proposition to catch up on there is in the game. Of course, we think the best thing to do is to get your name on our mailing list, but whatever you do, don't get behind. Probably the new Victory stamp will come in innumerable shades. Be sure to get the first ones as they will be the most scarce. The way to get them in singles and blocks of four is to get your name on our mailing list. If you do this you are a winner, if not
WE BOTH LOSE.

were they, a greatly misunderstood people, raising money during war time for a people who had no standing in Europe and who were looked upon almost as rebels. Indeed, some people today, when Czecho-Slovaks are mentioned, immediately think of Bolsheviks or something of the kind, simply because they do not understand.

While the stamp has no philatelic value, while it is the stamp of a people without a country, and cannot be classed in any other way than as a stamp born of this great world conflict for charity, few stamps can have so many peculiar circumstances surrounding it; I might say so much hidden history. For this reason alone, it is a curiosity.

AWARDS HER LIEN IN STAMP ACTION.

Another phase of the litigation growing out of the George W. Worthington $1,000,000 stamp collection has been decided by Justice Laughlin, who has just rendered his decision in the suit of Alice F. Halliday against Harrison B. McGraw, as assignee for the benefit of the creditors of Worthington, and Warren H. Colson.

In a previous action Mrs. Halliday, suing to establish her right to a lien on the stamp collection, which Worthington had put up as collateral for a loan she made to him, was successful, obtaining judgment for about $300,000. It was then agreed that the stamps should be sold, Mrs. Halliday being paid $240,000, while an additional sum of about $100,000 should be deposited with the Bankers' Trust company to await the outcome of several disputes about commissions, lawyers' fees, etc.

Justice Laughlin holds that the plaintiff is entitled to the amount of her lien and to the necessary expense of preserving and handling the property; that costs should be taxed and an additional allowance of 5 per cent. on the amount of her recovery, paid in full out of the fund deposited, and that she is to execute an assignment to the assignee of her claims against the purchasers of stamps who did not pay in full and of her claims against the sales agent.—Buffalo Express.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS
Beverly, Mass. Portland, Me.

A LAY OF THE PEELABLE HINGE.

I trill this lay—'tis new, I ween,
How Percy found the Penny Green;
Corralled the prize he'd chased so long
Amid the haunts where dealers throng.
For weary months his queries vain
Had met with nought but "Come again."
Some dubbed him fey—"Loose tile," one said—
Or wished him far, not overhead.
But Percy steered an even keel,
Like Dreadnought stout bedight in steel.
There came a day—we've heard him tell
(A halo did become him well!)—
How in the folds of Booklet Three
He spied the gem, full mint, O. G.
At least the wight who owned the Lot
Averred it so—terms cash and spot.
Blithe Percy then—his surname Jones—
Did chant "Pip pip," in dulcet tones,
And hornpipes flung he, pas de seul,
But hush! don't tell tales out of school.
That rhyme's not sound, I do declare,
Nor this one, too, but c'est la guerre.
However—
He peeped above, he peeped below—
Condition good did surface show.
Pink gum, full perfs, chalk coating, too,
(A fish-knife proved the last-named true).
With tweezers cold he gave a tweeze,
A tug, a heave—crescendo, please—
A mighty jerk, a tearing sound—
It gave, and Jones span round and round,
Bearing the prize aloft, unbent,
But, sad to say, with fearsome rent.
And riven page showed fierce—Great Scott!
Best "peelers" they? Certainly not.
Sad Percy next the "split" o'erturned,
On it the gaze of Cheavin* burned.
The serried humps of hinges three
Spread their full inch—oh, agony!
The limpet's grasp—no, not in it—
Best "peelers" beat him every minute.
The problem now was to replace
The gem, and eke to save his face.
But Percy saw with bated breath
And cheeks whose hue resembled death
The legend stern—or was it flu?—
"All stamps removed . . It's up to you."
My story ends. Remember this,
An A1 stamp's a thing of bliss.
Note this, all ye whose ways are slack:
That every front must have a back.
* The well-known philatelic micrographer.

A STUDY IN POSTMARKS.

By Geo. W. Bye.

DEAR MIN:—

TILLIE FOSTER and BEN WHEELER, the CRIPPLE, now make their HOME at the STONEHOUSE, where TRAVELERS REPOSE. Their WHITE HORSE and also the BLACK HORSE (BLACK BEAUTY, he was called) are now in HORSE HEAVEN.

TOM BEAN got stuck in the MUD, near the TURNPIKE, just beyond the ROBBER'S ROOST, down by the PAINTED POST. BIG MOSES helped him out. Everything is O. K. now.

HAPPY JACK CUNNINGHAM bought a LIBERTY BOND and a THRIFT STAMP last week.

SANDY LEONARD O'NEIL and SLEEPY EYE MARIASTEIN are still with us.

The STARTUP at the SAWMILL near GRUB GULCH made the SAWDUST FLY.

HOPE you can come to SKEDEE CHRISTMAS, where a ROYAL WELCOME awaits you.

SOSO, DARLING.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—It is now Lieut. W. F. Ferguson and our former dealer friend will have the congratulations of many of our readers. The "Indiana" to which Lieut. Ferguson has been assigned during the past two years, is now at the Philadelphia yard and will be out of commission in about a month. Lieut. Ferguson will then be released from duty and stranger things have happened than that he should get back again into the stamp business.

—Miss Amy L. Swift, noting our News Gleaning in connection with one Garcia, Remedios, Cuba, reports that she also sent him an exchange selection but after many days it was returned censored with the comment "Export license required". Miss Swift suggests that failure to hear from Mr. Garcia may not be the latter's fault.

—The Central Stamp Exchange, Chicago, Ill., is back again in our columns this week and we welcome this firm and trust that it may receive the patronage of our readers. The manager is F. W. Shuster and he writes us that his firm will no doubt be regularly represented in the columns of the WEEKLY.

—The Majestic Stamp Co. feels that an injustice has been done the Perrines by an item recently published. Mr. Wayne Christy of Chicago is holding for the Perrines the letter which Mr. Sauer claims to have sent them. Mr. Christy says that the envelope reached Chicago in very poor shape and being a registered letter it is held for the parties in question rather than to risk forwarding.

—Sherman G. Layton, Ellis, Mass., has a lot of old and current stamp magazines weighing about fifteen pounds that he would be glad to send to someone (a shut-in preferred) who will meet transportation charges.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Capt. R. M. Bruns, Carl H. Miller, J. E. N. Paul, W. J. Thomson.

—We are informed by Frank B. Pond that an aerial mail service was opened between Minneapolis-St. Paul and Duluth Saturday, Feb. 22, the trip taking a little over two hours for 150 miles. Mr. Pond states that 6c aeroplane stamps were put on sale in Duluth about Feb. 10.

—We have just received an auction catalog from Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer of Philadelphia, which to a certain extent is historical and will prove to be one of great interest to "M. & M. Fans." In cataloging and describing the collection of the late Mr. George Anders, of Norristown, Penn., he states at what auction sale, or from what collection the important lots were secured, mentioning the price paid at that time. Collectors as a rule, take a special interest in a stamp if it has a pedigree that can be traced. The collection abounds in many prominent pieces from the Chapman, Deats, Eagle, George, Holland, Levick, Nast, Phelps and Tiffany collections and consists of the first 330 lots. It is followed by a fine property of British Colonials and the balance of the sale is made up of fine wholesale offerings.

—"I note in 'News Gleanings' for Feb. 22 that Roessler's correspondent mentions that 'Russian stamps have appeared in Eastern Siberia surcharged with values in American cents.' Perhaps 'Eastern Siberia' is a new name for China—see Scott's numbers 450 to 466 under Russia."—PERCY MCG. MANN.

—"Enclosed find $1 for two years' renewal. I might as well try to ride a Ford without jolts as to collect stamps without your paper. Neither is smooth sailing."—J. E. SCOTT.

—"We are constantly confronted with little things in the nature of current history that nobody seems able to explain. For instance, here is a current 1c U. S. envelope canceled Boston, Mass., addressed Toronto, Ont., card Hayden, Stone & Co. (Brokers). On face in large rubber type stamp is 'Foreign Exchange'—'U. S. F. R. B. No. 415-C' in two lines. Back of letter has rectangular adhesive uncanceled 1c green 'Canada. Customs Duty.' What is the significance of the rubber type stamp and the adhesive stamp on back?"—F. G. FLOYD.

EDITORIAL.

Report—An officer of the government informs us that "there is a possibility that the current perforation 11 on the U. S. stamps will be changed, if rumors that have reached me may be depended upon."

Required—The provisions of the new revenue law are so extensive that they will increase the use of stamps greatly and an analysis of the purely stamp aspects of the tax should be forthcoming. A Washington correspondent says that it is likely that the current documentary stamps will be used for a "number of inter-related purposes." He is silent on any impending new issues. Further, he says that only necessary revenue stamps for new taxes will be issued as whenever possible the new tax will be paid by the old stamps, as a matter of economy. A definite schedule of revenues for use under the tax recently impounded will be contained in an early number of our paper. According to a press despatch, an amendment to the Harrison narcotic drug act taxes at the rate of one cent an ounce, opium, cocaine and derivatives or medicines containing these, the tax to be paid by revenue stamps. In reference to the tax on opiates already in effect, there is complaint that the law has not been strictly observed and the Treasury Department is taking steps to enforce the new regulations to the letter. When the previous law went into effect, we had a description of these "opium stamps."

Read—A correspondent translates an editorial from a Portuguese paper published in the United States asking that ownership of the Azores, belonging to Portugal, be transferred to the United States. It seems that the developments of the war have accentuated existing bonds between the islands and this country and that there is a strong sentiment in the Azores for adoption by Uncle Sam. It is supposed that Portugal would not oppose any recommendation of the peace conference, which in all probability will dispose of the title to the islands, which have a prominent place in the stamp albums, almost from first to last, as the Azores are comparatively venerable as a stamp-issuing country; it dates from 1868.

Rebuttal—An old friend writes: "I was much taken with the remarks of the man in a recent issue who you said was an authority who was reluctant to hazard an opinion as to the market possibilites of any particular stamps. His statements were logical enough, no doubt, yet it seems that there are exceptions to any rule that may be cited, as in the case of the five cent, 1847, U. S. When this stamp was first selected for preferment and was advertised for at prices on an ascending scale by those intent upon 'cornering' it, the opinion was volunteered by a dealer, certainly shrewd, that it was a good time to sell. This was long before the present high prices for the stamp had been reached. Any assumption that he may have had, based on the premise that general knowledge of the desirability of the stamp would 'bear' it on the market proved faulty. I happened to find recently, a little lot of eight covers bearing five cent, 1847, that I bought in a Wolsieffer auction sale about 1896 and which I laid away at the time only to find in going through a 'catch-all' drawer. I paid at the rate of fifteen cents a stamp and as I remember the catalogue quotation was thirty-five cents. An enthusiast to whom I showed the covers offered me twenty-five dollars for the lot. Even though I did not accept the tender I was pleased to get it." Having recourse to a 1897 catalogue, we find that the stamp was quoted at 85 cents used and it is curious that ten years later in the 1907 catalogue the price was 75 cents.

Reflections—A good many readers emphasize the commercial spirit in collecting, and attend anxiously to money-making possibilities in their stamp investments. We are importuned by them for prophecies as to the future advances in prices and for information that might be helpful to those who wish to speculate in stamps. We refrain from predictions of the kind in view of the experiences of many a trained observer who in his more enthusiastic days did not hesitate to express his beliefs. Sometimes, the forecast proved ironical and on the whole, the results were not happy. Any guess is a good one when confirmed by time and one has the right, of course, to take any means that he will, but it may become mischievous for him to lead those who depend upon his judgment into the labyrinth of chance. At the same time, it is to be argued that there is justification for conservative opinions as to the price future of certain stamps that may for some reason stand apart from the mass. It is not to be gainsaid that occasionally one is given proof that this or that observer has an acuteness that makes him exceptional and fits him with an ability to pose as a prophet. It is difficult to induce a person of this kind to share his opinions with all collectors. Sometimes, selfish reasons cause him to refuse his counsel but again, he fears that after all, he may be the means of working hardship on a collector now and then. The tipster in philately is not the dependable factor that he may be, relatively speaking, in other lines.

Ribald—A reader of the paper who was known to be enthralled by the thought of finds, found the following message on the card that he had stuck in his door, saying that he would return at a certain time: "I have an old trunk full of war letters and before the war. Do you buy these? I am a poor man and would like to get anything I can for them as I need money badly. Call up —— and I will make an appointment with you if you are interested. O. H. ——." The trusting soul who found these glad words was just a tiny bit suspicious, he now says, as certain little touches in the letter were too good to be true. However, he called up the number given and after inquiring for Mr. H., the man who had a trunk full of old letters, he finally secured, after much vexatious delay, a man who said he had the letters. He found that he got the unclaimed letter department of the big post office. This "joke" was not so extreme as one perpetrated on a dignified collector one cold day this winter. He had a friend who told him in the hearing of a number of other collectors that he had located a shanty in one of the suburbs that promised to yield much treasure trove. He promised the dignified collector first pick of the harvest. After a few weeks had passed, the collector got a telephone call in the name of his friend, asking that he take the first train to K—— and bring a suitcase along to help carry back the scarce things in a big find. Braving the weather, he boarded the train to deserted K—— and wandered around there for some time before he realized that he had been cruelly hoaxed.

OUR BOOK AGENCIES.

Have you procured Melville's new book "Postage Stamps Worth Fortunes"? If not, step into the nearest agency and purchase a copy. "We want to show these dealers that there is a demand for this book and your patronage there will be appreciated even more than if addressed to this office. We are glad to get agents in local societies. Last week we mentioned Mr. Tillson of the Rutherford, N. J., stamp club, and this week the Aborn Stamp Co., of Providence, R. I., whose proprietors are both active in the Providence society. We shall welcome similar co-operation. We now have a Dutch agency in the person of K. A. Heijmans, Jr., Rotterdam, Holland. He has stocked a large number of our books and taken six subscriptions to the WEEKLY.

WAR CHARITIES.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

The British Colonies of the Western Hemisphere have been responsible for many varieties of war tax stamps to bolster up the impaired condition of their finances, but few stamps have been produced in aid of the wonderful work of the Red Cross.

Shortly after the outbreak of the war, Trinidad and Tobago, Grenada and Jamaica, in the British West Indies, made issue of Red Cross labels, typeset and produced locally, in which the Geneva Cross occupies a prominent place. These labels are sold for ¼d or ½d each, and being without postal value are in much the same category as the Red Cross labels issued here in the States in December of each year.

Quite unintentionally, about 900 copies of the Red Cross label of Trinidad and Tobago did service as provisional ½d postage stamps on September 18, 1914. The local Red Cross Society had secured permission from the Governor to frank their letters with their labels, and on September 18th, presented a lot of between 800 and 900 circulars to the General Post Office, Port of Spain, asking for urgent delivery. The outlying post offices had not yet been notified of the Governor's action, and to avoid delay and the possibility of the letters being taxed as unpaid, the labels on this one lot of circulars were cancelled with the General Post Office cancelling stamp. After this date, all letters of the society passed under frank, and while bearing the labels, the postal clerks were cautioned against cancelling them.

On Flag Day, 1915, Trinidad and Tobago issued a Red Cross postage stamp, overprinting the current 1d stamp, with the Geneva emblem, and the date beneath — 21/10/15. Quoting from the Colonial Secretary's report: "—— the whole issue (100,000 stamps) was sold out at face value (1d) in two or three hours, and the Red Cross Society benefited by one-half of the proceeds of the sale, the balance going to general revenue."

A similar issue took place in the following year, this time the date being placed above the Cross—19-10-16. 250,000 stamps were issued on this occasion, and again quoting from the Colonial Secretary's report: "Of the proceeds £500 was given to the Red Cross Society, and £250 to the Belgian Relief Fund."

Bahamas followed in 1917—the 1d red and black, Queen's Staircase design, being overprinted with the Geneva Cross, and the date 1-1-17 beneath, in red. The stamps were ordered for issue on New Year's Day, 1917, but due to delays in printing and dispatch, the stamps were not available for issue at Nassau until May 18, 1917. The stamps were sold at face, and did full postal duty—half the amount realized going to the Red Cross fund, and the balance to general revenue. But one consignment of this stamp was sent out from London (estimated between 150,000 and 180,000) and stock was running close to exhaustion in the summer of 1918. To replace this stamp, a 1d "WAR CHARITY 3-6-18" stamp, in the Queen's Staircase design, has been ordered from London.

1917 did not produce a Red Cross stamp for Trinidad and Tobago, much to the surprise of the collecting world, and the official statement made at the time was: "The government does not intend to make further Red Cross issues."

For this the Secretary of State for the Colonies seems to be responsible, having addressed a circular to the various Colonial governments objecting to the issue of postage stamps bearing the Red Cross emblem—"since without special authority under the Geneva Convention Act of 1911, the Red Cross emblem cannot be employed for imprinting stamps."

And further that—"The concession under which certain cases where this imprinting had already occurred were subsequently authorized, should not be regarded as a precedent should proposals similar (in nature) be put forward."

To overcome this objection, Red Cross stamps have been issued by Trengganu, North Borneo, and Straits Settlements, with the emblem omitted, and the words "RED CROSS" substituted.

In October, 1914, Newfoundland was said to be considering the issue of a 25-cent war charity stamp, having a postal validity of 2 cents—the difference going to the National Relief Fund. Much adverse comment was made at the time that the surtax should be so high, but on authority of an official of the Dominion: "—such a proposition has never been considered by the department, nor am I aware of any announcement, official or unofficial, having been made." As to adverse comment in the press as to the surtax: "—were such the case, I should not have been surprised."

To aid the local drive for war funds on October 24, 1918, it was hoped that the Post Office Dept. would see fit to issue at least one special stamp, but no departure was made from the stand previously taken. The Women's Patriotic Assn. of Newfoundland had under consideration issuing a non-postal label to help swell the fund, but the plan fell through.

While the Red Cross labels of Jamaica have no postal validity, they are sold by postal clerks in all the post offices in the island, and are requisitioned from the General Post Office, Kingston, and accounting rendered the same as for postage stamps. There was an agitation recently in the island for a special series of Red Cross postage stamps of three values, ½d, 1d and 1½d, to help along the funds being raised for the war charities. The stamps were to be overprinted with the Geneva Cross in red, sold at double face—the difference going to the fund.

At the same time, the suggestion was made that remainders of all the old series of stamps such as the 2s Queen Victoria, etc., be reduced by surcharging to 1½d, and additionally overprinted with the Geneva Cross.

Petitions were sent to H. E., the Governor, Sir Leslie Probyn, asking that these stamps be prepared for "OUR WAR DAY," December 2nd, 1918, but here, as in other cases, the instructions from Downing Street were quoted as being opposed to such an issue.

While it may be said that such issues are not necessary from the point of postal requirements, the Red Cross Society is doing a wonderful work, and is dependent on the public for funds, and every effort to increase these funds is deserving of support. Doubtless, the fund can be supported by gifts in cash, etc., and these have been made, but the issue of stamps is quite another source of revenue which is not touched in the ordinary way.

With the armistice signed, and the delegates gathering around the peace conference table, there will be less agitation for further war charity stamps—though the great work of the Red Cross must go on, and relief work on a scale never before dreamed of is necessary.—A. C. Roessler's Stamp News.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our recent chronicles we have referred to the new 3c Victory stamp which will without doubt have been issued before these notes appear in print. We are now able to describe this stamp, quoting from American Philatelist:

"Design a helmeted female figure with upper part of body encased in scale armor, flowing skirt falling to feet, right hand grasps a sword, the point of which rests on the ground at feet, left arm partially extended with balance scale held in hand. Draped at back and above the figure is the United States flag, while at the left the English and Belgian flags are draped, and at the right the French and Italian flags. In a straight label extending across the top of the stamp is the inscription U. S. POSTAGE, while directly beneath the figure, in another straight label, is the word CENTS, flanked by circles, in each corner, containing the numeral 3."

As this variety will most likely be extensively distributed and used, we feel quite confident the department will issue them in imperforate condition.

Mr. A. W. Filstrup calls our attention to the fact that although we mentioned the phantom plate numbers which are appearing on the current 3c surface print stamp, we have overlooked mentioning similar peculiarities appearing on the imperforate stamp. He has found these oddities on sheet No. 9331, which he has located at his local Post Office.

We might mention that your Editor, along with Mr. Owen, secured similar sheets from the New York Post Office some time back, from earlier plates.

Mr. J. R. Hemmerlee sends us a very interesting block of thirty-two of the type IV 3c perforated 11 wherein the offset distinctly shows on the back of half of the stamps, the balance remaining clear. This block came from sheet No. 9002. This plate is making numerous varieties, for we recall receiving a portion of a sheet some time back, from the same plate, with the double print.

Mr. Don J. Grout sends us, for our inspection, a block of the same stamp in an extremely dark shade. We had a run of similar stamps in the Philadelphia Post Office during December. One collecting shades of this current three cent stamp will have an extremely interesting time, for we find that they run from a light shade, printed from an uninked roller to an extremely dark shade, printed from a greatly overinked roller. The writer, so far, has been able to get together forty-two blocks, very distinct one from another.

In our issue of February 15th we made mention of a slight defect appearing on some of the older Plates of 3c type IV. In describing these we failed to mention the fact that this variety occurs only in the upper right hand pane on the second stamp, directly under the Plate number.

ALBANIA.—We are informed that the 2c brown and green label of the 1917 series has been surcharged thus AZORES.—We have just received from the Aborn Stamp Co. some specimens of provisional stamps said to have been issued by the postmaster at Ponta Delgada. The regular supply failing to show up, certain low values of Azores postage were overprinted as follows:—½c black, 1c green, 2c carmine, 5c blue 1912 and 1c brown 1918 with the word MULTA in capital letters. The overprint is in red on the ½, 1c green and 5c blue and in black on the other two values. The ½c brown, 1c green and 5c blue have also been overprinted PORTEADO diagonally in red from left to right. Nothing more is known about the conditions that brought these stamps into being.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—J. A. Galbraith and Frank M. Mason have shown us the new WAR STAMPS recently issued for this country. They are the ½d, surcharged WAR STAMP in small black type, and the 2½d orange surcharged WAR STAMP 1½d in two lines in black.

COLOMBIAN REPUBLIC.—According to Mr. Herman Focke, a local printing appeared in December, 1918, of a new value, 3 centavos brown-claret. It was apparently used only on letters from the coast. It lasted for only a few weeks and may turn out to be a provisional issue of more or less local though international character.

COLUMBIA.—Mr. A. W. Dunning sends us some vertical pairs of Scott's Nos. 801-821 showing the surcharges tete beche. Mr. Dunning advises that "while many of these surcharges are listed by Scott and other cataloguers as existing inverted, they are not listed in pairs with the surcharges on the two stamps tete beche. Whether all inverted surcharges come se tenant with normal surcharges or not, I do not know, as I have not a vertical strip of three stamps, which, if all three stamps bore normal surcharges, would prove the contrary. I have vertical pairs in which both surcharges are normal, but this proves nothing, as a row either above or below might have had the surcharge inverted."

COOK ISLANDS.—It is stated that the stamps of this group will henceforth be of the same character as those supplied to Aitutaki, Niue, etc.—that is, New Zealand stamps localised by an overprint. In this case the overprint will be the name of the capital "Raratonga." The set will consist of the twelve current New Zealand stamps from ½d to 1s.—Alfred Smith's Monthly Circular.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—We are informed by Mr. Herman Focke that the ½ centavo value comes in a shade that may be termed lilac rose and with imprint of 1917 in red. This is not chronicled by Scott.

Hands Across the Seas

THE lure of the postage stamp knows no north, no south, no east, no west, no country, no continent! It claims the whole world for its field and thus philately has become the premier hobby of all classes and colors. The World-War only intensified its hold upon human interest and to demonstrate this fact we shall issue an ECUADOR.—Mr. John P. Cooper calls our attention to several values of the revenue stamps of this country that are being used for postage and were received by him in a consignment just at hand. They are the 5c brown, 1901-2 issue; 5c green, 1911-12 issue; 5c green, 1915-16 issue; 10c black, 1913-14 issue, and 10c red and blue.

HAYTI.—Mr. A. W. Dunning has shown us another value of the surcharged stamps mentioned in the last issue. This time it is the 2cts Gourde on Scott's No. 211 (50c de p yellow). The surcharge is in red.

MEXICO.—Mr. Herman Focke writes us that the 10 centavos blue now comes rouletted and with imprint at the bottom, this being the variety used for the Red Cross issue recently reported in these columns by Mr. Focke, and which, by the way, was a "one day's" affair. This should be a rarity. Mr. Focke also states that the 10c without imprint comes in what seems to be an imperforate condition. A sample is submitted for our inspection, but as it is a single copy liable to have been trimmed, it is listed with reservation.

MOZAMBIQUE CO.—Mr. Frank M. Mason shows us the new set of stamps through the 30 centavos value. The colors are as follows:

½c brown and green.
½c black.
1c green and black.
1½c dark blue and green.
2c red and black.
2c lilac and black.
5c blue and black.
7½c orange and green.
8c violet and black.
10c light red and black.
15c dark rose and black.
20c light green and black.
30c violet brown and black.

RUSSIA.—During the month many interesting novelties have come to hand. Mr. H. R. Harmer has loaned two of the quaint Bolshevik stamps of Russia, bearing a sort of family resemblance (so far as the typography is concerned) with the Romanoff issue. The design shows a hand clenching the hilt of a sword which is cutting through the iron chains which have fettered Russia for generations. A small quantity of the stamps of the new republic of the Ukraine has also been received, a curious stamp with the value expressed in "chalives," which is presumably a new local name for a kopec.—Postage Stamp.

SALVADOR.—The regular 6c postage stamp of 1916 comes with surcharge "1 Centavo 1" in black, quite different from Scott's Nos. 451 a and b., which seem to have a similar surcharge, but on the 6c official No. 971. We are indebted to Mr. Herman Focke for this information.

SAMOA.—Mr. Frank P. Brown has shown us the 1½d orange brown New Zealand stamp surcharged SAMOA in red for use in this colony. Mr. Brown at the same time shows us the 2sh 6d brown revenue stamp of New Zealand, Scott's type R3 surcharged in the same manner.

Whisperings and Whimperings of a Philatelic Nut

Edited by COTTON C. DOYLE.

Vol. I No. 2. March 8, 1919. Price: Postfree.

Rules and Regulations.

This department is run on the principle that

"A little nonsense now and then Is relished by all kinds of men."

—even stamp collectors, and so contributions from any contrib, famous, infamous, or just ordinary are welcomed. No credit whatever will be given unless the editor feels like it. He reserves the right to any and all credit to himself, but may relax a little on sunshiny days when there is a prospect of fried onions for dinner.

Contributions should assay at least 10% humor to be available. When return postage is enclosed the editor will do as he chooses with the mss., and will appropriate the postage to his own uses with great glee. Stamps sent for examination will be interred in the editor's personal collection for permanent reference. Nothing of the slightest interest or value will be returned to the senders under any consideration.

These regulations may seem a trifle harsh but we propose to run this dept. on unusual lines and intend to be different or bust. Bill Shakespeare isn't the only key-thumper who believes Variety is the Spice of Life.

Criticism.

For the benefit of "Beginner" and others, we will say, Yes, we know why the 2c Navy Dept. in Green is listed and dubbed an "error" and why the 24c 1857 in Red Lilac and the 3c 1861-66 in Lake and Scarlet are listed and priced in the current catalog, and some day we may yield to temptation and snip the cable that anchors them so securely in their exalted position. However, it is a serious matter to lapse into telling the truth and we might get ourself disliked thereby. Beside, if we had sold these things as stamps for many years, and now admitted the truth about them, we might have to buy them back. That would be disastrous to our prosperity. Therefore we shall keep mum. Often we wonder why the 2c Navy in Black and the 24c 1857 in Bright Bluish Lilac are not listed. They are just as desirable as the items above mentioned and would bring much better prices if listed as stamps than they do as proofs.

Eddie Stern of the Economical Stamp Co., Manhattan, bought a fine collection last week for less than he hopes to get for it. If he does not sell it entire, he will break it up. Some day he intends to knock off work long enough to tell us how he came to be the Proprietor of a Company. We could never figure it out but are always willing to learn. If it is not too difficult and the emoluments are satisfactory, we might like to be proprietor of a Co. ourself.

Notes and Gossip.

Bill Michaels of Missouri, turned down an unused block of nine 24c 1862 at $2.16 net regretfully the other day. He would have invested if the mail order house that took them hadn't perforated their initials in every stamp. Bill hopes the lady who used them to pay for a new Paris head-piece has the rest of the sheet and that he can get it before she sends them to the mail order crowd for something to match the hat.

Commodore Ferry, the notorious wheelbarrow skipper of N. Jersey, has been taking advantage of the open winter to prepare his war garden for a bumper crop of succotash next summer. Recently he plowed up a rusty tobacco can and found the remains of several hundred long lost 2nd. issue rev. duplicates therein. Mrs. Com. F. has thought up eleven alibis and hopes to make one of them stick.

Evensong.

(To the tune of "Old Black Joe")

Gone are the stamps
That my childhood loved to buy.
Gone are those stamps,
The apple of my eye.
Gone, but gone to a little boy we know.
I hear the last new issue calling—
Dough, dough, dough.

When he was young,
Blue eyes and golden hair.
Sweet years have passed,
His mother, too, is fair.
Now he's a lad, he's taking after me.
He'd rather play with stamps by gosh, than Play hoo-kee.

Gone are the stamps,
That my childhood loved to buy.
Gone are those stamps,
From the place they used to lie.
Bub has them now,
They're the apple of his eye.
Dad makes the dough so son can go, and Buy, buy, buy.

Query Dept.

Anxious.—It is too bad your sister used up all your peroxide. Altho Great Stuff to restore the color of stamps that have turned brown or black, we have never used it on our scanty locks and she may have overestimated its efficacy. We suggest that you go to the nearest drug store and obtain a new supply. Perhaps, if you hide it in the Family Bible, she may not find it for quite awhile.

Mary & Martha.—We answered this question 83 times last year but our patience is inexhaustible. Your 1c red U. S. stamp with a hungry eagle on it is not as rare as the $5 proprietary. It is a match stamp worth perhaps 25c. You will find it listed as No. 5173 (but not priced) in the alleged standard catalog. Try sending it to Friend Luff once a week until his patience gives out and he induces Hughie Clark to price it as of yore, and end the agony for all concerned.

Feb. 22, 1919.

Pres. Dunning called the meeting to order at 8.20 this evening. The usual reports were read and accepted. The resignations of Mr. B. A. Oppenheimer and Nathaniel A. Francis were read and accepted. Messrs. Wm. L. Blake and M. D. Olmstead were elected non-resident members. It was voted to change the by-laws so that non-resident members could purchase and use keys to the room. Messrs. J. Harper Blaisdell, Robert M. Stone and Warren A. Rowell applied for membership and their names will be voted upon at the next meeting. It was decided to hold an auction for the benefit of the Library Committee's fund and a printed list will be sent out soon after the March meeting. All those who wish to contribute lots will please send them to the Committee at once. It was voted to join the United Stamp Societies.

Mr. C. K. B. Moore won 1st prize and Mr. A. W. Dunning 2nd in the Uruguay contest. Mr. Prevost had his fine collection of France with him and exhibited them informally. Adjournment was made at 10 p. m., 36 members and guests having been present.

TO BUY OR TO SELL

I would rather buy the stamps of the U. S. than sell because there is more fun in it. I am not in this game to make money. That might read queer but it is true nevertheless.

AS A COLLECTOR I want many items in unused postage, U. S. Essays and Revenues.

AS A DEALER I want used stamps of this country before 1890 in any quantity, but only in the finest condition.

Collectors and dealers with any of these items are invited to send them on approval and I will make returns within 48 hours of receipt.

NASSAU-MIAMI AIR MAIL.

By PERCY MCG. MANN.

The first international air mail service in the Western Hemisphere took place between Miami, Florida, and Nassau, Bahamas, toward the end of January. Two seaplanes flew over from Miami, Florida, U. S. A., to Nassau, N. P., Bahamas, on January 28th and returned from Nassau to Miami on the morning of the 30th. Sealed mail was carried from the Nassau post office, and the flight to Miami was made in 2 hrs. and 5 min. by one seaplane, the other coming down thirty miles from Miami, but getting in on the same day (the 30th).

As this is the first time in history that a sealed mail was carried from a British West Indian possession to the United States by airship, it should be of particular interest to stamp collectors to have one of the air mail envelopes, thus carried, for their collection, because, while they are not franked with any especially printed stamp and bear only the ordinary postage, they are post dated in Nassau and Miami on the same day, thus proving, beyond a doubt, that they were sent by aeroplane service.

Less than 600 envelopes were thus forwarded. These have a rubber stamp impression reading "By Air Service, Nassau to Miami" immediately under the stamps, the postoffice cancellation covers this impression, thus further proving that the postoffice accepted them for this air mail.

It was expected that the Nassau-Miami return trip would take place on the 29th, so the mail via aeroplane was cancelled "29 JAN 19", but the flight not taking place until the next day, the mail was held over and the additional cancellation "30 JAN 19" was impressed thereon. These dates are in the regular "NASSAU-BAHAMAS" postmarks. Upon receipt in Miami, the letters were backstamped "MIAMI-FLA. JAN 30 5 P M 1919" and curiously enough the clerk setting up this stamp inserted the "5" upsidedown.

As a cover displaying part of the history of the air mail services of the world, and the possibilities of this rapid service of communication, this Nassau-Miami "first trip" is unique.

In addition to the above, some of the mail was addressed to Havana, Cuba, and was duly delivered there, via Miami, Fla., but no receiving mark of Havana appears on the covers, although they were "Passed by Censor" and are thus marked.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

A most interesting "Priced Catalog of War Stamps" has been received from Bright & Son. It bears the date of January, 1919, and prices all stamps issued in connection with and in consequence of the war. This is the seventh edition and it makes a compact pamphlet of forty pages. There is a great deal of information scattered through the book. The price of the catalog is 14c, post free, and may be obtained from Bright & Son, 164 Strand, London, England. We know of no firm here in the U. S. who can supply the catalog.

We have received from Theodore Champion, 13 Rue Drouot, Paris, France, a review copy of the 1919 edition of the Yvert & Tellier-Champion Catalog. This catalog has been produced under great difficulties and is a marked tribute to the energy of its publishers. The book is not so freely illustrated with cuts as usual, due to the fact that the plates ordinarily used for that purpose were stored in the publishers' shop at Amiens and had to be abandoned at the time of the shelling of the town by the Germans. They suffered no damage, but came into the possession of the publishers too late to be of any use on the present edition. In spite of all the obstacles that the publishers were compelled to overcome, the present edition sustains the reputation that this house has in giving us the only reliable and standard French catalog. The publication price is $1.40 and it will be sent postfree for $1.50.

DICTIONARY ADDENDA.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

HARRISON & SON.—A firm of London printers who have produced most of the King George stamps of Great Britain.

HARRISON PRINTS.—A term applied to certain British stamps printed by Messrs. Harrison & Son to distinguish them from similar stamps printed by Messrs. De La Rue & Co. or at Somerset House.

HINGES.—(See Mounts.)

HERBERTSHOHE.—A town in the erstwhile German colony of New Guinea. Some of the registration labels found there were converted into 3d postage stamps by the victorious British troops by surcharging them "G. R. I.—3d" in two lines.

HADI SEGELY.—Part of the special overprint applied to the Hungarian charity stamps of 1914-16 meaning "War fund".

HRZGL. POST FRM.—An inscription shown on the 1¼sch stamp of Holstein issued in 1864. It is an abbreviation for "Herzogliche Post Freimarke" which means "Ducal Postage Stamp". In the 1¼sch stamp of the succeeding series the last word was expressed as "FRMRK".

IIOPTO CKPNCOPN.—These letters in Slavonic characters form the inscription on the very rare circular stamps of Moldavia (Roumania). They form the words "Porto Scrisorei" which mean "Letter postage stamp".

ILE ROUAD.—The French equivalent for Rouad Island as shown overprinted on the stamps used there.

KILMER, DR. PROVISIONALS.—(See "Dr. K. & Co." stamps).

IRISH STAMPS.—Labels issued by the Sinn Fein party in Ireland sold for the benefit of party funds but having no postal or franking value of any sort.

JACOBITE STAMPS.—Labels issued by the Jacobite party as a form of protest against the established lines of sovereignty in England. The aim of the Jacobites is to restore the Stuart line but these "legitimists" now represent but a small handful of faddists without any political power whatsoever and the "stamps" are merely advertising stickers.

KANSAS CITY ROULETTE.—Early in December, 1914, the postmaster of Kansas City had on hand a number of imperforate sheets of the then current 1c and 2c stamps which he had ordered for the use of the National Bank of Commerce of that city. The bank suddenly stopped using imperforate stamps and having no other outlet for them, and thinking them hardly sufficient to return to Washington, the postmaster caused the remaining sheets to be rouletted at his office so that they would be in such shape that they could be conveniently handled at the stamp window. Altogether 93,600 1c and 69,200 2c stamps were rouletted in this manner.

KICKING MULE. — An unusual United States cancellation which was used at Port Townsend, Washington, in the early 'eighties.

K. U. K. FELDPOST.—An overprint or inscription found in connection with the military stamps issued by Austria in 1915-17. The first letters are for "Kaiserliche und Konigliche" and the whole means "Imperial and Royal Field Post".

LOUISIANA STATE REVENUES.—Revenue stamps issued in the state of Louisiana in 1866, 1867 and 1880 for use in connection with special taxes on lotteries and cotton and in payment of legal fees.

LOTTERY STAMPS.—Special revenue stamps issued in the state of Louisiana in 1866 and 1867 for payment of a tax on lottery tickets.

MACHINE PERFORATION.—(See "Perforation.")

HUSSEY'S POST.—An important local post operating in New York from 1854 until about 1884 in connection with which numerous private labels were issued.

LETTER SHEETS. — Before envelopes were invented the sheet of paper on which a letter was written was folded and sealed and addressed on the outside. This practice was so

The most important individual piece in the famous collection of Indian stamps formed by the late Sir D. P. Masson was the celebrated half sheet of ½a RED (9½ Arches) Scott's No. 1.
(Originally in the collection of the late Earl of Crawford.)

Having acquired this, I offer as follows:
Unused blk. of 4 with lower margin $175.00
Unused block of 4 SHOWING CORNER MARGINAL ORNAMENT, VERY RARE thus $225.00
(Approval with pleasure against reference.)

general that when Great Britain issued her first stamped stationery—the well known Mulreadys—letter sheets were supplied as well as envelopes.

LETTER CARDS.—A style of postal stationery largely imitative of the old style letter-sheet. It combines paper and envelope in one, there being a gummed and perforated edge which serves as a seal in closing the missive and as an easy means of opening same when it reaches the recipient. Letter cards are said to have been invented by Karoly Akin, a Hungarian, who obtained a provisional protection for the patent in England in 1871. The first officially stamped letter card was issued by Belgium late in 1882 and since then many other countries have issued them, including the United States, which issued one in 1886.

MOUNT CURRIE EXPRESS.—A local post operating in Griqualand about 1873-4 in connection with which special stamps were issued.

MATCH STAMPS.—Stamps of special design supplied by the United States government to manufacturers for the payment of the tax on matches. These stamps were printed by the government and in addition to the face value, representing the tax, the firms desiring these special stamps were required to pay the cost of engraving the individual dies, making the plates, etc. At first the cost varied but after June 1st, 1863, a uniform figure of $350.00 was charged for all dies of normal size.

MEDICINE STAMPS.—Stamps of special design supplied to individual manufacturers of patent medicines for the payment of the stipulated taxes as explained under "Match Stamps".

MIS-STRIKE.—A term often used in connection with envelope stamps impressed in the wrong place, doubly printed, or only partly impressed.

NASSAU-ORANGE.—(See "Orange-Nassau.")

ORANGE-NASSAU ISSUE. — A special set of stamps issued by the Netherlands in November, 1913, to commemorate the centenary of that country's independence.

O. B.—These letters are frequently found overprinted on the stamps of the Philippine Islands issued since 1906. They are known both printed and handstamped, the latter being in all sorts of colors and positions and in letters of varying sizes. These letters mean "Official Business" and while they were used on official mail their philatelic interest is questionable.

MORESNET.—A famous philatelic hoax perpetrated by M. Moens in 1867. M. Moens had been annoyed at the practice of a certain philatelic journal, then published in Paris, copying items from his paper, Le Timbre-Poste, without giving proper acknowledgment and he determined to set a trap for the peccant one. In the Timbre-Poste published on April 1st, 1867, a letter appeared signed by J. S. Neom (which is, of course, the name of M. Moens reversed) wherein the writer describes and illustrates a series of four postage stamps supposed to have been issued in the Commune of Moresnet. After dwelling in a serio-comic strain upon the history and resources of Moresnet, he gives the names of the printers of the stamps as Messrs. De Visch and Lirva. The unfortunate journalist for whom the trap was set did not see that De Visch is the Flemish for Poisson, and that Lirva is simply Avril spelled backwards, whilst Poisson d'Avril is, as most people are aware, the French equivalent for April fool! In the next number of his paper he not only swallowed the Moresnet stamps but priced them for the benefit of his customers. In the Timbre Poste for May, 1867, after indulging in a hearty chuckle at the expense of his victim, M. Moens explained the joke for the benefit of those whose dullness it had not already penetrated.

MOURNING STAMP.—In 1899, Finnish stamps were suppressed by the Russian government and ordinary Russian stamps were ordered to be used in their stead. As a protest, a funereal label was issued by private enterprise and for a time many patriotic Finns placed this on the face of their letters and the Russian postage stamps on the back. The label shows the Arms of Finland in yellow and red, with "Soumi" above and "Finland" below in white on a background of solid black color. The price of the label, "1 penni" was printed on the back and the profit from its sale was devoted to the national schools. The Governor-General soon put an end to their use and after a circulation of only forty-eight hours they were absolutely forbidden.

OXIDIZATION. — (See "De-oxidization.")

OFICINA DEL GOBIERNO.—An imprint shown at the base of certain Mexican stamps. It means literally "Office of the Government" referring, of course, to the government printing office.

PAID.—The word "Paid", either by itself or in combination with a numeral of value, is frequently found on old letters used both before and after the introduction of postage stamps. It was simply a post-office marking to show that all postal charges had been prepaid.

OFF-SET PRINTING.—Early in 1918, the United States Bureau of Engraving and Printing came to the conclusion that if it were to be able to keep pace with the demand for three cent stamps some other process of manufacture would have to be adopted as the recess plates deteriorated much too rapidly. The photographic rubber-offset process was chosen as the most suitable method under existing conditions. Mr. J. B. Leavy describes this process in the following lucid manner:—"A photograph was made of a proof taken from the original die, and a proof from the first die of the 3c denomination was intentionally selected for the enlarged negative, as it was considered that the lighter, finer lines of that die lent themselves more readily to surface printing reproduction than the thicker, heavier lines of the second die of the 3c; very much enlarged, the enlarged negative was cut, cleaned and touched up, so that every line was clear and sharp; the design was then reduced, by photography, to the normal size; the normal size negative placed in what is termed a 'step and repeat' photographic machine containing a sensitized gla negative plate as large as the printi plate; this machine permits the ph tographing of a subject as many tim as desired, in any position in the plat one subject at a time, so that the si gle normal size negative was place for number one position on the plat flashed, moved to number two pos tion, flashed, moved to number thre position, flashed, and so on for the e tire plate of four hundred subject The four hundred subject plate th obtained had the guide lines and a rows etched upon it and was then use to manufacture the printing plates i the usual manner, by direct conta photography on sensitized zinc plate the plate number being etched on eac zinc plate thus manufactured." Th first printing of 3c stamps by thi process was made on March 12th, 191 and they were on sale at some pos offices shortly afterwards.

CURRENT AUSTRALIAN STAMPS.

The Thin Figure and Other Varieties.

Some excitement has been created locally within the past few weeks owing to the appearance of what are termed two varieties in the ½d stamp. One has the figures of value in slightly different type, the figure "1" being thinner and that of the "2" larger and more definite. The other variety is a small white dot under the fraction bar.

It may not be generally known that these stamps are printed in sheets of 480, which are afterwards cut up into four. The two varieties above mentioned have only been seen at intervals, from which it must be concluded that each only appears on one sheet in every four. Further, the thin figure "1" was only noticed on printings on Multiple paper, when the stamps were nearly all sold out, with the result that some enthusiastic white variety collectors were scurrying round the various post offices in the Metropolitan area trying to pick up whatever specimens were obtainable.

We have been informed that when the attention of Mr. Harrison, the Commonwealth Stamp Printer, was directed to the variety, "thin figure 1," he had the block taken out, but another gentleman states this is not so.

The same correspondent has drawn our attention to the fact that there is another minor variety—namely, a little white dot on the tail of the figure "2" on the second top-left stamp on the bottom-left pane. The ½d with the white dot under the fraction bar is on the bottom-left corner of right pane of same sheet. The stamp with the thin figures of value is the first left on the third row from the bottom of the right pane. Collectors should bear in mind that both the latter are never found on the same sheet, and that the thin figure of value is the one on the right.

The two-dot varieties are to be found on both the Multiple and Single watermark papers, but, although we have been told that the thin figures of value have been found on stamps printed on the Single watermark paper, we have not yet seen it.

As to the white dot under the fraction bar, that is simply a fault in the electro, probably a bubble which has burst in the preparation of it, and it comes within the category of those we referred to in an article on the subject of white varieties in this journal, October 10, 1913, page 218. The other variety—namely, the thin figures of value—is in a totally different class, and we are unable to explain fully how such a variety could have occurred.

The process of production, is, we understand, somewhat as follows:—The design is engraved or cut into a block of metal, in negative, the size of a stamp, leaving the denomination blank. A strike of this die is then taken by superimposing it on a piece of lead and submitting it to very heavy pressure in a machine. This second die is positive. On it the denominations are engraved in relief, after which further strikes are made of the finished die on blocks of lead, which show the denominations in recess— i. e. white. At one time it was the practice to make impressions of the last die sixty times on gutta-percha or some similar substance and then make the electro from it in the usual manner by immersing it in an electric bath, but it would appear that latterly the practice has been adopted of making a number of electros, one for each stamp, and then clamping them together. The object of doing so is so that if any of the electros should not be satisfactory they could be discarded, whereas if a portion of a pane of sixty electros was imperfect, the whole pane would require to be made over again.

It will be seen therefore, from the above that under ordinary circumstances all the stamps are bound to be alike, and the only conclusion we can come to is that one of the ½d stamps was so faulty that it could not be used and another had to be substituted. But even so this will not account for the fact for one of the figures of value being different to the other on the same stamp. It must have been engraved by a separate hand. Perhaps it was done deliberately by way of secret mark (the late Commonwealth Stamp Printer seems to have delighted in secret marks!). Be that as it may, the fact remains that the one "½" on one stamp is different to 959 others printed at the same time. The affair was not accidental, but of course it may have been merely the result of that carelessness which has been evinced in regard to the production of Commonwealth stamps for several years past. When we speak of carelessness we mean carelessness as to detail. Several similar instances have cropped up from time to time, and we think that had proper supervision been exercised a great many of them could have been avoided. However, as we have said before, we trust that in future better methods will prevail, and that the patchwork system will soon become a thing of the past.

We have pointed out on several occasions before that electros wear rapidly, and that when a new electro is made from the engraved die, old faults disappear, but under the system which has recently been in vogue it would seem that one or more electros could be removed and others substituted. Collectors will realize that it would be exceedingly difficult to keep a record of all these "faults."

If the object of the late Commonwealth Stamp Printer was to give stamp collectors something to hunt for, he succeeded admirably, more especially in the manner in which he produced the North-West Pacific Island stamps. By the way, we have received the ½d K. G. overprinted "N. W. Pacific Islands." on Single wmk. paper, showing the white dot below the fraction bar. Perhaps someone will be fortunate in coming across the stamp with the thin figures of value similarly overprinted.

Further, in all probability the ½d values—and perhaps the 1d too—will be found on the Multiple paper overprinted "N. W. Pacific Islands." If so, we shall be glad to hear of them.

Apparently the ½d stamps on Multiple watermark paper are exhausted, for no more of them are obtainable at the G. P. O., Sydney, and none have been obtainable for a long while at any of the post offices in the other States.—Australian Stamp Journal.

EDITORIAL.

Mail—Interesting letters come to us in unusually large numbers just now and many a side-light is thrown on philatelic questions by them. We are pleased to have the views and opinions of our readers as, first of all, they indicate that philately is much in the thoughts of an increasing number of followers and secondly because of the material that is furnished for comment. New occasions bring new duties; the sands of philately are constantly shifting and consequently, even old topics present new angles. We want our friends to continue to send us their ideas whether they may be ones generally accepted or not. Within reasonable limits, the controversy based on adherence to a principle may have helpful results. Too, there often is inspiration for us in the expressions of letters that receive no public response from us, as all the messages that are received make their impression.

More—Another special issue is being planned for March 29th, 1919, as a companion number to the Victory Special of last January that was received so favorably. The prevailing conditions of philately will be reflected in the coming Allied Special which we intend will worthily represent the present buoyancy of philately. If there are any retarding influences to be felt in the side streets of commercial philately, the main avenue certainly is ablaze with lights; and the dealers are not the victims of any reconstruction necessities. The dealers should celebrate their prosperity by patronizing the columns of the philatelic press and thereby insure a continuance of the flood-tide that "leads on to fortune."

Missioner—Some time ago, we received a letter from Elizabeth C. Buhmann, a teacher of seventh grade pupils in the Alcott School, Chicago, in which she told of the methods that she employed in encouraging her charges to interest themselves in stamp collecting. Through a desire to help a shut-in who found solace in stamp work, she asked some of the scholars whom she knew collected stamps to give their duplicates to the afflicted collector and in arranging them for him, this teacher became a collector herself. The philatelic theme became emphasized and it is said: "Through their interest in the little afflicted boy, the other children in my school got interested in stamps and many who did not collect became ardent collectors. Their recess and leisure periods were taken up in displaying and exchanging stamps and the effect of this communion upon their general 'behavior' cannot be over-estimated. It has made them, as it naturally would, more efficient in history and geography, and has shown them the importance of attention to detail as nothing else could. In their intercourse with one another, they seem to have none of that self-consciousness which is hard to overcome at that age (12 to 15 years). As a reward for excellence in scholarship and deportment, I give stamps to add to their collections,—and a fine lot of boys and girls they are. I hope that this experience might show you the 'stamp collector' from another angle and that it might open a new avenue for some one else similarly placed." This inspiriting letter was followed by an interview with Elizabeth C. Buhmann and her statements proved that not only does she have the co-operation of the pupils in her enterprising application of philately to the school-life of her boys and girls, but the sympathetic regard of her teacher associates as well. The benefits that have been derived through her advanced and intelligent combination of stamps with school interests are not all on the surface as any mentor of the young will discover upon giving thought to the problem. We trust that the seeds of suggestion that have been sown will fall on fertile ground here and there.

Matters—The post office orders recently have carried information that will arrest the eye of the collector. The issue of the Liberty Victorious stamps "is not sufficiently large to take the place of the regular issue of 3-cent stamps, and postmasters will therefore supply them only to patrons who request them." In order to secure special delivery service, it is necessary to place the words, "Special Delivery" immediately below the stamps on the letter. The use of wrapping paper for mailing packages is to be allowed only after any used stamps that may be on the piece of paper so employed have been removed. This course is advised in order to avoid confusion in rating the postage by the clerks. Postmasters are advised that in consequence of the reduction of the postal rate from three to two cents on July 1, 1919, the demand for the two cent domestic postal card and the three cent stamped envelope will cease on that date; and they are enjoined to stock up on the two cent stamps. Warning is uttered against the counterfeited war savings or thrift stamps that have made their appearance from Massachusetts, the forgers having been arrested.

Mentioned—A reader says: "Do you know whether there was a publication current in 1865 and earlier devoted to the interests of those employed in the postal service of our government, in particular? I ask because a file of a periodical of the kind no doubt would contain many references of interest to stamp collectors. I enclose a clipping credited from the U. S. Mail that I have taken from a paper published in 1865 that will show why the demonetized 'remainders' of the 1857-60 issue, U. S., were to be had from dealers under face value for a number of years after the civil war." The clipping reads: "We learn that the Post Office Department is about to institute suits against those postmasters in the lately seceded states who were indebted to the government at the outbreak of the rebellion and have since declined or omitted to settle their accounts. Quite a number of them, however, have honorably paid up their indebtedness." Stamps were returned in many instances but some of them were "lost, strayed or stolen."

Memory—"I have noticed the excellent results obtained from readers to whom you refer questions. I am particularly desirous of getting some information about an album published at Hartford, Conn., which was bought for me when a boy, from a dealer in Boston. This is not a matter of importance, I know, but I should like to trespass on your kindness, as an answer would mean much to me, sentimentally." Our correspondent adds that a friend who had access to Lord Crawford's compendium or index of philatelic literature could not find the information. As stamp albums were not included in this monumental work, data of the kind cannot be found there. We learn that M. Bennett, Jr., Hartford, Conn., published an album in the '60's which was favorably received. If fuller information is available, we shall be glad to have it.

NICARAGUA AND SALVADOR.

By Hermann Focke.

For years past I have had the intention of expressing my views on certain stamps of Nicaragua and Salvador, not properly recorded in the Standard Catalogue, these views being based on direct authentic information from the various postmasters in these countries:—

Nicaragua

No. 199—50c on 6c slate, red surcharge. To this should be added:

No. 199a—50c on 6c slate, brown surcharge, a distinct variety, being a second issue, which appeared in 1907.

No. 218a—2c on 5c yellow "Correos" in black.

No. 223a—35c on 50c olive green "Correos" in yellow brown.

These two values constitute a distinctly separate issue, appearing in March, 1909, which is proven by the different type of c upright instead of c inverted, and should be catalogued as such after No. 229.

Nos. 226-229 appeared in November, 1908, (not 1909) excepting the second printing of No. 229—10 centavos with large V in Vale, which was issued in 1909.

No. 455—4c orange red is priced too low by Scott, I believe that Gibbons is right at $2.50 new and $1.25 used, as the stamp is quite rare.

Nos. 458 to 460, on the other hand, are priced too high, as they are more common.

No. 511—35c on 50c olive-green was not issued at the coast, as there was no call for this value, but originates from private sources, and does not exist legitimately used.

No. 519—6c gray brown is of the same character, and both should be eliminated.

No. 528—15c black is the commonest variety of this set, as it covered the foreign letter rate, and was used quite extensively, its price of $1.25 is quite out of proportion, especially as compared with No. 529.

Nos. 530-532 are of unauthorized origin, and do not exist legitimately used.

No. 533—15c black (No. 981—Oficial) surcharged B—same type as Nos. 534-536, has been wrongly eliminated; this was actually issued at Bluefields, in May, 1911, and a single copy on the original cover is in my collection. It, therefore, should be restituted to its former place in the catalogue.

SUPERIOR APPROVALS— Known for Their Quality.
FRANK E. HADLEY,
Box 73, Plainfield, N. J.
Reference, please.

Nos. 548-549 are bogus and should be withdrawn. (See notes after No. 469.)

After No. 610 should be added: 50 centavos lake, 1 peso yellow, and 2 pesos salmon with small surcharge CABO in magenta.

I secured these three values from our regular mail from Cabo Gracias.

Nos. 661-664 and 666 (1, 2, 3, 4 and 6c) were not issued at the Coast but originate from Managua, and no legitimately used copy exists.

No. 962a is a reprint and has no standing.

Salvador

Nos. 555-573—Postage Due Stamps require readjustment and corrections, as follows:

Nos. 560-564—vertical surcharge, were issued on March 7, 1908, and should have Nos. 555 to 559.

Nos. 555-559 — Horizontal surcharge, were issued on October 15th, 1908, and should have Nos. 560-564.

Nos. 565-573 are bogus, pure and simple, the watermarked paper appeared on September 1st, 1909, when these postage dues, particularly the first issue, vertical surcharge, were no longer in use, and I have absolutely official infomation from the then P. M. Senor Burgos Cuellar to that effect.

A variety deserving a place in the catalogue is No. 560b (or rather 555b) double vertical surcharge. Another stamp, never recorded, is the 1c green and black official, No. 910, of 1908 with red surcharge: — 1821—15 septiembre— 1909 in three lines (same as Nos. 374 and 375) of which 100 copies were thus surcharged for official use. I received this stamp at that time, and it bears the postmark of the same date.

As to Scott's Nos. 422 to 430, postage stamps of 1915 surcharged S, regarding which there has been much said in the past, and the genuineness of which was hotly defended by the Hussman Co. and others. My contention is that they were made to order, and that they were not sold to the public in general. We receive every week from 50 to 80 letters from Salvador, and none ever brought any of "them birds", in spite of the fact that I kept a close watch for them. However, why reopen a sore that has healed long since.

The author of the foregoing Rhapsody in seven raps is a well-known Canadian army officer from Hackensack, New Jersey. He warned me to behave or he would cut loose in a new spot. Don't worry, I shall behave.

Home Again

Patient waiters for a shot at these cute little selections of fine old U. S. are now receiving their reward and the mail which accumulated during my absence is being answered as rapidly as one pair of hands can answer it. Am still open to buy fine U. S. that tickle my fancy at full catalog prices.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—The new 3c Victory stamp was placed on sale in Washington on March 3rd, and to say that it has proved a disappointment is putting it mildly. From an artistic point of view it is a failure and it is hard to believe that such a design passed muster of the Bureau's experts. The central design, we are told, is a female figure, but it looks more like a man with mustache wearing a German helmet coming out of a bath. We find a snake curled around his or rather her right arm and a badly proportioned left arm holding a scale. The flags, instead of standing out plainly, tend to blend into the dark background making the design more indistinct. We had certainly looked for something better.

We wish to thank Mr. H. F. Colman for the first view of this stamp for he kindly placed a pair on cover and sent it via aeroplane. Mr. J. W. Stowell also sends us the same stamp precancelled "Federalsburg, Maryland" reading down in two types, the first precancels of their kind without a doubt. Mr. Joseph Lawzer, Mr. A. E. Owen and others favored us with early information. It may be of interest to mention that sixteen plates in all have been made for engraving this emission, these plates bearing numbers 9412 to 9419 and 9426 to 9433, inclusive. We note a small "F" in front of the plate number on the upper right pane from plate 9413. We cannot state if this is common to all plates.

Both Mr. N. Foerster and Mr. G. A. Scheller advise us of an oddity in the current 3c type IV which has been located in a small New Jersey town. It looks as if in printing these offset stamps two sheets of paper were fed into the press at one time, the under sheet extending slightly beyond the over sheet and as a result about one quarter of each of the stamps on the first vertical row were impressed on the paper. This impression was from plate 8625 and the plate number is very distinct. This sheet, which was blank, with the exception of the printed portion, mentioned above, was evidently located and then run through the press in order to receive a full impression. The second printing was from plate 8735 and the design from this second print started where the first left off, the first, however, is about one-sixteenth of an inch higher than the second.

In our issue of January 18th, we described the 1c perforated 11, engraved slightly double which we stated was caused by the sheet being smeared across the plate. The owner of these stamps later took exception to our description, but it seems that the Bureau now designates them as "smears" caused by an over pressure of the roller. Mr. Percy M. Mann shows us the 3c type II in a similar condition. So far we have seen the 1c, 2c and 3c.

Mr. A. E. Owen advises that although he has made an extensive search to date, the lowest plate that he has been able to locate of the 1c surface print is No. 9247. We are quite anxious to know what has become of No. 9095 and the other lower ones.

Mr. Joseph B. Leavy informs us that a second plate has been made up for printing the 6c aeroplane stamps, the plate carrying number 9164.

The new Revenue Bill, signed by the President but a few days ago, has already produced some provisional revenue stamps. Mr. Percy M. Mann informs us that he has seen the 1917 Documentary revenue stamps overprinted horizontally "NARCOTIC". The surcharge is applied by a handstamp in black stamp pad ink, the word being repeated five times in a horizontal row, each word being 16 mm. long and separated by a space of 7 mm., thus making it possible to overprint five stamps at a time.

Mr. Mann states that he has seen distinctly spaced double overprints and in some instances the overprint is double, one horizontal and one vertical, and in others, one horizontal and the second diagonal. The following is probably only a partial list. These were issued provisionally in Philadelphia and we surmise other cities are doing the same thing.

February 1919 issue of 1917 Documentary surcharged NARCOTIC in black.

1c red.
  a. double surcharge, both horizontal.
2c red.
4c red.
8c red.
  a. double surcharge, both horizontal.
  b. double surcharge, one diagonal.
10c red.
20c red.
1c green.
  a. double overprint, one vertical.

The new law carries a tax of 8c on Playing Cards instead of 7c as heretofore, so we may look for new provisionals in this field. Will our many friends send us specimens of anything new—for it is only in this way that we will be able to get anywhere near a complete list.

We wish to thank Miss Amy L. Swift, Messrs. R. H. Perry, Peter A. Brannon, George Hay Kain, and others for newsy notes.

BOHEMIA.—In view of our recent references to the forthcoming postage stamps of Bohemia, it is interesting to know that, according to a report from Vienna, the Czecho-Slovak Government has already placed a series of stamps on sale, the central part of the design of which is the Lion of Bohemia. We await confirmation before publishing a more detailed chronicle.—Stamp Collecting.

COLOMBIAN REPUBLIC.—We have previously chronicled a new 3c stamp, its color being given as red. It would better be described as red-brown or claret-brown. C. M. Breder sends us word that he has a part-perforate pair. Concerning this Mr. Focke writes:—"This was a provisional issue, and Mr. Breder's pair imperforate between should turn out to be a good thing."

DUTCH INDIES.—We have been advised by a correspondent in Weltevreden that the amounts of the recently issued surcharged stamps were: 1c on 4c, 3,000,000; 17½ on 22½, 500,000; 30c on 1g, 300,000.

Specimens of two of these surcharges have been shown us by Fred S. Martin. The 4c ultramarine is overprinted in the center with a huge figure 1. The surcharge on the 1g reads 30 CENT in one line in black over the original value.

GILBERT & ELLICE ISLANDS.—Mr. J. H. Smyth advises us that the new expected 3d stamp for this colony is not yet on sale, although soon looked for.

HONDURAS.—We have received from Hermann Focke some information concerning some new official stamps. We quote from his letter:—"I discovered amongst a batch of 'untouched' office rubbish a piece of cover bearing five official stamps, 1911-15 issues, one No. 296, three No. 278, and one copy of No. 141 '2 CENTAVOS' on 1c violet with surcharge OFICIAL in red. I do not find this latter recorded in any catalog. The surcharge appears rather blurred and indistinct, almost like a handmade affair, but the piece of cover looks O. K. and the total (25c) is the rate for postage plus registration. I wonder if anyone else has seen this provisional, or is it the product of some enterprising clerk in the Honduras government office?"

INDIA.—The Philatelic Journal of India brings a budget of interesting notes on Edwardian and Georgian varieties. Mr. Griffiths has shown the editor two very distinct shades of pink in the 10 rupees Edward on H.M.S. The same gentleman draws attention to marked instances of displaced centering in the 1 rupee Edward, and Mr. R. H. Tucker has an interesting article on varieties of the 1 rupee George, and on shades in the Georgian series generally.—Alfred Smith's Monthly Circular.

MEXICO.—Mr. John P. Cooper sends us a strip of 5 of the current 2c stamps with 4 of these showing shift. This is the first example of this that we have seen.

NAURU.—Alfred Smith & Son report that they have had submitted to them the 1d and 2d stamps showing the same peculiarity of overprint:—a breakage in the tail of the "r".

NICARAGUA.—Hermann Focke submits specimens of the 6c olive brown 1914 issue surcharged in three lines "Vale—Cinco centavos—de cordoba." in black. This is to replace the 1915 provisional 5c (Scott's No. 361) although the latter overprint was decidedly better done. Mr. Focke cannot understand how the Nicaragua postal authorities can expect anybody to decipher the new surcharge. The envelope 10c brown 1912 (Scott's type 22) is now surcharged "Vale—Dos centavos—de cordoba" in red instead of black.

NORTHWEST PACIFIC ISLANDS.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us the 1sh value of this colony with the third type watermark, Crown & Single line long A.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Some collectors of Delaware County, Pa., have decided to form a stamp society covering the city of Chester and the immediate vicinity. Any who are interested should communicate with Wm. H. van Leydner, 527 Welch St., Chester, Pa.

—If any subscriber has copies of June 8 and 22, 1918, that they are willing to dispose of they will be very acceptable to Carroll Chase, M. D., 986 Park Pl., Brooklyn, N. Y. Dr. Chase is lacking these from his 1918 file.

—Mrs. E. W. Oughtred, 376 Claremont Av., Westmount, Quebec, can get no replies to letters addressed D. B. Crockett, Nutley, N. J., and would like to hear from interested parties.

—On account of the similarity of the names of the two Detroit Stamp Clubs, the Detroit Philatelic Society and the Collector's Philatelic Society of Detroit, the latter has changed its name to the Michigan Stamp Club. Address is the same, Fraternity Halls, 140 First St.

—Gerald D. Bliss of Cristobal, Canal Zone, sends us a pictorial postcard from San Jose, Costa Rica. It bears the laconic statement, "First stop on trip to all central American republics".

—The anniversary meeting of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society was a great success and brought out some of the old members who had not been seen for several years. A. B. Slater and Robert S. Emerson showed their very fine collections of the 1847 U. S. first issue, proofs and essays. Charles G. Calder and C. A. Howes were elected honorary members. The following were elected officers for the year: president, Robert S. Emerson; vice president, Wilmarth H. Colwell; sec'y and treas., Roy S. Barker; exchange manager, Jerome Fleischer; executive committee, Frank M. Mason; Robert F. Chambers, W. F. Goerner; auction committee, Edgar McCrillis, Andrew R. Perry, Chas. D. Skinner, Jr.; entertainment committee, E. Tudor Gross, E. S. Godfrey, C. G. Bartlett, Jr.—Roy S. Barker.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Charles E. Booth, R. B. Martin, P. A. Livingston, M. T. Mauck, M. M. Cassidy, Paul F. Cornish, and Frank Kocher.

—"What's the matter with the societies this year? I wrote the S. P. A. Sept. 17, 1918, sending my dues to Erwin L. Fisher; six months have elapsed and I have not had even the courtesy of an acknowledgment. Sept. 18 I sent my M. P. A. dues to Mr. Frank F. Shinn and on Nov. 18 I received a notice for unpaid dues. I answered him promptly and he stated that affairs were mixed up a good deal. Is this a good business policy to make people wait six months? I know other collectors who are in the same fix. Can't something be done to remedy this state of affairs?"—Gerald Mongeon.

Adlet copy for the Allied Special can be received up to Tuesday, March 25.

CHRISTENSEN HAS ELEVEN.

Since our report of February 22, a great many new subscriptions have been received and we are very pleased with the splendid report represented in the figures given herewith. From the Edgewood Stamp Co. thirty-eight subscriptions have been received, raising their total to 192. Chas. Christensen has sent in eleven and with a total of 46, takes second place. The Royal Stamp Co. has sent in nine and W. P. Colman six. Evidently Mr. Colman intends to once again show his mettle in the matter of getting new subscriptions. The most active contestants for honors since our last report was made are:—

THE STAMPS OF ENEMY COUNTRIES.

(American Philatelic Service.)

American philately is endeavoring to define for itself a policy regarding the postage stamps of the enemy countries; and because of the sentiment against the Hun the problem is not an easy one to solve.

The issue is whether American collectors of the world's stamps ought to rid themselves of the franking adhesives put forth by the Central Powers before, during and since the war. If philatelists in the United States decide to do this it means virtually tearing a score of pages bodily from stamp albums and catalogs and destroying many stamps which are considered among the rare ones.

In England and France it is against the law—it violates one of the statutes enacted during the war—to import postage stamps of Germany, Wurtemberg, Bavaria, Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey and of any of Germany's former colonies. In the United States there was no such written restriction, and the Government held no objection to the importation—provided this was physically possible, which was rare—of the stamps of these countries and colonies if the stamps had been cancelled (that is, already postally used in the countries of their origin). Nor was there any written restriction against the bringing in of the uncancelled stamps except in the sense that the Trading With the Enemy Act quite properly forbade the purchase by American capital of enemy-made goods—and Patriotic American philatelists interpreted this law to mean current unused enemy postal adhesives.

Now that the war is over it is disclosed that the sentiment regarding the possession and the sale of the stamps of the Central Powers is not, on the whole, the same in the United States as it is in France and England. There are some collectors in America who are advocating that American philately decline forever to have anything to do with the stamps emanating from enemy sources. On the contrary, there are other American collectors who regard this attitude as senseless.

A glance through the stamp dealers' advertisements in England shows how British philatelists feel. "We do not buy or sell war stamps or new issues of Germany, Hungary, German-Austria, Bulgaria or Turkey," announces one leading London stamp house. And another London dealer goes further and proclaims that German stamps of past years, and those to come in the future, are forever banned. This dealer refuses to chronicle German stamps at all in his catalog, and urges collectors not to attempt to acquire enemy adhesives. A recent album put forth in London with spaces in it for war stamps contains no pages at all for the many war labels of the Central Powers. French war stamp catalogs do not chronicle enemy war stamps, and in France and England the collector is obliged to turn to a Swiss dealer in order to obtain a catalog which lists these adhesives.

In American journals devoted to stamp collecting a controversy is raging as to what is to be the American philatelist's attitude. Collectors against the saving of enemy stamps are asserting that to possess them is to be unpatriotic, even tho the stamps may be cancelled ones; and notwithstanding—as pointed out by collectors inclined to be friendly toward German stamps now that the war is over—that the very fact that they are cancelled shows that no American capital went into the German Government's treasury in return for those stamps. During the war it was different, because for every 10 or 20 pfennig German unused postage stamp of current issue which may have been imported into the United States, American money equivalent to 10 or 20 pfennig went to Germany, either directly or indirectly, to help Germany finance the war. Patriotic philatelists recognized that this was obviously wrong and refrained from acquiring such unused labels.

Cable news despatches from Paris recently have reflected the sentiment of the American peace delegates that trade with Germany should be resumed so that Germany may, by benefiting from early economic reconstruction, be in a more favorable position to pay her war indemnities. On this basis, it is argued by philatelists who favor the collecting of German stamps, even the unused labels of current issue, might now properly be purchased, as the importation of postage stamps from Germany is one type of trade. And America was never at war with Turkey and Bulgaria, so that the purchasing of the stamps of those countries today is, in the writer's opinion, a question not of patriotism but one of sentiment only.

Indeed, the United States Government does not forbid American collectors to buy, collect and retain the stamps of Germany and Austria, so that the whole question seems to become one of sentiment. Collectors who hate Germany and Austria will decide, if their hate is consistent, to bar German and Austrian and Hungarian stamps for all time.

Some interesting arguments are advanced pro and con. One of the more striking appears in a recent issue of an American stamp weekly. The writer of that argument, after pointing out how the prices of the earliest German stamps have advanced, says:

"Suppose a greater number of collectors could be induced to eliminate German stamps from their collections; what would be the effect? A large number of German stamps would come into the market and could be sold only at a price which would in most cases mean a loss to the seller. The collector of German stamps probably would welcome such a bear market, as it would enable him to obtain some of the rarer specimens which are almost out of his reach at present quotations. With Germany thoroly democratized and having atoned for her sins, the bitter feeling toward her will disappear, and the stamps would regain in favor, which would enable the buyers to sell their stamps at a profit. In other words, the 100% American would lose money and the pro-German would reap the benefit."

Another writer points out that during the Spanish-American War there was no disposition on the part of American collectors to place a ban for all time on Spanish stamps; and that the slavery issue did not make Northern collectors during the Civil War hostile toward the stamps put forth by the Confederacy.

Whatever are to be the individual inclinations of American collectors toward German stamps, no concerted effort has been made by American philatelic interests—either "stamp fiends" of amateur standing, or dealers, or stamp publications or philatelic societies—to boycott German postal issues, and there is no indication that such an effort will be made.

The American standard catalogs continue to chronicle the appearance of the stamps of the Central Powers, and the American standard albums of future days will contain spaces for such labels. These catalogs do not at present quote any prices on such of the enemy stamps as appeared during the war or since the armistice was signed, but it is certain that this situation will be adjusted after the final peace terms have been imposed and Germany and her allies have complied with those terms.

A BIT OF A BOOST.

Dr. Hubert Lyman Clark, 9 Ashton Pl., Cambridge, Mass., has just issued a four-page leaflet in which he describes his wants in postally used blocks of four. Anyone interested is urged to correspond with Dr. Clark not only in helping him out as desired but to note the handsome manner in which he recommends MEKEEL'S WEEKLY to all his friends. Here is what Dr. Clark says:—

"Are you a subscriber to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS? If not you are missing the biggest bargain for 50c in the whole stamp world. It is easily the stamp paper of the world and under the present management, the more of us who subscribe, the better our paper will be."

AS A COLLECTOR

As a collector I want many varieties of the following:

(1) Unused United States Postage and Departments.
(2) Unused entire U. S. Envelopes.
(3) U. S. Proofs and Essays.
(4) Used and unused revenues, also M. & M.

I will pay cash or give good exchange for whatever I might need. You might have the very thing for which I am looking so send a selection along.

LURE OF PHILATELIC LITERATURE.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

Philatelic literature is again coming into its own. The revival, beginning in England previous to the close of the world's war, has penetrated to the uttermost ends of the philatelic world. Nor time nor the greatly increased cost of paper and printing products have in combination been able to abate the enthusiasm with which the old-time collector has returned to his treasures, nor the beginner who has again taken up seriously the foundation stones of his library.

It seems a time indeed propitious. Search for books for the soldiers has caused the ransacking of attics, disclosing boxes of long-neglected and forgotten papers, magazines, catalogues, and other bits of philatelic lore. These have been passed over, as the books of more moment to the soldier have been laid aside. Then, with afterthought of a looking-over, many things have been fetched.

The outlook for the collecting of philatelic literature is roseate indeed. It is doubtful if ever again so many things of rarity will be available in the open markets. To Hugh Vallancey, and to Victor Marsh, both of London, is due the persistent interest which has resulted in the establishment of a clientele of collectors which has not alone allowed them to live as dealers, but has enriched many private libraries here in America as well as in foreign countries. Books, — brochures, — magazines, — papers, — all are carefully treasured by these collectors. But, alas! There is exception: for the wonderful Tiffany library, with its accumulated mass of material, should never have been allowed to leave our shores. However, it has found proper resting-place,—in the archives of the British Museum, the gift of the heirs of the late Lord Crawford.

Unlike the things to collect, which have no end, the things one can readily acquire in philatelic literature will be easily picked up, to a limited extent, at present: the morrow may find them gone irrevocably. I refer particularly to the current publications, — catalogues, monographs, magazines, papers. It is to be regretted the beginner in literature-collecting, like the beginner in stamp-collecting, must go through the same course of training, and suffer the same pangs. He, too, shall know the joys of possession, and the pains of owning the incomplete,—the bibliophilic griefs of the "one cover missing," — "without title-page,"—"mutilated on page 31,"—and all the consequent horrors of collating and finding that the cataloguer has missed the elision of an entire form, or its duplication. But cataloguers are human, and only the collector is divine. He will tell you so,—and courtesy forbids one to disagree either with host or guest.

I began collecting philatelic literature by acquiring a Scott's Catalogue, of up-to-date issue. That was fifteen years ago. One of my last philatelic purchases was the recently issued catalogue of the same firm. But the years between! In storm and stress, — in illness and in health, — the quest has gone on. The Lord Crawford Catalogue,—that monument of philatelic research, for which no man can be a millionth grateful, try so he will,—has been inspiration. It has settled disputed points and aided to a knowledge of things that evaded search and research and study. Humorously, I may note its help in a single instance. I needed a bit of literature to complete a file. I searched two years, and found it not. I wrote the publishers, who, in reply, stated their regrets, &c., &c., that it was "out of stock." Then, finally, I wrote hopelessly to a collector here in America, whose aid I had importuned in the past. As a correspondent, he was generally a distinctive failure. This time, however, his promptness overwhelmed me. "Lord Crawford says it wasn't issued that year," his letter declared. To clinch it, he quoted page and line. Yes, Lord Crawford—or E. D. Bacon, to whom be all praise for the compilation of that literary treasure-house—was right: it wasn't! Then I was mad,—but not at myself,—Oh no! My anger was directed at the publisher who didn't know his own house hadn't "issued" that certain year. So I wrote the friendly man I knew in the firm, and his reply was gently serious. He hadn't seen my letter. Some underling had ob-

A choice little collection mostly used in which very special attention has been paid to quality, so that practically every specimen of the line engraved issues is a superb picked one. All specialists know full well the difficulty of obtaining such in the early Belgian issues, the markets having been swept bare of anything at all desirable as reference to almost any dealer's stock books will show.
1849, EPAULETTES.—Over 30 specimens of the 10c, superb picked shades including a number of the double entries and several examples of the double figures, including a superb pair of which 1 stamp is normal. Over 50 specimens of the 20c, including very choice and rare shades, also a pair.
A choice range of the later issues.
Selections sent on approval to serious buyers on receipt of first class business references or deposit.

1919 PRICE LIST

Of the stamps of the United States and Its Colonies.
It contains 72 pages of useful information, pricing Card Board and India Paper proofs and items not found in other lists.
Remember, I am Headquarters for stamps of the U. S. and Its Colonies.
H. F. COLMAN, 2ND NATIONAL BANK BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C.

tained it, in the course of routine, and, not noting its personal note, had given the shelves one fleeting glance, and written me the results. My friend's grief toward me was amply compensated for by his own deeper resentment toward the unknown clerk. None is infallible,—not even the cataloguer!

My friend, Walter E. Goodwin, who once dealt largely in philatelic literature, but who now, alas! has given over the pleasure, has placed me under many obligations, as has W. R. Ricketts, than whom no one here in America can approach in knowledge of the literature of Philatelia. I have been set right by both, and aided materially in acquiring elusive "items."

The sale of the philatelic library of F. J. Peplow, of London, was the beginning of the dispersal of great philatelic libraries. I have two catalogues of the sale, one priced by the veteran dealer, Victor Marsh. The prices as a rule were fairly good,—some too good,—while others were passing low. We in America were, regrettably, unable to bid, owing to delays in the mails and late receipt of our catalogues. But from dealers here and there in England, an item or two may still be picked up,—an "association copy" well worthy of preservation. At this sale files of some of the rarest publications known to collectors were disposed of,—a few items absolutely unique.

The acquisition of the Bellamy collection of philatelic literature, numbering more than two thousand volumes, by F. Hugh Vallancey, will place upon the market perhaps the finest lot of books to be dispersed since the Peplow sale. The Bellamy collection, however, is not to be auctioned, but is to be listed and sold per item,—for which gratitude beyond words should be extended to the lucky purveyor.

To the novice, the question what to collect is a problem equalled only by that to the more advanced gatherer of philatelic literature,—what not to collect. The beginner is well advised when he is cautioned to pick up the handbooks as issued,—especially these put forth by such well-known firms as the Severn-Wylie-Jewett Co., the Melville Handbooks, and the S. C. Handbooks, the last named issued by F. Hugh Vallancey. Subscriptions to the best of the current papers and magazines, especially to the WEEKLY, and the garnering of auction lists, together with a subscription to Berner's Philatelic Index, which gives the prices achieved at the various sales, will supply material for any beginner, and the more advanced collector will find in this hint a more than passing note-informative.

My collection embraces many things of absolute worthlessness. By this I do not mean as a whole, for nearly every bit of philatelic writing contains something of interest. I have literally waded through reams of valueless junk to alight upon the one thing for which I sought. And here I am reminded of the kindness and courtesy of a certain editor whose publication I had criticised sharply and, I still think, deservedly. I searched for and advertised for a certain auction-list. He of all collectors seems to have been the one man who had traveled hundreds of miles to attend the auction,—he had made notes all over his copy of the list,—he had been caught in the rain, and, umbrellaless, his catalogue had suffered. Yet he was willing to pass it on to a brother-collector, demurring only at the price I offered: he thought I was paying too much! And later, after he thought he had traced another copy in better condition, he offered an exchange. But, alas! He was disappointed, and I still retain the dog's-eared demoralized copy,—dear indeed to me for association as well as for the priceless notes, made on the spot, during the sale.

While my files of the London Philatelist are not wholly complete, by yearly volumes, I still consider myself rich in their acquisition. The rarest of all volumes is probably the first. I paid exactly thirty-five cents for my copy, bound: and I do not as a rule collect bound volumes, preferring original covers, with advertisements. But this was too excellent an opportunity to miss, and besides, I may some day find a collector with whom I may negotiate a trade.

I think my best "find," however, was an old-time collector, who enriched my shelves with bound volumes of the American Journal of Philately, including the first ten volumes; Trifet's Stamp Mercury, and various other magazines of early days, besides some very rare hand-books. I never expect to see his like again.

One of my dearest treasures is Walter Clark Bellows exquisitely gotten-up volume on "Campeche,"—the gift of the editor of the WEEKLY, in an indirect way: at least, Mr. Bellows, in his letter, sending the volume, said it was at the request of W. O. W.,—my friend of many years, and the encourager of my poor art with the pen and typewriter,—to whom be all praise for publishing!

I have in fact said so little, in this paper,—and there is so much to be said! But I wish to interest the younger generation, and to encourage the older: and so,—no more!

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

CANADA NOS. 301-303.

By HUBERT LYMAN CLARK.

(We are pleased to publish this article by Dr. Clark, but feel compelled to quote the statement made by Bright & Son in their priced catalog of war stamps. Bright gives Feb. 12, 1915, as the date of issue of the three stamps overprinted "War Tax" and adds this note:—"These last three stamps were only on sale for one day and have been used for postage although intended originally for a revenue tax. In an official circular to postmasters issued April 16, 1916, occurs the following:—"The postmaster is informed that postage stamps upon which the words War Tax have been printed may be accepted for prepayment of postage and he is to amend his instructions and procedure accordingly'." —W. O. W.)

The new standard catalog is indeed a great source of satisfaction, but of course there is sure to be "a fly in the ointment" and no doubt each one of us will find his own particular fly! Mine is the trio of Canadian stamps numbered 301-303. These are not postage stamps, nor are they revenues whose use for postage was authorized. The enclosed letters seem to be very clear on this point. Last winter a Canadian dealer sent me what were evidently postally used blocks of Nos. 301 and 302. I at once wrote the postmaster-general at Ottawa and received the first of the two letters appended hereto. As this was not wholly convincing I wrote again, and the second letter was my reply. So far as I can see, these stamps are no more postage stamps than are some of our Civil War revenues, which are well-known to have done postal duty on various occasions. Such stamps were not intended or authorized for use as postage stamps, and in my opinion ought not to be included in our standard catalog. The fact that certain subordinate officials or postmasters countenanced their use on mail is of no importance.

Exhibit No. 1.—Letter from E. J. Lemaire, Superintendent of the Postage Stamp Branch, Post Office Department, Canada. Dated Ottawa, Jan. 28, 1918:

"The stamps to which you refer were originally postage stamps but were turned over to the Department of Inland Revenue, which had them surcharged for revenue purposes, first "War Tax" and later "Inland Revenue War Tax." These stamps, which were of the 5, 20 and 50c denominations, immediately lost all postage value, becoming merely revenue stamps. If they were actually used for postage it was only through a slip or an accident, and certainly there was no authority for their use."

Exhibit No. 2.—From letter of Mr. Lemaire dated Feb. 12, 1918:

"I beg to inform you that the postmasters of this country were circularized at different times to the effect that the 5, 20 and 50c stamps surcharged "War Tax" and issued by the Inland Revenue Department as revenue stamps, should in no case be accepted for postage."

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—From a mixture of U. S. stamps John B. Newton of Hartford, Conn., obtained a 2c stamp, Scott's No. 265, with an overprint of the letters "U. S." in large size capital letters. The surcharge is in black and the letters, while narrow, are nearly as tall as the stamp itself. The stamp has a punch cancellation and in addition is cancelled with oblique lines. All in all it is a curious thing and may be the product of some erratic genius. We think it best to note the variety in the possibility of securing further information.

—"At one time I had practically a corner on the 5c, 1847, sold out my holdings, 2687 copies, in 1916 for an even $5,000. This lot contained all of the varieties except a block of four which I was never able to buy. This stamp was my specialty for ten years and some wealthy collector now possesses the cream, purchasing them through the Nassau Stamp Co. Do you know who got them?"—Occasionally an item of this kind filters through the daily grind and livens up the routine. The Nassau Co. has never unbosomed itself in the direction indicated, so far as we are concerned.

—The Midland Stamp Co., Midland, Ont., Can., have removed to 533 Euclid Av., Toronto. The firm is much better located for the service of its patrons and expects to be a regular user of WEEKLY space.

—The Toledo Stamp Co. reports difficulty in securing replies to letters addressed to Alexandro Garcia, Remedios, Cuba.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Emil Kostner, Geo. T. Simpson, Joseph W. Beggs.

—It will interest the members of the S. P. A. to know that C. V. Webb, who was secretary of the society from 1912-1917, has resumed his former position, due to the resignation of A. E. Gorham, whose government position requires his entire time. Secretary Webb promises to keep things moving during these closing months of the association year.

—We notice in various papers the advertising of the Hermes Stamp Co. This firm now advertising from Cape Cottage, Me., was an advertiser in the WEEKLY in 1918. We were compelled to discontinue the firm's advertising for non-payment of bills and when we took the matter up with the firm at the new address we were coolly informed that the company had changed management.

PERSIA.

The stamps of the Orientals always have a fascination for the collector just as their lands have for the traveller, their art for the artist, their literature for the student. This is partly due to differences in method, in viewpoint, in thought, just as Kipling says:

"For East is East and West is West
And never the two shall meet."

It is also partly due to a certain mysticism, romance and symbolism which usually attaches to Oriental things in contradistinction to those of the prosaic Occident. So much that is strange and unusual from designs to inscriptions is found on Oriental stamps that they never become monotonous to one who is willing to study them for themselves.

While Oriental lands were the first to institute what we now know as "The Post," yet they were the last to adopt the improvement that made possible the great success of "The Post" today—namely, the humble postage stamp. China claims to have instituted the first post—then a government courier service only—nearly three thousand years ago. Xenophon tells us that Cyrus the Great of Persia instituted a similar post nearly twenty-five hundred years ago; and allowing for more uncertainty in the Chinese annals it may be that the two systems are not so far apart in age after all. But while Persia was progressive according to the times twenty-five centuries ago, she has hardly been very progressive in recent times according to present-day standards. Her post has been "farmed out" to contractors who have "squeezed" what they could out of it and rendered as little in return as possible.

A deputation of Persians visited Paris in 1868 and interviewed the Ministry of Posts concerning the establishment of a European postal system. They brought back with them sixteen copper dies or clichés representing four different values

EDITORIAL.

Returns—The news of the return of Carroll Chase, Medecin Aide Major, to our shores is most gratifying; and we voice our welcome home to him in cheers. His war record is a shining one and now we make obeisance to Dr. Chase, not alone as a philatelist of renown but also as a man whose high sense of duty lead him to dedicate his services to humanity's cause at a time when his example was particularly inspiring. We understand that there is a philatelic celebration, if it may be called so, in his honor and we know that several students from a distance have gone to visit him; and the communion will have its scientific aspects, as ways and means will be discussed by the coterie for further study of United States issues. We regard Dr. Chase almost as the pioneer of intensive study of United States early issues. His plate reconstruction of the three cent of 1851 was the first complete systematic investigation of that stamp; and the company of keen enthusiasts who are pursuing their tasks with him are to continue their triumphs, we say expectantly.

Read—Inasmuch as so many readers have called our attention to a reference to stamp collecting in the article, "A Woman's Woman," by Nalbro Bartley, in the Saturday Evening Post of February 15th, 1919, we shall print the excerpt as showing how stamp collecting may range from the sublime to the ridiculous: "John had been a devoted lover-husband then, doing well in the business and affording his uncle leisure for flute practice, garden, surreptitious candy making during Aunt Sally's absence, his harmless hobby of postage-stamp collecting. Uncle Herbert spent more and more time in his study, clad in a scarlet quilted dressing robe and balancing Southey's Common-Place Book on his knee." We have no quarrel with Uncle Herbert for taking philately as he likes it but it must be admitted that there is a wide gulf between the philately of this kind and that pursued by the students who apply themselves seriously to the stamp. Philately in a dressing robe may be au fait, but the thought of it is not stimulating. Even men who thought themselves sick enough to stay at home and engage in stamp work and play, clothe themselves more ceremoniously.

Revenues—In reporting the appearance of the twenty cent documentary revenue stamp without either the Stock Transfer or Future Delivery surcharges from Omaha, a reader asks why this stamp is not to be had in Chicago. He wonders if the surcharge may not have been omitted by mistake. Slowly, additions are being made to the list of the unsurcharged stamps, and it is evident that some localities receive certain stamps long before other places. It was said that the three dollar lake of the 1900 documentary set was never on sale in Chicago and that collectors there who were working in institutions that used large numbers of revenue stamps that they could obtain later, ordered sheets of the $3 lake from Omaha, it happens as a coincidence. If this or that stamp is not in the list of holdings at one revenue office, it does not follow that it is not included in the stock of another city.

Rascal—Occasionally we have encountered the sacrilegious collector who with pen and ink inserted a pipe between the lips of Franklin on the five cent, 1847, or added whiskers to Washington on a good stamp, but to these grotesqueries must be added the work of a new genius. Some dabbler in paints turned his baleful eye on the stamps of the 1869 set and colored them fancifully with his brush. The eagle on the ten cent was turned into a green bird and the waves of the twelve cent were transformed into blue. The picture of the declaration of independence on the twenty-four defied his ingenuity and so he made it a blank yellow panel. At last accounts the buyer of the collection was seeking a solvent for the pigments that outraged the stamps.

Remedy—We have seen collections taken from vaults where the weight of the binders and pages in conjunction with moisture in the air caused the original gum to attach itself to the pages. A reader advises that rubber sheeting in which to seal the albums or books of stamps be bought. After the stamps are sealed in this rubber coating, it would seem as though the owner of valuable stamps could sleep o' nights, no matter how hot they were.

Review—Our latest book, "Postage Stamps Worth Fortunes," by Fred. J. Melville, is priced at fifteen cents. We intend to give this, our twenty-sixth booklet, a wide circulation, so as to arrest whenever possible the attention of the non-collector. We know of no surer way to catch his eye than to proclaim the fact that there is great monetary value in stamps. The money interest is a common possession of collector and non-collector alike. Speaking of our publications, we have some tales to relate that those who know how sparse the returns are from the publishing of philatelic works will look at us suspiciously, but we aver that not only has the second edition of the "Beginner's Guide" been exhausted, but that the booklet on the three cent green is almost sold out. Even the most sanguine publisher would have hesitated to predict that a work on a subject wholly specialistic would be a best seller. Too, our book on U. S. envelopes is about ready for a second edition.

Recorded—Mr. Benjamin Cadbury has our thanks for informing us that "a list of the locations of the various post offices of the U. S. Expeditionary Forces is in the Official U. S. Bulletin for December 23rd, 1918, page 8." This Bulletin is kept on file by some of the postmasters; and it will prove particularly interesting to those who are fond of military postmarks originating abroad. We are making additions to our list of markings that have been used and we thank Mr. Ted J. Tyrrell for a batch of envelopes showing different varieties of postmarks. Mr. Tyrrell says, by-the-way, that he found the Canadian special delivery stamps and some of the general issue of Canada on sale recently at the Minneapolis post office. Just under what arrangements or stipulations the Canadian stamps are sold we cannot say.

Reached—Persistence pays, as this letter shows: "It was with some regret that I was forced to admit that my son, otherwise unobjectionable, would never develop into a stamp collector. The years have proceeded on their well-known way and it comes to pass that I am now the grandfather of a boy of seven, and I am glad to say that he has taken to collecting with a whoop. He is in line to get a fine collection before many years have passed."

DEATH OF H. J. SCHMIDT.

A letter from M. Ohlman conveys the sad tidings that H. J. Schmidt, formerly of Pittsburgh, Pa., was killed in action in France on November 1. This information will be received with deep regret by many of our readers, who will remember Mr. Schmidt as an advertiser in the WEEKLY up to the time he entered the service. The WEEKLY received several letters from him while in France and they all breathed a keen interest in the hobby and expressed the hope that the writer might soon be back again as an advertiser in the WEEKLY. We are unable to give more than the bare fact of Mr. Schmidt's death and shall be glad to publish a supplementary sketch of his philatelic career if any of our Pittsburgh readers can favor us.

By HOWARD S. ABBOTT.

(If we mistake not there are at least three illustrated stamp lectures in existence, one the property of the Chicago Philatelic Society, one belonging to Mr. John N. Luff, and the third the property of the Boston Philatelic Society. Mr. Abbott's idea is certainly a good one and valuable missionary work could be done by our various stamp clubs in using these illustrated talks on stamps. The matter of making slides to supply the market has never been tried.—W. O. W.)

I have been very much interested in the articles appearing in your WEEKLY of late bearing upon the educational side of philately. I am a humble and lowly devotee of the "hobby" and have a collection of about 22,000, mostly unused. I have been asked a number of times to talk about "stamps" to Boy Scout troops and in one instance to the junior boys of a preparatory school. I think a talk illustrated with lantern slides would be most entertaining as well as instructive. Have the slides include several stamps of a co-ordinated subject: natural history; change of rulers; ships; commemorative issues; etc., etc. I have made several inquiries but have failed of results along this line. I wish very much that your paper or some dealer in a position to handle the matter understandingly would prepare such slides for sale at a moderate price.

DICTIONARY ADDENDA.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

PARIS STAMP BOURSE.—An informal gathering of stamp enthusiasts who meet in the Champs Elysees, Paris, on Sunday afternoons for the purpose of buying, selling and trading stamps. These meetings have been held over a period of many years and are one of the philatelic sights of the Gay City.

PART PERFORATE.—These are stamps perforated at the sides only or at top and bottom only. This may be intentional, as in the case of coil stamps, or due to error when one or more rows of perforation on a sheet are inadvertently omitted.

PERFORATED INITIALS. — (See "Punctured Stamps.")

PERFUMERY STAMPS.—Stamps of special design supplied to individual manufacturers of perfumery for the payment of the stipulated taxes as explained in connection with "Match Stamps".

POMEROY LOCALS. — Special stamps issued in connection with Pomeroy's Letter Express—a local post of the United States operating in 1843. The reprints of these stamps are very plentiful and are found in most boy collections.

POSTAGE CURRENCY. — (See "Currency stamps".)

KEY-PLATE.—(See "Head-plate.")

PEROXIDE.—The ordinary peroxide of hydrogen of commerce is often useful in restoring the colors of stamps which have become blackened or discolored by atmospheric means. These stamps, usually known as oxidized specimens, should be carefully washed with a weak solution of peroxide, applied with a camels hair brush, and as a rule the color will be perfectly restored. In some cases two or three treatments are necessary before the desired result is obtained., (See also "De-ozidization".)

PIGMENTS.—These are the bases—of animal, vegetable or mineral origin — which are employed to give color to printer's ink.

PERMITS.—Printed notices appearing on third class matter to indicate that the necessary postage has been prepaid. These permits are used by firms mailing large quantities of circulars, catalogues, etc., under government regulation, and serve practically the same function as precancelled stamps.

POSTAL GUIDES.—These are official guide books issued by the Post Office departments in many countries for disseminating postal information.

POSTER STAMPS. — Advertising stickers in the shape of postage stamps.

PRINTER'S WASTE.—A term sometimes applied to errors and freaks in postage stamps which may reasonably be suspected of having become circulated by more or less illegitimate means.

PROPRIETARY STAMPS.—Stamps issued in connection with taxes levied on proprietary articles.

QUEEN'S HEADS. — A term frequently used in connection with those stamps of the British Empire bearing the effigy of Queen Victoria.

PRISONER'S LETTERS. — Letters mailed by prisoners of war, which are not as a rule franked with stamps but bear some indication of the fact that they are from prisoners.

PENALTY ENVELOPES. — Envelopes used for carrying departmental mail in the United States since special adhesive stamps were used. They are so-called from the fact that on the face of each is printed a warning against their use for private mail with a statement of the penalty to be enforced in case of such illegal use.

HOLTE LAND-POST.—A local post of Denmark in connection with which postage stamps were issued. Holte is a town in Zealand, about 12 miles north of Copenhagen, and the stamps issued in connection with this local post seem to have had at least as good a standing as the similar stamps issued by various firms in the United States. They are not, however, postage stamps in the generally accepted meaning of the term.

HYDROMETER STAMPS. — Labels issued by the United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue as proof of the accuracy of hydrometers which have been scientifically tested. A hydrometer is a glass instrument used for determining the specific gravity and purity of liquids. At one end is a bulb 25 mm. in diameter and 90 mm. long, which is attached to a stem 95 mm. long and 6 mm. thick. The instrument is marked with a graduated scale and by the depth to which it sinks in the liquid the specific gravity and purity is calculated. During the process of manufacture a label is introduced into the bulb by an agent of the Commissioner of Inland Revenue as proof that it has been properly tested. These labels, known as hydrometer stamps to collectors, are inscribed "Internal Revenue," "U. S." and "Standard Hydrometer," and are printed at the Government Bureau in Washington.

INTERNATIONAL REPLY COUPONS.—Coupons of the facial value of 5c in United States currency sold in many countries belonging to the International Postal Union and redeemable in any country agreeing to the arrangement for postage stamps to the value of 5c. They were issued to provide a simple medium for sending a "stamp for reply" to foreign countries.

MORMON STAMPS.—Bogus labels issued some years ago purporting to be a series of stamps for the use of the Mormons in Utah. These labels bear a portrait of Brigham Young and are inscribed "Utah Postage". There are three values—two, five and eight cents, respectively.

MADERANERTHAL.—Labels bearing this inscription were issued at a hotel of this name in Switzerland as private locals to denote the charges

A REAL HELP TO EVERY DEALER.
THE PHILATELIC REPORTING AND COLLECTION AGENCY

In the past few months we have collected hundreds of dollars for dealers which they had given up as lost. We have collected from many of the "undesirable gentry" of whom Mr. Wylie speaks in his "News Gleanings" at all too frequent intervals. Too bad there are dead-beats—but there are, and we make it our business to make life miserable for them as far as we can do so. We have the co-operation of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY,' "Philatelic West," "Philatelic Gossip," "Collectors' Digest" and other stamp papers—they realize the good we are doing. Every dealer, large or small, can afford to join our Agency, for we guarantee satisfaction or return any money paid us. We publish THE PHILATELIC PUBLICITY BULLETIN at frequent times, listing hundreds of undesirables, whom it is a loss to have as customers. If you have any stamp business worth mentioning, you cannot afford to do without our service. A descriptive booklet sent on request. Our reference, Denison State Bank and a hundred stamp dealers in the U. S. Write me today—you will be glad you did.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Many of our friends have kindly remembered us by sending us copies of the new Victory Stamp. It seems that the variety has been very well distributed. Your editor had the pleasure of viewing the proof submitted to the Postmaster-General, and it may be of interest to mention that it was approved by him on February 3rd.

The stamp has by no means met with a warm reception, and philatelists throughout are criticizing the design. Daily newspapers in describing it speak of the figure as "Liberty," for they cannot conceive why the scale of Justice should be in the hands of "Victory."

For information regarding this stamp we wish to thank Miss Elizabeth C. Buchanan and Messrs. Raymond S. Williams, C. M. Breder, H. C. Eckert, and W. H. Wilkerson.

Mr. A. E. Owen advises us that he has obtained a part sheet of the 9c unwatermarked, perforation 11, stamped, by means of a rubber stamp, on the back "October 28th—Subjects missing from this sheet properly accounted for. Custodian of Presses." This is a most interesting block, for we believe in the past such part sheets were always destroyed.

In a recent issue we had the pleasure of describing a compound envelope made up of the round die 1c green and the 2c carmine. Mr. D. E. Eaton now informs us that he has located a compound envelope consisting of the 3c purple Die A in connection with the 2c carmine Die A, on white, size 3, knife 80, watermark 20. This is an unused copy and came from a bank in New York City. From the description furnished, we learn that the 3c impression is properly placed upon the envelope and that the 2c impression is to the right of the three and folds through the center of the figure "2" and the bottom of the D in "United," so that about ½" shows on the front and the balance on the back of the envelope.

Mr. A. H. Robertson has had the good fortune of running across a cover from Richmond wherein postage due of 6c was paid by means of a block of six of the current 1c documentary stamps, properly cancelled. He has also received a registered letter from Newport News which came through with only 3c postage paid and had passed through all hands. When he called the attention of the postal clerk to the fact that proper postage had not been paid, they collected the due by attaching two of the 5c current postage stamps. It is most unusual for a letter to come through in this manner for the postal regulations distinctly mention that registered letters must be fully prepaid.

We described in some detail, in our issue of last week the Provisional Documentary Revenue Stamps surcharged by the Philadelphia Collector of Internal Revenue NARCOTIC for use in accordance with the new Revenue Law. Since we published this list Mr. Eugene Klein has advised us of further varieties.

It seems that the original printing was surcharged by means of a rubber stamp in black, and later when a further supply was required the clerk happened to use a different ink pad, resulting in a second printing in violet. We, consequently, have two series of provisional Philadelphia surcharges. These, by the way, lasted but a few days when superseded by a printed supply from Washington surcharged at the Bureau of Engraving & Printing. This latter overprint is in black capitals, horizontally across the top of the stamp. So far we have seen the 1c value only.

Mr. Harmon Wendell also favors us with three provisionals from Detroit. These evidently were surcharged by means of a rubber stamp and consist of three values only, namely 2c, 4c and 8c. The rubber stamp used for this surcharge has the word NARCOTIC placed in horizontal rows one above the other, spaced about three mm. apart. Thus two to three surcharges cover each stamp. The printing is done in dark purplish red. Probably other values have been issued, but we have not seen them.

We also understand that the New York Collector issued a series with a diagonal surcharge, but as yet we have seen none of these and are only mentioning a rumor. To date we know of the following:

Proprietary Revenues—1919 Philadelphia Provisionals, surcharged NARCOTIC.

First Series—Black Surcharge: 1c; (a) double overprint, horizontal and diagonal; 2c; 4c; 5c; 8c; 8c double overprint, horizontal and diagonal; 8c double overprint, both horizontal; 10c; 20c; 50c; 50c inverted surcharge; 80c all red and $1.00 green, double overprint, horizontal and vertical.

Second Series—Violet Surcharge 2c; 3c; 4c; 5c; 8c; 10c; 50c; 80c all red and $1.00 green.

Detroit Provisionals, surcharged "Narcotic" in violet red, 2c; 4c and 8c red.

Regular issue—Surcharged at Bureau NARCOTIC, 1c red.

We know that other cities issued provisionals and we would thank our readers to furnish us with specimens for Chronicle.

We wish to thank Messrs. Julius F. Muller, Arthur B. Berresford and Alex. Sweney for notes of interest.

DOMINICA.—Mr. Frank M. Mason has shown us copies of the new War Stamps of this colony. The 2½d orange has been surcharged WAR TAX 1½d in two lines. The 3d stamp has been surcharged WAR TAX in one line. Both values are printed in red and the type of the 3d surcharge is the same as the last printing, while the 1½d value is a little smaller.

HAIDERABAD.—From Mr. N. S. Nagarwalla we have received the ½ anna envelope with the stamp impressed in a new color—purple-brown. Our correspondent believes that the adhesive stamp of the same value may shortly undergo a similar change.—Alfred Smith's Monthly Circular.

JUGOSLAVIA-BOSNIA.—A provisional issue surcharged on the remainders of the Bosnia & Herzegovina Jubilee issue of 1910. The surcharge is partly in Roman and partly in Cyrillian letters with new values as follows:—"Drzava S. H. S.—1918 1918—Bosna i Hercegovina."

Regular Postage Stamps: 3, 5, 10, 20, 25, 30, 40, 45, 50, 60, 80, 90h, 2, 3, 5, 10k. Postage Due: 2, 4, 5, 6, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 40, 50h, 1, 3k. Special Delivery: 2, 5h. Charity Stamps: 10+2, 15+2h,—Albemarle Stamp Collector.

JUGOSLAVIA-CROATIA.—On the current stamps of Hungary there appear a series for Croatia, Salvonia, Istria, Fiume and Mureck surcharged as follows:—"S. H. S.—Hrvatska."

Regular Postage Stamps: 2, 3, 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 35, 40, 50, 75, 80h, 1, 2, 3, 5, 10k. Charity Stamps: 10+2, 20+5, 45+5h. Postage Dues: 2, 10, 15, 20, 30, 50h.—Albemarle Stamp Collector.

RUSSIA.—An interesting item has been shown us by Mr. Brauer, in the shape of an envelope received from Archangel, bearing, alongside a copy of the 20 kopecs of the Arms series, one of the 10 kopecs of the Savings Bank labels. While, however, the postal adhesive is postmarked in the ordinary way with the Archangel postmark, there has been no attempt to obliterate the Savings Bank stamp, so that perhaps the latter was only applied as a novelty and not with the intention of paying postage.—Stamp Collecting.

SIAM.—We have been informed by Mr. K. B. Sieng that there has been another printing of the recently chronicled victory stamps and this time the surcharge is a deeper red. Mr. Sieng also adds that the latter printing was available to everybody, as larger quantities were issued as soon as the first printing was exhausted.

SPAIN.—We have received copies of the 2c value in a new and paler shade of brown. According to Philatelia, this stamp has appeared imperforate, but our latest specimens all have the customary perforation, gauging 14. Readers will recall that the 15c bright violet already exists in imperforate state.—Stamp Collecting.

SWEDEN.—At last the 27 öre value has appeared in the permanent portrait type Mr. W. T. Wilson, writing January 31 states that it has just been placed on sale, being in peacock blue.

We purposely omitted to chronicle, in detail, the notorious "Landsturm" provisionals of two years ago (the issues of 1872-91, overprinted "FRIMARKE LANDSTURMEN") and are naturally disappointed at the appearance of some further varieties. As to one's attitude towards the stamps, whether to collect or boycott them, that is dependent upon the measure of one's inclination towards helping to buy new trousers for the Swedish soldiers! In view of the "cold shoulder" which the authorities undoubtedly experienced in this connexion in 1917, we wonder at their temerity in issuing further examples. The latter are described by Mr. W. D. Scott, who writes:—

"I have just received some new Swedish stamps of which I have not seen any notice in your valuable paper. They are the 'Landstormen' issue, again surcharged. The 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 öre have '7' in the upper corners, the '5 öre' of the original surcharge being obliterated by three horizontal lines in black, the word 'Fem' obliterated by thick line in black, and a '3' placed in each corner, much smaller numerals than the '7', which is the same as the last provisionals.

"The 12, 20, 24, 30, and 50 öre are the same, except that there is a '12' in the upper corners and '8' at the bottom. The '12' is also the same size as the last provisionals. The '8' is, again, the same size as the '3' in the other denominations. I have also received a used copy of the above, postmarked '2 January.' Two booklets have come to hand, one containing the 7 öre and the other the 12 öre permanent issues. The booklets contain twenty stamps each, and they are arranged in two leaves of ten each, with the outside four stamps turned in over the others. The booklets are slightly larger than the ones issued before. There are no interleaves, postal directions being on the covers. The 7 öre booklet is green and the 12 öre is red."—Stamp Collecting.

TURKS AND CAICOS.—The 3d value has appeared with the "War Tax" overprint in red.—Stamp Collecting.

URUGUAY.—The interesting announcement is made that this republic is about to issue a series of "Peace" stamps.

M. Arthur Maury points out that several values of the current series, notably the 1c and the 20c, are now appearing on almost transparent paper, and in modified colours—e.g. emerald-green for the 1c and "coffee" for the 20c.—Stamp Collecting.

PERSIA.

for printing stamps, but these were not used until 1870, when a local printer of Teheran was ordered to print a supply which he did by hand, sometimes singly, sometimes in strips of four. These were of the well known design listed in the catalog as issued in "1868," showing the arms of Persia, a lion "passant gardant" holding a scimitar in his right paw and with the sun in splendor rising over his back. There were no inscriptions and only the Persian figures of value in the corner circles. These stamps were used in a desultory way on the post route from Teheran to Ispahan but the information at last reached to the fact that no cancellation had been provided for and the stamps were being used more than once: they also found that the printer had printed a large surplus stock for his own benefit, so the use of the stamps was finally stopped early in 1871.

In 1875, another attempt was made to reorganize the post and Mr. Riederer, an Austrian postal official, was called to Teheran. He was given the old dies to make a new issue from, but he took the precaution to destroy the remainder of the previous issue still on hand and also to cut corresponding Arabic numerals of value under the belly of the lion to distinguish the new prints from any old ones still outstanding. As these numerals were all inserted by hand there are of course four varieties for each value. The denomination was in "shahis," a coin then worth about a cent American money. The impressions were rough and unsatisfactory and Mr. Riederer naturally turned to Vienna to get something better for his uses. The result was the stamps with the Shah's portrait issued in August, 1876. These stamps were made at the Austrian State Printing office and it is stated the design was suggested by the Shah, who at that time was Nasr-ed-Din.

The need of stamps of higher values became apparent in the latter part of 1878 and pending the receipt of a new supply the old dies were again made use of at Teheran for stamps of 1, 4 and 5 krans and 1 toman. The kran, nominally the same as the French franc, was of 20 shahis and the toman was 10 krans. The old "1" dies used for the new kran and toman stamps, being somewhat worn, had a broad white circle cut around the numerals in the four corners, and the "8" dies were altered to make "5" instead for the 5 kran stamps. In February, 1879, the 1 and 5 kran stamps with the Shah's head arrived from Vienna and were issued. They were printed from the plates used for the 1 and 5 shahi stamps, but were distinguished by a heavy colored border. In January, 1880, the four shahi values were changed to correspond—having a heavy colored border but being changed to new colors as well.

New designs were now desired and these were gotten up in Paris but the stamps were printed as before in Vienna. Being in a hurry for them, a small supply of the three lowest values was lithographed and forwarded to Teheran the latter part of 1881—about 10,000 each of the 5 and 10 centimes and 5,000 of the 25 centimes. The change in currency was due to the desire of the Shah to bring the Persian post office more in harmony with the European post offices, and being an admirer of France, which had considerable commercial interest in Persia, he tried to have the French currency adopted. As the kran was nominally a franc, the 5, 10 and 25 centime stamps simply replaced the 1, 2 and 5 shahi stamps. The experiment did not succeed, however, and brought forth so much opposition that the next issue returned to Persian currency. The lithographs were followed in January, 1882, by the same stamps engraved on copper. They are readily distinguished, the engraved being finer and clearer impressions and having the Arabic figures of value on a ground of horizontal lines, while the lithographs are coarser in appearance and the figures are on a solid ground.

This design is one of the prettiest known to the writer, and thoroughly

Persian. The beautiful arch of the five-lobed or cinquefoil type with its Arabesque decorations gives a glimpse of the sun in splendor, reminiscent of the ancient fire-worship of the Persians, the sun being its symbol. Although the value is given in French money at the bottom, it is translated into Persian money in the upper corner circles.

The return to Persian money was signalized in November, 1882, by the appearance of the green stamp (previously 25 centimes) with a colored figure 5 on a white ground, thus corresponding to the Persian inscription "5 shahi" in the left upper circle and Panj ("five") in the right upper circle. There are two varieties of the stamp, one having but two instead of three dots at the right end of the scroll bearing the Persian inscription. The lack of a dot makes the first Persian word (reading to the left) yosta instead of posta, the former being meaningless. At the same time the FORMER 50 centimes appeared with "10" substituted in a white circle, thus corresponding with the Persian "10 shahi" in the left upper corner and DAH ("ten") at the right.

During the year 1882 the rest of the set in French currency appeared, but with a design bearing the Shah's portrait. The 50 centimes in gray and the 5 and 10 francs are said not to have been issued for postage, except the two former as surcharged in 1885-7. They could be bought postmarked at Teheran for a small amount, however.

In March, 1885, a new series of small stamps, again designed in Paris and lithographed in Vienna, was issued in two designs, the three higher values being a reduced copy of the large portrait stamps of the previous set. It is to be noticed that the denomination is now rendered chahi which is simply the French spelling of the coin, the English rendering being shahi or shahy.

The batch of provisionals issued from 1885 to 1887 bear the word "OFFICIEL", but were not intended for Service stamps. The word signifies that the new values were officially authorized, but the stamps are regular postage stamps.

In November, 1889, a new series lithographed this time in Paris made its appearance, to be followed just two years later by another lithographed again in Vienna; 1894 saw a much better series which was typographed by Messrs. Enschedé of Haarlem, Holland, who have since produced Persia's stamps.

The 1898 issue was occasioned by the accession of a new Shah, Muz affar-ed-Din, who was enthroned at Teheran on June 8, 1896. The fancy surcharges appearing later on these stamps were due to the theft of a large quantity, those on hand being supplied with the control marks for validation.

In 1902 and 1903, a dearth of stamps caused the various locally produced surcharges and provisionals listed in the Standard Catalog from number 191 through 352. Another new set from Holland appeared in 1903, only to be followed by a new series of surcharges as before.

In 1907 Mohammed Ali became Shah and in 1908 a new set bearing his portrait appeared. The 50 kran stamp is interesting as showing him wearing the great crown of the "Kajars," as the ruling family of Persia is called. But Mohammed Ali was driven into exile in 1909 and was succeeded by his young son, Sultan Ahmed Mirza, whose portrait is found on a new issue in 1911, an issue showing only the arms having taken place meanwhile in 1909. More surcharges have followed as usual in which the specialist will find interest, but the ordinary collector will be much more interested in the only commemorative issue of Persia which appeared in 1915 to celebrate the coronation of little Shah Ahmed Mirza on July 21, 1914! The crown is here shown again on the low values. The kran values give a representation of King Darius seated upon his throne, this being from a bas-relief on the door-frame of the Hall of a Hundred Columns at Persepolis, the ancient capital. The toman values show the gateway of the Palace of Darius at Persepolis as it now stands in ruins.—N. E. Stamp Monthly.

DICTIONARY ADDENDA.

for conveying messages from the hotel to the nearest post office.

McKAY LABELS.—These are often confused with postage or revenue stamps by young collectors. The McKay labels show a picture of a sewing-machine surrounded by the inscription "McKay Sew. Mach. Co. License Stamp, Patd. Aug 14, 1860". They were issued in the state of Massachusetts during and some time after the Civil War to certify that the royalty due on each pair of shoes, in the making of which the McKay machine was used, had been paid.

MEAT INSPECTION STAMPS.—Labels or tags attached to dressed meat to show that the abattoir from which it emanated had complied with all legal requirements and that same had been inspected by a duly qualified government official.

LOCK SEALS.—These are used at distilleries, warehouses and breweries by the Internal Revenue storekeeper or gauger who is in charge of the plant. The places where distilled spirits are made, drawn or stored are under his supervision, and as a safeguard and precaution they are locked with a peculiarly constructed padlock so made that a paper seal or label can be inserted to cover the keyhole, so that it is impossible for anyone to open the lock without first breaking the seal. These special seals are printed at the Government Bureau in Washington and have to be carefully accounted for by the Internal Revenue officials to whom they are issued.

PATAGONIA.—The southern portion of the Argentine Republic for which special stamps have been erroneously reported from time to time. The stamps used there are, of course, the ordinary ones of the Argentine.

PIERRE MARQUETTE R. R.—The parlor car tickets issued by this Railroad Company during 1901-3 had a 1c revenue stamp engraved on them as part of the design, just like the old stamped checks.

NESBITT ENVELOPES.—All the stamped envelopes of the United States issued between 1853 and 1870 were produced by the firm of George F. Nesbitt and Company, of New York. The house of Nesbitt was established in 1795 and finally closed its doors in 1912. Due to the many dies used in their manufacture, the Nesbitt series of envelopes provide a rich field for the specialist.

PLIMPTON ENVELOPES.—In 1874 the contract for manufacturing the stamped envelopes for the United States was awarded to the Plimpton Manufacturing Company. The designs are but poor imitations of the Reay issue of 1870, though the Plimpton series are of great interest to the specialist on account of the diversity of paper used and the numerous dies.

PATENT LINES.—Heavy ruled lines shown on the inside of the flaps of early United States envelopes. They are so-called from the fact that in addition to the lines, the words "Patented Nov. 20 1855" appear.

O. L.—Some of the stamps of Monaco are found overprinted with the letters "O. L." within a circle of dots and though these varieties are still listed in some catalogues as a special postal emission, this handstamp is really nothing more than a special postmark. The letters mean "origine locale" (of local origin) and this special mark was impressed on the stamps on letters handed to postmen on their rounds or collected by them from the mail boxes in territory which was really French. This arrangement, under which Monaco or French stamps were used indiscriminately within a limited area, came to an end in 1908 and the "O. L." cancellation ceased to be used thereafter.

AS A COLLECTOR

As a collector I want many varieties of the following:

(1) Unused United States Postage and Departments.
(2) Unused entire U. S. Envelopes.
(3) U. S. Proofs and Essays.
(4) Used and unused revenues, also M. & M.

I will pay cash or give good exchange for whatever I might need. You might have the very thing for which I am looking so send a selection along.

OUR ALLIED ADVERTISERS

A glance through our columns this week will show the world-wide character of philately, and the splendid announcenments will evidence the international bond represented in our hobby. We shall make a brief reference to two or three advertisements of special interest.

The page advertisement of W. C. Phillips & Co. is the outstanding feature, and crowded with timely offerings it will attract much attention. This firm has been a liberal user of WEEKLY space for many years and has developed a business of large proportions.

In quarter pages we have the two advertisements of Hugo Griebert and the United Stamp Co. Mr. Griebert, so well and favorably known as a purveyor of new issues, calls special attention to his 10% service, than which there is none better. For years Mr. Griebert has made this class of business a specialty and has it so well perfected that few of the new things escape him.

The United Stamp Co. features their albums, which have become well known through the large publicity given them in our columns. We have always embraced the opportunity of saying a good word for the albums of this company and when a collector asks for information of this character we always include the name of the United Stamp Co.

Theodore Champion of Paris, who has advertised with us regularly throughout the war period, is represented in this number. His well-known catalog is now on sale and it has always been well patronized by American collectors. The persistency with which this firm has carried on its business even when the turmoil of war was close to its office doors warrants us in giving the House of Champion a more extended notice and this we shall do in a nearby issue of the WEEKLY. It has always been a pleasure for the WEEKLY to do business with this long established and thoroughly reliable firm.

There are several advertisements each occupying an eighth page scattered through this number, but we desire to especially mention Geo. C. Ginn & Co., who was a frequent advertiser with us in the pre-war period. He makes a specialty of fine stamps but in this issue he advertises as well a packet, one that we have seen and know to be all that is represented. The firm of Ginn & Co. is one of the leaders in the London stamp trade and we hope and believe that it will resume its oldtime business relationship with the WEEKLY. It will no doubt depend quite largely upon what our subscribers say and do.

Another old-time advertiser is well introduced to our subscribers this week. We refer to A. A. Hyde of Sherman, Texas, a former advertiser who again feels the lure of the stamp business. This announcement is well worth reading and Mr. Hyde informs us that he expects to have regular advertisements hereafter.

The Osgood advertisement reached us just as we went to press. Its offerings of British Colonials will no doubt bring large patronage. Mr. Osgood occasionally runs a large adv. in the WEEKLY and his use of this number is ample evidence that advertising in the WEEKLY pays.

During the past few weeks several new advertisers have come to our columns using our three-in-one contract. This week we welcome W. T. Robey who has won a secure place in the philatelic fame in discovering the 24c aero invert.

I am in the market for collections of United States stamps only that catalogue from $500.00 up. Nothing but collections in fine condition will be considered, and if I could get one cataloguing $25,000.00, I would be a better buyer than auction. Selling to me means prompt cash transactions and no 20% selling commission to pay. Scarce fine single stamps and covers also wanted.

A WORD ON EMCO PACKETS

Our recent page advertisements are bringing many inquiries regarding our LARGER PACKETS, both UNMOUNTED and MOUNTED.

Many recent large purchases of collections and stocks have enabled us to make up our own larger variety packets instead of being dependent on the short European supply. Every packet makes an excellent collection in itself; the mounted especially so, as they are neatly arranged on sheets, in alphabetical order and ready for instant transferring to your own books.

Condition and variety of countries are especially fine. While it has been difficult to secure the "cheaper" stamps in any quantities. The market is becoming much steadier and we can include many new varieties not to be found in packets of equal size offered by any dealer. In fact, we are today supplying one-half the leading dealers in the U. S. with EMCO packets.

THE U. S. 30c AND 90c 1857-'60.

By ELLIOTT PERRY.

The first 30c and 90c postage stamps issued by the United States are quite unlike in color and design and at first glance appear to have little in common. A deeper investigation shows them to have unsuspected similarities, and if we study the method by which they were produced the close relationship between them soon becomes strikingly apparent. They are so much alike in some particulars that a better understanding of the reasons for the peculiarities to be found in them may be obtained by studying them together than by studying each of them separately. For this reason they will be considered together in this article.

Like other denominations of the series of 1851-'56 and 1857-'60, the 30c and 90c stamps were printed from plates of 200 subjects, each plate consisting of two panes placed side by side. The subjects were arranged in ten rows of ten on each pane. A vertical guide line separated the panes and, so far as is known, the stamps were not perforated along this guide line. There was only one 30c plate and one 90c plate, and each bore the plate number 1. The size of the engraved area on these two plates was exactly the same, or practically the same, as on other plates of the "B" group made during or after 1857. (See the article of Aug. 24, 1918, on perforations of the 1857-'60 series.)

As were other denominations of the series, the 30c and 90c were rocked onto their plates by transfer rolls containing several designs in relief, used in multiple. Transfer rolls containing six reliefs were used on the 5c and 24c plates and on some of the 1c plates made during or after 1857, and quite possibly also on 3c and 10c plates, but the six relief method appears not to have been used on the 30c and 90c plates, for careful study of these two denomiantions will show either that they were rocked in from rolls containing less than six designs in relief, or if the rolls contained six reliefs, that some of the reliefs were not used.

Such evidence as has been available to the writer indicates the use of transfers having either three reliefs or four—probably four. These reliefs appear on the plates in the following order, each stamp design in any horizontal row being always from the same relief:—

30c Reliefs (Read up)	Rows	90c Reliefs (Read down)
No. 4	1	No. 1
No. 3	2	No. 2
No. 2	3	No. 3
No. 4	4	No. 4
No. 3	5	No. 2
No. 2	6	No. 3
No. 4	7	No. 4
No. 3	8	No. 2
No. 2	9	No. 3
No. 1	10	No. 4

The reader will note that on both denominations the order of the reliefs is the same; that is, 1, 2, 3, 4—2, 3, 4,—2, 3, 4,—but that we have commenced at the top of the plate on the 90c and at the bottom of the plate on the 30c. Some evidence that this may be the correct order of the reliefs can be found on the stamps, but to the writer it seems more probable that the above arrangement is upside down and that the plates were not rocked in according to that plan, but as follows:—

30c Reliefs (Read down)	Rows	90c Reliefs (Read up)
No. 1	1	No. 4
No. 2	2	No. 3
No. 3	3	No. 2
No. 1	4	No. 1
No. 2	5	No. 3
No. 3	6	No. 2
No. 1	7	No. 1
No. 2	8	No. 3
No. 3	9	No. 2
No. 4	10	No. 1

By this arrangement the same general result is obtained, differing from the first arrangement only in that the 90c commences at the bottom and the 30c at the top. The position of the reliefs remains unchanged, but the numbers assigned to them are reversed:—

No. 1 becomes No. 4
No. 2 becomes No. 3
No. 3 becomes No. 2
No. 4 becomes No. 1

There is a possibility also that the odd relief which makes up the bottom row on the 30c and the odd relief which makes up the top row on the 90c are not separate 4th reliefs in each case, but may perhaps be one of the other three reliefs—presumably No. 1—altered. However, the writer cannot demonstrate this to be a fact, and for the purpose of explaining the variations found on the stamps will assume that four reliefs were used and that rocking commenced at the top of the 30c plate and at the bottom of the 90c plate and proceeded according to the second plan given.

It may seem of trivial importance whether the rocking of the transfers commenced at the top or at the bottom of the plates, and the writer realizes the risk he takes of appearing to exaggerate trifling details; yet if the reader will bear in mind this one fact, that the stamp designs on one of these two plates were rocked in commencing at the top of the plate and moving downwards, and on the other that rocking commenced at the bottom of the plate and moved upwards, the cause for the quite remarkable varieties of a similar character found on the 30c and 90c stamps will easily be understood.

In comparing the 30c plate to the 90c plate, it is quite obvious that the reverse order of the reliefs could be obtained as readily by reversing one of the transfer rolls—starting it at one end rather than at the other end—as by reversing one of the plates. In other words, the 90c plate could have been rocked in from the top, using the reliefs in the order 4, 3, 2, 1—3, 2, 1—3, 2, 1, but the writer is unable to reconcile this order of rocking in the stamp designs with what we find on the stamps.

Many of the stamps from these two plates show shifts in their designs. Some of the shifts are very noticeable. Others are only slight. Most of them come in the 4th and 7th horizontal rows—in the upper left corner of the 30c stamps and in the lower right corner of the 90c stamps. Nearly all the 30c stamps from the 4th and 7th rows, (Relief No. 1), have the top line in the upper left corner too heavy or doubled, with more or less doubling of the arrow shaped ornamental corner and adjacent parts, and many of the 90c stamps from the same two rows have four lines of shading below the NTS of CENTS in the lower right corner instead of the three lines of shading normally found there. Since the 4th and 7th rows from the top are also the 7th and 4th rows from the bottom, we have only to reverse one of the plates to bring many of these shifts into the same relative position on the same stamps in the same rows. Quite curious, isn't it?

Is it not indeed remarkable that so many shifts should occur on these plates and that so many of them should occur in the same place on stamps in the same horizontal rows? Can we explain the presence of these shifts by the theory usually given and accepted that a shift is caused by slightly changing the position of the transfer roll after rocking in of the stamp design has commenced? The writer thinks not. There are too many of the shifts, they are too much alike, and their recurrence is too regular for them to be merely human errors. No skilled workman would be likely to make the same mistake so many times in the same positions on two different plates. As will appear later, the contractors who made these stamps were anxious to turn out a most satisfactory product of high artistic merit and although the plates were made under some pressure to effect the completion of the stamps at the earliest possible moment, yet the writer does not now believe the shifts were due to undue haste nor carelessness.

Why not consider the probability of there having been a defect or a little "play"—(lost motion)—in the machinery of the rocking-in press which prevented the transfer roll being held firmly in its proper position? There are indications of "slipping" of a similar character on the 24c plate and on plate No. 12 of the 1c, which latter plate bears an imprint like the imprints on the 30c and 90c plates and is believed to have been made at about the same period. The 30c and 90c plates were made within a few weeks of each other and, it is reasonable to suppose, by the same machine. By "charting" the two plates, super-imposing the 30c chart on the chart of the 90c, top to bottom, and noting that most of the shifted 30c corners fall directly on the shifted 90c corners, we can hardly avoid being convinced both plates were made on the same machine and that the shifts indicate an imperfection in the machine rather than any lack of care or skill in the workman operating the machine.

The position of these shifts tends to support the belief that there were three (or four) reliefs used on the 30c and 90c transfers, but other and stronger indications are present. On the 30c plate the stamp designs do not fall in true lines in the vertical rows. Some are a trifle to the left or right of their neighbors above or below. The relative position of the designs to each other is exactly like the arrangement of the reliefs as given; that is, it repeats every third stamp from the top down to the 9th row. The 10th row seems to line up with the 1st, 4th and 7th rows.

The strongest proof that there were three or four reliefs on the transfers is, however, found in the stamps themselves. Like the 5c (plate 2) and the 24c stamps, the 30c reliefs were altered on the transfer roll and none of the stamps on the 30c plate are exactly like the 30c die. As on the 5c and 24c rolls, the reliefs on the 30c roll were placed as closely together as possible without actually touching each other and then parts of the designs were cut away. On the 5c and the 24c both the tops and the bottoms of the reliefs were altered, but on the 30c reliefs the tops were not altered, only the bottoms being cut away.

There are slight indications of alterations in the tops of the 30c stamps in the bottom (10th) row on the plate, but these slight imperfections in the design may have come from an imperfect transfer from the die to the transfer roll. Each stamp in the bottom row shows these imperfections and therefore they must have been on the relief.

The alterations in the bottoms of the 30c reliefs are not great. With study they can often be identified on stamps which show the bottom of the design. They repeat in the order given. The top row on the sheet is like the 4th and the 7th; the second row is like the 5th and 8th; the third row is like the 6th and 9th; and the 10th row differs from all the others.

The 90c reliefs were not altered, but differ slightly from each other, probably owing to imperfect transferring from the die, and they repeat in the same way as do the 30c, except that the top row, instead of the bottom row, differs from all the others, and the 10th row is from the same relief as the 4th and 7th rows.

Why were the 30c reliefs altered and the 90c reliefs left untouched? The writer ventures the opinion that some fact not yet well understood, but connected with the perforating of the stamps from these plates was the basic reason, and that the more obvious reason was to make the height of the vertical rows of stamps on the 30c plate equal to the corresponding distance on the 5c, 24c and other plates made during and after 1857.

The reader will recall that the 24c plate and plate No. 2 of the 5c were made from dies that had been engraved about a year before any stamps were perforated, and that in using these dies, or transfers from them, the contractors were adapting dies made for imperforate stamps to plates made for stamps that were to be perforated. Efficiency of manufacture dictated that the designs on all plates used for perforated stamps be so entered on the various plates that any sheet of stamps from any plate could be perforated with as little trouble and expense as any other sheet. Just why the plates were not so made that all the stamp designs on all of them would be complete is not apparent unless the perforator could not accommodate a sheet over ten inches high.

The 30c and 90c plates were made from new dies and it would appear ridiculous to make the 30c die too large and then cut the design down on the transfer roll. Yet this is just what was done. Why? Further investigation shows that although the 90c was indeed an entirely new die and its transfer did not need to be cut down because already small enough, the 30c die was only partly new. The portrait oval was the same as the one also used on the Franklin carrier stamp. This appears to be the reason why the new 30c design was made a trifle too large. In order to obtain proper proportion between the size of the portrait and the size of the frame, the frame was engraved a trifle too tall to leave sufficient room for perforating and yet get a vertical row of stamps only ten inches high.

It is a fact only too well known to collectors that the 30c stamps have varying margins at the sides and are sadly deficient in margins at top and bottom. The space between the stamps in the vertical rows is just about as large—or rather, as small—as the diameter of the perforation holes. On the 90c the intervals between the stamps in the horizontal rows are more even than on the 30c and the vertical intervals are about 50% greater than on the 30c. Copies of the 90c with perforations clear of the design on all four sides are not extremely difficult to find, while any 30c on which the perforations do not touch the design anywhere is to be classed with the miracles.

GREETINGS.

The old times are with us again.

It has been many a long day since I sat down and knocked out an article, and much has happened "during the interim" as the Editor would say.

To say that I am glad to be back among my friends, and my stamps, is putting it mildly. There was a time when things looked somewhat dark, and I began to wonder if I would ever have a chance to pursue the elusive postage stamp again. But those days are over. The calendar has turned itself back, and we are in the old days again.

Our desk was just as we left it when we decided to put on the khaki. The same bunch of stamp papers was on the book-case, waiting for that celebrated day when we should have time to peruse them. The only change we found was the revised prices in the new catalogue, and some of those did not make us weep.

During my travels with the army, I spent much time thinking of my stamps, and of the readers of the WEEKLY—my friends. For I feel that all collectors are my friends, and that I know the WEEKLY readers best of all.

Those long evenings when one sits in front of the tent, watching the dying Texas sun sink behind the hills, are wonderful times to think of stamps. How glad I would have been to just see a foreign stamp.

I recall the enthusiasm with which I went after a block of the current 12 cent stamps which a boy received on a parcel. He gave them to me and thought I was crazy, for I didn't explain why I wanted them.

Unfortunately I was not located near a city where there were many collectors. Most of my time was spent in camp, and I did not succeed in finding any stamp men in the army.

About the time I was ready to leave San Antonio, I met a collector and was introduced to the members of the San Antonio Philatelic Society. I spent a most pleasant evening talking stamps, and saw some beauties. Then, as luck would have it, I was transferred elsewhere the next week.

After leaving Texas, I proceeded to Charlotte, N. C., and left there the following week for New York City. Here, of course, I met some of my old friends, and had a chance to look at some stamps, at least.

When one's possessions must be kept in a blue denim sack, there is little room for stamp albums, nor would they remain there long. And with an income of $30. per month, collecting is out of the question.

When the order for Aircraft Acceptance Park No. 2 came, summoning them to sail for "Over There", I thought that I should have a chance to secure a few stamps.

After a somewhat stormy cruise on an Australian coaster, carrying us anywhere from Florida to Iceland (for one afternoon found us within forty miles of that far-off isle) we arrived at Liverpool. On the way over I discovered that one of my "buddies" was the brother of a very good correspondent of mine. That is as near as I came to finding a collector.

To you who have crossed the big ocean and have stood on the bow and watched the lights of "Over There" appear, the emotion I experienced is understood. It was a Grand and Glorious Feeling.

The following morning I awoke to find the ship at anchor in the Mersey, with Liverpool before us. I pictured the English stamps I had handled so many times, and I think, included most of the Colonies, too. All I could think of was —"so this is where they come from".

And then we went ashore. As I looked at the buildings which, after all, are not so different from ours, I thought exactly as the other two million did. "So this is England".

We marched about three miles to the railroad, and we were all proud to be a part of Uncle Sam's A. E. F. The people cheered us, for at that time things were not going any too well.

The little English railway coaches were quite a novelty to us. We enjoyed the ride from Liverpool to Winchester immensely. Every city we passed thru, Sheffield, Nottingham, Leicester, all recalled the stories we had read in the past. At Leicester I was able to purchase my first English stamps. The boys who had never seen them were greatly interested.

Since this is not a "travelogue" I will not dwell on the host of interesting sights I saw, or the beautiful country we passed through. During my first two weeks I could not forget the thought that this was the home of all the English stamps I had ever seen.

The English currency proved very interesting. I was looked upon as a sort of phenomenon because of my ability to figure in English money so readily. Of course my experience in my stamp work made this very easy. Most of the boys had great difficulty in becoming accustomed to the large pennies, and the silver money. A 10sh note was regarded as a dollar bill in too many cases, and so our money soon went.

Next week I shall write about my visit to London and the interview I had with a prominent English dealer.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

I shall be glad to receive letters from any of my friends, and will gladly answer questions through the paper.

SCANDINAVIANS---$2, $5 U. S.---WAR STAMPS, ETC.

Here are some offers of up-to-the-minute stamps for medium collectors. A deal of trouble and money was required to make these offers possible and the prices leave us only a nominal profit margin. Big discounts are not possible on such goods and many items are never seen in the average dealer's stock. Our stock of most is limited and it will be a long time before we can secure more if at all, so please order early. Your especial attention is called to the 20th Denmark, Finland, Sweden, USED 20th B. W. I., and War Stamps, most of which have not been offered in the "Weekly" before. Also the few "hard-to-get" French Colonials. This adv. is full of stamps that should prove a "good buy" when a few years have passed by.

A GREAT APPROVAL OFFER---PREMIUMS

This is practically the same offer we made during several of the summer months last year, which caused hundreds of new buyers to try our series of "Jumbo" books, and made many friends for them. We make the offer again, subject to being cancelled at any time, but premiums will be given at any time for purchases made during the time limit which begins Feb. 1st and ends at a time to be set later.

To keep our series of "Jumbo" books working we will give FREE stamps cat. one-third the amount of your remittance, your selection from a list of several hundred good stamps we will send you on request. Thus if you purchase $3.00 you select to the cat. value of $1.00 from the list. This offer is good only a limited period beginning Feb. 1st and applies only to Jumbo books and want lists. It's one of the most liberal ever made and as we give you good value anyway is so much absolutely free. No free stamps will be given, however, for purchases of less than $2 at a time as it does not pay to send out these books for less.

PREMIUMS TO APPROVAL APPLICANTS

Any one of the following offers free to applicants for approval selections who satisfy us as to their reliability and responsibility. This offer is only good for those who are not at present receiving selections of us, and is made to get in touch with new buyers. Please give us size of collection, state whether general or special collector, and some idea how much you are ready to spend. Don't send just to get a premium. We want LIVE collectors and make this little inducement to give us a trial.

1919 Series of Approval Books

Our celebrated "Jumbo" books, Mounted collections, approval books by countries, special books, etc. Approvals for all classes and kinds of collectors. A partial list follows.

1919 Series of "Jumbo" Books

A brand new series just made up. Better than ever before. In the few years we have put out these books they have proved the most popular series in America. It's not uncommon for us to make sales of $15. to $25. from a couple of books, and sales of $5. from a book are the usual thing, which shows their popularity and quality. Books contain about 400 stamps each, about 10,000 var. in the series. Priced net from 1c up, usually at about half catalog, but in many cases less. Will average 50% of list. An extra 10% discount on sales of $3. and 20% on $5 or more.

EDITORIAL.

Another—A second special number is offered to our readers and the advertising columns at least indicate that all is well with the stamp trade. We emphasize the importance of the commercial side of the pursuit because it is the reflex of collecting activity. When collecting interest is at high tide, the demands on the dealers are such as to stimulate business. Too, heavy advertising means increased competition through which the collector may derive his advantages. The present prosperity of philately will endure because of the general attitude of collectors, who, as a rule, realize that they have a most excellent foil in their stamps to the routine of life; and their example in collecting will inspire emulation on the part of those who do not now collect who come in contact with them and their stamps.

Advertisers—We strive to promote the best feeling between the stamp sellers and stamp buyers and try to keep the friction that sometimes develops between the two forces at a minimum. Modern dealers know that the good-will of customers sustains their continued patronage and a consequence of many advertisements is that collectors will fare better than when only a few are offered. Competition may or may not be the life of trade, but it certainly is death to the dealer who lags in enterprise and business fairness. We may insist on commercial morality on the part of our advertisers, but we cannot undertake to dictate what may be termed their trade management or conduct. It is just as well that such is the case, as it is in particulars attendant upon this stewardship that the dealer may show his salesmanship and business ability.

Advised—A visitor has just told a little story that merits a passing thought. He is seeking information about stamp collecting and we may add that he has secured our text-book on philately with the intention of becoming "a serious collector". The fact is that he has just shown us a chart that diagnosed his body in a material, medical, psychological and almost every way. Nothing has escaped the critical eye of the scrutineers and the sheaf of neatly tabulated reports reveal him inside and out,—and cost him a hundred dollars or so, incidentally. Here is where we come in: "The patient is advised to forthwith adopt a hobby to aid in changing his mental routine and to energize the mind pleasantly in an unaccustomed field", or words to that effect. Our charge did not compare with that of good old Doctor Bolus as we could pry but seventy-five cents from the gentleman, fifty cents for a year's subscription and a quarter for a copy of the Stamp Collector's Guide. Thus do we proceed with our labor of love.

Addition—The "kicking mule" cancellation became famous because of the festive unconventionality that it suggests and which made a hit with those collectors who liked the free swing of western humor. So, the "kicking mule" has become one of the most lovable freaks in the philatelic side-show. A reader who does not intend to dispute the claims of the antic mule for pre-eminence still bespeaks a glance or two for his "P.D.Q." cancellation on a two cent, 1890, which, with its clear-cut letters in monogram form, he rightly thinks should not be passed by.

Attested—We maintain that the informal dinner of "a few personal friends of Major Carroll Chase, M. D." that was held at the Harvard Club, New York, on the evening of March 24th, 1919, was a gladsome affair of the heart, the like of which is almost without precedent in our annals. Messrs. Ritchie, Owen, MacBride, Sprague and Wilson were the quintette who arranged this tribute to Dr. Chase who may know that his absence made our hearts grow all the fonder of him. "Welcome ever smiles and farewell goes out sighing."

Aid—Our friend, Mr. H. K. Allen, has been interested in references to the past that have been made occasionally in this column, such as the sale of the 1857-60 issue under face, etc., and he has sought confirmation in various old publications to which he has access. He shows the seventh edition of The Philatelist's Album, published in 1879, in which is bound the thirty-first edition of the Postage Stamp Catalogue, published by J. W. Scott & Co., 146 Fulton Street, New York. In this catalogue, all the values, twelve to ninety cent inclusive, 1857, are offered below face, unused; for instance, the ninety cent is listed at 75 cents. The prices on many U. S. are even lower than would be expected: The five cent, 1847, is priced, new, at 25 cents and used at 10 cents. The twelve cent black, 1861, is sold for 1 cent; the fifteen cent, 1866, is raised to 2 cents, but is overtopped by the six cent, 1869, for which 3 cents are demanded. The twenty-four cent purple was always a rather good stamp and that is why 5 cents are wanted for it. The St. Louis ten cent could be had for 5 dollars, which is five times the amount given for the five cent New York. In the foreign section, the prices are just as astonishing, from our view-point, today. Some of the notes are not without interest: "J. W. Scott & Co. wish it distinctly understood that all the U. S. stamps sold by them are warranted genuine original impressions, and not the spurious reprints and imitations lately circulated to deceive collectors." We suppose that the reprints and re-issues, esteemed so highly now, are thus characterized, although proofs and trial colors may have had their share in inspiring the warning. The company says that it is prepared "to dispose of large collections of stamps at auction, in New York or London, for the owner." A written guarantee is given, when requested, on all stamps worth two dollars and upwards. The "great and increasing demand for locals" is encouraged and it is said that nearly all of them are worth from one to ten dollars each," our publishers being prepared to pay nearly the full retail value for them."

Asked—From Mr. W. G. Swart, Duluth, Minnesota, we have received a block of the current two cent stamps, on which there is to all appearances a black streak or smear, but on closer examination it is to be seen that the mark which extends all the way across one stamp is due to an "ink disorder." A chemical change of some kind may have made the color transition, but we shall not try to theorize as to how the reaction took place. It is asked if the stamps would be good for postage; and in this connection it may be said that some of the one cent of the current issue with freak perforations as sold at the post office, have been refused for postage because they are "mutilated". Here is a case of repudiation on the part of the authorities and the only thing that may be said in extenuation is that stamps in the condition named should not have been sold, according to the department's instructions.

EL PASO STAMP CO.,
3605 Montana St., El Paso, Texas.

U. S. and British N. A. Stamps are my specialty. I have many good U. S. locals and general issues on covers, a few B. N. A., also on covers, and a fine lot of unused U. S. old and recent issues singles or blocks, many shades, etc. For serious buyers, I have some fine things to offer.
I am also headquarters for DEN CURIOS, one of finest stocks in U. S. to select from, over 20,000 specimens on hand.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The advertising of the Hermes Stamp Co. is appearing in various stamp papers. This firm owes us for advertising inserted in the WEEKLY last summer. When we called the firm's attention to its obligation a few weeks ago we were coolly informed that the former manager was in the service and that the present management would not be held responsible for the bill contracted. This firm gets no more advertising space in the WEEKLY. We have had a similar experience with Paul Dillingham, only in his case no attention has been paid to letters sent him, and while advertising in other papers, he refuses to make good upon his obligation to us.

—Harry W. Spencer calling our attention to his unsatisfactory dealings with Alexandro Garcia, adds: "Of course I felt that he was probably known to you, inasmuch as an adv. of such a character was accepted from him." We wish to say that it is impossible for us to investigate the character and responsibility of every person who uses adlet space. Where advs. are run continuously in Adlets we can satisfy ourselves in this direction, but on transient advs. we are unable to do this and subscribers must exercise due care in the matter of protecting themselves from loss.

—We have before us Vol. 1 No. 1 of the Wolverine Philatelist, published and edited by Kenneth Tallmadge, 1408 Jerome St., Lansing, Mich. The initial number is rather small in size, but there are large possibilities before it. A sample copy can no doubt be obtained on request.

—If any patron of the WEEKLY is unable to collect any bill due from George W. Coryell, Boerne, Texas, we can no doubt effect a settlement upon the presentation to us of the facts in the case.

—The Christian Science Monitor, of March 14 contained an illustration of the full set of new stamps recently issued for Mozambique. It makes a striking display. Clipping from A. H. Gleason.

—The Amateur Photographers' Weekly of March 21 contains a contribution from Herman W. Boers in which he vigorously champions philately. Mr. Boers is rightly jealous of the good name and fame of our hobby and does not hesitate to express in plain English his opinion of those who deride stamp collecting in any manner. We regret that we do not have room to reprint the article.

—An auction catalog of unusual merit has just been issued by Eugene Klein. It lists a very fine lot of Egypt and Sudan from the collection of Edwin A. Fleisher, who has during the past ten years made notable acquisitions from the Brock, Richter, Dr. Cantel-Bey and Worthington collections. Four halftone plates beautify the catalog, which has an appropriately illustrated cover. It is an artistic success.

—We have received a clipping from the Halifax (N. S.) Evening Mail from B. H. Drake giving a curious story of a sailor's will found on an envelope underneath two Barbados stamps. The case came up in the Supreme Court before the full bench, an appeal having been taken against the judge of probate who upheld the sailor's will bequeathing $2,500 in cash and his shares in a schooner to a young woman to whom he was engaged to be married. The sailor was drowned on the voyage home, but the will stands. This thrilling tale occupies more than a column in the Mail and is accompanied with an illustration of the original envelope showing the will.

—Silas Weatherby, the publisher of the Phizzletelic Phizzle, has kindly sent us two contributions for the WEEKLY that are to appear in the next number of the Phizzle. One or both will be published in this issue and we are greatly obliged to Mr. Weatherby for his courtesy in the matter. By the way, the Phizzle is 12c per year and is well worth it. Address Medina, Ohio.

—The publishers of the Standard Catalog inform us that their supplementary edition will be ready the latter part of April. Work on the catalog had been suspended due to the question being raised as to the legality of illustrating foreign postage stamps.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Wyndham Hayward, B. H. Drake, A. S. Davenport, Herman W. Boers, Paul Floyd Cornish, H. C. Buttermore.

—F. D. Markee, 244 Corey St., West Roxbury, Mass., has an 1896 cloth-bound Scott's International Album in nice condition with some 200 or more stamps, just enough to make a start in collecting, which he will be willing to present to some invalid or shut-in. Mr. Markee generously offers to pay transportation charges. Write Mr. Markee and state your facts but don't bother him for a reply to your letter.

—The Bulletin, the official journal of the P. C. S. A., has resumed publication after a lapse of twenty years. It is edited by Percy McGraw Mann, the newly elected president, and with the revival of his publication a renewed interest in the collecting of post cards will no doubt be manifested.

—Halifax, N. S., is using a special postmark reading "Buy War Savings Stamps and Help Reconstruction."

—A subscriber questions the correctness of Mr. Jessop's statement that the stamp of the Slovak League was born of the great world war. We are advised that the stamp was in issue as far back as 1910. Our correspondent has a copy identical with the picture shown with the inscription below the lower line "American Bank Note Co. N. Y." This inscription appears upon the stamp illustrated by us though it does not show in the picture.

—The Michigan Stamp Club had a banquet at the Hotel Fort Shelby, Detroit, Saturday evening, March 15.

—Fred J. Fox gives this explanation of Mr. Floyd's query in a recent News Gleaning:—"The Foreign Exchange U. S. F. R. B. No. 415" probably means United States Federal Reserve Bank, Foreign Exchange Department. The cancellation is Boston, Mass., and there is such a bank in that city. It is addressed to brokers in Canada, the envelope being a current 1c, and it has a Canadian customs duty stamp on the reverse side. The bank sent this letter to Canada thinking the U. S. stamp would be sufficient as postage. It no doubt was, but the contents of the envelope may have been such as to require a tax being paid as custom duty. No such stamp being on the envelope, the Canadian P. O. should have returned the envelope to Boston. It is probable that in order to avoid delay the Canadian brokerage firm offered to pay the tax, thereby affixing the Canadian stamp on the U. S. stamped envelope."

—"In a lot of large Wine stamps received lately I found one $2, Series "1916", not the 1914 issue, which is quite different from the 1916 issue. It is not catalogued and it is the first copy, 1916 issue, that I have seen, although I have quite an accumulation of this issue. It has a rubber stamp cancellation, Dec. 21—1918, and was used in connection with a $1.60 and a 24c—1916. Collectors of Revenue stamps are surely interested in matters of this kind and someone may be able to say something about the status of this stamp".—FRED ALTFELIX.

FINE U. S. WANTED

I will pay over catalogue price for many U. S. stamps; for example—

1847, 10c black,	catalogue $8.00	will pay $9.00
1851, 1c blue,	catalogue .75	will pay 1.00
1857, 24c lilac,	catalogue 4.00	will pay 5.00
1861, 5c buff,	catalogue 7.50	will pay 8.00
1917, 5c red "error",	catalogue 3.00	will pay 2.50
1918, 24c "aeroplane",	catalogue .10	will pay .12

Every stamp must be FINE (and the 5c errors must be in blocks with 2c stamps) but I can use good average copies at lower prices.
Send whatever you have—any quantity. Stamps listed above or any other good U. S.—spot cash for all I take. Am also in the market for a good U. S. or GENERAL COLLECTION.

A BELATED TRIBUTE.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

"Twenty golden years ago" there resided in the city of Chicago a collector of fiscal stamps who lives forever in the memory of those philatelists who have found Canada revenues of more than passing interest. This man compiled, and, through P. M. Wolsieffer, published a very complete "Vest Pocket Catalogue of Canadian Revenue Stamps." The little volume, now quite scarce, sold for ten cents. I very much doubt, if the occasional copy that rarely turns up could be purchased for less than five times that sum,—and glad indeed should be the collector whose little lot of catalogues should be so enriched.

This philatelist was a traveling salesman, who found in his leisure opportunity to search out revenue stamps on bottles of medicines in the drug stores in the towns where business called him. From the richness of his experiences he amassed material for a book. "Stamp-Hunting" was the title. It was printed by a Chicago publishing house, and told, in narrative form, the various quests of the writer in delving among the archives. The tale is well told, and the book worthy of adding to one's library.

But work and play and dealing in stamps could not save this charming writer from the inroads of disease. He went to Texas, in quest of health, but found it not. Then the end came.

The memory and the inspiration did not pass. Lewis Robie's material life at an end, his example and precept live on. To him, more than to any living writer, may be attributed the present interest in the revenue stamps of Canada. I pay tribute to this fine soul, here and now: others may speak more fully of him later.

My interest in Canadian revenues was slightly aroused, a dozen years ago, by the gift of a few "F. F." which a friend brought back from Canada. I collected, then, generally, including M. and M. and U. S. revenues. Canada revenues were quite beyond my ken. But the seed had been sowed, and the acquisition of Needham's printed album aided me to a further desire to fill certain spaces.

There resides, in a certain north Ohio city, a dealer who is more than dealer. He combines the friend as well,—and better. To him I owe much in inciting a liking for Canada revenues. He it was who enriched my album with certain gifts, which I found mounted therein, one somber day, when the rain fell unceasingly, and I had turned to my stamps for solace. He also collected, though in a small way, and the occasional Canada revenue that came to him found place in his Needham, its duplicate in mine.

I have had no direct converse with this one-time friend these many years. I fear my impracticalities have seared his practical soul. But here and now I pay tribute to his friendship and delightful companionship in those "dear dead days". Wherever he may be, know, then, oh friend, that one remembers!

It was to another friend,—Harry L. Lindquist, of Chicago,—that I am indebted for the realest beginnings of my collection. In his magazine, "The Collectors' Journal," he advertised a fine lot of Canada revenues at a very low price. There were a few rarities, some scarce stamps, and many of the not so scarce and commoner varieties. This acquisition started me finally toward acquiring a representative collection of the revenue stamps of Canada.

I am writing to interest the young collector,— the novice. It is a matter of indifference what his or her age may be: with that I am not concerned. But I wish to arouse interest among those of our philatelists and stamp collectors who are seeking a side-line, or some branch of philately not wholly unexplored, yet wherein there is opportunity for study and discovery and rich reward.

The first Canadian bill stamps were issued in 1864. Of the seventeen varieties, only one is rare,—the error "sfven" for seven. This occurs only once on the sheet.

In 1865, nineteen denominations were issued, none of which is considered rare, and in 1869 this was followed by a set of eighteen denominations, of which the $2, head inverted, is exceedingly hard to find.

But, at the threshold, I must pause. This paper was not in any wise intended as a catalogue of the revenue stamps of Canada, nor as a list of rarities; it was written to interest the collector, and as a little tribute to the memory of a sincere devotee at the shrine wherein a few of us worship. Of Lewis Robie, it may be said in the words of the poet who, writing of one dear to him, said:

Bitterer woe than death it were by far
To fail their hopes who love us. . .

If those who cherish the memory of Lewis Robie,—those who knew him in the flesh and those who know him only in the spirit,—can find a modicum of inspiration in this tiny tribute, I shall not have written in vain.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Will wonders never cease? Another error of color has appeared. The current round type 3c envelope, Die A, Size 5, Knife 87, Watermark 19, window envelope, has appeared printed in the carmine of the 2c. This is positively not a chemical changeling. I happened to be in New York on March 18th shortly after a young man called upon Mr. J. M. Bartels with ten copies of the above entires with printed return card and these he sold at a nominal figure stating that they were all that were found out of a lot just purchased at the post office. It developed, however, as the day grew older, that he had more, for he called upon several other dealers with the same story, increasing his price, however, as he found that the demand was great. Hughie Clark secured a few and most of our Nassau Street friends were let in on the find. There is little doubt but what a package or two were found and it is quite probable that the whole box of five hundred were the errors. The variety, however, will interest many who as a rule do not collect envelopes and as a result these few will not go very far.

Every mail brings letters regarding the new Victory Stamp. It seems that each town and village has received its supply. The numbers printed will without doubt run into the tall figures so there will be a plenty for everyone. As previously mentioned, sixteen plates were made for printing these stamps and impressions from all plates have been issued. In a recent chronicle we spoke of the letter "F" appearing in front of certain of the plate numbers on these as well as on other sheets. I inquired while recently in Washington what this meant and was informed that it designated that the plate was finished. Just previous to the use of this "F", the Bureau of Engraving & Printing signified that the plate was finished by putting a small spot or rather dot in front of one of the plate numbers. We wish to thank Messrs. Eugene Tilleux, Jr., C. M. Breder, Alvin St. Clair, Raymond S. Williams and others for advice that these stamps have been placed on sale at their post office.

In our Chronicle of last week we gave a somewhat extended list of the provisional NARCOTIC revenue stamps. We now wish to add the following value which we have just seen.

Philadelphia Prov. Surcharge.
First Issue, surch. in black 3c red.

We listed a 20c value on advice of one of our correspondents, but as we have been unable to locate a copy of this denomination, we seriously question its existence.

Mr. W. A. Langdon very kindly sends for inspection a number of complete sheets as well as blocks of the current issues which are of more than passing interest. Three sheets of the type IV 3c range in shade from a very light, washed out purple to a dark, black purple. One would never suppose that they were intended to be the same stamp. A sheet of the 5c perforated 11 from plate 7239, lower right hand pane, is in a light robin egg blue at the top and a dark deep blue at the bottom. A lower right pane of the 2c from sheet 7322 is so badly perforated that almost every subject is cut in two. We also find a 2c plate 8502 with pink back, a block of the 3c type II, plate 8267, with smudged impression, etc. We can remember the time when we were indeed proud of the

The T. W. Robinson Collection for Sale
"25 YEARS IN BUILDING."

After an interval of nine years, I am again in the stamp business and in addition to my regular stock I am pleased to offer the entire Robinson Collection, started in 1890. Practically no stamp of the last 5 or 6 years included.

Contains no rarities but a splendid selection of mostly 19th Century stamps, valued from a few cents to $10 each. While I have only begun preparing this collection for the market, I note a few of the contents, namely:—

Fine Copies of U. S. Nos. 28, 36, 72, 86, 98, 100, 121. 1870 to 1890 complete, lower values unused. Most of the Commemoratives 1c to 50c unused. Some pairs, blocks and plate numbers. Departments some complete sets, used and unused. No. 511 used, 562*, 555a*, etc. Postal Savings 50c and $1.00. Revenues not complete but some good ones.

Philippines, Cuba, Porto Rico and Canal Zone on U. S. nearly complete, mostly unused. Hawaii, No. 69*, and forty-five other varieties. Canada nearly complete except rarities; many unused. New Brunswick No. 1. Nova Scotia 2 and 5. Prince Edward Island nearly complete. British Columbia 8, 9, 11 used. Newfoundland 1, 3, 5, 17, 18, 21, 22 unused. Other British Colonials well represented. A few Cape Triangles. General foreign mighty good.

I am going to make a specialty of Special Approvals made from your want list or of your favorite country. Give commercial reference, please. Better still, send a cash deposit and get first pick from this choice 19th Century selection. Will be greatly pleased to hear from my old friends and former customers.

work turned out at the Bureau, but we must say that Colombian Republic and the native Indian States in all their glory never equaled the conglomeration now coming over the post office counters.

Mr. H. C. Needham showed us something the other day that was indeed a pleasure to behold. A Confederate cover with a horizontal strip of four of the 2c brown and a single of the 2c green making up the 10c rate. It was neatly postmarked "Auraria, Ga.—Oct 5" and was addressed to a Capt. N. N. Gober, Richmond, Virginia.

Mr. John A. Klemann of the Nassau Stamp Co. showed your editor a number of new things recently acquired that would add dignity and value to any collection. Two Brattleboro on the cover, two of the 5c Baltimore in the same shape, several Baltimore Carriers, including a beautiful green, a number of the rare Philadelphia Carriers, several split 12c 1851, also the only split 12c 1857 known, the 15c and 24c 1869 inverts and a host of other things too numerous to mention.

CANADA.—E. O. Sawyer, Jr., of Ottawa submits some covers for our inspection and we quote freely from his letter accompanying the same, believing the information will be of interest to the specialist in the stamps of this country:—

"It may be of interest for you to learn that among other arrangements resulting from the war Canada mails carried letters addressed to the Canada Food Board free. No frank or other designation was necessary, although some marked their letters O.H.M.S. in the corner usually occupied by the stamp. Of course many people did not realize that postage was unnecessary and so occasionally they went to the other extreme of putting a postage stamp on return frank letters sent out from the Food Board office.

Mr. Sawyer submitted three covers which illustrate the three forms of transmission referred to above, but he informs us that there are all manner of variations, such as free registered, paid registered, etc., and one envelope which he has in his collection is addressed to the "Canadian Good Controller". The frank initials H.B.T. are those of Henry B. Thomson, chairman of the Canada Food Board.

CHINA.—Mr. James N. Henry sends us a copy of a 3c stamped envelope which he advises has been in use in Canton for about two months. We note that the stamp is placed on the sheet sideways, and is printed in green on white.

HONG KONG.—Mr. James N. Henry also calls our attention to the fact that there is an error in one of the Chinese characters in the current 25c stamp of Hong Kong. It is the top character on the left hand side of this value stamp. The information he had was sent to the Governor of Hong Kong who informed Mr. Henry that it was an error and added that instructions had been given for a new plate to be prepared, but up to the time of writing the new one had not appeared.

LEEWARD ISLANDS.—Mr. J. A. Galbraith has shown us copies of the 1sh and 5sh values of a new printing and which he informs us is from Plate No. 5.

MONTSERRAT.—We have received from Frank P. Brown and J. A. Galbraith specimens of a new war stamp issued here. It consists of the 1½d orange and black surcharged in one line horizontally in the center of the stamp WAR STAMP. The overprint is in black. Mr. Galbraith says that he was informed that the postage and revenue plate Nos. 1, 2, 3, 5 were destroyed by the British Government last December. No. 4 and a new plate No. 6 are now in use to produce the stamps in question. This information will be of interest to those who are collecting plate numbers.

PALESTINE.—J. A. Galbraith sends us specimens of four new stamps consisting of 3 milliemes and 9, 10 and 20 piastres perforated. The 3m is in brown and the three piastre stamps are in olive brown, blue and gray respectively. These stamps have been heralded in the stamp press as about to be issued, but the specimens above referred to are the first we have seen.

BOSTON PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

Incorporated.

A. W. DUNNING, Pres.; R. N. HALL, Vice Pres.; F. W. STILES, 310 Warren St., Roxbury, Mass., Sec.; OSCAR HILL, 60 State St., Boston, Mass., Foreign Sec.; G. CARLTON RUSSELL, 38 Wellesley Park, Dorchester, Mass., Treas.; W. L. Aldrich, Supt. of Auctions; S. G. BIXBY, 12 Parker St., Malden, Mass., Supt. of Sales and Bourse.

March 18, 1919.

There were 37 members and guests present during the meeting of the Society this evening. Amongst others was Mr. Arthur T. Brown, whose application was read to be posted for voting at the next regular meeting. Nothing can be more pleasing to a Society than to receive an application from a former member who for some reason has decided to leave it. The regular business session having been conducted, an auction was held, after which Mr. Hurbert Lyman Clark exhibited his wonderful collection of "Blocks of Four", and President Dunning showed his "Salvador". At 10.30 p. m. both of these exhibits were still holding the attention of a large number of the members, even after the meeting had been adjourned.

Messrs. W. A. Rowell, R. M. Stone and J. Harper Blaisdell were elected to resident membership. The election of the latter is particularly gratifying, as he was formerly a member of the Society.

FREDERIC W. STILES, Sec.

OUR BOOK AGENCIES.

In addition to the list of agencies printed below we have several agents in localities where there are stamp clubs whose addresses are not kept standing in the list below. We have already mentioned F. L. Tilson of Rutherford, N. J., Aborn Stamp Co., Providence, R. I., and J. W. Rowell, Omaha, Nebr. We now have one more to add to the list—Wm. Schwarz, 422 First Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa., a leading factor in the local philatelic society. We shall be glad to have other stamp societies name representatives to handle our publications.

Our latest book, "Postage Stamps Worth Fortunes", is meeting with a ready sale and re-orders are coming in from our agents. Our next book will be Goodwin's "United States" revised and rewritten and freely illustrated. The book is now on the press and will be issued in two or three weeks.

MATSUMURO MUSHO WRITES ABOUT MATTERS PHILATELIC IN GENERAL.

Hon. Editor, The PHIZZLE.
(who are almost Human at times)
Hon. Sir;

Little Jap Boy are commencing to wonder if annual Hon. Crop of Stampy Mags. are going to be muchly as large this Hon. Year as last.

Minora Obata who are not muchly acquainted with Hon Philately make me this Hon Question ask. Why do some Hon Dealers make such shortness of speech in their Hon Stampy Auction Cats.? Why? I make asking with slight wink. Oh, say Minora Obata, I see it in one Hon. Auction Cat. Lot 384. One Doll. 90 Fish bone Can fine. are it not scandiferous he remark. Yes it are I sneerily reply.

I see it, Minora Obata say in last Hon. Yellow Peril that Hon. Roessler are going to the Hon. Mat with Hon Air Plane Mail Service. Yes I remark with slight nerve twitter, it are muchly so.

Then Minora ask it, why do Hon Roessler wish muchly to take Hon Fall out of Hon Air Plane Service? He say it, that Hon Service are muchly like Hon. Over-Ripe Henfruit. Why all this Hon. Combustion ask Minora Obata who are getting muchly excite.

Little Jap Boy no can tell if it are because he wish to make Hon. Air Service feel muchly at home, or if it are because Hon. Roessler have Hon Hot Air Service of his own.

Now ask Minora Obata, why do Hon Collectors when they find one Hon Dealer who give muchly attractive Hon. Bargains keep this Hon. Information to their most Hon. Selves? Oh, I remark with slight smile, it are nearly always so, but if Hon. Collectors get the Hon. Idea that Hon. Dealer have sting them on Hon. Probocis they are muchly sure to let out most Hon. Loud Yelp, that will cause muchly Hon. Excitement from Hon. Coast to Coast. I have noticed that say Minora Obata.

Here are some Hon. Lightweight Verse that I like muchly to write say Minora Obata, it are called Hon. Grinny Bug Smile.

There are books that make me tired
There are books that make me sad;
There are books that are wired,
There are books that make me mad.
But the books that I am using
Are the Loose-Leaf books you see,
For the books called IN-A-JIFFY
Are the approval books for Me.

If one Hon. Dose do not have desired effects, repeat without Hon. Hesitation. Banzai. Banzai.

Hoping your Hon. Flu. are Flew up the Flue.

I remain as ever,
Matsumuro Musho.

MOUNTING BOOKLETS.

By A BOOKLET FAN.

Judging by the number of times the question is put to me, it seems the problem of how to best mount Booklet leaves is one that puzzles nearly all collectors of these stamps. In giving a description of the best methods I do it not only with the idea of helping the reader, but the writer as well for to go over the same story two or three times a week via gas light and a scratchy pen, is a real job.

Of course, the plate varieties should be placed as near their original position with relation to each other as possible. The ideal layout of the album page is as follows:—

Large Plate Layout (First Issue Only)

A	B	C	D
	H	I
M	N	O	*

Small Plate Layout

A	B	C	D
E	F	G	*
		H	I

Large Plate Layout (1909 to Date)

A	B	C	D
J	K	L	H
M	N	O	I

*Extra leaf to balance page. For explanation of the symbols used above see Wiley's "U. S. Booklets".

A page at least 7½"x10" is required to space these layouts attractively. It will be noted that in every case except in that of var. H and I on the third layout, the varieties occupy their correct relative position.

Now, the average collector or even the moderate specialist will find the above arrangement suitable to his requirements. But the extreme—the "hopeless"—specialist is advised to use an album having pages measuring about four by six inches. Such an album is on the market and is especially adaptable to Booklets for a reason to appear presently. Booklet leaves are mounted therein one to a page. When this is done and the page carefully written up, the effect is perfect. Every page is unique, every leaf, stands out by itself and the only drawback I can think of is that in the case of common issues the page costs about as much as the stamps thereon! But the "hopeless" one never thinks of his stamps in terms of dollars and cents anyhow.

Most specialists desire to exhibit Booklet covers in connection with the stamps. These are stiff cardboard and it is very difficult to hinge them on an album page satisfactorily. This is where the little album comes in strong. I take pages which have been spoiled in lettering—and I have lots of them because I do my own illuminating. I cut the paper away from the linen stub, leaving only a strip about 1¾" high and about 2 inches long. This strip is located somewhat above the center of the stub. I take my covers and staple them onto this strip, using the original wire staples and placing the strip between the covers. This produces a strong, flexible mounting and enables us to examine the back cover as easily as the front. This method is even more useful in mounting entire booklets. I defy anyone to improve upon it.

A blank page is always placed after the cover or book and on this page I place my descriptions. Might add that placing two or three covers or books on each binding strip will cause the album to fill up more evenly than if only one is mounted.

Nothing has been said about the large War leaves. A baby album is obviously impossible here and only in an unusually large album can these giants be spread out luxuriantly.

DON'T HESITATE

Don't hesitate to send me a selection of your duplicates. I can use many varieties of both U. S. postage and revenues. Good condition and a fair price is all that is necessary.

All postage will be paid with either the New Victory Stamp or the new 13c.

NASSAU STAMP CO.
116 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK, N. Y.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

S

S.—(I) This letter, sometimes in conjunction with a crescent and star, is found overprinted upon certain stamps of the Straits Settlements for use in the protected state of Selangor.

(II) An overprint found upon certain South Australian stamps used between 1868 and 1874, upon the correspondence of the Sheriff for the colony. These stamps were superseded in 1874 by the general issue overprinted "O.S." for use in all government departments.

S.A.—(I) These letters surmounted by a crown form the watermark in most South Australian stamps issued between 1868 and 1906.

(II) Most of the stamps used on official correspondence in South Australia between 1900 and 1913 were punctured with the letters "SA" and thus replaced the stamps overprinted "OS".

SACHSEN.—The German equivalent of Saxony as shown upon all the stamps for that state.

SAFETY PAPER.—These are special papers, the nature of which was that any attempt at removing the obliterating ink would probably also remove the impression of the stamp or change the color of the paper.

SAGE, J. A.—A designer in a Parisian painted glass factory who submitted the design chosen for the French stamps of 1876. His name is shown in tiny letters at the foot of each stamp of this issue.

ST. ANDREW'S CROSS.—The first two issues for Austria and Austrian Italy were printed in sheets of sixty stamps, but as the formé in which the matrices were clamped was only adapted to eight rows of eight, four blocks were added to the lower row, which bore a St. Andrew's Cross in relief. In more modern stamps similar varieties may be found in connection with the booklet stamps of Great Britain and Bavaria.

ST. ANTHONY ISSUE.—A set of pictorial stamps issued in Portugal in 1895 to commemorate the 700th anniversary of the birth of St. Anthony of Padua.

ST. CHRISTOPHER.—One of the Leeward group of West Indian islands. Postage stamps were first issued in 1870 and they were superseded in 1890 by the general issue for the whole of the Leeward Islands.

ST. HELENA.—A lonely island in mid-Atlantic belonging to Great Britain. Postage stamps were first issued in 1856.

ST. KITTS-NEVIS.—One of the Presidencies of the Leeward Islands formed by St. Christopher, Nevis and Aguilla. St. Christopher and Nevis at one time had their own individual postage stamps until they were superseded in 1890 by the general set for the Leeward Islands. In 1903 the Presidency decided to again have its own distinctive stamps, and these bear the inscription "St. Kitts-Nevis."

ST. LOUIS.—This city is philatelically famous on account of the "postmasters' stamps" issued there in 1845 which anticipated the general issue for the United States by two years.

ST. LUCIA.—The largest of the Windward Islands in the West Indies. Postage stamps were first issued in 1860.

ST. MARIE DE MADAGASCAR.—A small island off the west coast of Madagascar which issued its own special stamps in 1894. These were superseded two years later by the general set for Madagascar and its dependencies.

ST. PIERRE AND MIQUELON.—Two small islands off Newfoundland which form the only remaining French colony in North America. Their area is 78 square miles and they have a population of about 7000. Postage stamps were first issued in 1885.

ST. THOMAS AND PRINCE.—Two small islands in the Gulf of Guinea, east Africa, belonging to Portugal. Their combined area is about 400 square miles and their population exceeds 40,000. Postage stamps were first issued in 1869.

ST. VINCENT.—A British island in the West Indies having an area of 132 square miles and a population of nearly 50,000. Postage stamps were first issued in May, 1861.

SALEM.—A small town in Virginia. In 1861 its then postmaster issued a special 5c stamp. These stamps were in use but a short while when they were replaced by the general issue for the Confederate States.

SALISBURY.—A town in North Carolina at which special 5c envelopes are said to have been issued prior to the appearance of the regular stamp for the Confederate States.

SALONICA.—An ancient and important town in European Turkey at which numerous special stamps have been issued by Turkey of recent years and also by the Italian and Russian authorities in connection with their consular post offices.

SALONICCO.—The Italian rendering of Salonica as shown overprinted upon the stamps issued for use at the consular post office there.

SALONIQUE.—The French form of Salonica as overprinted on the Russian stamps issued at the Russian office maintained in that city.

SALUNG.—The value in which one of the stamps of the 1883 issue of Siam is expressed. A salung was the quarter of a tical and had a value of about 8c in American money.

SALUS POPULI SUPREMA LEX ESTO.—The Latin motto shown upon the Postmasters' stamps of St. Louis. It is the motto of the State of Missouri and means "Let the people's safety be the supreme law."

SALVADOR.—The smallest, but by far the most thickly populated of the Central American republics. It has been an independent republic since 1850 and issued its first postage stamps in 1867.

SAMOA.—The Samoa or Navigator's Islands are a group in the western Pacific comprising nine islands and numerous rocks and islets. In 1899 Upom and Savaii were taken by Germany and the rest of the group by the United States. Postage stamps were first issued by the Samoan government in 1877, but since the partition of 1899, ordinary United States stamps have been used in those islands belonging to Uncle Sam. In the two other islands the usual stamps of the German colonial type were issued until they surrendered to the New Zealand Expeditionary force on August 29th, 1914. The captured German stamps were suitably overprinted with "G. R. I." and values in English currency and the permanent issue now in use consists of the contemporary stamps of New Zealand overprinted "SAMOA".

SAMOS.—An island off the west coast of Asia Minor. It has a long and eventful history and after belonging to Turkey for many years, was occupied by the Greeks in 1912 and in that and succeeding years several special series of stamps have been issued.

SANAR.—The value shown upon some of the stamps of Afghanistan. A sanar was the sixth part of a rupee and was worth about 6c in American money.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.—(See Hawaiian Islands.)

SAN MARINO.—An Italian republic and the smallest independent state in Europe. Its total area is only 33 square miles, while it has a population slightly in excess of 11,000. Postage stamps were first issued in 1877.

SANS-SERIF TYPE.—A variety of printers' type often used in surcharging. Stamp collectors usually describe any upright capital letters without serifs as sans-serif type though this definition would probably rarely meet with the approval of a practical printer. The following word is in sans-serif letters:—POSTAGE.

SAGGIO.—This word is occasionally found overprinted on regularly issued Italian postage stamps as is the equivalent of "specimen" though a more correct definition of the word is "essay" or "proof".

SAMPLE.—This word is occasionally printed on stamps intended for specimen purposes instead of the more usual "specimen".

SANTANDER.—A department of the republic of Colombia. It issued its first postage stamps in 1884.

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA

WASHINGTON PARK STAMP CLUB.

There is a lively stamp club in the south side district of Chicago composed of young collectors, with the exception of its president, George Soulman, who through his interest in boy collectors, organized the society whose meetings are held at his home. Clean hands are a requisite for membership in the club, whose meetings are interesting, indeed. Here, the young philatelic idea is taught to shoot in the right direction.

SARAWAK.—A state occupying the north-west portion of the island of Borneo which has, since 1888, been a British protectorate. Postage stamps were first issued in 1869.

SARDINIA.—An island of Italy. Postage stamps were first issued in 1851 and from 1859 until 1862 the issues used in those states and parts of Italy which from time to time during that period were united with the kingdom of Sardinia until they were ultimately replaced by the stamps for the newly formed kingdom of Italy in 1862.

SARMIENTO.—A special stamp issued in the Argentine Republic on May 15th, 1911, to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the birth of President Sarmiento.

SATANG.—The value in which most of the stamps of Siam have been expressed since August, 1909. A Satang is the Siamese equivalent of "cent" and three of them are worth about 1c in American money.

SAUL, SOLOMON & CO.—A Cape Town firm of printers who are philatelically famous as the manufacturers of the well-known "wood-block" stamps of the Cape of Good Hope.

SAXONY.—A kingdom of Germany. Postage stamps were first issued in 1850 and in 1868 its separate series was superseded by the stamps of the North German Confederation.

SAW-TOOTH ROULETTE.—A form of rouletting which shows the edges of the stamps like the edge of a saw. It is more usually described by its French equivalent—percé en scie.

S. C.—An overprint found on certain South Australian stamps used during the period 1868-74 upon the correspondence of the Supreme Court. They were suppressed in 1874 in favor of the general issue, overprinted "O S", for all departmental correspondence.

SCALLOP ROULETTE. — In this form of rouletting the cuts are curved, and the edges show little hollows or scallops. It is more often described by its French equivalent—percé en arc.

SCARPANTO. — A mountainous island in the Aegean Sea which has been under Italian dominion since 1913 and for which contemporary stamps of Italy have been issued specially overprinted "Scarpanto".

A BRATTLEBORO

For sale, a copy of this rare stamp. This particular specimen was found many years ago by a collector in whose possession it has remained ever since. It comes on the market now for the first time. It is of fine color, and while not perfect (the design being slightly impinged upon at the upper right corner), it is nevertheless a good copy of this interesting stamp.

EDITORIAL.

Rising—The philatelic tide is rising, even though we thought that a high-water mark had already been reached. We are living in the year of philatelic wonders and while we are not to embark on any lengthy voyage of verbal speculation to account for the existing circumstances, we cannot close our eyes to the swelling wave of philatelic enthusiasm. Intimations come from so many and scattered areas of the bounding strides of our pursuit that we must realize that the extraordinary has come to pass. The demand for good stamps is insatiate and the result is that prices of a few months past are obsolete. Eager recruits are amassing the ordinary stamps and in all divisions the demand for stamps is swelling. We have ideas to account for this great advance in philately that we have dwelled upon recently; and we have the satisfaction of knowing that our most sanguine expectations have been discounted.

Received—In connection with the foregoing paragraph, we have received an unusual letter from one of the oldest philatelists in this country, whose service in the cause of philately has spanned decades. He has seen periods of boom and of reaction, in stamps, as well as in other lines; and we feel that any views that he offers are not to be attributed to temperament or bias of any kind. This is what he says: "I believe that collecting has entered upon its golden days and that an era of simplicity in recreation is coming when stamps will be pre-eminent as the pursuit that will give comfort to the millions who have been harassed by war. The recoil from turmoil to peace will emphasize the pleasures to be derived from the study of stamps and for the first time in all my career, I admit from indications throughout the country that to my mind are undeniable that stamp collecting has reached its manhood!" This prediction is a pleasing one that seems to be fundamentally sound, if we are expected to make any comment on it.

Result—A correspondent wrote us recently about an official envelope of the Department of State, Sacramento, Cal., that had been sent through the mail in the year 1859, from Sacramento to Cincinnati. We were interested in this seeming state use of the postal frank but an inspection of the envelope which has been sent on for inspection shows that the envelope is stampless because it was not forwarded by mail but by express.

Postal—From Mrs. R. B. Hays, we have received some interesting bits of postal lore, for which we are pleased to find accommodations: "In a copy of the Federal Scout Vol. I, No. 1, published in Columbus, Kentucky, by the Second Illinois Cavalry, Tuesday, March 11, 1862, after their occupation of Columbus on March 3rd, appears an item: 'A postal agent is at Nashville from Washington. He will open the post office tomorrow. He already has had fifty citizens applying for clerkships in it.'" This somewhat unanimous desire of the citizens to bleed for their country via the office indicated may have been occasioned by the fact that employees of the postal service were exempt from the draft. Artemas Ward told how the mail coach arrived at his village, accompanied by a band of horsemen, comprising prominent citizens of the county, each one of whom carried a letter in his hand. Another item is: "Though the overland mail route is a new one and has first been put to test this winter, yet up to Dec. 31st, there was but one failure of the mail to arrive on schedule time." The overland mail at the time was a new venture that excited national pride and ran from St. Joseph, Mo., to Sacramento, Cal. We should say that a regimental paper, which, necessarily was of limited circulation is something of a curiosity today.

Poetical—Here is another newspaper clipping that comes to us: "In an old paper, the Logan Gazette, Bellefontaine, Ohio, September 23, 1843, appears this item, showing that even years ago, people were apt to write more than plain addresses on the envelopes,—'The following is an endorsement on a letter from Indiana to Mr. Winne of Uniontown, Pa.:

'John Tyler's subs, please set me down
In Pennsylvania, Uniontown;
If I escape the Tyler Grippes,
N. M. Winne will pay 'three fips'."

The "grippe of influenza" was on a rampage even at this time and as for the three "fips" we cannot say, off-hand, just of what value this small silver piece was although a fip was the popular term for one of the divisions of the dollar.

Pioneer—While delving into the past, we must mention the receipt from Mr. Geo. L. Baldwin of Sioux City, Iowa, of an unusually interesting article that appeared March, 1871. Mr. Baldwin writes: "In a copy of The American Odd Fellow which recently fell into my hands, I found an account of the establishment and further history of Hale's Independent Mail, the issues of the locals being listed in the local catalogue and believing that it might be of interest to you, inasmuch as it was written by the founder of the venture, I am enclosing it. I am also enclosing a second clipping, which shows that at the time this article was written, Mr. Hale was living in New York and acting as Commissioner of Deeds for several states." The following foreword appears under the head, "History of Cheap Postage," by James W. Hale: "Probably there are few readers of the American Odd Fellow, or, indeed, of any other journal, who are perfectly conversant with the subject of postage in this country, as it was many years ago; and not one in a hundred who opens his letters in the morning from correspondents near and far, ever even thinks how the light green portrait of Washington, upon a bit of gummed and punctured paper, became the proof of postage prepaid. As this subject has never been brought before the public in any sort of historical connection, we have prevailed upon Bro. James W. Hale, Past Grand Representative, to furnish us with the accompanying original article bearing upon a theme of interest to every letter-writer in the land.—Eds. A. O. F." Well done, eds; and we like your finishing touch,—"a theme of interest to every letter-writer in the land." In view of the fact that stamps themselves are mentioned in the article and other interesting references are made to the origin, progress and suppression of the local posts, we, in all probability, shall publish this really valuable contribution in our columns in a short time.

Remarked—Writing from Edinburgh, Mr. N. M. Gordan says: "A catalogue of war stamps, under Canada, omits one of the most interesting stamps, viz., the one cent revenue tax stamp (oblong) postally used, which I have seen in distinctly orange and distinctly yellow shades, fiscally used, and wonder if any of your readers have remarked this difference in postally used copies." Mr. Gordon is a student of the stamps of Canada in particular and he says that Mr. Howe's elaborate book on the stamps of Canada has sold well and he thinks that with Mr. Poole's book on Canada stocked in Great Britain, there will be a brisk demand for it.

MICHIGAN STAMP CLUB BANQUET.

We are indebted to Karl Koslowski for an account of the annual banquet of the Michigan Stamp Club, formerly known as the Collectors' Philatelic Society of Detroit. The banquet was held March 15 at the recently opened Fort Shelby Hotel. Twenty-seven members and their friends were seated at the tables and the occasion was greatly enjoyed. It was particularly noteworthy from the fact that two of the members of the Club have just arrived home from service abroad, and Mr. Koslowski states that there are four more overseas.

Mr. Brisley was the toastmaster, and with timely remarks introduced the various speakers. An original poem was read by C. H. Holden entitled "The Bugs are Marching On" with special reference to Col. Babcock who has just arrived home. In replying to the sentiments expressed in the poem Col. W. L. Babcock took the members for an hour over broad fields and narrow strips of land, not neglecting the quest of things philatelic at the stamp bourse and stamp shops of Paris. Some of the trophies were exhibited, the beautiful copy of U. S. 90c, 1869, on cover being admired by all. It would have found a ready buyer even at double catalog.

A large name plate of the Michigan Stamp Club 14x18 inches and very artistically made up of pieces of the present 1c, 2c and 3c stamps was presented to the club by Mr. John Pameller, now leaving Detroit for the west. The name "Michigan Stamp Club" is in two inches tall Gothic letters made up from the stamps in question and surrounded by various designs consisting of forty-eight center vignettes of the present series of Washington heads and other stamps.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We are informed that the Philatelic Monthly will appear Sept. 1 from Baltimore, Md. It will consist of from sixteen to twenty pages and Orville L. W. Crowder will be the editor.

—We are very glad to introduce to our readers this week one who is well and favorably known to the philatelists of New York and Providence. We refer to Samuel E. Simmons, whose advertisements will be found regularly on page 3 for several months. Mr. Simmons' activities in philately are many and we hope that in the new role as a patron of our advertising columns he will be eminently successful. We give him a hearty welcome to our columns and the very best of a recommendation to our many readers.

—Elsewhere in this issue is the attractive advertisement of Bowie & Son, Edgware, England. This firm is new to our columns, but not new to the British trade and press. This copy reached us too late for our Allied Special so we are running it this week in keeping with instructions received from the firm. Bowie & Son are import and export stamp merchants and as well proprietors of a thriving new issue service. We hope to have the firm with us regularly.

—Our readers have shown much interest in the Slovak League label featured March 8. Among others who have written us is John N. Luff who writes:—"The article states that the drawing for the stamp was made in Prague and gives us the impression that the stamp was printed there also. The stamp bears, however, the imprint of the American Bank Note Co. and was doubtless engraved and printed by that firm. In the last paragraph, Mr. Jessop speaks of it as a 'stamp born of this great world conflict'. This is not correct. I have had a copy of the stamp for many years, given me by the late H. G. Mandel."

CANADA NOS. 301-3.

By JOHN N. LUFF.

In the WEEKLY for March 22nd, I find an article which interests me, viz.: "Canada Nos. 301-303." With the understanding that these were revenue stamps and not available for postage they were not listed in the 1917 edition of the Scott catalogue (which went to press about July 1st, 1916). Sometime between July, 1916, and July, 1918, MEKEEL'S WEEKLY published the authority for the postal use of these stamps, possibly about the date of the official circular quoted by Bright, Apl 16, 1916, and they were then added to the Scott catalogue.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Derek Ingram has given a valuable contribution to philatelic literature in his "Postage Stamps of the Red Cross" just issued from the office of Stamp Collecting, 89 Farringdon St., London, England. The book is published at 50c. Mr. Ingram has covered the wide range of Red Cross stamps in an excellent manner and the data regarding the various charity issues is detailed and official. We know of no book yet issued that covers so thoroughly these issues. A valuable feature of the publication is the fact that in many instances Mr. Ingram is able to give the number issued. The book is freely illustrated and is a very useful and creditable production.

"Notes on Controls" is the title of another Stamp Collecting handbook. It is a revision of an earlier book published by this firm dealing with the stamps of both the Edwardian and Georgian period. The book is the product of R. B. Rowell and to the specialist in British stamps it will prove of great value. Price 25c, and obtainable from 89 Farringdon St., London.

BENT & LEA.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This was one of the last match stamps engraved by Jos. R. Carpenter. The firm was composed of Chas. P. Bent and James H. Lea and did business at 413 E. Front St., Wilmington, Delaware, while it lasted. The firm and both members are listed in the Wilmington directory for 1870-71, but in the next directory—1871-72—the firm is missing and in the 1873-74 directory Mr. Lea has also gone. Regarding the Bent & Lea stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, July 22, 1870
First issued, August, 1870
Last issued, April 18, 1871
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15)
293-925 issued, all printed by Jos. R. Carpenter in black.

"Under date of Nov. 8, 1871, we find a letter from one Thomas Darlington to Mr. Carpenter, as follows: 'Wilmington, Del.—Your favor of the 7th inst. at hand. I would be glad if you could sell the die at the price you mentioned, or at any other price you can get for it, so as to enable me to settle up the business of the late firm'."

The stamp is odd rather than beautiful. In the center is a circular disk bearing an arm with hand grasping a lighted torch across which appears the word EUREKA. Other inscriptions appear above and below the disk and the full legend reads, BENT & LEA'S—EUREKA — PARLOR MATCHES — WILMINGTON, DEL. The numeral "1" appears four times, twice at each side.

Probably the Bent & Lea is the scarcest match stamp priced at less than 50c in the current catalog. The silk paper variety cataloged is not the regular silk paper of the second issue but is the experimental silk paper of the first issue. No printing of this stamp was made after the regular silk paper came into use. Likely enough a large proportion, if not all of these stamps are on the "ex" silk paper but only a few of them show the tiny silk fibres. If the catalogs carried an "X" and a reference that "X" meant "ex" silk after the prices for "silk" paper stamps that are experimental silks much unnecessary time and effort would be spared those collectors who try to obtain such M & M stamps as the Bent & Lea on regular silk paper. Surely there can be no harm in admitting that "there ain't no such animal."

The Eureka has acquired considerable fame of a certain kind for it usually comes in notoriously poor condition. A copy in fine condition is to be prized highly whether it contains invisible silk or not.

OUR BOOK AGENCIES.

Our latest book, "Postage Stamps Worth Fortunes", is meeting with a ready sale and re-orders are coming in from our agents. Our next book will be Goodwin's "United States" revised and rewritten and freely illustrated. The book is now on the press and will be issued in two or three weeks.

MATCHES, MEDICINE, Perfumery and Playing Cards

Probably 90% of the best M. & M. collections in the good old U. S. A. today have been built up through my assistance. I admit it. The reason is simple—for years I have made a specialty of the varieties that are missing in most collections. My prices for these stamps are based upon their scarcity and not upon published quotations of firms who cannot supply the stamps at the prices which they quote. I have stamps for sale—not meaningless quotations.

Cute little selections of M. & M. and other U. S. revenues and postage ($10 to $1,000 net), submitted to responsible collectors.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our chronicle of last week we mentioned the error envelope which had just been located, namely the 3c Die A on white in the color of the 2c. I am now informed by Mr. J. M. Bartels that this envelope is somewhat scarcer than we had at first thought and that only one hundred sixty-two in all were found. He explains that these three cent varieties appeared in packages of 25 alternately with the 2c in exactly the same shade and impression. This certainly is a companion error with the famous 5c and will without doubt be eagerly sought after. It may be of further interest to mention that this find was made in New York.

The Economist Bulletin for March advises that they have located the current 40c Documentary, printed double. This is the second of the series to be found in this way, the 1c having been previously chronicled. Mr. P. M. Mann informs us that a collector has shown him a copy of the same stamp in a used condition.

Mr. A. S. Davenport informs us that he has seen a block of four of the Wine stamp series of 1916, $2.00 green. It will be recalled that this value has not been known heretofore and we suppose that the older issue of the $2.00 has been used in its place. We have not seen this variety but as Mr. Davenport is a specialist in the Revenue Stamps of our Country he without doubt knows what he is talking about. This stamp, if Mr. Davenport is so fortunate as to secure one of the copies which he mentions were on the "original cover," not mentioning however, whether on glass or wood, will be listed as Scott's No. 4215.

We had the pleasure of incidentally mentioning several weeks back that a 90c of the issue of 1869 had been found upon the original cover. The fortunate finder, Col. Warren L. Babcock, has since returned from France, where he located this curiosity and has been so good as to send it to your Editor for inspection. This stamp on cover has not been known heretofore and under such conditions is certainly well worthy of mention in detail. The stamp which is centered to the left is upon the upper right hand corner of a small envelope measuring 5 7/16" long and 3 1/32" wide. The stamp is cancelled with the usual smear somewhat resembling a star. Two points of the star extend on to the envelope, one at the left and one at the bottom. This cancellation is in a red brown, similar to two postmarks upon the cover, one of these being a round concentric circle postmark dated "Providence, R. I. Sep . 8", the other mark being nearer the stamp and consists of the word "PAID" horizontally in large capital letters enclosed in a circle. The cover is from the Secretary's office of the State of Rhode Island and is addressed to a banker located at Chalon sur Saone, France. On the face of the cover we also find three other postmarks, one being the well known "PD" enclosed within a small rectangle rounded at the corners, the second the New York paid cancellation, reading within a circle "PAID—New York—12—Sep. 9" The third postmark which is the Steamship mark reads "Serviam Et. Unis & Calais —1e/20 SEPT. 69". On the back we find two cancellations in black consisting of concentric circles one reading "PARIS & LYON—20—Sept.—69". The second "CHALON. S. SAONE—21 Sept. 69—(70)". We should have mentioned that the New York paid cancellation was in red, the steamship cancellation in blue and the "PD" in brown. The stamp has been examined by a number of experts and the question has arisen as to why there should be a 90c stamp on such a small cover. This might be answered by stating that a few gold coins could have easily made up the rate. This very interesting cover will without doubt find a resting place in Col. Babcock's wonderful collection and we wish to congratulate him upon his find.

We also wish to thank Messrs. John Rausch, Leon E. Gibson, L. C. Ernst, L. D. Peaslee, A. B. Berresford and A. C. Reukauff for notes concerning our stamps.

Some months ago we published a description of several varieties of surcharged playing cards and from time to time other items have appeared dealing with these stamps. Edgar McCrillis of Providence, R. I., sends in a list of ten varieties and thanking him for the favor, we think it advisable to list them as described:—

Dark blue	(10)

AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH. — Mr. Herbert W. Henbest, writing from Rochester, reports receipt of a provisional—"Three Halfpence" on One Penny—but as this does not refer to an adhesive we need not describe it in detail; the novelty is the current letter-card, surcharged in this way.—Stamp Collecting.

BAHAMAS.—Frank P. Brown and Eugene Klein have shown us a new issue just received. The 3d Staircase stamp has been printed in brown and black and it has also been overprinted WAR TAX with the same type as the last London Print.

Whitfield King's Monthly List says:—"We have received a consignment of the 'War Charity' stamps, some of which were in sheets of 60 and some in half sheets of 30. Amongst the latter we found one half sheet with a clear and distinct double overprint. It is certainly not a "double strike," as the relative positions of the two overprints vary in different parts of the sheet. The overprinting was done in London, which makes the variety extremely interesting, as such errors in Messrs. De La Rue and Co.'s printing are of very rare occurrence."

BOLIVIA.—Mr. Fred L. Onken has shown us three values of a new issue for this country. They are the 10c red, 20c blue and 24c purple. The "Correos de BOLIVIA" is at the top of the stamp in two lines a cluster of flags within a large circle is in the centre and the numerals on each side at the bottom with the words of the value between.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—We have just received a lot of the new ½d War Stamps and note they are printed on a paper of a very light rose tinge.

DENMARK.—The current 3 ore grey and 7 ore orange stamps have been issued in rolls of 500 for automatic machines. Both values are printed on the same roll, alternately.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Monthly List.

charges being at the foot of the stamps, all of which are imperforate copies of the Arms type. We should be glad to hear from any reader who may be in a position to define their status.—Stamp Collecting.

ST. VINCENT.—Mr. Chas. R. Smith, of Beeston, Leeds, writes, apropos of the "hair line" variety described in our issue for February 15, that he has the same variety on the London overprint, and kindly sends us a drawing, showing that the position in the sheet, of the variety in his possession, corresponds with that described by Mr. Johnson. Mr. H. Glover has also drawn our attention to the same variety on the stamps of the original London overprint, which is on thicker paper than that used for the stamps locally surcharged.

On looking into the matter, we find that this "hair line" variety was reported by us so long ago as December 29, 1917, when we remarked that the correspondent who had shown it to us obtained it in the ordinary way through one of the leading New Issue Agencies advertised in our columns.—Stamp Collecting.

SIAM.—We recently chronicled five values of the current issue surcharged Victory. We are informed by Morris Judas of N. Y. City that the 1 baht value has been similarly surcharged. Probably other high values will come along.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Mr. Fred L. Onken has shown us copies of the 1c black and the 4c red current type stamps which were mentioned in issue 1431 as being in preparation.

TURKS & CAICOS ISLANDS.—The stock of 3d War Tax stamps having become exhausted, a limited number of 3d stamps were locally overprinted WAR TAX pending the arrival of a fresh supply from London. This new local overprint is of the same type as the first issue, but is in red instead of black. —Whitfield King & Co.'s Monthly List.

THE NATIVE MALAY STATES.

The Malay Peninsula is a region full of interest for the scientist, and many a philatelist finds added attractions in the stamp line. The typical colonial issues of the Straits Settlements we will pass by on this occasion, and instead take up some of the protected native states which have been less noticed. It might be said, however, that the "Straits Settlements", lying along the Malacca Strait, include Malacca, the two islands of Singapore and Penang, and Province Wellesley on the mainland, together with the "Dindings." The capital is, of course, Singapore, and the Governor is High Commissioner for the Federated Malay States.

The old Malay Empire of Malacca was destroyed by the Portuguese in 1511, and the Sultan, Mohammed Shah II, fled southward and established a new state which was named Johore. He located his capital, Johore Bahru, on the strait which separates the island of Singapore from the mainland, and in 1819 this island was sold to the British. The government of Johore has been so comparatively free of abuses that the neighboring British have not interfered with its local government, but treat it as an independent state under their protection, which simply means that the control of its foreign affairs was placed in British hands by treaty in 1885. The surcharging of Straits Settlements stamps for use in Johore, however, began in July, 1884, but evidently only for local postage and exchange with the Straits Settlements, as the 2 cents value was the only one issued from that time until 1892, when a full-fledged set for postage and revenue purposes appeared with the portrait of the then Sultan Abu Bakar, a man of exceptional intelligence and quite popular with the British.

Abu Bakar died while on a visit to London in June, 1895, and was succeeded by his son Ibrahim, the present Sultan, who was crowned on March 16, 1896. As the new set bearing his portrait was not then ready, the current stamps with his father's portrait were surcharged KEMAHKOTAAN,.. or CORONATION in Malay, to celebrate the event. Ibrahim's stamps appeared on August 26th following, and in 1904 were changed to present a new portrait of His Highness. It is curious that although the inscription "Johore Postage and Revenue" appears in English and Malay on the stamps, the values are all expressed in English and Chinese—but we all know that the Chinaman is the merchant of the Far East.

Johore has an area of 7,500 square miles, with a population of 180,000, and its postal revenue for 1916 is given as $30,604 local currency, being about $17,352 in American gold.

With regard to the other States of the peninsula under British protection, the story is somewhat different. Like Johore, they were formed after the overthrow of the Empire of Malacca by the Portuguese, but troubles were constantly brewing. Sir Andrew Clarke, then Governor of the Straits Settlements, Severn-Wylie-Jewett Co., Portland, Me. Beverly, Mass.

tells the story briefly as follows: "The internal troubles of the Peninsula reached a crisis in 1872, when, in addition to the squabbles of the Malay chieftains, the Chinese miners in Larut divided themselves into two camps and carried on organized warfare, involving much bloodshed. The defeated party betook itself to piracy, and the coast was virtually in a state of blockade. The coasting trade was everywhere stopped, and even the fishermen were afraid to put to sea. As the Chief Justice of the Straits said: 'These outrages and piracies have been a scandal to the British name, happening, as they have, at so small a distance from our shores.'

"Arrangements were made for a meeting of the Perak chiefs, and a series of articles were laid before them, which, after a full explanation, were unanimously accepted. The articles stipulated for the appointment of British Residents at Perak and Larut, under whose advice the general administration and the collection of revenue was to be carried on. After some little difficulty I succeeded in obtaining an interview with the Sultan of Selangore and concluding a similar arrangement with him, while a small naval force proceeded up the Lingie and destroyed, without opposition, some stockades, with the result that similar measures of pacification became practicable in Sungei Ujong."

Thus we have the beginning of British domination in the native Rajaships. As one writer expresses it: "It is very simple: the majority of the old native sovereigns have not only been preserved, but have received higher titles and a more complete confirmation of their hereditary rights. By their side are placed Residents, charged with 'advising' them, to use the official term, but who, in reality administer the country." We trust the foregoing will give a new insight, perhaps, into the reasons and methods of British "protection" of the native Malay States which our readers may not have clearly understood before. These Residents, with their staffs of European officers, were appointed in 1874.

Of course the post office became one of the improvements following British administration, but not until four years had elapsed were stamps of a distinctive type employed. In 1878 the three States were supplied with the 2 cents Straits Settlements stamps surcharged with an oval containing a star and crescent (their religion is Mohammedan) with the initials of the State beneath—P, S or S U. These were soon superseded, however, by printing the name of the State in most cases, as the Straits post office so well knew how to do in all sorts of varieties. As with Johore, the usual 2 cents value was the only one employed, except that Sungei Ujong for some reason used a few 4, 8 and 10 cent stamps. In 1886 Perak, the most important State, surcharged for 1 cent stamps, which must have been due to some local rate, as the Straits Settlements themselves did not seem to need a 1 cent stamp until 1892. Perak also issued official stamps from 1890, a thing that none of the other States seemed to feel necessary.

Two more States subsequently were brought under similar control to the three we have been considering. Negri Sembilan was a relatively small territory east of Sungei Ujong. Its name means the "Nine States," and it was formerly a confederation of that number but had been broken up. In 1887 the Straits Government sent a Commissioner to the territory, who succeeded in reviving the old federal system and placing over the resuscitated state a British Resident. The usual surcharged 2 cents stamp did not appear until 1891, however.

The other State, Pahang, a large territory on the east side of the Peninsula, had been kept clear of the British as long as possible by its Sultan, who was jealous of his independence. But he finally consented, in October, 1887, to have a consular agent of the Straits Government at his Court, and his foreign relations were taken over. A year later a Resident was appointed, and Pahang was within the fold. Surcharged stamps appeared in 1890, and included the 8 and 10 cents, as well as the usual 2 cents of the Straits Settlements.

In 1892 the surcharging appeared to be over for a neat design, showing a tiger springing from the jungle, was adopted for the protected States, with the respective names printed in in each case. In 1895 a new design was issued for combined postage and revenue purposes, and though still characteristic the large tiger head is hardly as pleasing as the previous picture.

In January, 1895, Negri Sembilan and Sungei Ujong were placed under one Resident, and in July of the same year the two States were consolidated under the name of the former. This explains why the new tiger head design of 1895 never got beyond the one value of 3 cents for local letter postage for the State of Sungei Ujong.

Perak and Selangor were favored with imposing dollar stamps in connection with the 1895 issue, which presents a group of four elephants, one being a baby evidently accompanying its mother. These are supposed to be three of the state elephants of the Sultan of Perak, who had fifty among his "regalia" when his State was taken under British protection.

In order to simplify matters and work more harmoniously, a treaty was entered into on July 1, 1896, between Perak, Selangor, Negri Sembilan and Pahang on one side and the British Government on the other, whereby the four states formed an administrative federation under the name of the Federated Malay States, with one Resident-General as supervisor of the local Residents. This event was celebrated by a Federal durbar, or State levee, held at Kwala Kangsar, Perak, in 1897.

This federation probably explains why Pahang never got beyond the 3, 4 and 5 cents of its own in the tiger head design of 1895, but borrowed the higher values of Perak and surcharged them, while awaiting a Federal issue. The Federal issue started by surcharging Negri Sembilan and Perak stamps with the new name in 1900, but the regular stamps appeared in 1901, the dollar values retaining the group of elephants design, but the low values showing a characteristic picture of a tiger springing forth from his lair in the jungle.

Besides Johore there are four other Malay States under British protection. A treaty with Siam for modification of British extra-territorial rights and for the cession of the Siamese tributary states of Kelantan, Trengganu, Kedah and Perlis, to Great Britain, was signed at Bangkok on March 10, 1909. The area of the new states is some 16,000 square miles, with a population of over 700,000. Perlis is a very small territory and has issued no stamps, but the other three States have favored us. Kedah has a very pretty pictorial set, the lowest values showing a bunch of green rice or "paddy," this being the principal product of North Kedah. The "dime" values show a native ploughing with a pair of bullocks, and the dollar values a picture of the Council Chamber at Alor Star, the capital. Kelantan gives us apparently a coat-of-arms or State device on its issue, and Trengganu a portrait of His Highness Sultan Zainal-Abiden. These States, of course, used Siamese stamps previous to their transfer to Great Britain, and used the Federated Malay States stamps afterward until their own issues took place. Those interested can therefore amuse themselves by looking for postmarks on Siam and Federated Malay States stamps if they so desire.—New England Stamp Monthly.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Most interesting news has been received from a Washington correspondent informing us that the Bureau has recently made seven plates of 1600 subjects each. No information has been given as to how these plates are arranged but we hope to be able to give further details later. The plates are designed for the surface printed stamps four of them being of the 3c value, having plate numbers 9736, 9914, 9915 and 9948, and three of them are of the 1c denomination with plate numbers 9971, 9993 and 9994. Off hand we cannot see how they are going to cut these sheets into panes of one hundred and pack them into the same size packages without trimming the margins. These plates certainly come as a surprise to us, unheralded, and as mentioned above we can give absolutely no further details until we have had time to communicate with the Bureau. We also learn from the same correspondent that plates of one hundred and fifty subjects for the 3c coil stamps have been made up, without doubt from Die II, and this means that there will shortly appear the 3c endwise coil perforated horizontally of this second type. The first plate to be made for this stamp bears number 9195.

Mr. P. M. Mann has shown us an entire pane from the upper lefthand corner of sheet No. 8320 of the three cent type II perforated 11 on unwatermarked paper wherein the space between the upper margin and the first row of stamps is without perforations. This is what might be called imperforated at top. The variety is without doubt caused by one wheel of the perforating machine being out of place and differs from those which we formerly designated as "Camouflaged" in that the former showed traces of the perforating wheel whereas this shows no traces whatsoever. We have been advised that thirty-five panes in all were found. Mr. B. K. Miller also kindly writes us in regard to this variety.

Some weeks back we chronicled the War Saving Stamp, issue of 1918, imperforated horizontally. At that time, we could not state whether it was perforated or rouletted vertically. We have just had the pleasure of inspecting the left arrow pair and would advise that these stamps are perforated 11 on the sides and imperforated at top and bottom.

Mr. Roy S. Barker advises that he has located two sheets from the lower left pane of the 3c surface print type IV bearing plate numbers 9581 and 9586, each hand stamped on the face "Surface Division—All Subjects missing from this sheet have been properly accounted for." We described in our issue of March 22nd a portion of a sheet of the 9c similarly marked. As there were no subjects missing from the two panes owned by Mr. Barker we assume that this overprint was simply placed upon the stamps due to the fact that they were of a blurred pale print and this was an indication to the inspector that the sheets should be removed.

Mr. A. S. Davenport as well as Mr. A. S. Mark send us copies of a new Playing Card Revenue, which measures about 1½ inches long by ¾ of an inch wide, has an inscription at the top reading "U. S. Int. Rev.", at the bottom "Class A" and in the center enclosed within a circle a Heart, Spade, Club and Diamond, the circle being surrounded by the words "Playing Cards." These stamps are printed in blue and come both perforated on all four sides as well as perforated top and bottom and imperforated at sides. Those submitted to us have cancellations dated during January and February, 1919. Several of our other correspondents have sent varieties of the surcharged provisional issues and after we have classified all of these we will list them in detail in our next chronicle.

Many months back, we made mention of the fact that the Federal Fuel Administration of Philadelphia had issued Fuel stamps of the value of one ton to twenty-five tons and these were sold to the coal dealers, at the rate of two cents per ton. The dealers were required to use them in connection with each sale of coal. The money so obtained helped to defray the expenses of the Fuel Ad-

A BARGAIN IN COILS.
In the past few weeks, I have handled many want-lists of government part perforates or coiled stamps. It is surprising how many collectors have neglected them. Here is a chance to enter that interesting field at a reduced price.
Mint pairs, well centered of Scott's Nos.
323c, 323d, 324c, 324d, 326c, 326d, 327c, 327d, 338b, 338c, 338d, 338e, 339b, 339d, 339e, 340c, 341a, 342a, 355c, 355d, 356b, 356c, 369a, 369b, 369c, 369d, 370e, 370f, 370g, 370h, 371a, 371b, 372a, 372b, 373a, 373b, 389b, 389c, 390b, 390c, 391b, 391c, and 411?—All classified on approval cards.
43 pairs (regular price $6.03) only $5.50.
Joint and Guide Line Pairs—attractive prices on lots for those who have none.
Want-lists of coils in any shape solicited. My stock is as large as the largest in the country.

THE HOUSE OF CHAMPION.

One would think that the war would have been the cause of a great falling-off of philatelic trade in France, however, it was just to the contrary. If, following their mobilization, certain collectors gave up their favorite pastime for the time being, these were few, and little by little they resumed collecting. Many even did not hesitate to carry their collections into the trenches with them, and during the long, depressing hours of waiting were able to find a little pleasure in studying the stamps they had patiently gathered before the war.

The war brought a multitude of difficulties in the way of commerce in stamps.

The house of Theodore Champion of Paris particularly felt the mobiljzation, since from a total of forty employees, of which fifteen were men, one only of the latter remained, and he entered the service some months later. Under such conditions one can judge the difficulties which Theodore Champion experienced at this time as well as many times later when his business was increased following the numerous issues of war stamps.

As is well known, the French catalog is compiled by Theodore Champion and printed and edited by Messrs. Yvert & Tellier at Amiens, France. In 1914, the catalog was in course of preparation when the Germans occupied this city. Nevertheless the work was not interrupted for a moment and the catalog appeared at the usual time. In 1915-16 and 1917 Messrs. Champion and Yvert & Tellier had the courage to issue their work in spite of the difficulties which presented themselves for want of workmanship and paper.

But in 1918 it was a veritable wonder that Messrs. Champion and Yvert & Tellier accomplished, since the city of Amiens, being in range of the German guns, the city was obliged to be entirely evacuated, and Messrs. Yvert & Tellier removed to the country leaving all their material. In spite of all, the catalog appeared! The editors went to Tours and were able to establish connections with an important printing house. In this city they returned to their work furiously. Naturally the 1919 catalog was subject to changes since the cuts were all in Amiens and the necessary time to make others was lacking. But the principal thing was for collectors to be made acquainted with the new issues for the year, and notwithstanding the enormous difficulties encountered in course of printing it appeared at the end of last January. Thus Messrs. Champion and Yvert & Tellier gained a real victory since their catalog was not discontinued for a single year, while their principal competitor, the Senf Catalog, had to cease publication in 1915, although being far away from all danger.

One other difficulty which philatelic commerce suffered resulted from the prohibition of the importation of foreign stamps into France. It was a time of uneasiness with the large philatelic concerns, but happily certain concessions were granted, and although with difficulty and at great expense, they were able to procure nearly all the new stamps issued in the allied or neutral countries.

At the present time these difficulties still exist but it is to be hoped that it is only a question of days when all these measures, which no longer have reason to be, will be done away with. The House of Theodore Champion, of which fortunately only one employee has been killed during the war, sees little by little its other employees return after demobilization and will take on a new extension of activities, which will necessitate large improvements and a double personnel.

This house is certainly one of the greatest philatelic firms of the entire world and has demonstrated its tenacity and resourcefulness in a most marked manner.

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

H. & M. BENTZ.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This was one of the oldest match firms in the United States. As early as 1843 Jacob Bentz appears in the New York directory at 229 Division St. Later we find:—

1851—Jacob Bentz, matches, 104 Norfolk St.
1855—Jacob Bentz, matches, 85 Orchard St.
1855—Henry Bentz, matches, 104 Norfolk St.
1856—Henry, Jacob & Martin, 104 Norfolk St.
1857—Bentz & Co., 104 Norfolk St.
1864—Henry & Martin Bentz, 111 Canal St.
1865—Same at 45 Canal and 58 Fulton St.
1867—Same at 338 Greenwich St.
1868—Same at 511 W. 45th St.

From 1863 or '64 Henry or Martin Bentz, or both, were living at 321 W. 45th St., until about 1868 when they moved their residence to 509 W. 45th St., next door to their factory. For several years part of the business had been conducted at 321 W. 45th St. Martin Bentz is not in the directories after 1870. Henry is listed as a machinist living at 545 W. 45th St., in 1879 and died the following year.

The Bentz stamp is one of the prettiest of the match revenues and came in the early group. The central oval contains an eagle poised for flight with suitable inscriptions above and below the oval and "ONE 1 CENT" at the bottom. The eagle is from the same drawing afterwards used on the Park City and Jas. L. Clark 1c stamps and on the Aetna-Alligator series. For many years the stamp was cataloged on silk paper and the Carter Album provides a space for a silk paper variety. Occasionally specimens said to be on silk paper come into the market, but all these are incorrectly described if not fraudulent. The last of these alleged "silk paper" stamps seen by the writer had the "silk" fibres drawn on with pen and ink! The stamp does not and never did exist on either regular silk or experimental silk paper, or on the thick old paper, as it was obsolete before any of these papers came into use. The Boston Book states:—

Die approved, October 12, 1864.
First issued, November, 1864.
Last issued, July 23, 1868 (note).
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
7,454,400 issued, all printed on thin old paper by Butler & Carpenter.

There are several pronounced shades. Most of the stamps are dull blue. The greenish blue and the deep blue are scarcer. It is rather curious to note that the Bentz concern dropped out just a short time before the Howard firm, whose factory was nearby, got into trouble with the Internal Revenue office and was forced out of business. Possibly the Bentz business was sold to the New York Match Co., as was that of Bauer & Beudel, but if so, the writer cannot yet establish such to be a fact.

THE FERRARY COLLECTION.

I note your press clipping wherein it is stated the late Monsieur Ferrary, of Paris, left his stamps to the Postal Museum of Berlin. This cannot be true, as Ferrary's nephew, Monsieur Philippe de la Rénotiere, owns the collection and has it in Paris, and it is well known he intends to bequeath it to the Louvre Museum. Should the above quoted report, however, have any foundation, British philatelists may rest assured on one point, the Ferrary collection would not go out of France, as through the war every item of German property in France has become by law French property.—Phil. Jour. of Gt. Brit.

You have noticed our hesitation
Of giving you this information
About this stampy Publication
That is read throughout the Nation
In this enlightened generation.
Now this is our calculation
If we are to improve our station
Among the Philatelic population
We must increase our circulation
So, to relieve the situation
We send for your consideration
As well as your kind approbation
This, Our little Round-de-lay.

Now, if after your observation
You have any hesitation
Or desire more information
About this "PHIZZLE" publication

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

The United Stamp Co. of Chicago has just issued a "Catalog and Price List for 1919" that is a very creditable production. It deals not only with the straight issues of the U. S., but also its possessions—Canal Zone, Cuba 1898-9, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico and Hawaii. It also covers the issues of Canada and its provinces, making in all a book that will have an easy road to popularity. There is a great deal of valuable information tucked away in the pages of the book, and its many illustrations are very pleasing. The catalog is published at 20c and is well worth the price. The list of supplies advertised by the firm covers a wide range of accessories, the most prominent of which is the Marquette Blank Album in which the firm specializes.

NEWFOUNDLAND

The attention of all collectors has been called to this interesting country by the new Caribou Set. These collectors are reminded of vacant spaces in the earlier issues, many of which can still be filled by singles in mint condition at half catalogue. Many blocks and a few entire sheets at the same rate.

Send a list of what you need.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF AUG. 24, 1912.

Of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, published every Saturday at Portland, Maine, for April 1, 1919.
State of Maine, }
County of Cumberland, } ss.

Before me, a Notary Public, in and for the state and county aforesaid, personally appeared William W. Jewett, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is a business manager of the MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:
Publisher, Severn-Wylie-Jewett Co., Portland, Me.
Editor, Charles E. Severn, Chicago, Ill.
Managing Editor, Willard O. Wylie, Beverly. Mass.
Business Managers:
Willard O. Wylie, Beverly, Mass.
William W. Jewett. Portland, Me.

2. That the owners are:
Charles E. Severn, Chicago, Ill.
Willard O. Wylie, Beverly, Mass.
William W. Jewett, Portland, Me.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 percent. or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state). None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

5. That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed through the mails or otherwise, to paid subscribers during the six months preceding the date shown above is (not required). (This information is required from daily publications only).

EDITORIAL.

New—A short time ago, we mentioned the probability that a new perforation would be adopted for the current stamps and our informant at that time now advises us that at least the one cent stamp has been perforated 12½. We infer from his statement that a new perforating machine has been employed on so large a number of these stamps that the sheets so perforated are intended for distribution to post offices. No doubt, soon there will be some announcement on the subject from Washington.

Needed—For a number of years, the Herald, published by the United Stamp Company, has made a feature each month of the commercial conditions of philately, under the heading, editorially, "The Business Situation." In a half-dozen sentences or so, a resumé is given of the prevailing business trend; and the review is a dispassionate consideration of a phase of increasing importance now that the sum total of stamp investments is increasing by leaps and bounds. In our opinion, the field has become so broad that it is advisable that the subject of the market be given more attention. Our contemporary has blazed the way and covers the question all too compactly, but the time has come when the investment outlook should command more attention. It is necessary that a more extended study of trade conditions be presented. In fact, we should like to see some enterprising dealer whose finger is on the business pulse throughout this country and to some extent abroad, issue a sheet devoted to news of the market exclusively. We feel that a market report coming at regular intervals would meet with a measure of encouragement from the start. Some minds seem to have an instinctive knowledge of the financial factors that dominate their professional line, and if the right student were to give a disinterested summary of the market and its movements each month, he would not be without honor among his philatelic fellows. The opportunity invites action, as it is safe to say that in but few other lines where so much money is being placed for investment purposes as in stamps, is there no message from headquarters, so to say, sent to buyers and sellers with some regularity. We have a theoretical understanding of the question through the diversification of news and views that we obtain through correspondence from different sections but as the topic is one that is intensely practical, we hope that some stamp dealer, rising superior to selfish considerations will give us an analysis of the kind desired, if in no more than leaflet form. There will be rewards for such service, we are sure.

Neighborly—We have the following letter from Mr. L. R. Sours, Minneapolis, Minn.: "I notice your article regarding the sale at this post office of Canadian postage stamps. These are intended for the convenience of persons writing to Canada and wishing to enclose return postage. The Canadian special delivery stamps on sale are for use on special delivery letters going from this country to Canada."

* * *

Nettling—The report of the prohibition of the use of cuts of foreign stamps has thrown consternation into the ranks of stamp dealers and others who necessarily must illustrate their albums, catalogues and other publications. The details of the argument that lead to the conclusion of the government must be interesting but we are inclined to believe that the stand said to have been taken by the authorities is not irrevocable; and we expect to hear that the burdensome restrictions, if really now in force, will be removed. A retrogressive step of this kind will work much hardship on philately and pernicious activity at the expense of our pursuit must be combatted with the strength of our organization. It is hard to believe that the privilege of illustrating foreign stamps so freely granted has been summarily revoked and we are hopeful that news of a different tenor will soon be received.

Novel—From the view-point of the investor, his experience with war stamps has been a satisfactory one, especially if he was a consistent buyer of them from the first. As for their historical and philatelic interest, these stamps cannot be outclassed; and once more the contention is proved that the philatelist who energetically collects the issues having a novel turn, from beginning to end, profits most. Now we are entering upon the reconstruction era and the milestones of the progress of national rehabilitation and the advent of new nations will be marked by stamps, which may be said to have attained a new dignity by reason of the important part that they are playing as markers of history.

Noticed—We are pleased to find that the local stamp societies are getting into their old stride as we have always been alive to the beneficial influence that it is possible for organizations of the kind to exert. On the evening of April 4th, 1919 the editor was invited to speak at an informal stamp meeting and luncheon in Milwaukee and he enjoyed his experience greatly. There was an attendance of about forty at this meeting of the Milwaukee Philatelic Society and it was a pleasure to observe the team-work of the Milwaukee collectors, not a few of whom are collectors of renown and keen students. The manner in which the younger collectors are encouraged is worthy of note and a policy of this kind, persistently pursued, will achieve gratifying results and ensure the permanency of society activity. The president of the Milwaukee Philatelic Society, Leon D. Peaslee, is curator of the department of education of the fine Public Museum of the City of Milwaukee and he is making practical application that will have a tendency to sustain interest in stamps locally. If there is one thing that touches the selfish soul, it is the time and work that busy men spend and do with no thought of personal reward but because of a sincere regard for the pursuit. For these workers in the cause of philately we have much respect; in themselves, they are bulwarks of philately and the good that they do without ostentation is not easily calculable.

Neat—An envelope has just been seen across whose face at top is printed in large type, "United States Military Telegram," making an effect that is imposing. We do not remember having seen before an envelope with this inscription and the one under notice bears a three cent, 1861, postmarked Chicago. The envelope is addressed to New Orleans. It is possible that the envelope was used for convenience' sake and that it played no telegraphic part in this instance. It is just as well to mention these "unconsidered trifles" as sometimes they lead to stories of stamp interest.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The address of C. V. Webb, Sec. of the S. P. A., is now Box 55, Reading, Pa. Will correspondents change his address accordingly? He reports that everything is coming along nicely in the S. P. A.

—There is a letter at this office addressed to Howard S. Abbott. Who can furnish the address?

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Frank W. Lynes, M. M. Cassidy, Roscoe B. Martin.

—We are informed of the death of Frank W. Haskell of Silver Creek, N. Y., president of the Carborundum Co. of Niagara Falls. Mr. Haskell was an author of some repute and was regarded as an expert on finance and business organizations. His stamp collection was a very large one and our correspondent informs us that he was a collector "whose means enabled him to satisfy his every philatelic fancy."

—Interested parties will please advise us whether letters addressed to H. L. Fish, 164 Brackett St., Portland, Me., are answered or not?

—Stamp papers and dealers should beware of Axel Johansen and the Hermes Stamp Co. They are one and the same party and have owed us for advertising for nearly a year. Present address, Cape Cottage, Me. We offer the same warning as regards Paul Dillingham, Irvington, N. Y.

—A. V. Heyliger informs us that he has a 3c U. S. 1851 on cover dated July 41, 1854, instead of July 14. The letter within is dated July 14.

—We recently described a catalog issued by Eugene Klein as an auction catalog, when it should have been given as a private sales catalog, with net selling prices. We refer to the Egypt and Sudan book to which we gave favorable mention.

—Vol. 1 No. 1 of Bushnell's Magazine is to appear May 15 and will be devoted exclusively to precancelled U. S. and Canada. It will be issued twice a month and the price will be 50c per year. Ordinarily we do not publish advertisements of Vol. 1 No. 1 publications, but Mr. Bushnell's success with the Stamp Herald warrants us in believing that we are perfectly safe in accepting this advertising. We have found it necessary in the past to require that new publications shall be entered at second class rates before using our columns. We hope that Bushnell's Magazine may have a long and prosperous career.

OUR BOOK AGENCIES.

Our latest book, "Postage Stamps Worth Fortunes", is meeting with a ready sale and re-orders are coming in from our agents. Our next book will be Goodwin's "United States" revised and rewritten and freely illustrated. The book is now on the press and will be issued in two or three weeks.

POSTAGE EXTRA, PLEASE.

MATCHES, MEDICINE, Perfumery and Playing Cards

Probably 90% of the best M. & M. collections in the good old U. S. A. today have been built up through my assistance. I admit it. The reason is simple—for years I have made a specialty of the varieties that are missing in most collections. My prices for these stamps are based upon their scarcity and not upon published quotations of firms who cannot supply the stamps at the prices which they quote. I have stamps for sale—not meaningless quotations.

Cute little selections of M. & M. and other U. S. revenues and postage ($10 to $1,000 net), submitted to responsible collectors.

CHRONICLE.

ministration. While these had no official recognition they were collected by some and classed as local revenues. We wish to mention that when the Fuel Administrations recently closed its offices considerable quantities of remainders were distributed and as a result these fall in the Seebeck class.

AUSTRALIA.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us the current 1½d stamp printed on multiple watermark paper. Mr. Smyth advises that these came on the market quite unexpectedly.

BOHEMIA.—Our Stockholm correspondent sends us specimens of the new stamps of the Czecko-Slovaks, the values and colours of which are:—

3 heller, lilac-brown.
5 heller, green.
10 heller, rose.
20 heller, pale blue-green.
20 heller, dark blue-green.
25 heller, blue.
25 heller, ultramarine.

Express Stamps.

2 heller, green.
10 heller, brown.

The design of the 3 heller denomination, and presumably that of the other values of the ordinary series, shows the Cathedral of Prague, with an ornamental border and figure of denomination below; the inscription reads "CESKO POSTA SLOVENSKA" at left, top and right respectively.

On the Express stamp, as represented by the specimen before us, is a dove, with outstretched wings, the inscription (same as above) appearing within a circular frame, with figures of value in uncoloured shields in the lower corners. The stamps appear to have been lithographed, and present a "cheap" appearance; all are imperforate.

As we go to press news reaches us to the effect that, immediately on the overthrow of the Austrian Empire, certain, or possibly all, values of the Emperor Carl series of stamps were overprinted by the Czecho-Slovak Government with a distinctive device. Our readers will remember our recent forecast of the probable design for the stamps of the Bohemian Republic, when we hazarded that the Czech Lion and the Crown of St. Wenceslaus would form the principal features. We are still of the opinion that they will be used for the permanent postage stamps of the Czecho-Slovaks and that the set described above is only of a provisional nature. At any rate, the Lion, surmounted by the Crown, constitutes the overprint on the stamps of the Dual Empire, with the inscription "Cesko Slovensky Stat."

Used copies of these overprinted stamps have been received with various dates in November last. Further details are promised later, and in the meantime these alleged provisionals should be handled very cautiously.—Stamp Collecting.

CANADA.—Mr. Eugene Tilleux, Jr., has advised us of a late Canadian cancellation that has just appeared. The wording is "Buy War Savings Stamps and Help Reconstruction."

CHINA.—We are indebted to S. S. Wang Chin Chai for the news that new 1½c and 13c stamps are about to be issued. He writes as follows:—"I beg to state that the Chinese Post Office is about to issue some new values of postage stamps. The present issue of the 7c and 15c will be sold out shortly and as soon as the above-mentioned values of stamps be sold out, then the Post Office will not print any more of the same, but will issue two new values to replace them, 1½c and 13c. The 1½c is used for the picture post card, and the 13c is to be used for the Express letter. The color of the 1½c will be the same color as the present issue of 7c and 13c will be the same as the 15c stamps."

COOK ISLAND.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us the 1sh value recently issued. The type is the current one, color carmine rose, printed on chalky paper.

GREECE.—Mr. A. M. Doig advises that he has a copy of No. 204 stamp on the original cover with black surcharge, horizontally, of the Greek letters: theta, epsilom, mu, iota and sigma in the order given from the left. Mr. Doig also adds that he has been unable to get any data on this.

IVORY COAST.—Mr. A. M. Doig reports that he has a copy of the No. 3 stamp with a vertical bar of the letter "D" in "D'Ivoire" missing, making it like a reversed "C".

JUGO-SLAVAK.—Mr. J. R. Nichols has shown us three values of the stamps of Hungary surcharged HRVATSKA S H S. The stamps thus overprinted are Scott's Nos. 307, 108 and 109. Mr. Nichols adds that a very limited number were issued. The entire series were so surcharged.

MAURITIUS.—We have just received a return from the General Post Office in this Colony with the advice that no war stamps are contemplated for use of the colony.

NYASSA.—The 1901-3 pictorial stamps, with head of Don Carlos in the upper ROUMANIA.—Mr. J. R. Nichols has shown us the stamps of Hungary, Nos. 108 to 121, inclusive, surcharged with the word BANI and on the 1k value LEI. This set of stamps was seized by the Roumanian army on the reoccupation of Transylvania and according to Champion only a few hundred sets were thus surcharged. The higher values were also surcharged and the surcharge increases the value of the face of the stamp about 2½ times.

SAMOA.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us a copy of the current 1½d orange New Zealand stamp overprinted SAMOA in red.

SIAM.—One sheet of the 5 baht Red Cross stamps has been found with the two bottom rows doubly surcharged. Whitfield King & Co.'s Monthly List.

Vol. I No. 3. April 12, 1919. Price: Postfree.

Bull Frogs vs. Camels.
A McVittles Monologue.

The lesson this week, b'ys and gurrls, will be on nat'ral hist'ry. Everyone of you likes to look at wild animals and most every stamp collector has a zoo in his collection or expects some day to have one. If he doesn't there is something the matter with him and he should colect marbles or dolls instid of stamps.

First we will consider the Bull Frog. An observant Hibernian once said, "A bull frog is a payculiar baste. When he stands oop he sits down, and when he walks he joomps." The Bull Frog is very cleanly in his personal habits. He takes a bath every day and sometimes oftener.

Next we will consider the Camel and we will try to remember that he is diffrunt from the Bull Frog. He is called the Ship of the Desert in spite of the fact that he can go a long time without touching any water. We don't have to get very near him to know that he never lets any water touch him on the outside if he can help it. The Camel has one or two humps, according to his nativity and parentage and no matter whether he is standing up or sitting down, his hump is always sticking up.

On looking through stamp collections I am surprised to see how few stamps have camels on their faces and how many stamps have humps on their backs just like camels. I do not know if camels are born with humps or not, but I am sure stamps are not born with humps —they acquire them. Every time a new hinge is stuck on top of the remains of thirty or forty old ones the hump is encouraged to assert itself and in a little while you can know it is right on the job and is in a perfectly healthy condition without bothering to turn the stamp over. If presently the stamp cracks along the edge of the hump and loses 50% or more of its value as a stamp, what does the hump care?

It is said the first postage stamp in the whole world was issued in 1840, but I think that is an historical inaccuracy. Theodore B. Voltaire or somebody who may not have been a stamp collector, but should have been one, described the Middle Ages as, "A thousand years without a bath," and I have seen humps that must have started in the middle ages because the stamps that support them have gone without a bath for more than a thousand years.

If a stamp has original gum and I want to save as much of the gum as I can and get rid of as much of the hump as I can, I apply a little—a very little—moisture to the hump with a camel's hair brush, and remove the hump one layer at a time. In that way I can often cure the patient by applyin' hair from the critter that bit him, and I save the feelin's of the hump and the appearance of the stamp and we are all happy. But if a used stamp that is tryin' to be a camel comes along, I pretend it is a Bull Frog and give it a swim immediately.

I care more about the face of a stamp than I do about the back and I would never collect stamps for the fun of lookin' at their backs, but as long as every stamp must have a back, I want it to have a good back, and the fewer thin spots the better. Too often is it true, "the bigger the Hump, the bigger the Thin Spot under it." That is why I would rather buy stamps from a man who likes Bull Frogs than one who likes Camels.

Now get busy and teach your Camels to swim.

Notes and Gossip.

Some years ago a w. k. jackass—No, Henry, you've got it all wrong. If you don't get it straight you'll get the Ed. into trouble. Here's the way it goes,—A well known banker who does his banking near the banks of the far-famed Wabash, had a hunch the "laughing jackass" stamp of Australia would be good stuff to have handy on a rainy day and corralled quite a fair sized bunch. On liquidating his investment recently he found that each Kookooburra had paid him over 400% profit. Some folks say there's nothing in stamps, but if a picture of a stuffed what-you-may-callum bird can earn interest like that we would just as leave be a stamp crank as a banker.

Mr. Ivor E. Dome was a recent caller at our office. After a pleasant chat he left with a happy smile on his face and a new pair of 35c stamp tongs in his pocket. The tongs belong to us. However, we have his pair and as they are 50c tongs, we shall not report his indiscretion to the authorities. Any time he takes us out and buys us a good enough lunch we will swap back.

Query Dept.

Puzzled.—We cannot answer your first question. Nobody can. At the present rate of progress 248 years will elapse before the information that will enable anyone to distinguish U. S. Continental B. N. Co. printings from American B. N. Co. printings in every case will be available. Probably you will not care about the information then.

Most Continental printings are on hard paper similar to that also used by the National B. N. Co. Much of the hard paper is so close grained the pores do not show, but some of the hard paper is quite porous. Most American prints are on a thicker and softer paper, which usually shows the pores plainly. But,—and here's where we have to start guessing—some late Continental printings are on "American" paper and some early (?) American printings are on "Continental" paper. Hence and therefore.

You are correct about No. 189b. The true yellow orange 15c is much scarcer than the ordinary reddish hues and was probably printed in 1878 or 1879. It is classed as an American print because it comes on soft paper, but we are inclined to believe it came from the later Continental printings and is really a variety of No. 163 instead of being an early American print. Find a copy cancelled "1878"—if you can. In the past dozen years we have used up over $25 worth of eyesight looking for such a one.

No, the 7c Stanton does not exist as a Continental print on soft paper. This denomination was obsolete several years before the soft paper came into use and was never resurrected for sale to pay postage. The copy you refer to as being "discovered" a few years ago is not at all what the discoverer claimed for it. He found a copy of No. 196 and maintained it was printed by the Continental B. N. Co. His claim is substantiated by nothing whatever.

The stamps catalogued as No. 192 to No. 204 form a set specially printed by the American B. N. Co. in 1880 on soft paper. They appear to have been made only to satisfy the longings of stamp collectors who pestered the P. O. Department for old U. S. stamps. They are listed as stamps because they were and still are available for postage. Few were sold and we never heard of any being used. The 2c brown, 7c, 12c and 24c had been obsolete for some years and therefore, in a restricted sense, were "re-issues". Other copies of the 7c exactly like the copy mentioned are well known. The Ed. probably has one himself and if you want to feast your eyes on it a while you may borrow it for $35—cash in advance.

What is a Rare Stamp?

Dear Editor: Here is one of your subscribers who relishes a little nonsense now and then as set forth by your joke editor, (crown) C. C. Doyle. In the last issue, however, all of the funny items are not in his department. In the adlets I notice a party advertises thus: "Wanted, Rare Honduras"—didn't know there were any. Please insert in Mr. Doyle's query dept, what is a rare stamp?

By the way, o. f. c. has had no mention in your regular editorial column of late. Did you ever note the one who always religiously trimmed the perfs. all off from his specimens, presumably because they were not like the early imperf. issues which he was likely partial to. He must have been in a class with some person recently noted in the press items, opposing the proposed league of nations, because he wants to do as Washington did, and this in a day when everyone from Negri Sembilan to Reno, Nev., has the "flu". Gone are the days, etc.

WM. R. HARRISON.

An Enigma.

To the Editor:

Down in Gotham-Town on Maiden Lane, amongst the World's greatest Jewelry stores, is a small place 2x4 (not inches, but feet) with a big sign "U. S. Postage and Revenue Stamps for Sale", which has on exhibition in the window a full sheet of 3c Victory stamps, now available at nearly every Post Office, excepting Wall Street. One evening the writer entered to spend the royal sum of sixty cents for the two top rows with plate number, but no sooner had he uttered the last two ominous words, when the proprietor who was hiding in the background, came furiously to the front, shouting, "We don't sell stamps to collectors", and a full sheet which the unsuspecting clerk had produced from underneath the counter was snatched out of his hand, and returned to its resting-place.

Other customers were freely served with one or more single copies, but the collector, the horrible thing, had to go out, and not even one copy could he secure for his money. Is it that this financial genius hates stamp collectors in general, or did he suspect an "inverted centre" or some other great error in the two top rows, hiding a possible fortune? This is no fiction, either, but the experience of

HARRY E. HUBER.

(We publish this article by Mr. Huber but with the conviction that Dr. Hubert Lyman Clark is right in his contention that the Coulter circular, issued a year after the war tax stamps appeared, did not refer to the 5, 20 and 50c stamps under consideration. These stamps were issued Feb. 12, 1915, and as pointed out by Dr. Clark, the Coulter circular must have had in mind the ordinary 1c and 2c war tax stamps which had been placed in general use at the time the circular was issued. Mr. Huber's contribution is interesting in his comment on the Cayman Islands 1d on 4d.—W. O. W.)

A difference of opinion exists as to whether the 5c, 20c and 50c, King George, postage stamps, overprinted diagonally, WAR TAX, and issued February 12, 1915, have ever been authorised for postage purposes.

Mr. E. J. Lemaire, Superintendent, Postage Stamp Branch, Post Office Department, Ottawa, claims that upon the WAR TAX overprint being applied to these stamps, they ceased to be available for postage purposes, and instructions were issued by his Office at different times, to the Postmasters, that these stamps were not to be accepted for postage purposes. All letters from his Office (so far back as 1915, and of more recent date) have been very positive in this statement.

Yet a circular issued by Mr. R. M. Coulter, Deputy Postmaster-General, on April 16, 1916, reads as follows:—

"Post Office Department, Canada,
OTTAWA, April 16, 1916.
Circular to Postmasters.

The Postmaster is informed that it has been decided that postage stamps upon which the words WAR TAX have been printed may be accepted for prepayment of postage, and he is to amend his procedure accordingly.

In no circumstances are Inland Revenue stamps to be accepted on letters, postcards, postal notes or Post Office Money Orders.

The Postmaster is warned that in all cases War Tax letters and postcards must be handled with expedition, and there must be positively no congestion.

R. M. COULTER,
Deputy Postmaster-General."

No doubt exists that all three values with the diagonal overprint in two lines, did pass for postage in certain parts of the country, though the quantities so overprinted were very small, and in the eastern provinces, at least, the two lower denominations were quickly absorbed on first day of issue, i. e., February 12, 1915—in fact, in many of the larger cities, the 5c did not last out the day. The first printing with the WAR TAX in two diagonal lines, was superseded the following day, February 13, 1915, by stamps with the four diagonal line overprint, reading INLAND REVENUE WAR TAX.

In view of the small quantities issued with the WAR TAX overprint (the four line overprint was never authorised for postage, by either Mr. Lemaire or Mr. Coulter), it seems rather strange that over a year after issue and exhaustion the stamps should be declared valid for postage purposes. Of course, the overprinted stamps may not have been so quickly absorbed in some parts of the country as others.

Even mint stamps are not common, and dealers' prices are only slightly less than catalogue quotations:—

	Scott.	Gibbons
5c blue (black overprint),	$1.25	?
20c olive green (black overprint),	$1.25	10s
50c sepia (red overprint),	$1.50	15s

There is some justification for the inclusion of these stamps in the catalogue, but a stamp with much less claim to catalogue recognition is the Cayman Islands, 1d on 4d, black and red on yellow, Scott's 20-c, issued May 12, 1908.

This stamp was issued solely for fiscal purposes, and special instructions were given by Mr. G. S. S. Hirst, the Commissioner, that the stamp should not be accepted for postage purposes. Postmarked copies are not known with dates in May, 1908, though some do exist with dates many months later. These were cancelled through favor, and in the majority of cases the cancelling stamp used was the two-concentric-circle type, which was not brought into use at George Town, Grand Cayman, until March, 1909.

Regardless of its fiscal character, the fact that but 396 copies were issued makes it a very desirable stamp:—

	Scott.	Gibbons
1d on 4d, black & red on yellow,	$40.00	£7
a. inverted surcharge,	$50.00	£10

A BARGAIN IN COILS.

In the past few weeks, I have handled many want-lists of government part perforates or coiled stamps. It is surprising how many collectors have neglected them. Here is a chance to enter that interesting field at a reduced price.

Mint pairs, well centered of Scott's Nos. 323c, 323d, 324c, 324d, 326c, 326d, 327c, 327d, 338b, 338c, 338d, 338e, 339b, 339d, 339e, 340c, 341a, 342a, 355c, 355d, 356b, 356c, 369a, 369b, 369c, 369d, 370e, 370f, 370g, 370h, 371a, 371b, 372a, 372b, 373a, 373b, 389b, 389c, 390b, 390c, 391b, 391c, and 411?—All classified on approval cards.

43 pairs (regular price $6.03) only $5.50.

Joint and Guide Line Pairs—attractive prices on lots for those who have none.

Want-lists of coils in any shape solicited. My stock is as large as the largest in the country.

£7 10sh for a single copy of the inverted surcharge.

By Dr. Hubert Lyman Clark.

The quotation from Bright's catalog interests me and shows how easy it is for statements even in official circulars to be misconstrued quite unintentionally by those having an axe to grind. Kindly note that the Canadian post-office circular of April 16, 1916, from which you quote, is dated over a year after the stamps in question had come and gone, and that it particularly refers to the stamps "upon which the words War Tax have been printed," not at all to those upon which the words War Tax were overprinted or surcharged! The meaning of this circular of April 16, 1916, is perfectly obvious: The Canadian post-offices were supplied with one and two cent stamps on which the words War Tax were printed (i. e., as a part of the design). These were intended primarily to pay the extra postal tax due to the war. Many postmasters were in doubt as to whether all the postage on a letter or parcel could be prepaid with such stamps, and this circular of April 16, 1916, was issued to set those doubts at rest. It has no bearing at all on the question of the postal validity of the 5c, 20c and 50c overprinted for revenue purposes more than a year previously. It is surprising to me that a firm of the high standing and intelligence of Bright & Son should have so misunderstood the official circular.

DEATH OF CHARLES E. JENNEY.

(The news comes to us as a severe shock that Charles E. Jenney died April 7. This information is conveyed in a letter from Harry E. Dore and we publish the letter just as received, a friend's tribute to a deceased friend. Our own relationship with Mr. Jenney has always been of a most cordial character and his many letters have always been interesting in their comment upon matters philatelic. —W. O. W.)

Charles Elmer Jenney, Philatelist and Author, whose home has been Fresno, Calif., for a number of years, died in Colfax, Calif., Tuesday evening, April 7.

He was a careful, painstaking stamp collector, whose research and writings have appeared in the various stamp journals for a number of years, and his contributions will be missed by many readers.

He was a born collector, and in addition to accumulating a very large stamp collection, had good collections of coins, birds' eggs and shells.

He was greatly interested in botany and arranged the collection exhibited in The Panama Pacific Industrial Exposition by Fresno County.

His writings were not confined to philately, as he wrote two volumes of poetry:—"Scenes of my childhood" (he was born in Mattapoisett, Mass.) and "California Nights" bound in Scottish plaid covers—both handsomely illustrated from original photographs.

I give you this general information, from which you can use what you deem fit in the Weekly.

Personally, he was a very near friend, and while we have known for some time that the end was near, his death comes as a shock to us all.

WHY I COLLECT STAMPS.

By Herman Knock.

(This little essay won first prize in a junior stamp club of York, Pa., Y. M. C. A. It was written by a boy sixteen years of age.—W. O. W.)

Stamp collecting can hardly be described. It can only be experienced. I set out on the great field of philately in the latter part of June, 1916, with but half a hundred stamps. Having no previous experience with stamps, I was at a loss what to do with them. There I was with all these strange looking stamps spread before me and I knew nothing about them.

However, I studied them and divided them into different countries and values, and separated the duplicates. Then I mounted them in my album. As I studied the stamps with all their beauty and designs, their watermarks and minor differences, I got a raging desire to get more stamps, and the more I studied the stamps, the more I wanted. As difficult as it is to describe this wonderful hobby, so easy is it to understand. Stamp collecting is not only a fad for boys, but stamp collectors are found among the leading men of the world.

OUR BOOK AGENCIES.

We are very much pleased with the way in which our agencies are creating a demand for the S.-W.-J. Co. books. We find that some of our agents who are active in stamp clubs are disposing of a larger number of books than regularly established dealers. It is simply a matter of presenting the collector with one of our books for examination to secure a patron. Dealers should understand that the stamp collector who reads is the best asset to philately. Our Goodwin book on "United States," so long in the making, is about ready to appear. We have several hundred orders waiting for this book, which will be sold at a price within the reach of every collector. Any of our books can be supplied from the following agents, but if ordered by mail, enclose return postage.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. W. Nelson Mayhew has located a used copy of the current 1c surface print, perf. 11, double print. The copy is cancelled by bars and he is not aware as to the city from which the stamp came. This is the first 1c double print that we have heard of, although we would not be surprised to find them later on equally as plentiful as those of the 3c.

Mr. P. M. Mann has shown us a portion of a sheet of the three cent Victory stamp from plate 9418 in a very unusual magenta violet. He received a copy on his mail quite recently and on writing to the sender was able to obtain about eighty copies.

Mr. W. S. F. Pierce has located sheets of both the 12 and 13c perforated 11 on unwatermarked paper so badly perforated that 10½ vertical rows of stamps are shown. This is due, of course, to the inferior work coming from the perforating room of the Bureau. We have had occasion at numerous times to speak of the quality of the products being turned out by the Bureau and it was only recently brought to our attention that none of this inferior work has been due to the Engraving Division, for this one division seems to be keeping up to their former standards. It may be of interest to mention that the 12c sheet located by Mr. Pierce is from the upper left pane of sheet No. 7036 and the 13c is from the lower right pane of sheet No. 9147.

Mr. Chas. Huscher has sent for our inspection two blocks from the lower right pane of the 1c engraved, sheet No. 8930, wherein a slight surface break of the plate is shown between the second and third vertical rows and the fifth and seventh horizontal rows. This crack is caused by the hardening of the steel plate and will without doubt wear out before the plate is finally condemned. Mr. A. W. Filstrup sends us a booklet pane of the 1c perforated 11 unwatermarked showing a similar peculiarity.

Mr. Chas. A. Nast submits a most interesting block of the 3c type IV in a deep plum shade showing a very distinct double print. This is somewhat similar to those which we have described in the past, and are not caused by the sheet passing through the press a second time. To date we have known of but one small lot of this stamp actually double printed, that is, run through the press a second time, and these we described in detail in a recent edition.

Mr. W. A. Langdon again favors us by submitting for our inspection a sheet of the four cent perforated 11 on unwatermarked paper, plate No. 8495, printed in an aniline brown ink which shows through the sheet, giving it the appearance of an offset on the back. Quite a few of these were recently located in the Philadelphia Post Office.

Mr. A. S. Davenport writes that he has located several values of the New York provisional "Narcotic" Revenues surcharged on the Documentary stamps similar to those which we described as being issued in other cities. The New York collector used a rubber stamp with black ink and the word "Narcotic" is in capitals, 20 mm long by 3 mm high. The surcharge seems to read in different positions on the same sheet; some read up diagonally, some down, and some are horizontal:—

Values surcharged in black:—3c, 4c, 5c, 8c, 10c, 25c, 40c and 50c, all red.

Mr. Davenport also advises that he has located the 2c with the printed surcharge issued from Washington.

Many of our correspondents have advised us of defects found in the plates of the surface printed stamps and for such information we wish to thank Messrs. Vergne H. Ford, John Kay, George Soulman, etc. We also desire to express our appreciation to Messrs. Morton Dean Joyce, Irving W. Howe, E. D. Swartout and J. L. Whitman for notes of interest.

Mr. E. S. Nelson sends a clipping from a Minneapolis paper describing a proposed "League of Nations" stamp which would be good for postage in either this or other countries belonging to the league. The clipping tells us the subject is now being discussed at the Peace Conference. An International stamp is something that is badly needed, and we gladly welcome the idea.

During the last several weeks we have described numerous new things in the envelope line, such as the 3c error of color, the compound 1c and 2c, and the

EDITORIAL.

Exception—Our admonitory friend, Mr. Wm. C. Michaels, Kansas City, Mo., trains his legal mind on a recent case that was presented in this column: "I read with much interest your remarks concerning Mr. Bartley's reference to Uncle Herbert pursuing philately in a dressing-robe and I desire, kind sir, to differ from you in your conclusions. This winter (chiefly on Sundays) I did some real 'stoodent' stuff on the one cent 1851-57s, mounting and annotating copies showing all of the twenty or more transfer roll relief varieties of this most interesting stamp, and I did the whole job while clothed in a bath-robe! I do not own a 'quilted dressing robe' of a scarlet or any other color but you ought to see my bath-robe. It would make a Navajo Indian turn green with envy. I have tried to mount stamps while clothed in a business suit and again, while I wore a smoking jacket, but it did not work. I tell you that there is nothing like several good magnifying glasses, a pot of Herbert Tarryton smoking tobacco, a strong pipe, some matches, an album, a bunch of unclassified stamps and a bath-robe to bring real happiness to a 'bug.' Of course, I should add that one must be in a den with the rest of the family barred out, in order to get the full benefit of the jag. I do not believe that you have ever tried the bath-robe stunt; if not, you have missed something. Nothing else will do if you want to enjoy a real philatelic debauch."

Enjoined—Some time ago, we published the protest of an auction buyer on what he termed the undue lapse of time between the date of the auction sale and the receipt of lots on which he bid successfully. The supposition was that any retaliatory measures that the recipient might feel inclined to take depended on what fairly could be called an unreasonable delay on the part of the auction firm. One of the underlying suggestions of the letter as we saw it, while somewhat far-fetched, was yet entitled to consideration and that was the assumption of the bidder that he did not secure any lots in the sale. Consequently, the money that he may have reserved for payment might be spent otherwise and so, he would be inconvenienced by the coming of the stamps with bill. Some adverse criticism has reached us upon the tenor of the remarks of our correspondent, by auctioneers who maintain that the circulation of a complaint of the kind gives aid and comfort to the gentry who regard their auction obligations too lightly, as it is, and are prone to take advantage of any seeming loop-hole of evasion. We know that the auctioneers have much to contend with and it is not our intention to work any hardship on them by remarks that may be construed as reflecting upon their business conduct, but we are sure that the onus of our correspondent's words applied to those auctioneers on the fringe rather than those who are regarded as the "regular" auctioneers.

Entry—Another phase of the auction business has been brought to our attention by a dealer who makes the assertion that his remarks do not apply to dealers that he goes to the length of naming and that is: "Many auction dealers never dealt in stamps in any other form and never having had a collection of their own, know comparatively little about stamps." Here, let it be said that there are not a few auctioneers who may not be well known who serve as side-shows to the performance in the big tent and it is they who have a tendency to demoralize the legitimate auction business by the sale of questionable stamps at times by methods that are not approved. Our critic makes his point about buying stamps "in the dark" as a consequence and makes a case against those auctioneers whose influence, restricted though it is, harms the recognized dealers who sell at auction; and he adds: "I should like to know what some collectors and dealers think of this." The stamp auction has become so vital and important a factor that it is only fair to it that proper protective measures should surround it.

Extreme—We have learned of a severe loss by fire sustained by Mr. Wm. C. Kennett, Jr., Cincinnati, whose home with contents was burned to the ground, although his valuable collection was saved from the flames. Nevertheless, Mr. Kennett suffered the destruction of five thousand dollars' worth of stamps, we are informed, that were in a desk that was burned; and in the lot was about seven hundred dollars in auction lots that Mr. Kennett had obtained from the last Morgenthau sale, for which he had not even paid. A possible visitation from fire is one that every stamp saver should keep in mind and all precautionary measures should be adopted to defeat any stealthy approach of fire, as stamps make peculiarly dangerous "prey for the flames." We sympathize with Mr. Kennett in his misfortune although we rejoice to hear that his fine collection was saved.

End—Recently, there have been references to the changing fortunes of the five cent, 1847, U. S., and a few reminiscences on the career of the popular stamp. The tabloid story of the corner on the stamp brought out comment of interest and the dispersal of the accumulation of the stamps has been discussed. We now have a few words from Mr. John C. Hunt, Bedford, New York: "I noticed in your issue of March 22nd, an inquiry concerning the five cent of 1847 that Mr. Lord sold to the Nassau Stamp Company. I consider that I got what he termed the cream of that lot, but I may be wrong. I also saw a lot of skimmed milk in that bunch of stamps and understand that over 900 of the 2600 easily could be so termed."

Embryo—The proposed society of philatelic literature collectors is still in the "to be about to be" stage but several letters that have been received prove to the satisfaction of the writers that the plan of organization is a bounden duty. Mr. Edwin B. Hill thinks that the coast is clear because the several organizations that might have qualified as philatelic literature societies are not to be seen in the offing. We look with some favor upon the organization of a society of those who find an interest in philatelic print, especially of a bygone day; and there are a half-dozen devoted collectors who have pledged allegiance to the proposed body. Even though the slogan of this society would be "quality, not quantity," we should like to hear from a few more masters. Messrs. Ricketts, Deats, Speakman, et al., please write. When a dozen or so of tried and true men give a push in unison, the chariot will start on its triumphant way. The by-laws will be a thing of verbal beauty by the time a committee that we have in mind has done its work. We may depend upon Mr. Hill, one of our sincerest lovers of stamp literature for assistance in the movement but with all these beckoning nods, we hesitate to take the momentous step until we are assured that there is a demand for the society.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

We have received a copy of the United Catalog and Price List for 1919, which is a book of eighty pages and cover that lists the stamps of the United States and colonies, Confederate States, Canada, New Foundland, British Columbia, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. Recent editions of this catalogue have shown improvements in each succeeding issue and the present publication is one that merits approbation of unqualified kind. The illustrations of type differences in the United States section are most helpful and add to an understanding of the subject that printed descriptions could not give. The same careful treatment is extended to the issues of the other countries embraced in the catalogue and we believe that this book of convenient size is destined to grow in usefulness and in the regard of those who are acquainted with it. It is a task to publish a catalogue of rather pretentious size and it is fitting that praise be given when the work is accomplished successfully. The price of the catalogue and price list is twenty cents: United Stamp Company, 1149-1151 Marquette Building, Chicago, Ill.

By W. O. W.

We have no hesitation in reviewing "The War Garden Victorious" by Chas. Lathrop Pack even though it be outside of the field of philately. The book is written by an eminent philatelist and it is inspired by patriotic impulses, and with this introduction we desire to give it our warmest words of praise. It is a very handsome book of more than two hundred pages, from the press of J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia. It is handsomely bound in cloth with gilt and deckle edges, and is dedicated to the war gardeners of the United States and Allied countries "in admiration of their success in adding to the world's supply of food during the world war." It is a well known fact that Mr. Pack has served ably as president of the National War Garden Commission, an organization that has been an effective means in promoting the success of the war. Associated with Mr. Pack were such men as Luther Burbank, California; Dr. Chas. W. Eliot, formerly president of Harvard University; Dr. Irving Fisher of Yale University; John Hays Hammond, Massachusetts; John Grier Hibben, Princeton University, and others who have been connected with other conservation courses.

The book is illustrated with five colored plates showing posters that were used during the war. One of these, "Every Garden a Munition Plant," was used in 1918 and again in 1919 with different slogans and aided a great deal in the publicity work of the Commission. Other effective posters were, "War Gardens Over the Top," "War Gardens Victorious," and "The Kaiser is Canned —Can Food." These are all reproduced in the original colors.

The illustrations in the book are numerous. There are more than sixty halftones, every other leaf picturing some feature of interest. It is impossible in the scope of our publication to review the text and an examination of its pages convinces us that the only way to secure a fair understanding of its merits is a personal perusal.

The Appendix will prove of great value in the mass of material it contains in regard to war gardening. The Appendix consists of two victory books issued by the Commission, one bearing the title "War Gardening" and the other "Home Canning and Drying". There are many illustrations.

Out of the chaos and tumult of the war and out of the patriotism and sacrifice of thousands of war workers, the labors of Mr. Pack and the National War Garden Commission will stand as a permanent memorial to their energy and ability. It is well that the work of the Commission can be preserved in such a permanent form as this book offers and to Mr. Pack must be given the credit.

MATCHES, MEDICINE, Perfumery and Playing Cards

Probably 90% of the best M. & M. collections in the good old U. S. A. today have been built up through my assistance. I admit it. The reason is simple—for years I have made a specialty of the varieties that are missing in most collections. My prices for these stamps are based upon their scarcity and not upon published quotations of firms who cannot supply the stamps at the prices which they quote. I have stamps for sale—not meaningless quotations.

Cute little selections of M. & M. and other U. S. revenues and postage ($10 to $1,000 net), submitted to responsible collectors.

for anything nice in the way of fine United States has brought to hand some unusual material. My collection is being made on lines of extreme specialism and I will buy anything attractive from a single specimen to a large collection. If you are out of the way and cannot get in touch with advanced collectors here is your chance for what I cannot use myself I offer to other collectors here and as a result you will obtain top-notch figures. It makes no difference if your collection includes foreign, the only requirement being that it is attractive. CHRONICLE.

2c and 3c. Mr. G. C. Rockfellow now informs us that he has located the current 2c with three impressions on the one envelope. We have heard of two impressions numerous times before, but this is the first with three impressions that has been brought to our attention.

ALBANIA.—From Messrs. Yvert & Tellier we have received details of a set of stamps that was current during the month of January and the beginning of February, consisting of a series of fiscal adhesives issued by the Austrians during their occupation of Scutari and the surrounding country, and inscribed ADMINISTRAT E FINANCAVET TE SHQIPNIS, overprinted by the Albanians with the words POSTA E SHKODRES SHQYPNIS ("Post of Scutari d'Albania") and new value, QINT or FRANK, and with a further commemorative overprint, the inscriptions in which are said to be illegible. The set comprises the following denominations:—

2 qint on 2 heller, brown.
5 qint on 16 heller, green.
10 qint on 8 heller, red.
25 qint on 64 heller, blue.
50 qint on 32 heller, violet.
1 frank on 128 heller, brown on green.

The surcharge is in red in all cases except the 10q on 8h, which has it in green.

In addition, there is a variety of the 25q on 64 heller, in which the original inscription is worded "ADMINISTRATA E FINANCAVE E SHQYPENIES".—Stamp Collecting.

BAHAMAS.—Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. inform us that they have received a consignment of the "War Charity" stamps, some of which were in sheets of sixty and some in half-sheets of thirty. Amongst the latter were found one half-sheet with a clear and distinct double overprint. It is certainly not a "double strike" (our friends remark), as the relative position of the two overprints vary in different parts of the sheet. The overprinting was done in London, which makes the variety extremely interesting, as such errors in Messrs. De la Rue & Co.'s printing are of very rare occurrence.—Stamp Collecting.

BELGIUM.—An entirely new series of postage stamps may be expected from Brussels in the near future. According to L'Echo de la Timbrologie, there is also to be a separate series, of three values only (5, 10 and 25c), all bearing a new portrait of King Albert. This set is to commemorate the liberation of Belgium from the Huns. Meanwhile, our Amiens contemporary describes and illustrates, apparently under the misapprehension that it is something new, the well known "broken epaulette" variety, which occurred on a large number of the 5, 10 and 20c Red Cross stamps of January, 1915. The Echo mentions the 25 centimes, but no doubt this is a printer's error, as there was no such denomination in the series referred to.—Stamp Collecting.

BRAZIL.—A Brazilian correspondent reports to the same paper the issue of a new Brazilian stamp regarding which we should appreciate additional information. It is supposed to be issued in support of the League against Analphabetism, it is blue in color, with the words BRAZIL CORREIO at the top, in the center a figure representing education surveying a globe, at the sides the value 1000 reis and at the bottom the word INSTRUCCAO. It is said to have circulated for ADLETS.

Minimum two lines.

This column is for the use of our patrons who desire only a few lines of space. If you want to buy, sell, or exchange, it is without doubt the best advertising medium in the world. It is impossible to guarantee advertisers in this department and patrons must satisfy themselves as to the reliability of the parties with whom they desire to engage in business relations.

RATE.—25c per line, cash in advance. No display allowed. Six words (32 letters) to the line, including address. We offer 50 lines for $10.00, where cash is paid in advance. This space can be used at such times and in such quantities as may be desired.

one month only and the proceeds were apparently devoted to a Society for Promoting Popular Education. If it were not for the words BRAZIL CORREIO, we should at once classify it as a private venture, but apparently there is some governmental subvention connected with it. We shall await further information with interest.—Albemarle Stamp Collector.

CZECHO-SLOVAK.—Mr. J. R. Nichols has shown us the first five values of the stamps of this republic. The stamps are imperforate and are of the following colors and values:—3h purple; 5h yellow green; 10h red; 20h gray green, and 25h blue. Mr. Nichols adds that the set is from 3 to 200 heller and the 5 and 10 heller also appear perforated 11½. They are all printed on white paper and have the POSTA at the top and value at the bottom. Also CESKO at the left and SJOVERSKA at the right.

GRENADA.—Mr. Frank P. Brown has shown us a new printing of the 1d WAR TAX stamp of this colony. The color is somewhat brighter than before.

MEXICO.—Mr. G. A. Higlett has kindly shewn us a novelty from this quarter. Mexico has lately shewn so much misplaced philatelic energy that it could hardly be expected that it would allow the great war to pass without taking advantage of the possibilities. So, here we have the current 5c overprinted +3c, at foot, as a Red Cross issue. We now await, with some confidence, the Mexican Victory issue.—Phil. Journal of Gt. Brit.

PHILIPPINES. — Charles E. Doty of Manila informs us that the 6c current issue has appeared in a very pale shade of violet. The regular stamp is in deep violet. Here is Mr. Doty's comment:—"The color is too decided a change for a lightly wiped plate and it looks as though the government printers had gotten hold of some of the peso ink and used it on the 6c plate."

ROUMANIA.—Mr. H. E. Kleinst has shown us two surcharges of the 1908-14 5 bani stamp, both in black. One is surcharged "1918", while the other is a monogram in a circle with a P to the left and a T to the right. We would like further information on this later surcharge, and also for what it is used.

I stung myself buying the 5c errors on first boom. Want to average by buying some more cheap. Offers solicited. Blocks preferred. Beebe, 64 Bruce Av., Yonkers, N. Y. [C1*

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We have received from Wm. C. Stone, "Publicity Agent" of the Springfield Stamp Club, an attractively printed folder giving the official roster as well as list of active and passive members for 1919.

—We desire to know whether any of our patrons are unable to secure replies to letters sent to C. W. Parker, 77 Kensington Heights, Meriden, Conn.

—If you are unable to secure any reply to letters sent H. L. Fish, 164 Brackett St., Portland, Me., send all your facts to the postal inspector at the Portland P. O.

—Some weeks back we published an account of the death of Henry J. Schmidt, formerly in the stamp business at Pittsburg, and who made the great sacrifice over on French soil. Elmer F. Smith writes us as follows:—

"Mr. Schmidt was killed in action in France on Nov. 1st of last year. It was his fourth time over the top. He had written me just twenty days before he was killed and was looking forward with pleasure to the time when he could take up his stamps again. His mother is Mrs. Louise Thelen of 1537 Barry Av., Chicago. His father, the late Joseph Schmidt, was one of Chicago's best known bowlers. Before he entered the service, he arranged with me to take over his stamps and business for the benefit of his mother in case he should never come back. I recently bought his entire stock and collection."

—At the meeting of the Pacific Philatelic Society held April 16, there was an exhibit of the stamps of France and its colonies. Among others shown, President Wm. Blackwell exhibited his 19th Century collection.

—If you have any complaint against Francis Oakes, formerly of Chicago, Ill., and more recently Lake Geneva, Wis., please file your papers with J. E. Stuart, Inspector, Chicago P. O. Oakes was connected with the O. K. Stamp Co.

—Wm. Van.—For catalog of philatelic literature, write F. H. Vallancey, 89 Farringdon St., London, England.

—At the meeting of the Washington (D. C.) Philatelic Society held April 9, the Society voted an appropriation to purchase a nearly complete set of the S.-W.-J. Co. pamphlets. There was a good attendance and a small auction sale brought forth spirited bidding. We are indebted to Harry B. Mason for this bit of news.

—Two complaints against Alejandro Garcia, Remedios, Cuba, have just been voluntarily adjusted by Mr. Garcia. If there are any outstanding, will the parties please communicate with this office at once?

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from C. M. Tyler.

—The following officers of the Michigan Stamp Club have been elected for the coming year:—Z. Dworkovsky, Pres.; John Hubel, Vice-Pres.; R. J. Nentwig, Sec.; Robert Meiers, Treas.; D. Underwood, Auction Mgr.; Preston Hoskins, Sales Supt.; E. J. Scott, Arthur Wood, C. C. Keller, Trustees; W. F. Fratcher, Librarian, and Herman W. Boers, Publicity. Meetings are held first and third Saturday nights at Fraternity Hall, 140 First St., Detroit. Stamp men are invited.

NASSAU STAMP CO.

16 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK, N. Y.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

UNITED STATES 30c, 90c 1857-60.

By ELLIOTT PERRY.

Attached to the mechanism of the rocking-in press on the machinery at present used in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, it is understood that there is an indicator, the point of which is placed in the position dot on the plate before the design of the stamp is transferred and then the transfer roll is locked in position. This device enables the workman to transfer the stamp designs into the exact positions laid out for them on the plate. The position dots are placed on the plate to mark the locations where the transfer roll is to commence rocking—that is, entering of the design.

It is supposed that a similar device was part of the mechanism of the rocking-in press when the stamps of the 1857-'60 series were made. Collateral evidence that the 24c plate and plate No. 2 of the 5c were rocked in from six relief transfers is found in the location of the position dots on those plates. The dots occur at the upper right corners of the stamps in the first and seventh horizontal rows. On the 30c stamps the position dots are found at the lower left corner of the stamps in the bottom row—just below the notch formed by the arrow shaped ornament. On the 90c stamps the position dots are found outside the upper right corner of the stamps in the top row. The writer has been unable to find any position dots on any other rows of stamps on these plates. It is possible there were other position dots on the plates which were removed before the stamps were printed.

If the position dots indicate the places at which rocking-in of the transfer roll commenced, then the 30c plate was rocked in from bottom to top and the 90c plate from top to bottom and the shifts in the 4th and 7th rows on each plate were made by the transfer rolls when at the end of their successive courses instead of at the beginning. Whether or not it may be possible to make a shifted design in this way the writer does not know, and this is why it is assumed in this article that the transfer rolls were rocked toward the position dots, instead of away from them, and that the 30c plate was rocked in from top to bottom and the 90c plate from bottom to top.

The reader is invited to consider a possible explanation of the recurrence of so many shifted designs on both of these plates which would agree with the supposition that on any original entry the transfer roll is rocked from the position dot. This explanation is that all or most of the designs in the 4th and 7th rows were re-entered before the plates were put to press—the re-entry being made in the opposite direction from which the designs were first rocked on the plates. That is to say, the 30c plate was first rocked in from bottom to top and then the 4th and 7th rows were re-entered rocking from top to bottom; and that on the 90c the plate was first rocked in from top to bottom and then the 4th and 7th rows were re-entered from bottom to top. Such re-entry would be almost certain not to coincide exactly with the original entry and might make the shifts as they are found. It is not easy, however, for the writer to believe that such re-entry would err always in the same lateral direction. If any of the designs actually were re-entered we would hardly expect to find so many of the shifts on the 30c coming in the upper left corner and so many of those in the 90c coming in the lower right corner.

There is some reason for believing the tops of the 30c stamps in the 4th and 7th rows may have needed re-entering but this is not so evident with the 90c stamps in those rows. Perhaps it is only a coincidence that the re-cuttings on the 30c plate occur at the bottoms of the stamps in the 3rd and 6th rows, that is, directly over and adjacent to the tops of the two rows of stamps in which so many shifted designs occur. The missing two rows of position dots should occur in the intervals between the 3rd and 4th and the 6th and 7th rows respectively. The writer believes position dots did occur between those rows and that they were erased on the plate.

The subject of "plate erasure" has been discussed considerably in the past, and the present writer has no desire to re-open any argument as to whether it can or cannot be accomplished on stamp plates. Suffice to say reliable information that plate erasure is of common, everyday occurrence at the Bureau is at

WE now have printed a prospectus of the New Issue Department for U. S. stamps. As this service will be, by all odds, the most ambitious thing we have ever attempted really serious collectors of modern U. S. had better send for a copy of the rules and rates.

MONEY VS. COLLECTIONS.

This is an action in the Philatelic Court of the United States. The undersigned is the attorney for "Money," the plaintiff, and "Collections," the defendants, have local counsel everywhere.

The plaintiff complains of the defendants and alleges that the defendants on various occasions have offered to surrender themselves to the plaintiff for a good and valuable consideration, which the plaintiff stands ready and willing to pay but that defendants now refuse to so surrender themselves.

Wherefore, the plaintiff demands an order compelling the exchange and surrender of the defendants for the plaintiff.

Defendants please take notice and state what you have to surrender and what consideration you require.

The plaintiff wants really fine collections of U. S. stamps and scarce single copies on and off cover. Collections cat. less than $500.00 or cheap stamps not wanted. [79 hand, and there are indications Toppan, Carpenter & Co. also made erasures on their plates. The blur of color found over the arch at the top of almost every stamp on the 90c plate, except the stamps in the top row, may have been caused by plate erasure, although the erasure, if such it be, was not for the purpose of removing any part of the stamp designs. Similar blurs of color are found below many of the stamps on the 30c plate, particularly in the first, 4th and 7th rows, but never below the 10th row.

The cause of these blurs is a matter for study. From their regular occurrence it would seem that they came either from depressions on the plate caused by "humps" on the transfer rolls or from humps on the plate which became slight hollows owing to more metal than necessary being removed when these humps were scraped or burnished off. It is supposed that the pressure of the tranfer roll causes a slight displacement of metal on the plate in the direction of rocking the roller; somewhat like the wave of water which is produced in front of a blunt prowed vessel when moving. This wave or "hump" of metal is removed to bring the surface of the plate back to a true plane.

A "hump" on the transfer roll outside the stamp relief would produce a depression in the plate like itself in shape and size, while depressed areas on the plate caused by removing too much metal from humps on the plate would tend to vary in shape and size. If sufficiently deep such depressed areas on the plate, from whatever cause, would retain ink and produce blurs of color on the printed sheet just as the lines of the design retain the ink and produce the stamp itself. The blurs of color found above the 90c stamps and below the 30c stamps differ on subjects from different reliefs but are very similar on subjects from the same reliefs. They are entirely absent below No. 4 relief of the 30c and above No. 4 relief of the 90c. The reader may draw his own conclusions as to what caused them.

Before attempting to describe the differences in the 30c reliefs it will be well to name and locate the important parts of the design. In the center of the stamp is an oval bearing a profile of Franklin facing left. Just outside the oval are four shields, one in each corner, with their bases almost touching the oval. At either side of and touching each shield is an ornamental scroll, the two at each side being larger than the two at the top and bottom. The two smaller scrolls at the top and at the bottom we will call top and bottom scrolls, left or right, as the case may be. The spaces at the middle between the top, bottom and sides between each pair of similar scrolls contain the inscriptions in colorless letters or numerals as follows:—"U. S.—POSTAGE" at the top in two lines; "THIRTY" at left; "CENTS" at right; and "30" at the bottom.

The design is squared up by eight arrow shaped ornaments outside the shields, two at each corner. The points of these arrows meeting at right angles form the corners of the stamp. The spaces between the shields and the arrows are filled in with a ground work of radiating lines close together. These lines extend to the inner lines of the arrows. There is a slightly curved outer line above "U.S." which joins the upper scrolls and on the die a similar line joined the bottom scrolls below "30". All the reliefs show traces of the outer line below "30" but none of the reliefs show the outside line of the bottom arrows.

Bottom: Scrolls are practically complete and project below the adjacent parts of the design. Traces of the outer line below "30" are present and in some cases this line is complete or very nearly so, though weak in the center. Blurs of color below the scrolls. Outer corner of lower right side arrow very faint or missing.

Relief No. 2—Top: Design complete.

Bottom: Lower tips of both scrolls removed, particularly the right scroll. Lower right side arrow complete. Trace of outer line may show from below "0" of 30 to right scroll. Stub of outer line shows sharply beside left scroll.

Relief No. 3—Top: Design nearly complete. There is a break in the top of the left scroll.

Bottom: Design very clear and sharp with no blurs in it or below it. Both scrolls have their tips cut away. The outer line is all removed except sharp stubs at the ends beside the right and left scrolls. The stub at the left is a short single line. The stub at the right is composed of a longer line and two very short lines which appear to be extensions of the radial shade lines of the corner background. On reliefs Nos. 1, 2 and 3 these three tiny lines usually run together, forming a solid triangular stub. Nearly all stamps from the 4th relief show a position dot below the notch formed by the head of the left bottom arrow. Stamp No. 100 in the left pane —(the tenth stamp in the bottom row)— shows three position dots close together.

Beside the shifts from relief No. 1 in the 4th and 7th rows, the writer has found only two shifted transfers on the 30c. In each of these two the lower right side arrow has its outer line doubled. One of these is from the 3rd relief and comes in the 3rd row, and the other is from the 4th relief and therefore comes in the bottom row.

The varieties found in the 30c stamp correspond in a general way to the types of the 1c 1851-'60 as now catalogued. On the 30c, however, the lower edge of the design is complete only on the die—never on the stamps—and the re-cutting appears to be confined to the scrolls at the bottom and to the arrows in the lower corners. The several varieties might be listed as follows:—

Type I—Scrolls complete.

Type II—Scrolls incomplete (three varieties).

Type III—Scrolls or arrows recut—

(a) Right arrow recut ( stamps).
(b) Right and left arrows re cut (2 stamps).
(c) Scrolls and arrows recut ( stamp).

Type I comes from the first relief The three sub-varieties of type II are the stamps from the 2nd, 3rd and 4th reliefs. Type III comes from the 3rd relief. So far as is known all the recuts come in the left pane.

When a stamp exists printed from an original transfer and also from a plate that has been re-touched, as in the case of the 1c stamps from plate No. 1 of 1851-'60, often little difficulty is met in identifying the re-cutting; but when a plate is retouched before any stamps are printed from it there is more difficulty in making sure of any re-cutting. It is believed the 30c plate was retouched before stamps were printed from it and for this reason the writer hesitates to give an opinion on the amount of re-cutting that was done. Quite possibly there was other re-cutting than will be mentioned here but the re-cutting here mentioned is believed to be actual and not imaginative.

The reader has noted that the outer corners of the lower side arrows are faint, broken or missing on the first and third reliefs. No attempt to repair these imperfections on the stamps from the first relief has been noted. All re-cuttings noted were found on stamps from the third relief—the relief which was most cut away. Four of these recuts are near each other in the third row. On three of them the lower right side arrow has been recut and on the fourth both lower side arrows have been recut. The other two recuts come in the 6th row. On one of them both the right and left side arrows have been recut and on the other the entire lower edge of the stamp appears to be touched up, including the scrolls. The curved recut line which defines the lower tip of each scroll is too flat, and quite unlike the original graceful curve. This, of course, is an extremely rare stamp—probably much rarer than type I of the imperforate 1c.

Collectors who are studying the stamps from plate 1 of the 10c 1855-'60 will note the similarity between the re-cuttings on that plate and those on the 30c plate. Probably it will never be known why some stamps on both plates were recut and many others that needed recutting just as badly were left untouched, or why the recut stamps were grouped so closely together. Perhaps the engraver intended to retouch the entire plate, or most of the stamps on it, and after touching up a few subjects where they needed it the most, gave up the job as being too much work for the result to be gained. He might start work anywhere and would be more apt to work in one location on the plate than to skip all over it, especially when fully half of the subjects needed retouching as much as did any of them.

No recuttings have been found on the 90c plate by the writer and as there were no alterations on the 90c reliefs the differences between the reliefs are very slight.

Relief No. 1—Design complete. There is considerable blur of color over the arch at the top. Many of the stamps in the 4th and 7th rows show four horizontal shade lines below the NTS of CENTS in the lower right corner. On one stamp in the 4th row the four shade lines extend all the way across the bottom of the design and the arch at the top is also shifted.

Relief No. 2—Design nearly complete. Less blur over the top than on reliefs No. 1 and No. 3. There is a weak or broken place in the three lines of shading at the bottom close to the left corner.

Relief No. 3—Design nearly complete. The inner fine line at the top over the panel containing "U. S. POSTAGE" is often dotted, broken or missing, especially in the center. More blur over the top than on any other relief.

Relief No. 4—Design nearly complete. Guide dot outside upper right corner on all stamps except No. 1 stamp on the plate which has two dots, one outside each upper corner. Faint horizontal position line sometimes shows just above the arch. Tip of left corner at bottom broken off. No blur over the top.

(To be concluded.)

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Bowie & Son's new issue service will be represented in this country by J. E. Guest of Minneapolis. Mr. Guest has been carrying advts. for several weeks and Bowie & Son have certainly secured a worthy representative for their service in this country.

—"Quite a little excitement was stirred up in philatelic circles here in Waterbury, as well as the near-by suburbs of New Haven and New York, by the discovery of a three cent envelope in a dark red, instead of the regulation purple. A local concern used about fifty without noticing anything unusual about them, but the keen eye of a postal clerk discovered the error, and he succeeded in getting several. Later a collector bought up all the firm had left, and in turn sold them to a New York dealer. In some way Scott & Co. found it out, and telegraphed to the original owner for all he had, but he was too late, as they were all gone. The writer was fortunate enough to get one, and there are a few scattering ones, but probably not over three or four."—J. V. REED, Waterbury, Conn.

—"The monarchists at Oporto, Portugal, issued a series of stamps, regular adhesives and revenues, also postal cards, between the 16th and 20th of January, 1919. These were used in the north at Oporto, Braga, Vrana and other small towns in the same section. The use continued up to the surrender of the monarchists to the Republicans, about the middle of February, 1919." The Aborn Stamp Co. sends us this item of news with clipping from Portuguese paper illustrating the various issues.

EDITORIAL.

Cited—From Madison, Wisconsin, our valued correspondent, Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, writes: "In connection with a study of modern imperialization which I am making at the present time, I have had occasion to read numerous reports of British Colonial officials and colonial surveys made during the past century. In these documents, references to the postal service are not infrequent but singularly enough, I have found postage stamps mentioned in but one place to date. This one reference is so interesting that I cannot refrain from mentioning it to you. In 'Problems of Greater Britain' (Macmillan, London), the author, the Right Hon. Sir Charles Wentworth Dilke, Bart., concerns himself with the relations of the English-speaking countries to one another and to the comparative politics, at the time, of the countries under British control. In Vol. 1, chapter 2, p. 565 (second edition), he states that British Bechuanaland was then being governed at a loss of one pound sterling per native per year, i. e., that the revenue was far, far below administrative expenses. He was doubtful whether the British tax-payers would continue to be willing to cover this expense, even though the Aborigines' Protection Society held firmly that the territory should be retained under Imperial control. Still, if it could be shown that the receipts would soon more nearly approximate the expenditures, they might bear the burden uncomplainingly for a time longer. It is in this connection that Sir Dilke says: 'I have seen it said that the revenue of British Bechuanaland is increasing through the rise in the sale of stamps, accounted for by their popularity in the collections of the British school-boy.' Isn't that rich? To think that the purchases of collectors were recognized as a source of income which might determine whether or not the mother country would continue to hold her control over a territory where the presence of some few British families gave her a claim. The author goes no further, which rather surprised me, for, being familiar with the many suggestions for filling depleted treasuries which he constantly brings forth, I had expected him to suggest to the home government that it popularize stamp collecting if it desired to keep its officials in the region in question, without disgruntling the patient homeland tax-payers." We notice that Mr. Ragatz is war editor of The Nineteen Twenty Badger, "a graphic interpretation of Wisconsin's war spirit," a position that he will ably fill, we have no doubt.

Confirmed—In reading the periodical literature of America from 1840 onward, we so often have found references to postal affairs but no mention of stamps where one reasonably would expect them to be noticed. To the philatelist it seems as if purposely the stamp theme was avoided but, of course, it is our intentness on stamps that fosters this illusion. There was no expectation of philatelic notices in the general press before 1865 but historically, all direct allusions to stamps from 1840 to that time have an interest. Now, when publicity is synonymous with success for any pursuit that thrives through public attention, the question of advertising in the secular press is a momentous one; that is why we are so pleased to see that the gratuitous philatelic press service that is being maintained by the dealers is leaving its mark on the contemporaneous non-philatelic press.

Combination—This squib from Mr. Lyman J. Seely is on a subject that was first presented through the sale of Canadian stamps, including the Canada special delivery at the Minneapolis post office: "Original covers bearing combinations of foreign and U. S. stamps have long been of special interest to cover collectors. This is particularly so of early Canadian covers, on which postage 'to the lines' was paid either in cash or Canadian stamps, while the postage from the border was prepaid to the ultimate destination in the U. S. by stamps sent to Canada for that purpose. How many collectors are aware that the custom again is in vogue? That many firms in Toronto and Montreal receive regular consignments of United States stamps which are used on covers in combination with Canadian postage? The answer is comparatively simple for there is only one form of U. S. postage, so far as the writer knows, that is unprepayable in Canada with anything but a U. S. stamp; the reciprocal relations between the two countries comprehend the prepayment of registration fees, of parcel post, of money orders, etc., but apparently do not cover the detail of special delivery. In order to secure the immediate delivery of their letters in this country some Canadian firms regularly use U. S. special delivery stamps in combination with their own postage."

Conferred—We learn from France that the Commander-in-Chief, in the name of the President has awarded the Distinguished Service Medal to Brigadier General Harry H. Bandholtz, U. S. A., "for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services." We quote from the command of General Pershing: "He served in turn as Chief of Staff of the 27th Division, as Commander of the 58th Infantry Brigade, and as Provost Marshal General of the American Expeditionary Forces, in all of which capacities he displayed exceptional ability. His foresight, broad experience, and sound judgment resulted in the efficient reorganization and administration of the important Provost Marshal General's Department." We need not add that General Bandholtz has been an ardent collector for many years and is known personally to many of us who will rejoice in the honor that has been done him.

Credit—"I was greatly interested," says a subscriber, "in your statement that a man paid $100 for an examination, 'medical, material and psychological.' You may be pleased to learn of my case, which is as strikng as the one disclosed. It is true that I got my 'health audit,' as Doc called it for the bargain price of $75 and where it was recorded on the tablets that a hobby would be helpful, I said that once upon a time, I had collected stamps and that in all probability, my old album was lying around somewhere. 'Good,' said Hippocrates beamingly, 'go over to ——, here's the address, and get some stamps to put in your book.' I did so and to the credit of ——, one of the first things that he did was to suggest that I subscribe to the WEEKLY. I am glad that the doctor said that I should collect again; I have had over $75's worth of health and happiness but was it not great team-work between Doc and the stamp dealer?" We have heard how fortune-tellers sometimes advise their victims to buy this or that stock in order to obtain a commission on sales thereby effected but as for any collusion between the doctor and the dealer, perish the thought!

Civility—One of the best collections of United States stamps is owned by Mr. Milton L. Strauss of Chicago, who is a philanthropist as well as a philatelist. His recent donations to the Art Institute of Chicago, included the painting, "Dragon Valley," by Daingerfield. However, neither of these citations tell the purpose of our tale, which here is announced. Having noticed with reproachful eye the looseness of conduct of our office door-mat, he has presented us with a new mat which now reposes respectably and purringly outside our sanctum door. We trust that our friend will not weary of well-doing as much of our office equipment is giving way under the strain.

THE DEATH OF C. E. JENNEY.

(This appreciative sketch of Charles Elmer Jenney was published in a Fresno, Cal., paper and we are privileged to reprint the same through the courtesy of E. J. Crawford, who was intimately acquainted with Mr. Jenney. While many of our readers have known Mr. Jenney for his frequent contributions to the philatelic press, not even the editor was aware that he was so versatile in his talents. The story of his activities is indeed an interesting one.—W.)

Charles Elmer Jenney, noted as a poet of considerable merit, a botanist and naturalist of repute, and a resident of Fresno for nearly thirty years, died suddenly at Colfax.

Jenney was a native of Massachusetts and came to Fresno as a young man about thirty years ago, and resided in the county up to four years ago, when on the advice of his medical advisers he had to seek a higher altitude and went to Colfax.

Entering the employment of Noble Brothers, fruit packers, and latterly engaged in the insurance business, Jenney remained with the firm until he left for Colfax. His spare time he devoted to literary and scientific pursuits, and as a result of his studies he contributed many articles to newspapers and monthly periodicals on the natural history of California.

Besides writing on scientific subjects, Jenney also contributed verses to the newspapers and magazines, and some years ago he published a volume of poetry under the title of "California Nights' Entertainment." His verses are found in most anthologies of California poetry. The book was well received by the public and critics were generous in giving their praise to his descriptions of California scenery in verse. In a recent volume on "Literary California" several of Jenney's poems find a place beside the verses of Joaquin Miller and Bret Harte, and the prose descriptions of John Muir. Two of his poems are quoted in full, "The San Joaquin" and "The Sequoias."

As a botanist and geologist he received the recognition of authorities, and was chosen to arrange the collection on the natural history of California at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco in 1915. This collection included his own private accumulation of natural history specimens, which is claimed to be among the largest private collections in the state. His collection was stored at his home on Glenn Avenue, Fresno.

Jenney had also a reputation as a philatelist. It is stated that his collection of stamps gave him a high rank among American experts in this line.

Though of studious habits Jenney found opportunity to give his services to the community by serving on the Fresno Park Commission for a number of years, and only resigned from this position on his leaving Fresno. During his tenure of office as a park commissioner he aided in the development of Roeding Park.

For some years Jenney was a member of the Fresno public library board. He was a member of the First Congregational Church.

It was stated that Jenney came to California as a young man on account of his health and though never gaining robust health, he was able to accomplish a large amount of work. About ten years ago while returning with his wife from a visit to his native state he lost a limb and received serious injuries to his remaining foot through a railroad accident at Kansas City. Though thus incapacitated it is said that he overcame the disability somewhat and still continued his interest in outdoor games.

For the past four years Jenney suffered from asthma, and his doctors advised his living at a higher altitude. Following their advice he went to live in a cottage in the woods at Colfax, and latterly removed into the town of Colfax.

Mrs. Jenney and a brother, who was visiting from Massachusetts, were beside him when he died.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We are unable to secure replies to any letters sent Leon Barri, Jr., and Paul Dillingham.

—We are informed by Henry H. Hart, San Francisco, Calif., that he is about to make a year's trip through the Orient, in the course of which he will visit many of the countries known principally to philatelists by the stamps they issue. Mr. Hart promises to send us a series of letters dealing with his observations on stamps, stamp collectors, dealers, post offices and allied matters.

—Ordinary and registered mail for Czecho-Slovakia will be accepted by postmasters if it conforms with the Postal Union postage rates, conditions, and classifications. There is no provision for parcel post, however. Geo. Gregory submits for our inspection a 10 carmine that performed postal duty from Czecho-Slovakia.

—Who can give us the address of E. L. Fischer, formerly 3343 Carthage Av., Cincinnati, O.? Letters are returned marked "gone."

—M. Ohlman, 75 Nassau St., N. Y. C., can get no replies to letters sent Stephen J. Curran, Box 53, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. We advise interested parties to communicate all information to the Chief of Police of that city.

—H. L. Dickey, Newton, Kansas, informs us that F. R. Hayworth of the Wichita (Kan.) Stamp Co., has removed to a suburb of Chicago.

—A department "Stamp and Coin News", under the editorship of A. D. Hesive has been established in the Pittsburg Dispatch.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from LeRoy Carroll, L. W. Bealer, F. A. Elgas and Arthur E. Rogin.

—Roy S. Barker, Providence, R. I., in a letter to us, writes: "The R. I. P. S. just had a good time last night, talking stamps instead of business, but I got two half dollars for you, which find enclosed." Why not do likewise?

—We are receiving evidence day by day that Alejandro García, Remedios, Cuba, is making good on his exchange of duplicates advertising. E. W. Theimer, one of the "victims," acknowledging satisfaction, writes us as follows in humorous vein:—

"You will note from what he writes that what with the war in Siberia, the failure of the coffee crop in Brazil, the Cook-Peary controversy, and a very large family of children down with the Flu, he has found it difficult to attend to the "big exchange" promptly. He also evidently refers to the change in time in his last sentence. I think this gentleman will demand that you fight a duel, owing to your references to him that have appeared in your WEEKLY."

—"Probably Liberia is about the hardest country to get covers from, as I have had for some years a contract with the consul at New York to take all his covers, paying nearly face, and I get very few at that. In the latest consignment there is one cover measuring 8½x12 inches, with two blocks of ten each of Scott's No. 144, the first copies of this provisional to reach me."—BEEBE.
